Ballot On May 6 Will Carry Names Of 91 Candidates

Two Constitutional Amendments Also Up For Voters' Approval

The Democratic primary ballot that will confront Lauderdale County voters on May 6 will contain the names of 91 candidates, plus two constitutional amendments requiring a "yes" or "no" vote.

The largest field is that for member of the State Democratic Executive Committee from the Eighth Congressional District, where 17 candidates are seeking the eight places. Three are from the Tri-Cities—Clyde W. Anderson and William I. Collier, Florence, and Charlie E. Carmichael, Jr., Tusculum.

Fourteen candidates for governor are listed, five for lieutenant-governor, three for attorney general, two for state auditor, six for secretary of state and three for state treasurer. And as usual in state races of recent years, there are a number of female candidates for the so-called minor offices. In fact, four of the six aspirants for secretary of state are on the distaff side.

In the other two state races—superintendent of education and commissioner of agriculture and industries—three persons are seeking each office.

For the nine Lauderdale County offices to be filled, there are 35 candidates listed on the May 6 ballot, with the District 3 spot on the Court of County Commissioners attracting the largest number—eight.

Names of unopposed candidates for state and county offices are not now listed on the ballot, unfortunately. This practice of omitting them has been in effect, though, for only a few years.

As the campaign moves into its final month, candidates for both local and state offices stepped up the tempo of their politicking. On the local level it has been a strictly see-the-voter, handshaking kind of campaign, with the voters left almost exclusively to the aspirants for the governor's office.

C. C. (Jack) Owen has a rally scheduled at the Lauderdale County courthouse tonight at 7:30, with the usual musical entertainers accompanying him in this appearance. In addition to his regular retinue of Shorty Sullivan and the Confederates, Colonels, Marlin Green, singer—composer from Town Creek, and James Joiner, a Lauderdale County contribution to the folk-music realm, and his band, will be on hand.

Owen will make another visit to Lauderdale Saturday, his schedule that day being: Waterloo, show and speaking, 9:30 a. m.; stop at Central, 10:30 a. m.; stop at Cloverdale, 11:30 a. m.; stop at Kibben, 12:30 p. m.; show and speaking, Rogersville, 2 p. m.; stop at Anderson, 3:30 p. m.; stop at Greenville, 4:30 p. m., and show and speaking at Lexington School, 7:30 p. m.

A. W. Todd, along with Wally Fowler, the Sons of Song and the Chuck Wagon Gang, packed the Community Center at Sheffield Monday night. Todd has a new gambit in his campaigning, apparently taken from the onrush of George Wallace. The Russell-villian, who has heretofore made his pitch mostly to farmers while soft-pedaling industrial development of the state, now points to Alabama's new industries gained during his tenure as a member of the State Industrial Planning Board.

During the week Jimmy Faulkner called on Alabama voters to stick with the "tradition" of electing his second try for the office. Governors Graves, Dixon, Sparks, Folsom and Persons all made one unsuccessful race before getting to the executive mansion.

In Tuesday night's meeting the commission heard a delegation of 25 doctors, dentists and laymen urge fluoridation of the city's water supply. Tom McGough, an opponent of fluoridation, notified Mr. Martin he was unable to be present because of illness but would attend the next meeting to present evidence against the move.

Eisenhower Counters Russian Proposal With Plans For Atomic Arms Control

REYNOLDS FOIL FOR OUTER SPACE—Pictured here are three of the aluminum foil sub-satellites which will be launched into outer space this year. Large sphere in left, rear, is 12-foot aluminum foil balloon which will gleam as brightly as the North Star and be visible to the naked eye at dusk and dawn. On the table is a 30-inch diameter inflatable sphere, made from 65 cents worth of aluminum foil, the least expensive of all American satellites. Spheres' designer, William J. O'Sullivan of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics

(seated) holds collapsed version of 30-inch sphere in his hand. Small and large spheres are launched in collapsed form, then inflated when they are in outer space. Large object in right background is 12-foot diameter "corner reflector," also designed to be launched like other aluminum foil spheres. Corner reflector, also made of aluminum foil, reflects radar waves directly to transmitting station. It has potential as navigational aid once it is orbited. Reynolds Metals Company supplied the foil materials.—(NACA Photo)

Reply To Soviets Said Victory For U. S.

President Eisenhower Tuesday called the Russians to prove peaceful intentions by joining the United States in banning production of atomic weapons.

In a note to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Mr. Eisenhower called on Russia for acceptance of his five-year atomic force plan under which nuclear production would be confined solely to peaceful purposes.

If the plan proves acceptable to Russia, the President said that this country could "advance the cause of peace by agreeing to the U. S. 'open skies' disarmament inspection plan and the more recent American plan to ban space warfare."

Mr. Eisenhower also proposed that U. S. and Soviet scientists begin discussion of plans for controlling atomic weapons on an international basis.

Mr. Eisenhower's note to the Russian leader was in reply to Premier Khrushchev's invitation to the U. S. and Britain to join Russia in halting nuclear tests without waiting for an international agreement.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said it was likely the United States would go ahead with nuclear tests after the forthcoming Pacific tests were completed. Dulles however said Russia should join at once in discussing disarmament controls and if Russia was sincere there seemed to be no reason why it should not study the technical problems involved.

Green Skeptical
Chairman Theodore F. Green (D-R.I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the President's overall letter did little to advance the disarmament question. He agreed the proposal for talks by technicians of both countries held "some hope of progress."

Green called for an end to "sterile correspondence" between the U. S. and Russia and indicated it would have been better if the President had announced U. S. willingness to discuss specific arrangements for suspension of nuclear tests at the current U. S. series was ended.

City To Be Ready In Case Works Act Is Adopted

Survey Of Street Improvement Needs Is Ordered By Commissioners' Board

Mayor E. F. Martin said this week that the Florence Board of Commissioners has instructed City Engineer Logan White to make a survey of street construction and improvement which might be made under provisions of a public works bill now pending in Congress.

The bill, among whose sponsors are Alabama Senators Sparkman and Hill, would authorize $2 billion of loans to U. S. cities and counties, with which to finance public improvements. The funds made available, if the bill passes, would be repayable over periods up to 50 years and carry an interest rate of about 3 per cent.

Mayor Martin said the commission instructed the engineer to make the survey in order that the City of Florence will be in position to make an early application upon passage of the bill.

He indicated that some $200,000 of such funds might be put to use here in construction of new streets and improvement of existing ones. The City of Florence is precluded, because of its population, from using any funds available under the legislation now pending for use in construction of new sewer lines, which the mayor termed "badly needed." Only citizens of less than 6,000 will be eligible for loans for that purpose under terms of the bill.

Mayor Martin said the need for another north-south thoroughfare to relieve the traffic situation on North Wood Avenue was still pressing. He indicated that the city was still seeking a solution to this problem, probably through state aid.

In Tuesday night's meeting the commission heard a delegation of 25 doctors, dentists and laymen urge fluoridation of the city's water supply. Tom McGough, an opponent of fluoridation, notified Mr. Martin he was unable to be present because of illness but would attend the next meeting to present evidence against the move.

It was a special occasion marked by considerable publicity when Grandma celebrated her 100th birthday. One of the reporters asked the grand old lady a number of questions about her good health, then said: "Grandma, you must have seen a lot in your long lifetime!" The old lady rocked reflectively for a time, smiled a faint smile as she seemed to be recalling events that certainly would be of intense interest to the reporter, then replied: "Well, if you really want to know, seems to me everything was always over by the time I could find my glasses."

The old boy, well over the three score and ten mark, thought himself a real "lady killer" and never failed to bid his way to any gathering of the fair sex. The truth about it was that the ladies were crazy about the old granddad, who was a perfect gentleman, as courtly as they came, but he was so proud of his apparent conquests that it went to his head and with each success he cut a notch on his cane. Not too long ago, the old boy passed on. His grandson was conspired by a friend, who commented on his grandfather's way with the women. "Yes, that's what killed him," explained the grandson. Then he went on to explain: "Well, after the last of his numerous conquests, he made the mistake of leaning on his cane. It had become so weakened with notches that it broke, he fell on it and was stabbed to death."

Former Vice President John Nance Garner, Texas' grand old man who has long passed the three score and ten mark, asks the question: "Can you remember a time when there weren't some people worried about present conditions?" And who can answer in the negative?

If you don't at first succeed—you are about the average man and should do better the next time around.

Family Life To Meet April 22-23

Fifth Annual Session To Be Held In Sheffield; Dr. Copple Will Speak

"Family Living in Our Changing Community" will be the theme of the fifth Muscle Shoals Family Life Conference to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, April 22-23 in Sheffield.

On the opening day of the Conference there will be three discussion groups held in the First Presbyterian Church Educational Building. These will be held from 10 to 12 a. m.

A luncheon meeting will be held at the Muscle Shoals Hotel at 12:15 p. m. and an evening meeting at the same place at 7:30 o'clock.

On Wednesday morning, 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock, a discussion group will meet in the First Presbyterian Church Educational Building, another meeting at 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. in the same location.

On Wednesday evening the two day session in Sheffield will end with a meeting to be held at 7:30 in the Plumbers and Steamfitters assembly room across from the Muscle Shoals Hotel, 101 Alabama Avenue.

Guest speaker at these sessions will be Dr. George E. Copple.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bissell (Janet Simpson) of Verona, New York, are spending several weeks in Paris, France.

City Schools Approved For $42,088 U. S. Grant

A grant of $42,088 to the Florence Board of Education has been certified for immediate payment by the U. S. Commissioner of Education, the offices of Sens. Lister Hill and John Sparkman and Rep. Robert E. Jones advised school officials Tuesday.

The sum becomes available to the city school system under provisions of Public Law 874 which permits grants to federally affected areas.

A grant of $18,302 to the Colbert County Board of Education was also certified by the commissioner Tuesday.

Leighton Area Hit By Storm

A devastating twister hit Colbert County Saturday night in the vicinity of Leighton, killing one and destroying several homes and farm buildings.

Leighton's mayor Roy Berryman said Bud Ford, Negro, was killed when the tornado winds wrecked his home about 10 p. m. While the wind missed the town of Leighton much damage was done to property in the surrounding countryside to trees, buildings and telephone lines. Debris was scattered for about half a mile from the storm center.

The storm also dipped down at Thatch, near Athens, injuring Oscar Turney and destroying at least two homes, the Highway Patrol reported.

Landon Butler, ex-multi-millionaire and grain speculator, was indicted in Memphis Tuesday with two associates for a $4,500,000 soybean swindle. A Federal judge called it "the fraud of the century." Butler, who once controlled 94 per cent of the nation's soybeans had only a handful of beans in his Mobile grain elevator when he sold Continental Grain Company and Leval & Co., receipts for beans allegedly stored there.

A bulletin from Cuba Tuesday stated that a general strike would "begin soon" and that thousands of citizens in Oriente Province have taken up arms against Batista's government. Rail traffic in Oriente was halted after rebels under Fidel Castro had blown up a string of bridges. From Havana a report stated that government troops had saved two garrisons from the rebels but admitted the spread of the revolution and the capture of the island's largest TV and radio station, CMQ.

The Alabama Court of Appeals this week granted a temporary injunction preventing most loan companies in Anniston and Calhoun counties from charging more than 8 per cent interest per year on loans. The Court of Appeals ordered the temporary injunction kept in force until a decision in the case is reached in the Circuit Court in Anniston. The circuit court cannot act until the State Supreme Court rules on an appeal from the case . . . which could take years, it was stated.

ABSENTEE VOTING SET APRIL 16 TO MAY 1

Absentee voting will begin April 16 and continue through May 1. It was announced today by Elbert Dalry, registrar. Both dates are inclusive. The only persons eligible to vote by mail are members of the armed forces and their wives who are stationed elsewhere, or disabled veterans confined to VA hospitals. All others voting absentee ballots must come to Mr. Dalry's office in the Lauderdale County Court House in person on the above dates. Hours are: weekdays, 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and on Saturdays from 8 a. m. to 12 noon.

400 Students In Cast Of Lexington Festival

The annual Lexington Spring Festival will be held Wednesday and Thursday in the Lexington School gymnasium with each performance beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The festival is an all-school presentation which is given each year at the culmination of a contest between the classes to determine who will be crowned "Miss Lexington School."

The contestants and their escorts are: Grades 1, 2, 3—Linda Hayes and Larry Jo Putnam; Grades 4, 5, 6—Joyce Truitt and Jeffery Hammond; Grade 7—Linda Ann Smith and Billy Don Thompson; Grade 8—Mary Moore and Millard Shelton; Grade 9—Brenda Ray and Jerry Cottrell; Grade 10—Kay Phillips and Don Howard; Grade 11—Julia McGuire and Billy Robertson; Grade 12—Hildred Garner and Wendell Truitt.

The festival will begin with the coronation, which consists of the procession and the crowning of the honoree. Some 400 pupils from Grades 1-12 will participate in the entertainment part of the program which has as its central theme,

"Around the World in Eighty Days." In keeping with modern trends, participants will enter the gymnasium by way of a jet, and other decorations will be symbolic of the space age.

The following numbers which depict the culture and customs of the various countries of the world will be presented for the entertainment of the court and spectators: Chiapanecas (Mexico), Calypso (Cuba), Japanese Fan Dance (Japan), Arabian Nights (Arabia), Little Black Sambo (Africa), The Bull Fight (Spain), Gav Paree (France), The Waltz (Austria), Olympic Games featuring Buxom Beauties, the Boxing Kangaroos and Gymnastics (Greece), the Polka (Denmark), the Dutch Dance (Holland), Ship Ahoi (England), Irish Lilt (Ireland), American Bandstand, Buttons and Bows, U. S. Indians, Stars Fell on Alabama, (America).

Since the seating capacity is limited and the demand is extremely great, all tickets must be bought in advance. Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from Lexington students.

Like A Trip To The Moon

Mr. Eisenhower's proposal of a space agency deserves more than a passing comment. The administration has faced up promptly to a situation that demanded attention. It has placed emphasis on civilian direction and this seems to be well since it is easy, in these days and times, to become obsessed with the military aspects of almost any project.

The peaceful uses of space and the knowledge gained for the benefit of humanity are rightfully the goals of such endeavor. Space travel, our scientists tell us, is only a matter of time, perhaps only a few years. Already a satellite is planned to circle the moon and likely territorial claims will be made on that dead sphere when a landing is accomplished.

And so there will likely be some shaping of inter-stellar laws, possibly in the UN, to make provisions for inter-stellar harmony. As a nucleus of this nation's space travel agency, the President has recognized the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. This well known agency has had 40 years experience, 7,000 skilled workers and a $300,000,000 plant with special scientific laboratories equipped for all kinds of research. It will have the assistance of the National Academy of Sciences.

Since the President's proposal reflects effective thinking and coordination the proposal is likely to receive cooperation and assistance from all sides. The layman is, as yet, in a daze over the speed of missile and satellite research but he is convinced that much is going on in this vast new area of human endeavor and that this nation is preparing for even greater things in the not too distant future.

Where Will It Stop?

A feeling of distrust for the Soviets pervades the free world and with good reason. They profess one thing and do another. They call tyranny in its worst form . . . "freedom." Khrushchev has just declared a great unity in Hungary; telling how the people of Hungary love the new Red-sponsored regime. Of course the world knows better, even his own people know better.

Nevertheless Russia has agreed to a suspension of nuclear tests and as usual official United States calls it propaganda. Actually it is likely the Russians would like to end nuclear tests provided they could get the United States and Britain to do likewise. This would be to their advantage since by all cooperating there would be no appreciable shift in potential power.

While the United States feels it must establish and maintain numerous strategic bases for atomic weapons and missiles in Europe, our Western Allies are not unconscious of the fact that this is essentially selfish. Many are beginning to feel that if being saved requires the use of small bore nuclear weapons it would not be long before they would be in the path of a big war where big thermo-nuclear H-bombs would be used. For this they can scarcely be blamed. Anyone who believes that a war could be restricted weapon-wise to the use of small-bore atomic weapons has little understanding of the nature of the Communists.

This is one reason this country is considering, and will give more consideration in the future, to such a step as a nuclear test suspension even while it admits the propaganda angle of the Russians. At the same time the NATO nations are faced with the threat of Russia's armed forces in their front yard, so to speak, which are conventional forces armed with conventional weapons. Only if the Russians feel they are facing superior arms, such as nuclear cannon, and so on, will they hesitate to attack. So whether the people object or not we cannot leave the thin line of NATO exposed to such a threat without the means of a strong defense.

And so the situation is complicated with a number of angles, all of which must be considered in the larger picture of global defense, or, by the same token, global disarmament.

Tubing Processes Told To Exchange

Southern Fabricating Official, I. G. Florman, Club Speaker Tuesday

I. G. Florman, vice-president of Southern Fabricating Co., of Sheffield, described some of the activities and operations of that concern for members of the Florence Exchange Club at their Tuesday luncheon meeting.

Mr. Florman explained that tubing, which his concern now manufactures in large quantities, is seen everywhere—in kitchen furniture, gym sets, trucks, buses and automobiles, barbecue grills, bicycles, and supports for buildings as well as airplanes, rockets and guided missiles. Tubing, he pointed out, is one of the strongest structural members known in engineering, and this, he said, is one reason for the popularity of Southern Fabricating's product. Tubing, he explained, is also easily turned out in shapes other than round, and the process of its manufacture was described.

Exchange members were told of the establishment of the concern five years ago, during the Korean War, when its initial product was hardware for boxes used in shipping ammunition to American soldiers. Southern Fabricating Co., played an important part, by its rapid production of boxes, in breaking a bottleneck that was causing a shortage of ammunition for GI's in Korea. Manufacture of this hardware led to other government contracts for the Sheffield firm.

Mr. Florman, whose appearance was arranged by Don Holt and who was introduced by Harold S. May, expressed his gratification with the choice of the Shoals district as the location of Southern Fabricating Co.

Chamber Studies A New Brochure

Ed Colebeck, chairman of the publicity committee of the Florence Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday named a sub-committee to make recommendations for a new brochure for the civic organization to use in publicizing the community's advantages.

Colebeck named himself chairman of the sub-committee and D. H. Bowling and M. S. May associate members. They are expected to review suggestions for the mailing piece made to the whole committee at the meeting this week and make their report to the group at a meeting set for 4 p. m. Tuesday.

Another matter to be taken up at Tuesday's committee meeting will be the proposal of operators of WOWL, Florence radio and television station, that an annual award be made to the individual, firm or organization doing most to focus national attention on the Muscle Shoals area during the year.

Deaths

Tom Russell

Services were held from the Weeden Heights Methodist Church at 2 p. m. Wednesday for Tom Russell, 74, of 142 North Crown St., who died Monday in a Tuscaloosa hospital.

The Rev. O. M. Ryan officiated and burial was in Tri-Cities Memorial Gardens. A retired farmer, Mr. Russell was a lifelong resident of Lauderdale County. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Lela Thornton Russell; two sons, Amos Russell, Lawrence, Kansas, and O. L. Russell, Tuscaloosa; two daughters, Mrs. Mose Hunter, Tusculum, and Mrs. J. E. McAfee, Florence; two sisters, Mrs. Della Perryman, Florence, and Mrs. Annie Sweat, Birmingham, and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Lizzie H. Howell

The ashes of Mrs. Lizzie H. Howell, former Florence resident who died in Springfield, Mass., April 3, will be interred in Florence Cemetery Saturday following services at Chisholm's chapel to be conducted by Lamar Plunkett. Mrs. Howell, who was 88 and a native of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., made her home in Florence for many years prior to her removal to Springfield in 1939. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Beulah M. Howell of Springfield.

Robert P. Hughes

Graveside services were held in the DeVaney Cemetery at Russellville at 2 p. m. Tuesday for Robert Porter Hughes, 49, of 505 North Wood Ave., who died at 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Although a native of Russellville, Mr. Hughes had been a resident of Florence for 30 years.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Willie Mae Hughes; four brothers, Charles and Tom of Florence, William, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and John of Jackson, Miss.; a sister, Mrs. J. T. Edwards, Florence.

David R. Rodman

Services were held at 4:30 p. m. Monday from Chisholm Funeral Home chapel for David Russell Rodman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rodman of 501 East Mobile St. The child died at ECM Hospital at 2:15 a. m. Sunday.

Dr. Hudson Baggett and Rev. J. V. C. Summerell officiated and burial was in Greenville Memorial Park.

Surviving, in addition to the parents, are the grandparents H. E. Lamb, Hazel, Ky., Mrs. Edith Rodman, Florence and R. G. Rodman, Cherokee, Iowa.

Gordon J. Quinton

Services were held in Knoxville, Tenn., for Gordon Jenkins Quinton, 71, who died at the residence, Waterloo, Rt. 1, Sunday at 12:50 p. m.

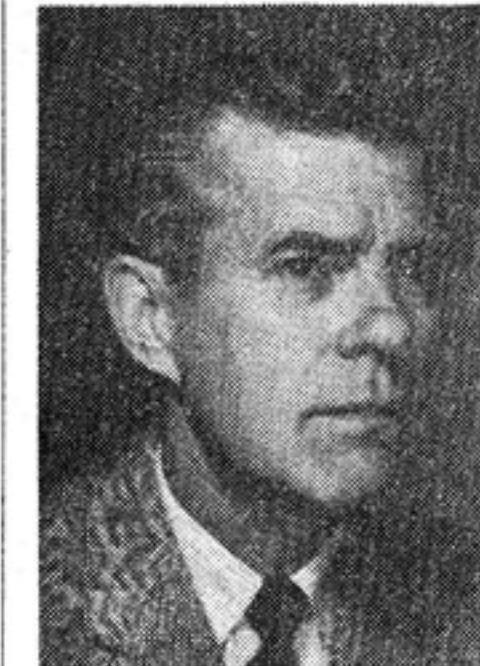

Mr. Quinton, a retired cabinet maker, had made his home in Waterloo for a number of years, being a former resident of Knoxville and Rome, Ga.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jessie Quinton; a sister, Mrs. Sally Webb, Rome, Ga.; a son, H. H. Quinton, Huntsville; two grandsons.

College Registrars To Meet Saturday

Alabama Association Of College Executives To Convene At FSC

Officers will be elected during the nineteenth annual meeting of the Alabama Association of College Registrars and Admissions

C. M. AREHART

TED MCCARREL

lege Registrars and Admissions officers at Florence State on Saturday.

Present officers of the registrars' association are C. M. Arehart, Florence State College, president; Father Vincent Sheppard, St. Bernard College, vice-president; and Miss Teresa Pradat, University of Alabama recorder, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. E. B. Norton, FSC President, will give a short welcoming talk at the opening of the meeting. The main address by Mr. Ted McCarrel, Dean of Admissions of the University of Iowa, will be followed by a question and answer period.

Producers Should Watch Change In Consumer Demand

Changes in eating habits of Americans have brought about marked differences in the production pattern of vegetables.

According to API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby, increased use of vegetables used raw in salads—primarily lettuce, tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, bell peppers, escarole and endive—has accounted for an approximate 50 per cent expansion of these crops since 1940. During this period, production of vegetables which usually require cooking increased by about 10 per cent.

During the last 18 years production of lettuce has doubled. Celery, cucumber and bell pepper production has increased nearly 50 per cent and tomato production has gone up 20 per cent. Total output of fresh vegetables that usually require cooking rose sharply during World War II, but has steadily declined since 1946.

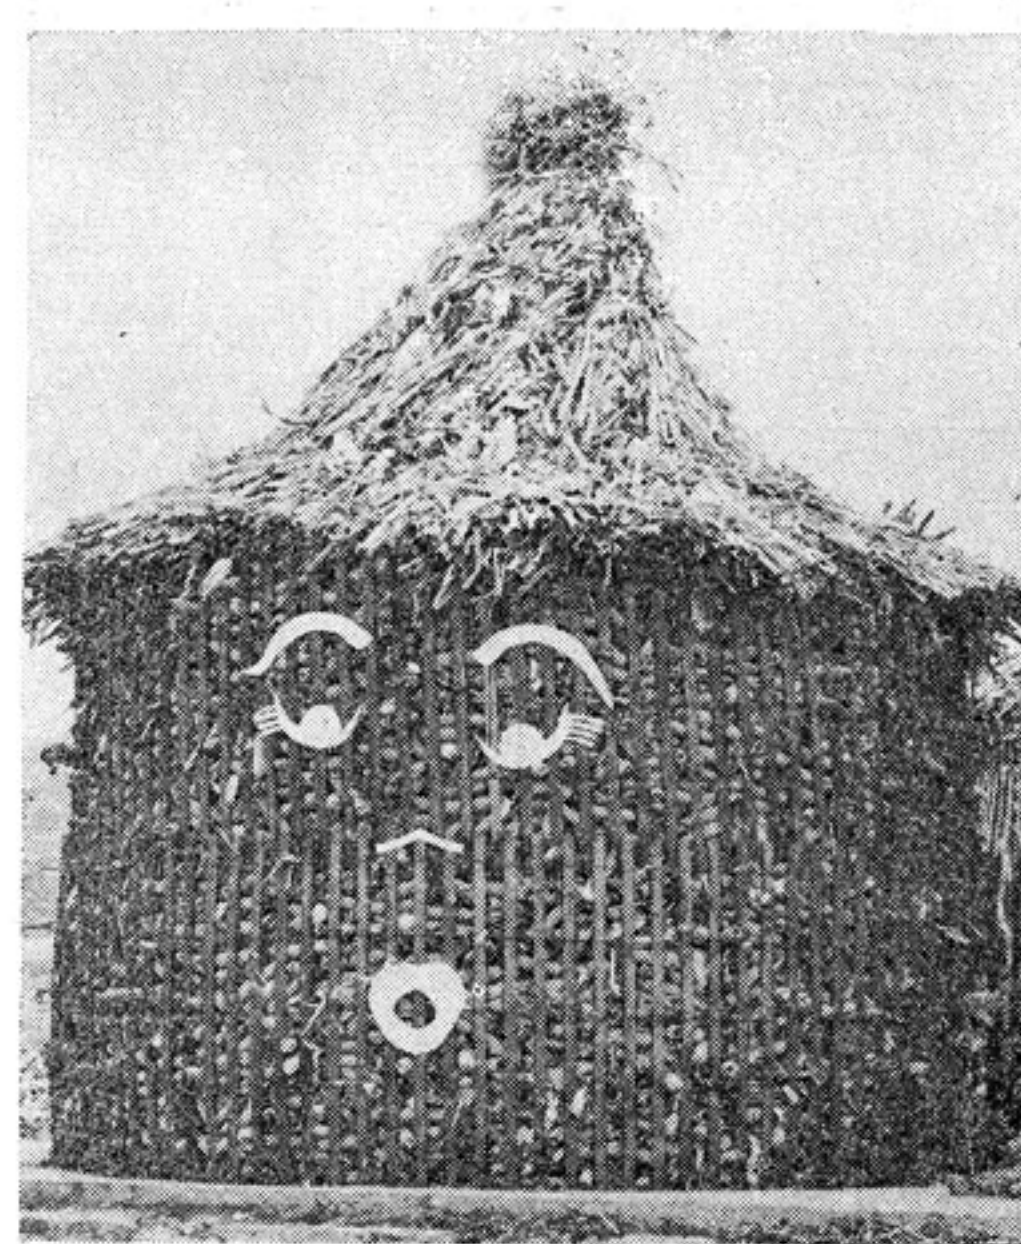

"While consumption of fresh time beans, snap beans, beets, English peas and spinach has decreased," the garden specialist went on, "production of these crops for processing has risen. A larger output of frozen vegetables accounts for much of this increase; further evidence that American consumers want products which require little preparation for use."

"Lower per capita consumption of Irish and sweet potatoes is another trend of importance to farmers. Irish potato acreage has been reduced somewhat, but increased yields have kept production about the same. However, acreage and production have steadily decreased since 1945."

"Alabama producers would be smart to take notice of changes in consumer demands for vegetables and plan their productions to provide markets with products that are in greatest demand."

In 1825, Hans Christian Oersted, Professor of Physics at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, produced what appears to have been the first metallic aluminum.

On a volume basis, one pound of aluminum provides three times as much metal as one pound of iron.

Let's Talk It Over
By SARA SAZE

Dear Mrs. Saze, I am a college student and I am engaged to be married shortly after graduation to a wonderful girl, also a student. I have asked her to go home with me on Easter to meet the folks and thereby hangs my problem.

My girl is an all A student and an English major and she's really good. She plays a lot of attention to sentence structure and pronunciation and stuff like that.

But my folks had mighty little education. They mispronounce simple words and when I follow them with the correct pronunciation it doesn't take. An example is the word "armistice." Now you may think that word won't come into the conversation, but it will. My dad is a big talker and the armistice is one of his company subjects. It will come with the fried chicken at the first meal.

So I want to ask you what is best for me to do. Should I try to discuss this with my girl beforehand, or play a waiting game and watch for her reaction?

Sincerely,
S. J.

Dear S. J., I think you should try relaxing. And also believing that this wonderful girl is REALLY wonderful. Important as grammar is, it is certainly antedated by many things and I'd like to mention character and stamina as two of them. Your present schooling may be a result of a courageous struggle on the part of your parents. I think you should love them for their sacrifices and let your young lady know exactly how you feel.

Incidentally, about two generations back the word "armistice" was pronounced with accent on the second syllable. I continue to hear that pronunciation often from my older friends and it is not objectionable to me.

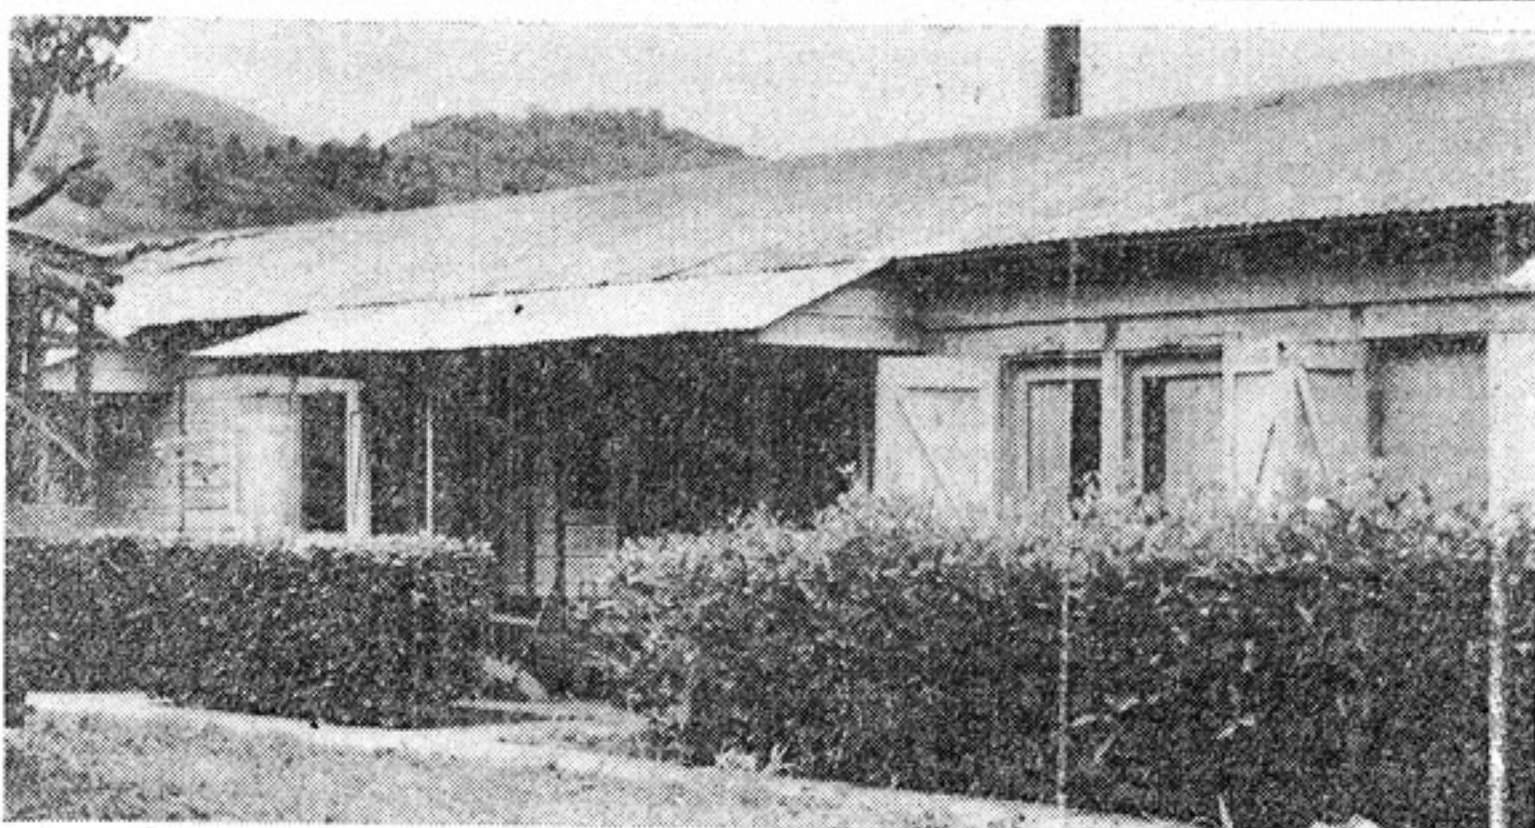

And now, let me remind you that real education includes recognition of real values, incorporating them in our own lives and seeing them in the lives of others. I'll bet your folks are well supplied with some mighty enviable qualities.

Dear Sara Saze, I have a difficult decision to make and would like to know what you think of co-op colleges. Many thanks,
Mrs. L.

Dear Mrs. L., There are, as in nearly every situation, both advantages and disadvantages. The student gains practical experience as well as theoretical knowledge; is helped in choosing a career and in getting a head start in it.

The other side of the picture is that the study routine is broken into each year; the job assigned may be dull; the program seems to emphasize the vocational rather than the intellectual values of college.

However, graduates of co-op colleges have worked in many different cities, an invaluable experience; they tend to choose their life's work earlier than others and seem very happy with their choices.

Aluminum

(Continued from Page 1) pressure inside or outside the sphere, it would not collapse but would retain its shape, it is believed.

Easily visible satellites, such as these aluminum foil spheres, make it possible for scientists on the Earth's surface to make rather precise determinations of the orbit. From these observations, they can:

1. Determine air drag and density.
2. Obtain more accurate geodetic measurements on the size and shape of the Earth.
3. Determine ion densities, when coupled with certain precise radio techniques.
4. Calculate more accurately the mass of the Moon—if the satellite's orbit passes near the Moon.

Scientists calculate that a 12-foot sphere, if placed in orbit around the Moon, could be seen through astronomical telescopes on Earth.

The director of the NACA, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, told of a Congressional committee in February that serious thought is being given the idea of putting into space aluminum foil spheres measuring 100 feet in diameter. With four or five such spheres orbiting several hundred miles high, radio signals could be bounced around the Earth. Such passive repeater stations in space have the advantage that they can take an unlimited number of radio channels.

Similar aluminum foil spheres have been proposed for use in interplanetary flights by the Technical Panel on the Earth Satellite Program of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year. This panel of scientists suggested that unmanned space vehicles, sent towards the planet Mars, for example, should carry very large inflatable balloons to make optical tracking of the vehicles possible.

Eisenhower

(Continued from Page 1) called the Eisenhower proposal to the Soviets, "a clearcut victory for American integrity over Russian propaganda." He said it exposed the "hypocrisy" behind Russia's test suspension.

The President, in referring to the U. S. tests, said they would be devoted primarily to defense weapons and that such tests would be conducted in such a manner as would keep world radiation from rising to more than a "small fraction of the levels that might be hazardous."

OUT-OF-STATE STUDENTS GET ALABAMA PUBLICITY

Facts about Alabama have mailed to 5,600 school children in all 48 states since January 1, it is announced by State Publicity Director Geoffrey Birt.

This fact sheet, which highlights Alabama's agriculture, industry, geography and history, was prepared in mimeographed form by the publicity bureau, and is mailed with a leaflet, printed in full color, illustrating and explaining the state's emblems and symbols.

Birt warned, however, that the bureau's appropriation would not permit distribution of these pamphlets within the state, except in a very limited way and on a strictly individual basis.

Judge Affirms 10-Year Sentence In Smith Case

Judge Robert M. Hill Saturday affirmed the 10-year sentence a circuit court jury recommended for William Hershell Smith when it found the 43-year old man guilty Wednesday of having carnal knowledge of his eight-year old daughter. An application for probation was not given consideration by the jurist.

An appeal was taken by attorney for Ruben Lowell Holcombe, convicted of having carnal knowledge of a girl over 12 and under 16 years old.

Margaret Brewer was placed on three years' probation by Judge Hill who was found guilty of one of two counts of second degree forgery. She has been sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary.

The probation of Felix Williams, sentenced to a year and a day for the killing of George Armistead, another Negro, was refused.

Probation was extended to Charlie Jackson, sentenced to a year and a day, and Marvin Gresham, who was given the same sentence, after both men were found guilty by juries of disposing of mortgaged property.

Mock Ole Opry At Rogers High

The senior class of Rogers High School will present the Grand Ole Opry in imitation in the school auditorium at Greenhill Friday night. The program begins at 7:30 p. m. and admission is 35c and 50c.

Among the stars of the Opry who will be portrayed are Minnie Pearl, Rod Brasfield, Grandpa Jones, Stringbean, Red Foley, Lonzo and Oscar and others.

Home-made cakes will be on sale during the evening.

CHANTICLEERS QUARTET APPEARS HERE MONDAY

The Chanticleers, male quartet of notable abilities, will appear in convocation Monday at 8 p. m. in Coffee Auditorium, Florence.

The group visited Florence State last summer when it captivated a standing-room-only audience with its performance. Its acting rendition of "HMS Pinafore" received special acclaim from the overflowing crowd.

The Chanticleers' visit to the Coffee stage is under auspices of the Florence State College Conventions Committee, chairman of which is Miss Gladys Shepard.

STRIKES IN ALABAMA HALVED IN 3 YEARS

A State Labor Department report shows that the number of strikes in Alabama have almost halved during the past three years. In a conference with Gov. James E. Folsom this week, State Labor Director Luther Barnette told the chief executive:

"Whereas, in 1954-5 fiscal year Alabama recorded 43 strikes, there were only 29 during 1955-6, and this number was further reduced to 24 last year." The state labor chief was also able to report "so far there have been only four strikes this fiscal year. Alabama's fiscal year begins Oct. 1 and ends Sept. 30."

Griffin-Stringer Nuptials First Presbyterian Church

An altar arrangement of white stock and pompon chrysanthemums against a background formed of Southern smilax was the setting before which Carolyn Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Griffin, and Myron Scott Stringer, son of Mrs. Stringer, Sr., and the late Dr. Stringer, exchanged their vows. Curtis Platt, minister of Poplar Street Church of Christ, read the seven o'clock service in First Presbyterian Church on Saturday evening, April fifth, assisted by the Reverend J. V. Cosby Sumner, minister of the church. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Harriet Harper, organist, and John McGill and Floyd C. McClure, soloists.

Myriad tapers burning in seven branched candelabra at the altar and in groups of three before the stained glass windows as the wedding tableau formed. The bride's honor attendants were her sister and sister-in-law, Mrs. Condred Joiner and Mrs. Kenneth Griffin, wearing rose-colored taffeta with pale pink drapery at the neckline. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Henry Nichols, Mrs. Robert Simmons, Mrs. Reed Cox and Mrs. Philip Selley of Nashville. Their frocks were of pink and their wide-brimmed hats were fashioned of pink net while pink roses in old-fashioned bouquets were carried by each.

In a gown of white lace over satin the bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. A deep rounded neckline and long and pointed sleeves distinguished the fitted bodice while the voluminous skirt swept to a chapel length train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a cap of pearl-studded lace and with her white orchid and rosebud bouquet she carried a Bible which had belonged to her great grandmother.

Wilburn Killian of Birmingham served as his nephew's best man and ushers were William Gooch, John Archer, Kenneth Griffin, the Reverend Robert Crumby and Condred Joiner.

Kenny Griffin, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Griffin were hosts at Rogers Hall. Greenery and white flowers decorated the spacious rooms and on the bride's table rose colored tulle over white satin was centered with pink-shaded carnations, gladioli and Easter lilies.

Assisting were Mrs. O. T. McFord, Mrs. Chester Boston, Mrs. Buford Daily, Mrs. Curtis Miller, Mrs. C. D. Schwine, Mrs. Wilburn Killian, Mrs. Luther Nix, Mrs. Sam Hammond, Mrs. Joe Bywer, Mrs. Thomas Cochran, Mrs. W. E. Dodson, Miss Joyce Chesser, Miss Jean Davis, Mrs. Winfrey Sander-son, Mrs. Jack Lard and Mrs. Philip Arellio.

For travel the bride wore a black linen frock with black and white duster and orange accessories. At her shoulder she pinned the orchid from her corsage.

Upon their return they will be at home in Auburn.

Following rehearsal of wedding plans on Friday evening Mrs. M. S. Stringer honored her son and his fiancée at her home on Jackson Highway.

A handmade lace cloth over green satin covered the silver appointed table which was centered with white carnations and roses. Green tapers cast a soft light over the scene.

Gladioli and hyacinths were used to decorate the living room where the hostess greeted her guests including members of the bridal party, out-of-town relatives and friends here for the wedding.

Assisting were Mrs. Byron Bow-er, Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mrs. T. E. Oppenheim and Mrs. Mack Towles.

Miss Nadine Pate has returned to Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Gallinger Honored By Congregational Tea

On the day when her betrothal was being announced by her parents, Rabbi and Mrs. Joseph S. Gallinger, members of the congregation of B'nai Israel complimented Miss Hanna Laura Gallinger when they entertained Sunday with an afternoon tea in her honor.

Receiving at the Temple between the hours of three and five were Sam Israel, president of the congregation, Rabbi Gallinger, Mrs. Gallinger, Miss Lynn Gallinger, the bride-elect and her fiancée, Charles Denaburg.

Handmade in blocked squares, the off-white tea cloth of linen and lace was inscribed in embroidery with the names of families in the congregation. Spring flowers blossomed from a driftwood base and a pink bird perched on a bit of greenery to center the candle-lit table and its silver appointments.

Pouring coffee and tea at opposite table ends were Mrs. Sam Israel and Mrs. Milbourn Zeff.

A gift was presented to the engaged couple by the congregation.

Bride Of Saturday Off Party-Honored

Continuing to the eve of her wedding day was the party whirl feting Caroline Griffin who became the bride of Scott Stringer on last Saturday evening. Outstanding among the number was the tea to which Mrs. Kenneth Griffin and Mrs. Condred Joiner were hostesses at the home of the former on Sunday afternoon, the 2nd.

Massing pink carnations, pink gladioli and lilies of the valley for the teatable's centerpiece, they were assisted in the amenities by Mrs. Reed Cox, Mrs. Robert Simmons, Mrs. Henry Nichols, Mrs. Joe Brewer, Mrs. Jack Lard and Mrs. James Mitchell.

Two hundred invitations were issued to this courtesy.

Forsythia and jonquils formed the flowering background when Mrs. Henry Nichols entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home on East Tombigbee Street.

Milk glass appointed her party table and assisting the hostess in serving her guests were her Mother, Mrs. J. F. Griffin, and her sister, Miss Kay Griffin.

Mrs. Winfrey Sanderson's dessert party for Miss Griffin took place on Tuesday evening, April 1, when she invited guest to her recently occupied apartment on Wood Avenue.

Forsythia and jonquils were the flowers used to ornament the small tables around which the fifteen guests were served.

Mississippi Nuptials For Rev. Charles Ellis Dorris

The approaching marriage of Miss Carolyn June Dacus to the Reverend Charles Ellis Dorris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Graden Dorris of Florence, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Nevart Erskine Dacus of Tupelo, Mississippi, parents of the bride-elect.

At Blue Mountain College, Blue Mountain, Mississippi, where Miss Dacus received her bachelor of arts degree in English, she was treasurer of the Euzelian Society; an officer of the International Rela-

MISS HANNA LAURA GALLINGER whose approaching marriage has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Gallinger of Florence and Birmingham. Her fiancée is Charles Denaburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Denaburg of Birmingham.

Miss Gallinger is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Shellenburg of Valdosta, Georgia, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gallinger of Germany. The groom-elect is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwartz of Greensboro and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denaburg of Birmingham.

The bride-to-be attended Valdosta State College, Valdosta, Georgia, and the University of California at Los Angeles. Mr. Denaburg is a pre-dental student.

clubs; YWA house president; an honor student; a member of the staff of The Mountaineer and of The Mountain Breeze; a member of the Mountain Masqueraders' Spanish Club, Alpha Mu Delta, and the Future Teachers of America.

The bridegroom-to-be was graduated from Coffee High School and received his bachelor of arts degree in English from Howard College, Birmingham, and his bachelor of divinity from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. At Howard he was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity; Trident, honor society; president of Masquers Dramatic Society, and received the best actor award, 1953. He is now associate pastor of First Baptist Church, Florence.

The wedding will be an event of July twenty-sixth at Harrisburg Baptist Church in Tupelo.

Hanvey and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hanback and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hanback, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gilchrist and Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Harper and girls of Cypress Inn, Tennessee. Mrs. Myrtis Brannon and daughter, Mrs. Vinnie Hanback, Harold Montgomery and Gerold Montgomery of Cloverdale. Also Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rich and daughters of Iron City.

An egg hunt was enjoyed in the afternoon by the children.

Azalia Walker's Engagement Told

Presaging the nuptials of Azalia Walker and Jerry Gordon Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Shaw, is the announcement which has been made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hershel Walker, all of Florence. Miss Walker and her fiancée are both graduates of Coffee High School who are now attending Florence State College. She is a member of the Tri-Cities Girls' Cotillion Club.

North Wood Methodist Church will be the scene of their May third wedding.

Killen-Riley Vows Said In Greenhill

Services At York For Mrs. Curry

Funeral services were held at York on Tuesday for Mrs. Irma Curry, mother of Mrs. Frank Mosier of Florence. She died Monday after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Curry was widely known among students of the University of Alabama, where she was house mother at the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, whose members referred to her affectionately as "Duchess." In 1954 members of the fraternity sent Mrs. Curry on a tour of Europe, and a year later she was named the outstanding house mother in the nation by the National Interfraternity Council. A library was dedicated to her last week.

Attending the services at the York Presbyterian Church from Florence were Mr. and Mrs. Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. S. Paul Lewis and Mrs. Albert L. Martin.

THE SPILLWAY

"MY FOKSES EYES get lusterless...
And circled 'round wif' blue...
I know it's cause it hurts 'em so
To see my toofs come tru..."

AT LEAST THOSE are the exact words we THOUGHT our ten-months-old friend... Robert Drane... whispered to us a few days ago... And we did notice signs of loss of sleep in Nora and Bob (Robert's mommy and daddy) when we stopped to chat recently at their charming Colonial cottage on Riverview... BARELY noticed... that is... Because when you're in the presence of young Robert you're apt to give not more than a glance to others in the group... Such words as "cunning" and "personable" and "delectable" crowd each other when we attempt to describe this youngster... and you have only to meet him to know that he's in your heart for keeps... "THERE'S NOTHING NEW under the sun" is a familiar quotation and a very great truth... The following comes from Samuel Pepys' Diary of the year 1619... "My wife this day put on her new French gown called 'a sack'... He gave us not a single peep into his reactions... and so... JUST IN CASE he felt as do a great number of our friends today... we wished for the renowned Englishman on Easter morning when we saw Ruth Brooks' lovely daughter of Marie (Cromwell) and Dude Brooks... Florentines now living in Tuscaloosa... "Pretty as a picture even tho' she IS wearing a sack"... an enthusiastic admirer was heard to remark... and we think the most rabid objectors of the fashion would have had to agree... ANOTHER LOVELY EASTER vision was Marijane Wilke in a pink (one of the soft... lovely shades) sailor... looking for all the world as if she had stepped from the pages of Vogue Magazine... There were full-blown roses across the brim... and the effect was so natural that we thought for a moment to ask for a cutting...

WHAT WITH THE popularity of the Natchez Pilgrimage... and numbers of Florentines chatting about what they saw as they made that pleasant tour... we continue to meet those who're unaware that "Rosalie" was for a number of years the gracious and charming home of members of our own Isabel Williams' family... We thought you'd have a more personal feeling toward it... if you knew... A PLEASANT EXPERIENCE for us was a sunny afternoon's drive through the Poplar Springs section of The Creek where Sue and Madding King are breaking ground for what they speak of as "the cottage"... (it looks to us like The Works)... IT'S ALSO PLEASANT to watch Bert Danley maneuver his new air-conditioned - and - everything - else house - on - wheels about the streets of our city... If you've missed this you'll want to keep an eye peeled...

AND IF YOU LIVE on Poplar Street... and have good binoculars... you could make us happy by keeping tab for us on what-over-it-is that Laura Perritt is doing to the upstairs portion of that most delightful and most livable home... Closets... that was one report... 'tho we know there's much... much more...

SPEAKING OF THE Hipp family... (and who doesn't these days)... AND OFTEN... we think our heartiest congratulations are in order... Three tonsillectomies in the same family and all in one day is quite an ordeal... We're told that Ruthie... Barbara and Donna Carol popped in and out of the hospital and... cute as buttons... seem good as new again... They are (as if you didn't know) the adorable daughters of Carolyn and Don of 541 Riverview Circle...

CHEERING NEWS COMES that Mary Noel Bell has returned from three weeks spent in Campbell's Clinic in Memphis... bringing a Campbell's nurse with her... and that she is recovering satisfactorily from the fracture she received when she took an unfortunate step at a dinner meeting on the Board of Directors of the Muscle Shoals Concert Series... Our best wishes go to this popular and talented musician... sister of one of the district's most outstanding citizen... James (Ford Motors) Haver...

WELCOME NEWCOMERS Elizabeth Kerr Flanagan... who arrived in Huntsville on March thirty-first at Huntsville Hospital... and who is now at home with her parents... Elizabeth (Kerr) and James Flanagan at 1804 Alabama Street... Huntsville... AND KELLY ANN MCGREGOR... who was born on April first at Coffee Memorial Hospital... and whose parents are Ann (Morrison) and Lawrence McGregor... Florence...

OUR LITTLE BIRD... who reports from the mid-West... is tweet-tweeting an interesting item to us which bears a May seventeenth dateline... It concerns approaching a bird... (if we may be so bold)... of a very lovely and talented former Florentine... We thought you'd like to be alerted...

AND NOW... CHEERIO and goodbye... until more news comes through The Spillway...

'Candida' To Play 3 Performances

"Candida," by George Bernard Shaw, is scheduled for presentation by the Florence State College Rehearsal Club on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week. Curtain time is 8 p. m. in Kilby Auditorium.

"Candida," last presented in Florence in 1932 by the Community Theater, has always been among the most frequently performed of Shaw's many plays, nearly all of which have sparkle and stimulation hard to find equalled in the contemporary theater. "Candida" is regarded as high comedy because of the blend of comic technique and seriousness used in it by Shaw. Social issues such as the status of women and the sanctity of marriage are considered, but more important is Candida herself, as she is found in the social institution of marriage.

Most of the actors in "Candida" have played in Rehearsal Club productions before and are minor- ing in dramatic arts. Jimmie Moore, J. P. Sides, Jean Quinn, Robert Scogin and Arthur Finch all had roles in "Alceste," presented last spring. J. P. Sides and Robert Scogin played the two sons in "Death of a Salesman" last fall and Barbara Brown and Jean Quinn had small roles in the Arthur Miller play. Barbara Brown is appearing for the first time in a leading role of a Rehearsal Club production.

Leo Views the College Campus

By DOTTIE McRAE

Florence State was back from the AEA holidays and hard at work bright and early Monday morning. And by the end of the week, we were all thinking enviously of some friend just getting home from the University or some other college for the spring holidays.

It is spring, you know, in fact it's almost summer. The red buds and the dogwoods are just on the verge of blooming and the other trees look as if someone dropped pieces of green net over them. There's been a lot of landscaping going on around the campus too, bushes and shrubs are popping up everywhere.

Winners of the creative writing contest have been announced. They are Wayne Hagood, in the poetry and essay divisions; Mrs. Eleanor Moore, short story. Mrs. Evelyn Kraft submitted the only play entered.

Well, someone beat me to it but I'll tell you about it anyhow. Dr. E. B. Norton, FSC president, has filed a preliminary application for a $1,250,000 loan. The 40 year loan is to come, we hope, from the Housing and Home Finance Agency at Atlanta and will be repaid out of student fees and various levies.

The money will go for new dorm facilities (for an additional 224 men and 60 women) and for a student union. The student union is really going to be wonderful; in addition to kitchen and dining room facilities, the "Flor-Ala," the "Diorama," the SGA, and other activities will be located there. Dr. Norton hopes to have them ready for use by the fall of 1959.

The Alabama Association of College Registrars and Admissions will hold their annual meeting at FSC, Saturday, April 12. Mr. C. M. Anehart, FSC registrar, is president of the association and will preside at the meeting. Dr. E. B. Norton will give a welcoming talk and Mr. Ted McCarrel, dean of admissions at the University of Iowa, will deliver the main address.

Keller Hall held a successful (despite the rainy weather) open house last Thursday evening. Entertainment was furnished by a 3-piece, all girl "band."

Wayne Hagood, senior from Town Creek, and news writer for FSC, has been awarded a one-third time graduate assistantship in English at the University of Florida.

Florence State has gotten off to a good start in baseball this year—two games played, two games won. I haven't seen the team in action yet, but Billy Joe Camp, "Flor-Ala" sports editor, says they look pretty good.

More than 700,000 miles of the leading brand of aluminum foil was used by housewives last year, enough to encircle the earth 28 times.

Foreign Students Attending Guided Missile School

The number of NATO nations with students in training at the U. S. Army Ordnance Guided Missile School has grown to eight with the arrival of a student delegation from Turkey.

Four Turks from the joint U. S. Military Mission in Ankara, Turkey, have been assigned to the Guided Missile School for training in the Nike missile system. They are Colonel Asim Unayral, liaison officer for the group, Lieutenant Junior Grade Haluk Ertan, First Lieutenant Cahit Atik, and First Lieutenant Mustafa Uyanik.

OGMS commandant, Colonel Henry S. Newhall, said the Turkish students are attending the 52-week Guided Missile Maintenance Supervisor Course, which trains them to supervise the maintenance of the Nike-Ajax guided missile and its associated ground handling equipment.

In addition to Turkey, other

NATO nations represented are Canada, West Germany, Italy, France, Norway, Belgium, and Denmark. OGMS has also trained British students.

The Army's only service school devoted exclusively to guided missile training, OGMS currently has an enrollment of about 1100 students and a full-time faculty of 482. During the 12 month period ending in June of this year, the school will have graduated over 45 hundred students.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY FLORENCE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

MRS. MYRON SCOTT STRINGER, JR., who before her marriage on Saturday was Carolyn Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Griffin.

Peggy Godfrey's Parties Continue

A flurry of parties for Miss Peggy Godfrey, whose marriage to John Archer will be an event of Saturday evening, continues to highlight the social calendar.

A luncheon tendered by Mrs. Otto Speake at her lovely home on Cypress Mill Road was a recent courtesy. Arrangements of yellow and white blossoms added a Springtime charm to the scene where specimen daffodils mingled with narcissi and lilies of the valley in a pedestal bowl on the buffet table. Three tables-for-four around which the guests were seated were each centered with a miniature cluster of similar flowers.

Mrs. Robert Simmons, a recent bride, and Mrs. Robert Moody were cohostesses at the home of the former in Hickory Hills when they honored this popular bride-elect with a linen shower.

A pink testable featured milk glass appointments with a pink theme noted in the refreshments which were served.

Twelve close friends of the honoree were included in the hospitality.

Another courtesy was that extended by Miss Jordan Hairston,

Howard College student at home for Easter holidays, and her mother, Mrs. W. W. Hariston, who entertained with a dessert bridge on Tuesday, the 1st, at their home on South Cedar Street.

Spring flowers were used to decorate the rooms with attention drawn to a heartshaped arrangement of pastel hyacinths.

Guests were Misses Kay Candler, Dottie Martin, Gail Weatherly, Mrs. William Crabbe, Mrs. Eddie Hargett, Mrs. Robert Palmer, Mrs. Kenneth Cantrell, Mrs. John Burt, Mrs. William Reeves, Mrs. Edward Cutshall, Mrs. John B. Rice, Mrs. J. Jewell Archer and the bride's mother, Mrs. Jack Godfrey.

DAR Program Topic Of Local Interest

The story of Florence Golson Bateman, blind musician who has made outstanding contributions to American music, was told to Alamance Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, by guest speaker, Mrs. Philip Arellato at the March meeting which took place in the home of Mrs. W. T. Nichols, Palisade Drive. Of interest is a local tie (Henry G. Golson, a Sheffield neighbor, is Mrs. Bateman's brother) with the talented composer who has continued through the years to make Wetumpka, Alabama, her home.

Concluding the program Mrs. J. Will Young was accompanied by Mrs. Ben Ingram as she sang "The Bird With The Broken Wing" from the repertoire of the native Alabamian. Lyrics were by William Allen Dromgoole.

Two piano selections were presented by Mary Catherine Gance, a member of the recently organized Children of the American Revolution.

Mrs. L. N. Wilbur, who is transferring her membership from her former home in Los Angeles to this chapter, was a guest.

Mrs. Spain Hostess Thursday Study Club

Mrs. Roy Cole was program chairman and entertained members of Thursday Study Club at the April 3rd meeting with a review of Thomas B. Costain's "Below the Salt," a fictional story which deals with reincarnation.

Mrs. James M. Spain was hostess at her home on Frances Avenue and she was assisted at teatime by her sister, Mrs. Bruce Springer. The next meeting will be on April 17 when Miss Buna Paulk will be hostess.

Inter-Faith Tea To Be At Temple B'nai Israel

The Sisterhood of Temple B'nai Israel of Florence will hostess an inter-faith tea on Wednesday, April sixteenth, from two to four in the afternoon. Members of women's organizations of other churches in the district will represent their respective denominations.

Program speaker at two o'clock will be Reverend Edward G. Mullen, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, followed by Rabbi Joseph S. Gallinger of the host Temple and two guest speakers of other denominations.

Their theme will be, "The Friendship That Should Exist Among People of All Faiths."

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stricklin have returned to their home on Jackson Road after visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Hunter, and Mr. Hunter, in Nashville.

Mrs. W. H. Gregory came from the University to spend the Easter weekend with her sister, Mrs. W. B. Sloan, East Tombigbee Street.

Mrs. W. E. Carr has returned from a fortnight with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Armstrong in the Florida Keys. Other guests of the Armstrongs were Mr. and Mrs. Harold LeMay.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the Griffin-Stringer wedding last Saturday were Mrs. Luther Nix, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Freeze, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Selley, Mrs. Lora Selley and Earl Selley, all of Nashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stanley have returned to their home on Hermitage Drive after having been patients in a Fayetteville, Tenn., hospital following injuries received in an automobile accident three weeks ago.

Coming from Salisbury, N. C., to be present at the wedding of Miss Carolyn Griffin and Scott Stringer last Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Schwine and from Birmingham Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Killian and Miss Ann Hester.

Arriving to be with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Nichols of 334 Palisade Drive, during the Easter holidays were three of their daughters, Misses Billie Knox and Betty Nichols of Fort Knox, Ky., and Mrs. David Mathews with Mr. Mathews and their three children, Betsy, Davey and Marilyn Knox of Russellville.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Horsfield left Monday for Tuscaloosa where Mrs. Horsfield represented her alma mater, Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C., at the ceremony inaugurating Dr. Frank Rose as the University's president. She also served in the same capacity at Birmingham-Southern's presidential inauguration before returning to Florence.

Florentines attending the state meeting of League of Women Voters are Mrs. Atherton Hastings, local president, and Mrs. Norman Coleman.

Mrs. James Acker came from Aberdeen, Miss., to be with her daughter, Mrs. Mims Rogers, Mr. Rogers, and their family during the Easter holiday.

Mrs. A. L. Maples has returned to her home on Riverview Drive from a weekend visit to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Agee in Memphis.

Dr. Henry W. Cheney is convalescing at his home on North Wood Ave., after a brief illness at Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital.

Miss Pearl Sparks is able to be out after having been confined to her home on Florence State College campus last week with an attack of flu.

Wilder Cheney has returned to The Citadel in Charleston, South Carolina, after spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Cheney, North Wood Avenue.

Guests for the Easter weekend of her mother and sister, Mrs. J. S. Cromwell and Miss Ruth Cromwell, were Mrs. R. M. Brooks (Marie Cromwell), Mr. Cromwell, and their daughter, Ruth, of 38 Beech Hills, Tuscaloosa.

Here last weekend for a visit to their mother, Mrs. W. R. Tipton, Florence State College, were William R. Tipton, a student at University of Alabama, Dr. Joseph D. Tipton, Atlanta, Ga., Midshipman James Charles Tipton of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., and his fiancée, Miss Margaret Booker of Alexandria, Va.

HAWKINS TO SPEAK IN COUNTY APRIL 19

George Hawkins of Gadsden, candidate for governor, will speak in Florence Saturday, April 19. He will be at the courthouse at 4 p.m., with prior appearances at Tusculum at 2:50 p.m. and Sheffield at 3:30 p.m.

Number Needed To Get Benefits

Self-employed Can Get Credit On Net Earnings If Reported

Anyone subject to the social security self-employment tax must have a social security account number in order to receive social security credit for his net earnings, Mrs. Mary King Temple, manager of the Sheffield Social Security Office said yesterday. She offered the following advice to those who have a net profit of $400 in a year or more from self-employment.

If you do not have a social security card, apply for one at your nearest social security office. If you have lost your card, ask for a duplicate card which will show the same number.

If it is not convenient for you to go to a social security office, you may obtain a black application at your post office. Fill it out and mail it to the social security office serving your area.

If you already have a social security number, do not apply for another. Use the same number to report any and all earnings.

Your account number must be shown on Schedule C or Schedule F of your income tax return to insure proper credit to your social security account. Failure to furnish the correct social security number may result in loss of benefits.

Alabama Needs

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESSMAN FOR ITS GOVERNOR!

JIMMY FAULKNER MEETS THIS NEED

NORTH ALABAMA'S OWN JIMMY FAULKNER KNOWS THE NEED FOR MORE "POCKET DOLLARS."

The primary concern of JIMMY FAULKNER in his campaign for GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA is to put more POCKET DOLLARS in the pockets of our people. As a successful small businessman and a man with wide legislative experience, JIMMY FAULKNER is in best position to fulfill this drastic need of our people. Only through the prosperity of all the people can this be attained and this JIMMY FAULKNER is pledged to do.

The feasibility of a canal connecting the fresh waters of the Tennessee River to the salt waters of Mobile Bay has been shown by engineers to be not only feasible but necessary in our economy and to the completion of this project JIMMY FAULKNER is pledged. The Muscle Shoals Area needs a direct water connection with our gulf port.

Every new industry creates new jobs and nowhere in the state is this better shown than in the great development of the Tennessee Valley. To keep this rapid pace of development in high gear, JIMMY FAULKNER is pledged. This will bring added POCKET DOLLARS.

No better means of adding POCKET DOLLARS to the people of Alabama is possible than through the education of all our citizens. JIMMY FAULKNER pledges a definite program that will give our boys and girls better education advantages.

The development of our natural resources, the encouragement of existing and new industries, the promotion of tourist travel, an enlarged road-building program and every possible aid to agriculture are main planks in the program to which JIMMY FAULKNER is pledged.

BEST QUALIFIED TO MEET HIS PLEDGES TO THE LETTER, JIMMY FAULKNER — THE LEADING CANDIDATE IN THE FIELD OF 14 — SEEKS YOUR SUPPORT.

VOTE! JIMMY FAULKNER FOR GOVERNOR

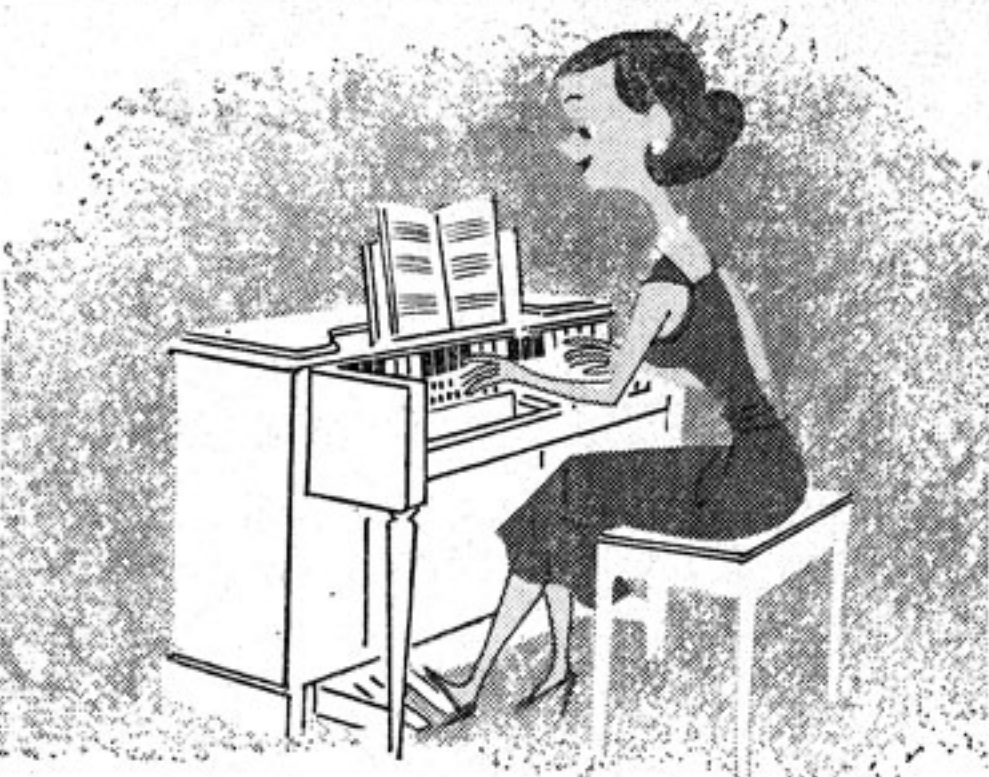

As Your GOVERNOR I WILL:

- Press for completion of the State Docks at Florence on land already acquired.
- Develop the State Conservation Game Preserve at Waterloo to the fullest.
- Four-lane US 72 throughout from Florence to Huntsville.
- Develop industry on the length of the Tennessee River in Alabama with special attention to the Great Lakes of the South.
- Work for reapportionment so that all Alabama may be fairly represented in the State Legislature.
- As a native of North Alabama and knowing the needs of this rapidly growing section of the state, its potentials will claim my interest and attention constantly.
- Place before the Legislature a program to raise the meager appropriation of $6.25 per day per patient in the District 2 TB Sanatorium at Flint (Decatur) and the other TB Sanatoriums in the state to not less than $8.00 per patient per day.

Cordially yours,

J. Faulkner

were given by the Baptists and the sermon was given by Rev. D. H. Thomas, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Eleven o'clock services were held at all the churches. J. L. Goyer and R. S. Banks of Florence were visitors at the Methodist Church. Mr. Goyer taught the Young Adult Sunday School class in the absence of its regular teacher, Miss Bess Crow, who is in ECM Hospital with a broken hip.

Miss Bess Ham of Memphis and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones of Russellville were week-end visitors of Mrs. Osie Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peck of Florence and Sam Henson and Annie visited Mr. and Mrs. Felix Crunk at Springhill Sunday.

The Lions Club's eye-testing program in our school has been finished. We are pleased that a very large majority of children have good eyes. Only a very small number were found whose eyes need immediate attention by an optometrist.

The following ladies helped work in the eye-testing project: Mrs. Larry Gaudney, Mrs. Elmer Gaudney, Jr., Mrs. Melvin Hannon, Mrs. Winfield Allen, Mrs. Leon Bogus, Mrs. Willard Newbern, Mrs. Sam Gilmore and Mrs. G. W. Johnson, Jr.

The teachers met Tuesday afternoon and discussed plans for the candidates supper and rally for Friday night, April 18. We invite all our friends to boost this affair. The schools will soon have a new report card. A questionnaire has been sent to all the parents in an effort to get their points of view on the type of report card they prefer.

Donnie Gooch, one of our ninth grade pupils, is in the Coffee Hospital, ill of pneumonia. Donnie is a very nice pupil and we all hope for him a speedy recovery.

All of our teachers are in school this week. Several have been absent due to illness during recent weeks.

One of our eighth grade pupils, Viola Shields, visited relatives in Morgan County the past weekend. An aunt and uncle from Louisiana were guests in her home recently.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC SET
CLOVERDALE APRIL 17

A pre-school clinic for children entering school for the first time this fall has been scheduled at Cloverdale School beginning at 9 a.m. on April 17. Attaches of the county health department will be present to give physical examinations.

Engineer Institute Honors Florman

Southern Fabricating Co.,
Vice-President Is Elected
Senior Member Of AIME

I. G. Florman of Sheffield, has been elected senior member of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers, it was announced at the Columbus, Ohio, headquarters. The Institute numbers among those chosen to this rank many of the nation's outstanding industrial engineers. The honor accorded Mr. Florman, who is vice-president of the Southern Fabricating Company in Sheffield, is in recognition of his organization and operation of several large manufacturing plants.

During World War II, Mr. Florman actively participated with the Army Ordnance Corps at Aberdeen Proving Grounds and the Navy Bureau of Ordnance at Washington, D. C., in the design and re-designing of special weapons and munitions, for the particular purpose of co-ordinating their construction with the requirements of mass production. He has designed several products for civilian use, together with equipment for their manufacture; was one of the first industrial engineers to successfully substitute selenium rectifiers for motor generators in heavy mass production electroplating installations, now a general practice in industry; and has a number of other firsts to his credit.

During the Korean War Mr. Florman served as industrial adviser in the Selective Service System and as Selective Service appeals agent.

Mr. Florman was educated at St. John's University, Pratt Institute of Engineering, New York University, and holds baccalaureate degrees of B. S. and L. L. B., being a member of the New York state bar. He belongs to the American Electroplating Society; is a charter member of the Floyd Bennett Aviators; taught mathematics while at St. John's University and Pratt Institute of Engineering; has worked on various technical projects with his cousin, I. Florman, a noted engineer, inventor and former United States Ambassador to Bolivia; and has served as engineering and cost analysis consultant, officer and director of various manufacturing corporations.

From The Simple Side

By
THE FARMER'S WIFE

Spring has turned the corner, and that brings spring cleaning, of course. Can't you recall the days when the weather would get warm in the spring, and some energetic member of the family would suddenly get the notion to "clean out the upstairs"? Up would go the whole family to do the job, and certainly the mother of the household, even though she was too busy to get into such a job on that particular day, but no one else could be trusted to save back those things that she wanted kept, even though she wasn't sure why.

As the pile of discarded articles grew higher and higher, thrown out the window by enthusiastic hands, there would be mom, dragging this and that from the discarded heap until by the time the workers upstairs were finished mom had just about as many things piled in another heap, which she had salvaged from what the would be helpers called "rubbish!"

We could never understand what possible value such things held to her, could we? But the Farmer's Wife is learning to understand some of those things now that we didn't understand then. For we too, are acquiring our own little pile of things un-used, but kept as we discovered recently when cleaning our own storage compartment. Any number of things had somehow found their way there, but in particular I noticed some little gifts which I had stored away. They were gifts from the past — a pot holder in the shape of a small hand, stuffed with cotton and machine-stitched in secret so there had been no one to tuck in the edges of the raw material nor remove the stitches where the machine thread had knotted under the operation of an amateur young lady. There was a dish towel, one which had been used many times, but it had become new as it was taken from its storage place in a kitchen cabinet drawer and embroidered across the bottom in boldish red design by the hands of a little boy. When I had expressed my gratitude to him for the towel with the fish on it, he had been quick to inform me that it hadn't been a fish but a carrot, and was a bit surprised that I hadn't recognized it as such.

There were other things there, too, but these touched a special place in my heart, for they had been gifts from a niece and nephew. And as I looked at them once more I was made to feel the warmth of the little giver's hearts, and a warm unselfish love which can come only from children.

As the years go by I hope and I expect that in my home too there will be found articles each spring that don't go out with the spring cleaning but remain year after year, with each year bringing them an unexplainable value.

The tornado season is at hand! These words stared up at me from the pages of this newspaper last week. I had forgotten, almost, with the busy hustle and bustle of spring that with these days of peace and contentment, with the sun shining down to warm the earth, that other days accompany this season also. That the warmth of home, with the comfortable feeling it offers us after a day away, could suddenly be swept away with no warning. That possessions dear to us one day could be gone the next, with no warning. That faces dear to us could be near no longer in just one swift and fierce force from nature.

Yes, these are things we forget, as we take for granted the good things of life, until we are suddenly reminded that they do happen. Surely, with remembering, we will take the time to remember those who have been storm victims and from the thankfulness for our safety ever be ready to help them if they are near to us, in any way that we can.

Over eight million American families own a pet parakeet which means that the colorful little talking birds have found perches in almost one-fifth of the homes in this country. This could indicate that the country is not going to the dogs, but is strictly for the birds!

HOOP-DE-DO—A three-ring circus is nothing compared to the show that Navaho Indian brave Eddie Yazzie puts on at Salem, Ore. The tricky gyrations with hoops are part of his tribe's devil dance. Eddie traveled from his native Arizona to display it at the annual festivities put on by the Chemawa Indian School.

Alabama's Rivers

U. S. Recognizes Value Of Network Of Rivers

Not all of the people of Alabama recognize the extent and importance of its navigable rivers, but the Federal government does. It has classified 1,600 miles of Alabama streams as navigable. Much of that total is now federally authorized by the Congress for improvement.

The Herald today prints the first of a series of stories on Alabama's rivers. Further articles will discuss each of the rivers, their present state, their past, and the potential improvement which is being planned for them. The series of stories was prepared by the staff of the Alabama River Development Authority.

If you were to enter Alabama from the northwest corner, you would come into the state across the Pickwick Pool of the Tennessee River. This lake, formed by Pickwick Dam a few miles downstream, touches Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee at this corner, and extends upstream to cover the old Muscle Shoals below Wilson Dam.

The river, moving upstream through the series of lakes formed by the dams located in Alabama, dips downward in a long crescent which returns to re-enter Tennessee almost at the extreme northeastern corner of Alabama.

This river, with its modern dams and locks, is fully improved for navigation, power production and flood control. The barge tow shown in the inset is moving on the Tennessee River.

The map-maker has grouped the Tombigbee and Warrior with the Coosa-Tallapoosa-Alabama System in what he calls the Great Central Basin of Alabama. This drainage basin covers a major part of the state, and its tributaries extend into Georgia and Mississippi. Their combined waters join, some 45 miles above Mobile, to form the Mobile River.

The western branch, the Warrior-Tombigbee System, is now far advanced in its improvement program, as we shall see in later articles in this series. More than five million tons of freight move between Birmingham and Mobile each year on this system.

From Demopolis the Tombigbee moves west and north to become the first segment of the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

The Alabama and Coosa Rivers move in a generally northeastward direction past Camden, Selma, Montgomery, Wetumpka into the industrial area of Childersburg, Sylacauga, Anniston and Gadsden, and on to Rome, Georgia. Long authorized for improvement by the Corps of Engineers, the development of this arm of the Mobile River awaits appropriations for building the initial lock and dam, probably at Miller's Ferry.

As the map shows, several rivers drain the southeastern section of Alabama. The Escambia River, which flows into Escambia Bay just east of Pensacola, becomes the Conecuh at the Alabama state line. Formerly navigable as far as River Falls, near Andalusia, the Conecuh is the site of two power dams and a steam power plant near Pratt.

To the east, the Choctawhatchee and Pea Rivers drain six Alabama counties, as well as several counties in Florida. A basin organization is active in promoting the improvement of this river valley.

Finally, on Alabama's eastern boundary, the Chattahoochee River is already navigable to Columbia, and by 1962, if the appropriations come through, will be open to barge traffic as far as Phenix City.

(Next week—Some highlights from the past of Alabama's Rivers,

ON DISPLAY AT FLORENCE STATE COLLEGE

An exhibit of paintings by Reynold Weidenaar from the Studio Guild will be at Collier Library, Florence State, through April 23.

Weidenaar is better known for his work in etching and mezzotint. In 1953 he evolved a process for printing mezzotints in color. He began to work with watercolor in October, 1954, because, he said, "I felt I was getting in a rut."

None of his watercolors have been painted in the studio. All are done in the field. He has works in more than 40 permanent collections in the United States and abroad.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How spiritual understanding of God's law of harmony brings healing and redemption will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday. Keynoting the lesson-sermon entitled, "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the Golden Text from Peremiah (17:14): "Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise."

The amount of aluminum in today's automobiles averages about 50 pounds per car, although some models contain as much as 200 pounds.

Reynolds Had Important Role In Explorer III

Reynolds Metals Company Missile Plant at Sheffield, fabricated the entire ballistic shell of the Army Jupiter-C which recently launched the third American satellite. Reynolds technicians built the tail section, the center section which contains the fuel tanks, the nose section of the main stage holding the guidance and control mechanisms, and the spin-launcher for the upper stages.

The ballistic shell was fabricated for the Army's Redstone and Jupiter-IRBM missile systems.

Reynolds Missile Plant constructed a number of other Jupiter-C ballistic shells on special contract for the Army Ballistic Missile Agency. One of these complete shells was used on the Army Jupiter-C which on Aug. 8, 1957, successfully tested a nose cone. President Eisenhower, displaying this nose cone during his nationwide television address in November, 1957, explained that it had gone hundreds of miles to outer space and returned intact. This test solved the difficult problem of preventing an object from burning up when it re-entered the dense atmosphere of the Earth.

Reynolds joined the U. S. Army missile program in 1952 when the firm's fabricating experts, under the personal direction of Vice President William G. Reynolds, helped Army scientists solve some aluminum construction problems on the Redstone ballistic missile shell.

Then Reynolds set up its Missile Plant at Sheffield, just 70 miles away from the Army missile center at Redstone Arsenal and helped turn out some prototype ballistic shells for the Redstone missile.

When Army Ordnance decided to produce the Redstone missile in volume, Reynolds engineers and technicians then redesigned the redstone ballistic shell so it could be produced in quantity utilizing available machine tools and industrial know-how. The Reynolds developments, for example, reduced the amount of welding required to form the aluminum fuel tanks, thus making them more reliable and cutting production costs.

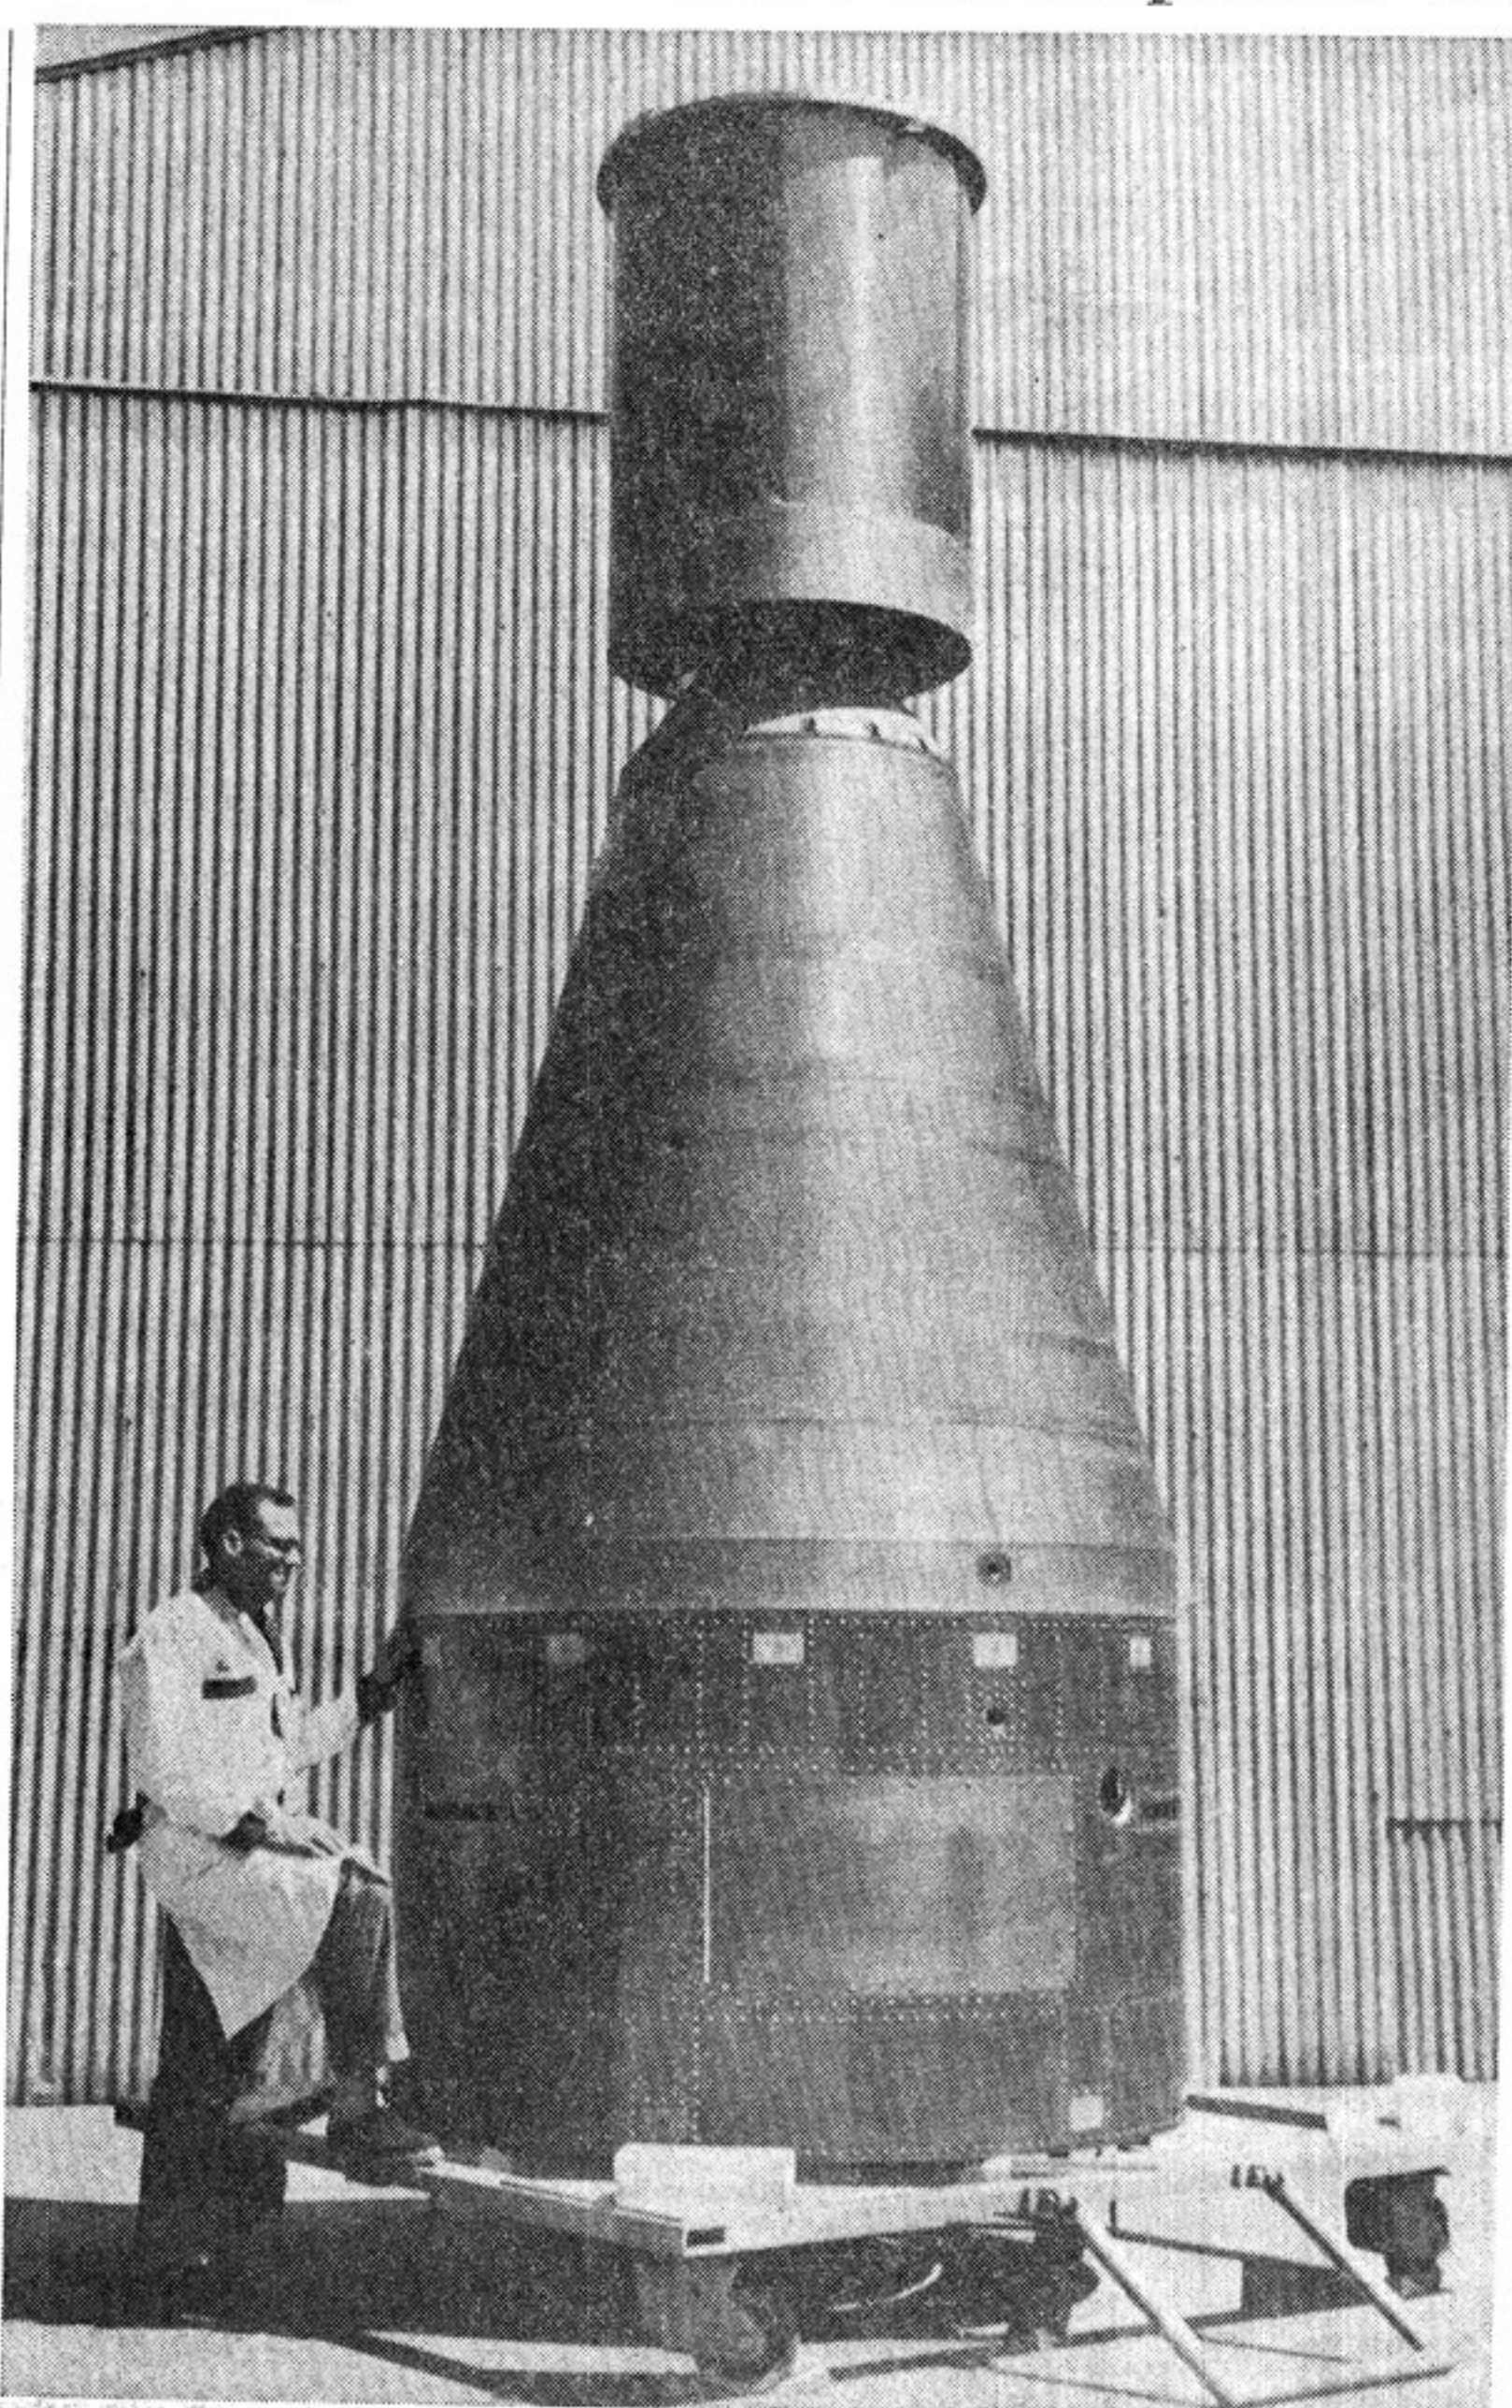

Since then Reynolds has been fabricating Redstone missile ballistic shells for the Army as a subcontractor to the Chrysler Corporation.

With this experience and accumulation of skills in design and development of aluminum shells for missiles, Reynolds was designated by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency to fabricate the more difficult ballistic shell for the Jupiter-C rockets.

The main stage for the Jupiter-C is a modified Redstone liquid fueled rocket. The modifications in fabrication of the more complex Jupiter-C missile required Reynolds technicians to apply construction standards far more rigorous than those needed for the Redstone missile. And the Redstone demanded the highest degree of accuracy.

For example, the nose section for the main stage of the Jupiter-C was formed from thin aluminum sheets welded together. In order to form these sheets into the exact tapered design, Reynolds technicians had to work with tolerances far more precise than the scientists had demanded.

Reynolds technicians welded these thin aluminum sheets on automatic welding machines at a speed of 60 inches per minute.

Lauderdale Man Held In Colbert On Rape Charge

A preliminary hearing is expected to be held in Colbert County Law and Equity Court next week for Leon Britnell, 30-year-old Lauderdale County resident, charged with raping Mrs. Edward Thomas of 500 East 13th St., Sheffield.

The alleged attack occurred Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Thomas told officers, she was at home alone and Britnell walked into the house, dragged her into a bedroom and raped her. Britnell was picked up about 7 p. m. Thursday by Sheffield police on a public drunkenness warrant sworn to by the woman's husband. He also swore to the rape warrant the following day, and Britnell was transferred from the Sheffield city jail to Colbert County jail and held without bond.

Mrs. Thomas is the mother of

News Of GREENHILL

BY MRS. MARY McLAURINE

Tommy Monceret, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Monceret, celebrated his birthday with a party Wednesday afternoon at his home. The games were directed by June and Patricia Monceret. Refreshments were served to fourteen guests.

We wish to extend heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family of Mint Gray. Mr. Gray passed away at ECM Hospital last Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Russell of Courtland visited relatives here Sunday.

Allen Thornton of Florence, visited his sister, Mrs. Birdie Shaw, Sunday.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ben Freeze Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Freeze and family of Nashville, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Freeze and James Gordon of Lawrenceburg, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pettit and Judy and Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Freeze and Eddie of Greenhill.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snoddy and daughter of Florence were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Chandler.

Myra Ann Freeze and Kathryn Gladney were Sunday guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Nix and family in Florence.

Mrs. H. L. McLaurine of Iron City is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Horace McLaurine and Jean Ann.

Mrs. Myrtle Hester of Florence was Friday night guest of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wheeler and Cathy of Florence were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wheeler.

Mrs. Willie Sue Smith, Mrs. Reba Pettus, Mrs. Era Green and Mrs. Alice Putnam visited the Eastern Star in Killen recently.

Mrs. Edgar Wheeler and Mrs. Allen Richardson visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell in Lexington Tuesday.

Mrs. Nellie Green of Florence is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Homer Green.

Mrs. William Crunk of Florence, Mrs. Tom Thornton and Mrs. Horace McLaurine visited Mrs. Robert Pettus in Lexington Wednesday.

Mrs. Joe Scott and Mrs. Edward White were in Florence Friday.

Mrs. Thelma Price of Lawrenceburg spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dodson.

We are glad to report that Rev. William Smith, Mrs. Joe Scott, Mrs. Robert Davis, and Mrs. Fulton Killen are improving at their homes after being in the hospital.

THIS IS TEXAS EASTERN . . .

82,000 extra horsepower to boost gas deliveries

An extra 82,000 horsepower push has helped to increase the capacity of Texas Eastern's natural gas pipeline system to a record high . . . 1.7 billion cubic feet daily.

This horsepower was added during 1957 at newly-built compressor stations . . . and at key existing stations where new compressor horsepower has been installed.

Back in 1947—when Texas Eastern first began operating the Big Inch and the Little Big Inch pipelines for transmission of natural gas—there were no compressor stations at all in operation in the system. Natural gas flowed through the system's 3182 miles of pipeline under gas field pressure at the rate of some 138,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Now, a grand total of 533,000 horsepower . . . harnessed in 55 compressor stations spaced every 50 to 75 miles along the 6000-mile natural gas system . . . is speeding gas from the Southwest to distributing companies serving millions of homes and thousands of factories in the Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern seaboard states.

The growth of this phase of Texas Eastern's varied operations is an impressive testimonial to natural gas . . . to its acceptance by homeowners and industry, and to its merits as a clean, economical and adaptable fuel.

The rate of industrial growth in the South during the past 20 years has led the nation. The pulp and paper industry is a leader in this Southern progress.

Sixty-three primary pulp and paper mills are located in Dixie. They employ over 77,000 persons in the woods, mills and offices. Another 81,000 harvest pulpwood.

The pulp and paper industry annually contributes over one billion dollars to the South's economy at the rate of three million dollars a day. It also is giving new impetus to the region's agriculture because pulpwood has become a vitally important new cash crop to Southern farmers.

Farmers and other landowners are assured an expanding market for their trees since paper consumption is growing by leaps and bounds each year. It is predicted that 50 to 60 percent more pulpwood will be needed by 1967.

Growing trees—like growing any other crop—requires sound management. Forests that are cut properly go on producing trees generation after generation. Forests that are now non-productive can be converted into money-making areas.

PULP and PAPER DAY—April 15

Pulp and Paper Day will be celebrated throughout the South on April 15. This event will focus public attention on the economic importance to the region of the pulp and paper industry, its role in the South's modern agricultural development... and the tremendous economic opportunities more productive forests offer in the years ahead.

STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at the Regular Session 1957, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the said election be held on the first Tuesday in May 1958; and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday in May 1958 will be and occur on May 6, 1958; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law and by the provisions of the act submitting the amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each county in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for the election;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James E. Folsom, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 6th day of May 1958, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901:

"The Court of Appeals is hereby constituted the Court of Criminal Appeals, which shall have final, exclusive and irrevocable supreme appellate jurisdiction coextensive with the limits of the State in all criminal and quasi-criminal cases of whatsoever grade. The Court of Criminal Appeals shall have power to issue such original, remedial, and extraordinary writs as may be necessary to give it a general superintendency and control of inferior jurisdictions. The judges of the Court of Appeals holding office at the time this amendment shall become effective, or who shall be elected to a future term on the Court of Appeals, shall constitute the judges of said court for the remainder of the terms for which they were chosen as judges of the Court of Appeals. Appeals from death sentences shall be heard by said court augmented by four justices of the Supreme Court selected in rotation by the Chief Justice. The provisions hereof shall be self-executing."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday the 6th day of May 1958 upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday the 6th day of May 1958 in each county in the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed by the Secretary of State, at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this 20th day of February 1958.

News Of POWELL

By Mrs. J. N. Phillips

Church
One hundred and twenty-eight attended Sunday school at the Bethel Baptist Church Sunday morning, with others arriving for the 11 o'clock worship service. In the evening 50 were present for Training Union and evening worship.

In the early morning, the church observed an Easter sunrise program with the Union Hill church, with the Rev. Eastwood of the Union Hill church bringing the message.

On next Sunday we will observe H-Day in our church. That's Howard College day, when a young ministerial student of Howard College will fill the Rev. McDaugh's pulpit.

Personal
Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gullett visited Mrs. Gullett's relatives in Georgia over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. James Sneed and children of Sylacauga visited last week in the H. W. Phillips home. Mrs. Alton Bailey was in Jackson's Hospital for a brief period last week.

Mrs. J. B. Amazon was in Nashville for a check up on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Heathcoat of Cleveland, Ohio, visited here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eady have moved into the house vacated by the Gray Phillips.

We extend our communities sympathies to the Jess Forysthe family due to the loss of the elder Mrs. Forysthe, mother of Jess, who passed away last week. She was buried in the Booth Chapel cemetery with funeral services in house, and smoke house. Adequate water supply. Electric service available.

TERMS: This property will be sold for cash or on terms of not less than 20 percent cash with the balance in five amortized installments, with interest on the unpaid balance at the rate of five percent per annum.

Sealed competitive bids will be considered if received on Government bid forms prior to 10 A.M., CST, April 24, 1958. The Government reserves the right to reject all bids.

Mr. Leil C. Mixon, County FHA Supervisor, Lauderdale County Building, Florence, Alabama, will identify the property for inspection and furnish bid forms upon request.

TO THE MOON AND BACK 47 TIMES! Now that we're getting baby satellites into space, folks are really "up in the air" about space travel and trips to the moon. And the exciting thing is that it all may come true. Right now, if we could get to the moon and wished to put in telephones, we could probably get the wire to reach from earth to moon in pretty short order. In just one year the Western Electric people supplied Bell System companies with cable that contained 23 million miles of wire—enough to reach the moon and back 47 times! That's a pile of wire, but it's only a drop in the bucket compared to that we already have in service and still need to serve all the people who want new telephones every day in the year.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

Youth—BY THE DRAWERFUL

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

About three percent of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits.

Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage...

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistency with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fall Plantings Provide Farmers Grazing For Cattle

Dillard McConnell, out in Anderson community, operates a small farm and sells milk from about a half dozen cows. The weather, since last fall, has had its ill effect on McConnell's overall grazing program but he has some good grazing and fair small grain crops.

Early last fall Dillard prepared his land and seeded a mixture of oats and crimson clover. He expected considerable grazing from his wheat but the wheat did not come along as expected; therefore, he got no grazing from it. His oats and clover did fair but has been heavily grazed. Nitrogen was applied early in March and the cows are enjoying a lot of good grazing.

Lespedeza and sweet sudan grass or millet will supply summer grazing for Dillard's cows this summer. He may plant a few areas of sericea and some upland this spring. He likes oats and crimson clover for winter grazing and will have more next winter. He says, "you've got to prepare your land, fertilize right, and plant early if you expect to have good grazing."

Alton Bailey of Anderson is utilizing some good grazing he planted early last fall. He said, "I visited the Experiment Station at Belle Mina several years ago to observe their grazing program and I have been following it ever since with good success."

Mr. Bailey plans to graze lespedeza and sudan grass or millet this summer in addition to other pastures he has on his farm. He will turn about eight acres of sericea this spring and plant the land in corn or a grazing crop. What he will plant on this area will be determined as his plans continue to develop. He says, "I just don't plant anything until I get a good seedbed prepared, and that's going to be part of my plans this year."

Organizations
The April meeting of the Lexington Parent-Teacher Ass'n. was held Monday evening in the school library with president, C. C. Howard, presiding. Mary Ann Mabe, a fifth grade pupil, conducted the devotional part of the program. During the business session Mr. Howard appointed Mrs. M. V. Virginia McMeans, Mrs. Lois Trousdale and Mrs. Marjorie Belev to serve on the nominating committee. This committee is charged with the responsibility of making nominations for the 1958-59 officers.

Orville M. Bailey called attention to the Family Life Conference to be held in Florence during April and the speaker which will be discussing the topic "Preparing For Family Living in Our Changing Community," at Lexington on April 22 at 7:30.

Mrs. Mary McNatt of the county health department was in charge of the program which was a discussion of the services which the local health department has to offer. Mrs. McNatt dealt with the various divisions of the department, with emphasis on the services rendered by the nursing staff. At the end of the discussion she distributed materials which further explained its work as well as other materials dealing with food, disease and health in general. Mrs. McNatt's remarks were very helpful and were presented in a most interesting manner.

Attendance awards went to Mrs. Inez White's group in the elementary school and to Mrs. Dorothy Wesson's group in the high school. The next meeting of the association will be held on Monday evening, May 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

Two Ounces More Milk Consumption Would End Surplus

If every person in the U. S. drank two ounces more fresh milk per day, there would be a shortage of milk instead of a surplus. This would mean that farm income would be increased and the government's expenditures for farm price supports lessened, reports A. W. Jones, API Extension marketing specialist.

"When the nation's milk supply runs ahead of the demand for fluid milk, the surplus goes into manufactured products such as powdered milk, butter and cheese," explains the specialist. "As these commodities exceed demand, the federal government purchases quantities of them."

"If this surplus were consumed as fluid milk—and the consumption of two ounces more per person per day would eliminate the surplus—the dairy farmer's income would be increased, for he gets a higher price for milk used in fluid form than for milk that goes into manufactured dairy products."

"Almost half of the nation's milk supply is now consumed as fresh fluid milk," Jones concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Newton and sons were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tollie Shelton.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coker, Joe Frank Fowler and Miss Pauline Newton enjoyed a dinner party at the Shanty in Florence Thursday evening.

Church

A beautiful and impressive Easter sunrise service was held in the Methodist Church last Sunday morning under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyd Parker. Young people of the Church participated in it.

Following this service, a breakfast and fellowship hour was enjoyed in the basement of the church.

At 9:45 Bro. C. D. Dobbs brought to the congregation a very fine Easter message, using as his subject "Jesus Meets Us Risen."

Nine members united with the church at this time.

School

The last meeting of the P-T. A. for this year, was held on March 31. A very good covered dish supper was served in the lunchroom. The program consisted of an interesting discussion of Red Cross and Civil Defense work by Mrs. Lance of Florence.

Officers for the coming year were elected and are President, Mrs. Owen Murphy; Vice President, Mrs. Hugh L. Price, Jr.; Secretary, Mrs. Walterine McCallough; Treasurer, Mr. Norman Hall.

ALABAMA C D FIRST IN U. S. PROPERTY RECEIVED

State Civil Defense Director Pitt Tyson Maner pointed out this week that Alabama leads the Southern Region No. 3 in the value of Federal property received for Civil Defense programs in the state.

"As of February 20, 1958," he said, "Alabama has received property valued at $1,013,984." Property received by other states in this region was given as follows: North Carolina 760,527; Georgia $670,378; Florida $666,915; Tennessee $120,899 and South Carolina $41,893.

Mrs. Paul M. Wilson has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. C. Donald Everson, in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and from Mobile where she represented Alabama Chapter at the state DAR convention.

What are you doing to strengthen America's Peace Power?

Not everybody can fly a jet to help keep the peace. But fortunately, everybody can do something to help strengthen America's Peace Power. Here's how:

Peace costs money. Money for many different things. To help us keep the peace, through industrial and military strength. To help make it lasting for the future, through science and education. And, (most important) it takes money saved by individuals. Your Savings Bonds, as a direct investment in your country, make you a partner in the job of strengthening America's Peace Power.

So—buy Bonds now. Buy them where you bank, or where you work, through Payroll Savings. They're a good way to save. And they're your investment in the future!

Civilians Celebrate

The Rogersville Civitan Club reached a highpoint in their activities when their thirty years of organization was observed on Tuesday evening at a delightfully planned dinner at the Rogersville School cafeteria.

Hudson Covington, president, introduced Leon Graham, lieutenant governor of Civitans, Alabama District, North, who made the presentation of the thirty-year membership awards to Sam Spry and Otha Rose, charter members.

A review of the highlights of the history, the accomplishments and contributions toward civic betterment was given. Civitan Rex Roberson recalled the occasion some twenty-five years ago when the entire membership attended the International Civitan Convention in Canada and received a gong for special recognition of 100 per cent attendance.
