The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

Just to show you the hazards of raising a beard, as has been the practice in Colbert County this month, a resident of Jackson, Tenn., now living in Florence temporarily while working on a job in Sheffield, decided to fit in to the pattern and raised a healthy beard. It so happens that this gentleman once was a heavy drinker but hasn't touched a drop for the past five years. Last week-end he paid a visit to his family, the first since growing the beard. Arriving at his home rather late at night, he ran into his 13-year-old daughter in a darkened room, put his arms around her and gave her a kiss. The daughter, viewing her father with his several-weeks-old whiskers, cried out: "Mama, mama, come quick — Daddy's started drinking again."

In order that you may appreciate the splendid job that the 85th Congress has done, we call to your attention one "worthwhile law" that was put on the statute books: "The possession of a switch-blade knife by anyone other than a one-armed person was declared to be a Federal violation. Also, where ownership is permitted, the blade can not be over three inches in length." It seems that the switch-blade knife has become the badge of the juvenile delinquent.

Political rumors, many with rather firm foundations, are making the rounds now and it appears that Sheriff-elect Roy Lee Call is taking a leaf out of the book of Gov.-Elect John Patterson in the selection of his chief aids well in advance of assuming office. From what we hear—and to both Lauderdale's next sheriff and his Chief Deputy we extend our congratulations.—A. V. (George) McCorkle has accepted this important post. An experienced law enforcement officer, George McCorkle will be a valuable asset to Mr. Call.

Coach Joe Grant tells the story of a farmer, who, having sold his first bale of cotton in late August, went to the bank to deposit his check. It was broiling hot outside but the air-conditioned bank gave immediate relief. The line before the teller's window was long and it was some time before the farmer was able to make his deposit. By that time, he was about to freeze and, apparently forgetting the weather outside, remarked: "If it's this cold tomorrow, I think I'll kill my hogs."

An old lady describing the symptoms of her ailment to a noted but eccentric physician, explained "The trouble, doctor, is that I can neither lay nor set." Whereupon the good doctor answered: "Then, Mrs. Jones, I would respectfully suggest a change in your roosting habits."

With college registrations being reviewed, the dean of a certain law school, in discussing the large number enrolled in the freshman class, remarked that the number of women who take up law, although on the increase, in no way compares with the number that lay it down.

After taking one too many the other night, he wrecked his car and, as a result, lost his job. But, as he had throughout his life, he took his troubles like a man—and blamed them all on his wife.

When you hear a woman say: "I just devoured that book," it's a good guess that it was thoroughly loaded with mystery, murder and sex.

It has been pointed out, after some observation, that financially secure grandmothers have about as much use for grandfathers as a black widow spider has for its mate.

The following classified ad appeared in a nearby metropolitan newspaper: "Lost—one gold cuff link, initialled M. R.—will buy or sell. Mark Richman."

Florence Miss Named County Maid Of Cotton

Judges Choose Miss Janet Delano; Miss Rose Vaughn Picked Alternate

A comely brunette secretary, Miss Janet Delano, was chosen Lauderdale's 1958 Maid of Cotton last Thursday evening, and will represent this county in the Alabama contest at the state fair in Birmingham Oct. 2.

The three out-of-county judges picked Miss Rose Marie Vaughn as alternate to the 1958 Maid after more than three hours of considering the 15 entrants for beauty, poise, charm and background.

Miss Delano, an employee of Reynolds Metals, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell T. Delano, 514 Cypress Mill Rd., while Miss Vaughn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Turner Vaughn, Florence, Rt. 3. She is employed by Southern Sash. Miss Delano graduated from Coffee High and Miss Vaughn finished at Central High.

Announcement of the 1958 Maid and alternate were announced following a dinner at Hotel Reeder attended by the contestants, representatives of their sponsoring firms or organizations, Extension Service personnel and officers of the contest sponsors in the county, the Farm Bureau Federation. The Florence Chamber of Commerce also cooperated in presentation of this year's contest.

County Agent L. T. Wagon acted as master of ceremonies at the banquet, introducing the girls, their sponsors and other guests. The contestants had previously been brought before the judges in swim suits, street dresses and evening gowns, but the winner was not disclosed until a 9:30 program went on the air over WOL-TV.

When Miss Delano goes to Birmingham to compete in the state contest in October, she will be provided, without charge, a wardrobe by the merchants' committee of the Chamber of Commerce. She was also awarded a trophy by Garvin Witt, local jeweler.

The complete list of contestants and their sponsors follows: Janice Cosby, sponsored by the Rogersville Post Office; Jane Blair, Florence, sponsored by Shipper Cotton Company; Lois Broadfoot, Florence, by Lauderdale County Cooperative; Janet Delano, Florence, by North Alabama Fair Association; Madeline Hillman, Florence, by Florence Kiwanis Club; Annette Koonce, Florence, by Florence Lions Club; Lois Lumpkins, Florence, Farm Service Supply (Continued on Page 2)

Lauderdale Man Takes Own Life

Alton Eugene Holden, To Have Been Married, Fatally Shoots Self

A 24-year-old Lauderdale County man, due to be married this week-end, took his own life with one shot from a single barrel 20-gauge shotgun late Monday afternoon.

Relatives said Alton Eugene Holden got the gun Monday afternoon and announced he was going bird hunting. He crossed the road from the home of his brother-in-law, Georgia Lee Holden, to a wooded area, from where a single shot was heard.

Holden told Coroner W. R. Chisholm family members at first thought Alton had fired at a bird, but upon investigation they found him lying dead. The charge had struck the victim near his heart.

Relatives said they knew of nothing which would have prompted the young man to take his life.

Funeral services were held Wednesday. Surviving Mr. Holden are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shaler Holden, Killen, Rt. 1; three sisters, Mrs. Dessie Clemmons, Mrs. Vernon Pettus and Reba Holden, Killen, Rt. 1, and six brothers, Claude, Hollis, Clayton, Hurston, Chester and Doyle, also of Killen, Rt. 1.

City School Enrollment Set Sept. 3

Enrollment for all City Schools except Coffee High School will be at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday Morning September 3, it was announced Wednesday by Supt. Rufus G. Hibbett. These grades (1 through 8) are requested to enroll in the same school they attended last year unless or until they are otherwise notified. First grade children will enroll in the school of their generally recognized school area.

Because of the large enrollment at Coffee High, two days will be required for enrollment. The 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades of Coffee High School will enroll as follows:

9th grade at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday September 3rd.
11th grade at 1:00 o'clock Wednesday September 3rd.
10th grade at 8:30 o'clock Thursday September 4th.
12 grade at 1:00 o'clock Thursday September 4th.

Coffee students enrolling should report to Coffee auditorium.

Burrell-Slater, Handy and Pine Ridge schools will enroll at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday, September 3rd.

"With the assistance of the principals we have given much time and thought regarding the placement of pupils in the elementary and junior high schools," Mr. Hibbett said. "With new families coming into the city and families moving from one school area to another, we find it utterly impossible to equalize home rooms by attempting pupil placement in advance of the opening of school. Home rooms and classes must be equalized in order to meet state requirements and if we expect to uphold the standards of our City Schools. Sound and sober reasoning dictates that it is not in the interest of better education to have twenty pupils in a first grade home room of one school and forty pupils in a first grade home room of another school. Desirable and better teaching and learning cannot take place in an over crowded classroom. It is our desire to give as much attention as possible to the individual child. Such cannot be done in over-size classes. Our Board of Education has made every effort to prevent crowded home rooms and classes by providing our school system with 28 more teachers than are paid for by the Alabama State Minimum school program. Since it is mandatory that we equalize home rooms as near— (Continued on Page 2)

Two White Men Held On Rape, Assault Counts

Alleged Acts Occurred Six Miles From City Sunday Afternoon

Two Lauderdale County white men are being held in county jail on charges they raped a young white woman and assaulted her male companion on a county road six miles west of Florence late Sunday afternoon.

No bond has been set for the two. Billy Clemmons, 22, and J. L. Lovelace, Jr., 30, pending a preliminary hearing yet to be set in justice of the peace court.

Sheriff's deputies said the young woman, and her companion, Carmel G. Bratcher, were parked on the county road and were taking pictures when Clemmons and Lovelace came up to the car.

The pair allegedly pulled the woman from the car, officers said, and Clemmons and Bratcher engaged in a fight. Bratcher, reportedly beaten and cut, ran to a nearby house to get help, and it was while he was away from the scene that the woman declared Clemmons and Lovelace raped her.

Bratcher called the office of Sheriff Earl Romine, who, with Chief Deputy Floyd Mitchell, drove to the scene of the reported rape and assault and arrested the alleged suspects.

County's First Bale Is Ginned Tuesday

Owen Cox, who farms in the Bend of The River area on land owned by the Frank M. Perry estate, ginned Lauderdale County's first bale of cotton from the 1958 crop at the Oakland Gin Co., Tuesday.

The bale produced by Mr. Cox weighed 462 pounds, according to the gin operators. Thomas Reeder and James E. Rice.

The initial bale from this year's crop in Colbert County was ginned Saturday by William Davenport, who farms on the Percy Alexander place near Leighton. His bale weighed 381 pounds.

Supreme Court In Session To Decide Little Rock School Fate

DEAD CENTER—Known as a good place to hunt rattlesnakes, these barren buttes in South Dakota now contain the geographical center of the United States with the addition of Alaska. Dominated by Two Top Peak, the area (44 degrees, 59 minutes latitude; 103 degrees, 38 minutes longitude) lies about 20 miles east of the point where the South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming borders meet. Despite the publicity, informed sources do not believe that the spot will blossom as a tourist resort.

Labor Day Will Include Parade, Beauty Contest

Jones, Others To Speak At Annual Celebration Spring Park, Tusculumia

Final arrangements for the big Labor Day parade were made Monday night when chairmen of the various committees met at Carpenters Hall in Sheffield. Features of the annual celebration include a procession through the Tri-Cities beginning in Florence and terminating at Spring Park in Tusculumia, a beauty contest, band concerts, and speaking.

Representative Robert E. (Bob) Jones of the Eighth Congressional District; E. R. Williamson, area director for the Committee on Political Education; Barney Weeks, president of the Alabama Labor Council, Birmingham; and Earl Pippin, vice president of the Labor Council, Montgomery, will be the principal speakers.

The parade will form in Florence at 8 a. m. on Monday, Sept. 1, to open the days festivities. The procession will leave Coffee High School promptly at 9 o'clock. It is urged that all locals who have selected candidates for the title of Labor Day Queen, turn their names in to the Tri-Cities Central Labor body in Sheffield at once so that the complete list may be announced Friday or Monday.

Hassell Bailey, president of the Tri-Cities Central Labor Union will serve as master of ceremonies.

Pupils Enroll Friday For County Schools

Registration day for students planning to attend schools of the county system is Friday, Supt. Allan Thornton reminded parents this week.

Following registration on that day, no classes will be held on Monday—Labor Day—but the 1958-59 term will officially begin Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Supt. Thornton emphasized that a child, entering school for the first time must observe his or her sixth birthday on or by October 1 in order to be registered.

Nationalist Held Islands Bombed By Red China

U. S. Naval Vessels With 1600 Marines Leave Port, 'Destination Unknown'

Late News

W. J. Eason, 68-year-old Birmingham bank guard, has been charged with the murder of a fellow guard, Vincent Carnell, 45, in a downtown bank Tuesday morning. Eason admitted the shooting after he said Carnell called him an insulting name and accused him of laziness. Eason had worked eight years at the bank.

Some eleven hundred workers refused to cross picket lines at Redstone Arsenal Tuesday set up by Local 558 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and halted work on a $32 million building program. The electrical union, off the job since last Friday, has protested pay and working conditions on a power line expansion job for the Army. The union charges that the construction company in charge of work is paying wages lower than those agreed upon in June.

Gov. James E. Folsom indicated this week he would commute the death sentence of a Negro farm hand scheduled to be executed for a $1.95 robbery if the case comes before him. Under Alabama law, nighttime robbery of an inhabited dwelling is a capital offense. The Negro, Jimmy Wilson, was sentenced to die for robbing Mrs. Estelle Barker, an 82-year-old widow at her home on the night of July 27, 1957. The case is now being considered by the Alabama Supreme Court.

By a vote of approximately 5 to 1 Alaska voted herself into the union Tuesday. The result paves the way for President Eisenhower late this year or early in 1959, to officially proclaim this nation's sprawling Northern territory the 49th state.

U. S. officials have urged Nationalist China from retaliatory bombing of Red positions since they believed the Red attacks were designed for "political or diplomatic reasons."

Meanwhile eight U. S. naval vessels carrying a force of 1600 Marines will leave Singapore for undisclosed destinations "during the next few days." It was denied that the ship movements had anything to do with the stepped-up Red attacks on the Quemoy Islands held by Nationalist Chinese.

Senators Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) disagreed on whether or not President Eisenhower, under the 1955 Formosa agreement, could send U. S. forces to defend the Quemoy Islands. Morse contended the President did not have the authority while Douglas contended the chief executive could do so. The eight ships are part of the Seventh Fleet.

Concerning the disturbing reports from the Far East, Nationalist China's ambassador Hellington Tong, conferred with officials of the State Department. J. Graham Parsons, deputy assistant secretary for Far Eastern Affairs and others for some 20 minutes. He made no requests and was non-committal about his government's stand, it was reported.

U. S. officials indicated they did not believe the bombings were any prelude to an all-out attack on Nationalist Chinese. This was given as the reason Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was urged not to let himself be drawn into a retaliatory bombing attack. Chiang's forces however have replied to the Red attacks with artillery.

The White House said President Eisenhower was being kept fully informed of the military operations in the Formosa sector. The chief executive has also conferred with Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff on the Far East situation, it was reported. James C. Haregerty, White House Press Secretary, however, said it was only a periodic meeting held every two weeks for the past six months.

Five Qualified In Commission Race

City Election Scheduled September 15; Run-off Would Be Held Sept. 22

Monday's deadline for entries in the Florence city commission race passed with the field still left to five candidates—Roy N. Braswell, George J. Green, W. Howard Hickman, Robert Richardson and E. T. Stovall.

They are running for the commission place now held by A. W. Darby, named earlier in the summer to fill the unexpired term of Rufus G. Hibbett. Mr. Hibbett resigned to accept the position of superintendent of city schools.

The city election will be held Monday, Sept. 15. In the event no candidate receives a majority on that date, a run-off will be held between the two top men one week later.

Mr. Darby has formerly served on the commission and has also been postmaster of Florence. Mr. Hickman has made a previous race for the commission, while the others in the contest have not offered for public office before.

Arkansas May Close Schools If Delay Is Denied

BULLETIN

President Eisenhower said Wednesday he believes the rate of school integration should be slowed down but denied to newsmen that he had ever said he wished the Supreme Court had not ruled in 1954 in favor of integrating the nation's public schools. He said the consequences would be terrible if some states close their public schools in an effort to block the court's order on integration.

The nation's highest tribunal moved quickly Tuesday to set up a special session to open today to consider the crucial school segregation deadline at Little Rock's Central High School. The scheduled session of the Supreme Court was five days before the deadline and is only the fifth off-season term in four decades. The tribunal must determine whether to allow or forbid racial integration at the Arkansas capital.

The high court's action was hastened by the opening date of the schools in Arkansas which is September 2. Violence broke out in Little Rock last year when nine Negroes were enrolled at Central High School under a federal court order and later enforced by federal troops.

The impending Supreme Court action, it was admitted by both sides, will have a tremendous bearing on future cases of school integration and is expected to provide the first guide on desegregation methods since the high tribunal outlawed racial segregation as unconstitutional more than four years ago.

Faibus Calls Lawmakers Arkansas's Governor Orval Faibus called his state legislature into special session Wednesday to consider a school closing measure in case integration was ordered at Central High School. The School Board postponed opening of the school until September 8.

Said Faibus: "I hope the United States Supreme Court will be better informed on the situation than was the President and his advisers . . . at that time the President did not know transportation had been integrated in Arkansas as well as institutions of higher learning and most of the public schools in seven other Southern states combined. Nor did he know that Negroes were serving in party posts and public offices, both elective and appointive."

Where Will It End

The other day a young girl of 16 was elected "queen" of something or other and was given an expensive foreign sports car and a trip to Europe . . . both nice prizes in anybody's book.

But were the prizes the right sort of awards for a 16-year old who likely had few other assets than her beauty in a bathing suit and who would hardly be apt to take a European tour or own a sports car at her age unless her doting parents had more money than brains?

At 16 she could hardly have been through high school so why couldn't her prize have been a four-year college scholarship or at least the monetary equivalent of the car and the trip.

Like some of the current quiz shows which award contestants out of all proportion to their ability or education, this is a fair sample of how America's evaluation of culture has deteriorated, or shall we say, how our materialism has flourished.

The fabulous Teddy Nadler was paid $10,000 recently on the same show by defeating two challengers. Although Nadler can keep only 10 per cent or about one thousand dollars of this amount it not bad pay for a night's work. Nobody blames Nadler or any other contestant who can get on one of the many big quizzes and make an overnight fortune but it doesn't alter the fact that it is affecting the thinking of millions of people who might otherwise realize hat en dimes make a dollar. Now the dollar is fading into some nebulous quantity as the quizzes go on and on to end nobody knows where.

Don't Keep That Summer Job

Many a teen-age boy and girl throughout the land, including a goodly number in Lauderdale County, have been working at temporary jobs this summer for wages or salaries. In addition to the sense of responsibility and self-reliance with which such employment imbues many of these young people, the monetary return creates a feeling of independence, and to youth, that's a tremendous thing.

Such benefits accruing to high school and college students from summer jobs will no doubt exert a powerful influence for forsaking the classroom to continue their employment. At least, they will give the young man or woman pause to consider—and consider they should, but thoroughly and completely.

From a material standpoint alone the young person thinking of keeping on with a job at the expense of further education should see the folly of such a course. Authoritative figures show that the person with but an eighth grade education will earn from wages in a lifetime about $85,000. This compares with a high school graduate's life earnings of $165,000 and the college graduate's $268,000. It shouldn't take more than a little fifth grade arithmetic for the boy or girl in doubt about returning to school to figure that one out.

In this increasingly technological age there is less and less demand for common and semi-skilled labor; indeed, one top-flight business executive in this country predicts that in a matter of a few years semi-skilled jobs will be eliminated almost entirely. On the farm, where in years past less education was required of a worker than anywhere else, the most successful practitioners today are those with degrees in agriculture or with some college training. And this will become increasingly truer in the future.

The armed services, which have heretofore been havens for many an uneducated and unskilled youth, are stepping up their mental requirements for volunteers and selectees. Only the past week the Selective Service system announced it was calling twice as many Alabamians for examination in September than this month in order to get the more intelligent and educated soldier the Army quota demands.

Finally, the youth in doubt as to whether to finish his schooling need only talk with an older person as to which course to take. We've never heard anyone say they regretted obtaining an education; many regret NOT having one.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BOB JONES

Eighth District REPRESENTATIVE

A History-Making Session

In 1955, President Eisenhower predicted that if a Democratic Congress were elected the nation would be thrown in chaos and little would be accomplished for the nation's good. But the 85th Congress faced up to the fantastic problems of the world tomorrow, while meeting the enormous problems of today and achieved a truly formidable record of work and constructive legislation. In truth, the President got more support for his "must" legislation from Democrats than he received from the Old Guard of his own party. This Congress is historic for several reasons. One is that it proved that a Democratic-controlled Congress can work well with a Republican President and patriotism can override politics even in an election year. It proved that even with appropriations of $72 billion, a Congress can put more money into people's pockets than it takes out, for that is what has happened.

Almost everyone in the country will feel the effects of what this Congress has done. A start was made to help needy youth get higher educations. Older persons will get larger Old Age Security checks and a little more leeway in doing part-time work. More money was released to speed up new highway building and car-buyers will find honest price tags on the windshields of cars. Small businessmen will find it easier to get loans and on more liberal terms. It should be easier to get mortgage loans.

The unemployed will get an extension of out-of-work payments. Pension funds of all workers will be protected from racketeers by law. Finer public building and new city facilities will be made possible through appropriations of over $1 billion. Pay raises for civil service workers and the military already have had good effect on local businesses and have spurred wage increases in private industry. Better postal service should come with increased income from higher postal rates. Railroads got relief in tax cuts and in offers of loans. Cuts in cotton acreage were averted.

In dealing with tomorrow's problems, the Congress authorized a revamping of the Pentagon, which is expected to give us more bang per buck from our military. It aided our allies by loans and by keeping Reciprocal Trade provisions. It created a new National Aeronautics and Space Administration to co-ordinate work on outer-space exploration. It strengthened our research into rockets and missiles and it made another new agency, the Federal Agency to make flying safer.

When this Congress convened, morale in the country was low. Communism crowded over its scientific accomplishments and the recession was in full swing. There

River Authority Issues Booklet On Waterways

The Alabama River Development Authority has issued a new publication on the waterways of the state. Containing 20 pages of pictures and text, the booklet is called "Water at Work."

The booklet outlines the water resources of Alabama, including an average annual rainfall of about 55 inches, ample groundwater and great rivers, and points out that this supply of water may be Alabama's greatest natural resource in the years ahead. It notes that major industries are locating on rivers where both barge transportation and industrial water are available, and urges that Alabama's rivers be put to work. The booklet states that Alabama has 1,600 miles of navigable rivers.

All of these rivers were active arteries of commerce during steamboat days, according to "Rivers at Work." It states that they were not only the main roads of the young state but often the only roads.

After telling the story of the rise and decline of the shallow draft steamboat, "Rivers at Work" outlines the havoc that floods have wrought and the crop disasters that have resulted from prolonged drought. It states that a series of multiple-purpose dams along the rivers not only creates navigation channels and produces electric power, but also serves to control the flow of water, prevent floods and retain water for irrigation and industrial use.

The booklet also treats each of Alabama's river systems individually, including the Warrior-Tombigbee, the Tennessee and the Chattahoochee, which are now improved or being improved for navigation. It outlines some of the industrial growth which has followed river improvement on these rivers.

In this last News Letter which I will send for this year, I want to take the opportunity to thank all of you who wrote, wired or called me during the 85th Congress to give me your views and counsel on pending issues. These are always helpful. I express sincere gratitude to the many who have written to thank me for services rendered, or to offer encouragement. During the sessions, I have had some trying struggles to get legislation to benefit our state and area and these messages were not only heartening, but were a spur to further effort.

It is not only a privilege to serve the 350,000 constituents of our District, but a pleasure because of co-operation from home. Soon, I shall be back home in Alabama and I look forward to seeing and greeting as many of you as I can during the fall recess.

Other pages deal with the Coosa-Alabama, authorized for navigation but as yet unimproved for navigation, and the Choctawhatchee-Pea River, for which a new engineering survey has just been completed. The importance of recreation on Alabama's improved rivers, both as recreation and as an economic asset, is also stressed.

Under the heading, "The Missing Link" the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway is discussed in the booklet. This is the waterway for the promotion of which Alabama and Mississippi have just entered into a compact. The booklet states that the proposed waterway would shorten the water distance from Guntersville and other Alabama ports on the Tennessee to the Gulf of Mexico by 650 miles.

The booklet also describes the manner in which the Port of Mobile and the Gulf Intracoastal Canal serve Alabama shipping and sells how the Gulf waterway ties in with Alabama's river systems.

"Rivers at Work" is profusely illustrated with river and industrial scenes in Alabama. It also contains facts as to the flow mileage and general basin areas of the major river systems of the State.

Florence Woman Drowns In River

Leaves Note For Family, Walks Into Tennessee In Waterloo Area

Leaving a farewell note to her family, Mrs. Sarah Schall, 55, of 802 East Tombigbee St., Florence, walked into the waters of the Tennessee River near Hart's Camp at Waterloo late Friday and drowned.

Assistant Fire Chief Rassie Weaver and Fireman Sam Roberts of the Florence department pulled the body of Mrs. Schall from the Tennessee at 7:30 a. m. Saturday after searching for 20 minutes. She was wearing slacks, a shirt and a white bathing cap.

Mrs. Schall was reported missing late Friday afternoon and her husband, Severian Schall, notified the Lauderdale County sheriff's office about midnight Friday.

The note was reportedly left in a chair, along with a bathing suit, and was discovered by her daughter.

The drowning was the fourth to occur in Lauderdale-Colbert area in the past two weeks and the eighth in the two counties this year.

Education Board Sets Up Date For Accredittments

The Alabama State Board of Education in its July 10, meeting changed the date of applications for accreditation to be on or before October 1 instead of November 15. This change is made to speed up accreditation of high schools. State Education Department staff members have been directed to complete inspection and appraisal of all high schools on the probation list on or before October 1 so that accreditation status can be cleared promptly after October 1.

For the first time a State Directory of Accredited High Schools will be published instead of being a part of the regular State Directory. The plan is to publish the list of accredited high schools early in the beginning of the fiscal year, which starts October 1. Some school boards operate senior high schools that are not accredited and that have never been accredited.

State standards are provided for accreditation of regular senior high schools, accreditation of night schools and other special schools, and for the accreditation of summer schools.

Most of the schools that have been notified that they do not meet accreditation standards have reported improvements to meet the standards. The most difficult problem reported to date is not having sufficient classroom facilities. The second most difficult improvement to make to date is that of employing trained librarians.

Much community interest is being shown in improving the high school standards. This is as it should be. The high school is still the highest education for over 70% of the people of Alabama. This being true, it necessarily follows that the quality of high school education in this State is of vital importance to all of the people of this State.

ly as possible, we request the help and cooperations of parents whose children are involved in transfer from one school to another school.

"We can see now that there will be an additional 6th grade in the Gilbert School area. Due to the fact that Gilbert School does not have another class room it will be necessary to transfer an entire 6th grade to Harlan School where a room is available. Insofar as it is possible, we will make every effort to allow all children of one family to attend the same elementary school."

"All elementary and junior high children are requested to enroll in the same school they attended last year unless or until you are otherwise notified.

"Children living just outside the city limits who desire to attend the city schools, are requested to attend on the day of regular enrollment. These children will give their name, address and telephone number to the teacher and they will be notified as quickly as possible whether or not they can be accepted. Tuition for county children is $20.00 for grades 1 through 6 and $25.00 for grades 7 through 12. County children who attended city schools last year will be given first consideration and will be placed in the school of smallest home room enrollment.

It is our desire to cooperate with parents in every way possible that all of the children of Florence may receive the very best education possible and that we will always be glad to discuss parental problems as they relate to the child and the entire school system. The administration and teachers in turn respectfully solicit your cooperation as we strive to provide the very best educational opportunities for all the children of Florence," Mr. Hibbett concluded.

decision would affect that state's action on the matter of school segregation. In Norfolk schools will open on September 8 and Federal District Judge Walter E. Hoffman told the school board there to reconsider the rejection of 151 Negro applications for admission to the all-white schools of that city.

Hoffman had said recently that he would not order Norfolk schools desegregated if the Supreme Court permitted a delay at Little Rock.

At Richmond the Virginia Placement Board denied all Negro applications for transfer to white schools in Arlington and Newport News.

In Tennessee

At Nashville and Clinton, Tenn., plans were being made for racial integration in the schools and in Nashville first graders of both races began enrolling for the second year in succession. School authorities said they expected no trouble.

At Clinton High where trouble brought National Guard forces to the scene last year, six Negro girls registered as freshmen, it was reported.

Al Fresco Setting For Austin-Adomietz Vows

The garden of her parents' home was the setting when Sheila Seana Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas C. Austin of Cloverdale, became the bride of Charles Franklin Adomietz in a twilight ceremony on Sunday, August twenty-fourth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Adomietz of Killen.

For the wedding occasion the exterior of the colonial entrance was garlanded with greenery to fashion the altar background and baskets of white gladioli and wrought iron candlestands of burning tapers completed the tableau space.

The Reverend Hugh Dorsey Thomas officiated at the six o'clock service following nuptial music by Mrs. Evangeline Earwood and Mrs. Don Perkins. Paul and Kenneth Austin, brother and cousin of the bride, were candlelighters.

Arches entwined with English ivy spanned an aisle to the altar where Mr. Austin gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of lace and tulle was designed with fitted bodice distinguished by a portrait neckline and sleeves finished with points at the hands. The voluminous skirt swept into a chapel length train and a crown of orange blossoms held her veil of double illusion.

With her white Bible, a gift from the bridegroom, she carried a bouquet of fleurs d'amour centered with a white orchid.

Attendants were Mrs. Michael Belue of Auburn and Miss Margaret Berry, honor matron and maid; Miss June Davis and Miss Fay May, bridesmaids; Janet Gray and Gail Adomietz, cousin of the bride and niece of the bridegroom, flower girls. Yellow and green taffeta fashioned their veils and full skirted princess frocks worn with wide-brimmed hats of matching material. Their bouquets were of pastel blossoms.

John William Adomietz served his brother as best man.

A profusion of Summer flowers were used throughout the reception rooms as Mr. and Mrs. Austin honored the bridal couple immediately after the ceremony.

White roses and gladioli were arranged to center the bride's table where the four-tiered cake was garlanded with greenery and flanked by tall tapers in silver stands. Assisting were Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Nashville, Mrs. Don Kornegay, Camden, Tennessee, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Franklin Gray, Mrs. Raymond Taylor, Mrs. Paul Abramson, Mrs. Hershel McIntyre, Mrs. Edwin Chowning, Mrs. Leslie Holliman and Miss Norma Jean Adomietz. For her going-away costume the bride chose a frock of black cotton with white polka dots. Her accessories were black and at her shoulder she pinned the orchid from her corsage.

After a honeymoon on Look-out Mountain, Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Adomietz will be at home on Route Two, Killen.

Church Setting Marks Phillips-Walker Vows

A four o'clock ceremony in First Presbyterian Church, Florence, united in marriage Jo Fay Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Lee Phillips of 1217 Glenn Avenue, and Jimmie John Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson W. Walker of Wedowee, on Sunday afternoon, August twenty-fourth. The Reverend J. V. Cosby Summerell, minister of the church, read the vows.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Delbert A. Springer, organist, and Mrs. George Fogleman, vocalist.

Against a background of palms and ferns standards of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums were interspersed with tapers burning in tiered arrangement. The prie dieux was marked with white orchids.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert R. Phillips, the bride wore a gown fashioned of Belgian lace and tulle over silk taffeta. The molded bodice was designed with low scalloped neckline and cap sleeves and the billowing skirt was floor-length and etched with lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Attendants were Miss Roberta Haynes of Woodward, maid of honor, wearing yellow taffeta; Mrs. Warner Phillips, Jr., Mrs. Jack D. Phillips of Birmingham and Miss Barbara Darden of Sylacauga, bridesmaids, in aqua. Basque bodices were detailed with petal necklines and the full skirts were ballerina length. Matching picture hats were of nylon and net and their flowers were cascades of daisies with matching ribbon streamers.

Flower girls were Cynthia Hall and Carol Johnson wearing yellow organdie with a small cluster of matching blossoms in their hair.

Ted Walker served his nephew as best man and ushers were Tony Messer and Joe Anderson Walker of Wedowee and Warner Phillips, Jr., of Florence.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's brother, Warner Phillips, and Mrs. Phillips, on Savannah Highway. White gladioli and white chrysanthemums were used about the rooms and on the bride's table a miniature fountain was encircled by pink and white asters.

Assisting were Mrs. Elsie Walker, Mrs. Sarabel Walker, Mrs. Billy Charles Smith, Mrs. Ted Walker and Miss Rita Grigg.

Leaving later for a honeymoon in the Northwest the bride changed to a sheath of white basket weave cotton detailed with scallops and small buttons. She wore navy accessories and the orchid from her bouquet was her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker will be at home after September third in Jacksonville, Alabama.

Emily Hodge Becomes Bride William Melville Alexander

In the presence of family members and a small group of intimate friends Emily Delle Hodge exchanged nuptial vows with William Melville Alexander, III, in an afternoon ceremony on Sunday, August twenty-fourth.

Taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Francis Hodge of 1930 Hickory Avenue, the rituals of holy matrimony were read by the Reverend Lambuth Archibald, minister of First Methodist Church, at half past two o'clock. The living-room mantel was the background center of the improvised altar, with an arrangement of white gladioli and white stock flanked by tall ivy-entwined candelabra of burning tapers.

Nuptial music was presented by Alan Flowers, pianist, and the Reverend Shirley Lowery, assistant minister of First Methodist Church, vocalist.

In a gown of white lace and tulle over satin the bride was given in marriage by her father. The snug bodice featured a small collar and long tapering sleeves. Designed with a demi-train the tulle skirt with sections of inserted lace was very full. A single strand of pearls was her only ornament and, for sentiment, she carried a wisp of handmade lace, the handkerchief used by her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Benjamin Taylor, in her own wedding.

A tiny chapeau of lace re-embroidered with pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and her prayer book was topped with a white orchid and fleurs d'amour showered with stephanotis.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Barbara Hanson of Tupelo, Mississippi, and the bridegroom's father served as best man. Walter Broadfoot of Leland, Mississippi, was groomsmen and Taylor Hodge, brother of the bride, was ringbearer. Lighting the candles was the bridegroom's brother, Joel Alexander.

Of rose taffeta was Miss Hanson's frock, fashioned with rounded neckline and ballerina length skirt and with it she wore a head-dress of matching material and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

At the reception which followed the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church traditional all-white blossoms with greenery were used as a decorative background. The bride's tiered cake was topped by the miniature bridal couple which had been used at the Golden Wedding celebration of her paternal grandparents, and was served from a satin draped table where tapers burned in silver candelabra.

Piano selections were rendered by Jeb Stewart during the afternoon hours.

Assisting were Mrs. A. I. Beadle, Mrs. Wiley Horton, Mrs. A. E. Before leaving for their wedding trip the bride changed to an early Fall costume. With her beige frock she wore a matching beaver hat with black accessories and her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

After September first Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will be at home at 1113 Sixth Avenue North, Columbus, Mississippi.

The Saturday, August ninth vows were read at ten o'clock in the morning by the Reverend Charles Beal, minister of Bay Haven Baptist Church.

The bride's gown of white and blue organza was fashioned over white taffeta and her small white hat was complemented by a blue veil. She wore a corsage of blue and white carnations.

MADAM'S TIE with Nell through the years has been one of which not even she is aware . . . More mental . . . p'raps . . . than otherwise . . . Just knowing that only a stone's throw away . . . there she was . . . Capable and clever . . . able and alert . . . we felt in her the strong prop which we needed . . .

UNACUSTOMED AS YET to the absence of her by-lines . . . we eagerly applaud as she tackles her new post at Florence State . . . A perfect arrangement . . . it . . . and equally so for both Nell and the College . . .

STROLLING ON THE AVENUE recently . . . we loitered when we heard only a short distance away a feminine voice proclaiming SALUTE ME AND HAVE A CIGAR . . . It was Alice Durbin and she'd just a few moments before been advised that she had become a GREAT GRAND . . . As you already know . . . Mimi and Ted Dupes had wired from Little Rock that Virginia Freeman had arrived to be their permanent guest . . . Congrats to all from us . . .

WE WISHED for our canvas and brush recently as we did a bit of visitin' on King Street and witnessed a charming episode . . . Picture (if you will) a back-yard setting . . . typical of many . . . A carpenter is there to do a bit of mending and is awaiting the arrival of additional material from a lumber yard . . .

THE SETTING is at the home of Dave and Mamie Chambers . . . and the benefactor was their ten-year-old son . . . John David . . . who (Madam ventures to predict) will . . . in the not-too-distant future . . . be about the best Boy Scout ever . . . We tip our Sunday bonnet . . .

ABOUT A PIG in a poke . . . Madam can't advise . . . But should your interests run to POSSUMS in a CRATE . . . we unhesitatingly suggest Frank Crow of out Lauderdale Beach way . . . and you're "much obliged" for our info . . .

THE KIND O' LAKE PARTY that everybody loves . . . It was an ole fashioned chicken stew . . . hosted on Saturday nite by Ellen and Babe Redd out at "Reddwood" . . . It was sorta in honor of the Bob Ashcrafts (here from Atlanta for a visit) . . . and University-of-Alabama songs echoed along the lake front as classmates of the past met to exchange did-you-knows and remember-whens . . . Much fun was had by all . . .

ANOTHER GET-TOGETHER of friends took place on the lake last week when Jane Cabbage and (son) Frank Kennedy came from Birmingham to occupy the guest cottage of Jane and (Doctor) John Herring . . . Jane's (hubby) Ben Cabbage joined them for the weekend festivities 'mongst friends in a familiar setting . . . OUR RED CARPET has been spread for other visitors . . . There are Dorothy and Paul Morgan who've been a-visitin' Dorothy's sister . . . Nita Bassel and (her hubby) Burr and chillun out on Riverview . . . and Adele Barton came from Cleveland, Tennessee, to visit briefly with (her sister) Billie Hassell . . . and to accompany (her daughter) Bettye as she returns from a Summer's visit to (her cousin) Mary Brown Hassell . . .

OTHER HASSELL NEWS concerns delivery (expected early in September) of Frank's new plane . . . It'll transport him from Savannah - to - Clifton - to - Florence (from business-to-business-to-home) and many an air-minded Florentine will be found sky-scramming during the coming month . . .

FLORENCE SEENERY we enjoy . . . Lula Massey at home after months of travel in foreign lands . . . darting hither and yon in the small car which she has acquired . . . looking charming as always . . . being welcomed with deserved warmth . . .

IN THE BASSINET SET . . . the latest addition to the Newcomer's Club is Agnes Kemper Hatfield . . . daughter of Mary (Hollingsworth) and John (Dr.) Hatfield . . . who arrived at at Coffee Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, August 19 . . . AND NOW . . . CHEERIO and goodby . . . until more news comes through The Spillway . . .

VA Advises Early School Enrollment

Veterans planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill are urged by the Veterans Administration to take action now in order to avoid the last-minute rush later on . . .

With some 15,031 veterans expected to be in training in Alabama this fall, the Montgomery VA Regional Office will be operating at top speed to process their papers. By filing their applications now, veterans will save themselves unnecessary delays . . .

To help veterans get started the right way, Harley A. Smith, manager of the Montgomery VA Office, issued this eight-point check list: 1. Since veterans are allowed only one change of course, they should give plenty of thought to their goal and the training program leading to the goal . . .

2. Veterans not sure of their training goal may request VA vocational counseling. 3. Veterans should be certain their course has been GI-approved by the Alabama approving agency. The VA Regional Office—and not VA headquarters in Washington, D. C.—can furnish information about approved courses. 4. Veterans should complete arrangements for admittance to their school before filing applications with the VA . . .

5. The application for GI training should be completely filled out and signed. It should be sent, along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper, to the VA Regional Office . . .

Robert F. Springer is president of the fair association and board members include Orville M. Bailey, G. A. Mabe, C. P. McMeans and Ora Taylor . . .

will enable the VA to iron out any snags before school starts. 7. Veterans with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when the VA requests it. For a wife, this would be a photostat of the marriage certificate; for a child, a photostat of the birth certificate. Photostats of any divorces are required . . .

8. Veterans should take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long, ordinarily, for a veteran's first monthly GI check to reach him since payments are made only after each month of training is completed . . .

Further, before the VA may make a payment, it must receive a certification signed by the veteran and his school, stating that he has been in class all month . . .

Witnesses Plan Memphis Meeting

Jehovah's Witnesses will hold a three-day Circuit Assembly in Memphis, Sept. 5-7, it was officially announced today by their governing body, the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society of New York . . .

The National Guard Auditorium at 2525 Central Avenue is to be used for the occasion and upward of 700 delegates from Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas will attend the sessions. "The assembly is not a revival, but is held primarily to advance Christian Bible education," a spokesman said . . .

The three-day program will include a variety of talks on Bible subjects. Groups of ministers will discuss ministerial problems and demonstrations will teach how Christians should conduct Bible studies. Sessions will be conducted morning, afternoon, and evening, with a baptism of new ministers on Saturday afternoon . . .

General Barclay To Head Scouting Space Program

Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal, has accepted chairmanship of a "Space Roundup" program to be conducted this fall by the nine-county Tennessee Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The program is designed to increase interest in Scouting objectives and to recruit new members. A "Space" theme will be adopted. "During the next three months, every Cub pack, Scout troop, and Explorer unit of the Tennessee Valley Council will work to launch six space vehicles"—that is, attain six major objectives, such as having open house for parents and friends, training assistant leaders, conducting planning meetings, etc.

The climax of the program will be a tour of the agencies located at Redstone Arsenal in early December. Individual and unit recognition will be made by Gen. Barclay in a ceremony to be held in the Rocket Auditorium. Afterwards, the boys and leaders attending the meeting will see first-hand some of the Army's missiles and rockets developed under the direction of the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Counties in the Council include Jackson, Limestone, Lauderdale, Colbert, Morgan, Cullman, Lawrence, Franklin, and Madison.

Let's Talk It Over

By SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,

For several years after we married my husband was a good churchgoer and then he started making excuses and staying at home. At first it wasn't often but now, after two years of excuses, he never goes. Instead, he goes to the golf course. Or picks up some man and rides out into the country.

He says it does his soul more good to get out and commune with nature than it would to hear a man get up and talk. And he brings up that old-timer about half the people who go to church regularly not having any religion anyway.

I've argued out, but I feel like I ought to persuade him somehow. What is a woman supposed to do in a case like this?

Worried Wife.

Dear Worried Wife,

I wish I knew, I'm sure you are only one of a great many who would like a solution to that problem.

Actually, just going to church would probably not make your husband a religious man. Just as jumping into the lake wouldn't make him a fish. But getting into water is necessary if you'd learn to swim. And staying close to one's church is, I think, important for those who would lead a godly life.

I do not advise argument. Ask him to accompany you to services, and don't get in a huff when he refuses. Mention your concern to your minister and enlist his aid. Could be that a little special attention from some of the menfolk in the congregation would turn the trick. And it may just happen suddenly and out of the blue, as you know those things often do.

Anyway, patience on your part is, I believe, the course for you to follow.

Dear Mrs. Saze,

We are fixing up an upstairs room for our children, aged 8, 7 and 10, to study in after school starts. I've made curtains and it's going to be real nice and I'm looking for a wall chart to put in a space where I think it will look nice and be helpful to them. That is, if I can find one like I'm thinking about. The one I saw had all kinds of information on it.

Do you know where these charts can be bought?

Homemaker.

Dear Homemaker,

A useful study aid for your children (and also a handy reference item for you grown-ups) is a 50 by 36-inch wall chart that shows how 88 nations compare in geography, government and living conditions. You can read off anything from principal products to major sports, from the size of the national legislature to the number of inhabitants per ratio. Single copies are 50c from the Civic Education Service, Inc., 1733 K St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

Let me suggest that you put it under glass and in a frame.

TO OPEN BY-PASS BIDS IN MONTGOMERY

The State Highway Department will open bids in Montgomery Friday for construction of the Killen by-pass, which will require a 200-foot right-of-way. The proposed by-pass will leave the present U. S. Highway 72 just east of Shoals Creek and re-enter it at Happy Hollow, east of Killen.

One of the surest of all truths is that life will give you no more than you give it.

BIG BUSINESS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	7	1-5
Monday	Matthew	8	1-4
Tuesday	Matthew	9	1-13
Wednesday	Matthew	10	1-23
Thursday	Matthew	11	1-12
Friday	James	3	1-18
Saturday	1 Peter	1	1-8

Apples are big business! About 150 million bushels are grown in the U. S. each year.

Perhaps that's why this lad wonders if he could find still another use for the apple. Or perhaps he only wonders if there's a worm in it. If there is, will he toss it away, complaining it's no good?

Some people say they don't go to Church because there are hypocrites in the Church. Then you might as well chuck out that basket of apples in the cellar. There's probably at least one worm in it. But really, does that affect the goodness and usefulness of all the rest?

The Church is big business too, guiding millions of souls each year. If you will attend regularly, earnestly worshipping and sincerely watching for a place where you can be of service, you will give and gain a life-full that's worthwhile. Then you will forget there might be a hypocrite, or a wormy apple around.

"Clean-hitting citizens"

In the big play-off game, several weeks ago, a first-place tie was broken... and the ELECTROMET-sponsored team, the Cardinals, took second in the Babe Ruth League. Top honors went to the Braves.

Three years ago ELECTROMET and other civic-minded organizations helped form the league by sponsoring teams. Today, there are four teams in the league each with 15 players between 13 and 15 years old. While teams are sponsored by local firms, the league is supervised by the Florence Recreation Department. Joe Grant, Coffee High School football and baseball coach, skipped the league this year.

Through its support of clean-hitting teen-age baseball, ELECTROMET is happy to contribute to healthy spirit in the boys of this community... a spirit of teamwork, competition, and good fun.

Church

A fellowship supper was enjoyed at the Bethel Church on last Saturday night following the monthly WMU organization meeting. There was a good number present, including visitors and some of our home folk away. The occasion was chiefly in honor of the Dosses and other community residents who have recently moved away.

One hundred and twenty-three attended Sunday school on Sunday morning at the Bethel Church, and 59 were present in the evening for Training Union and evening worship. We were happy to have visitors with us for both services. The Rev. McDougal filled his pulpit at both the morning and evening services. There was one addition to the church at the morning service, Corby Thompson.

Personals
Mrs. Alton Bailey would like to take this means of expressing her appreciation to the many friends who showed her so many acts of kindness during her recent illness and convalescence. She is grateful for the cards, the flowers, the prayers said in her behalf, and every other kindness rendered her and her family in any way.

Funeral services were held at the Bethel Church on Tuesday at 2 p. m. for the elderly Will Nunley of our community, who passed away Saturday at Jackson's hospital. The Rev. Tom Holland conducted the funeral, with burial following in the Mitchell cemetery. We extend our community's sympathies to the surviving Nunley families.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Gladney and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Shelton and son (Eveline Gladney) of Florida visited in the Silas Thompson home last week.

Leonard Burgess has returned here from his employment in Cleveland, Ohio, for the purpose of taking his wife and son back to Ohio.

The J. B. Amason home was the scene of the annual Amason reunion Sunday. This occasion usually takes place in Clay County, home of the Amasons, but due to the illness of Mrs. J. B. Amason the group met at her home this year. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Lyndard Amason and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Amason, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Amason, Barbara and Maxie, Robert Parker, Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Exa McCrary, Ruth Amason, Mr. and Mrs. James Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hoon, Mrs. T. R. Sneed and family, Mrs. Robert Hall and the J. B. Amasons. One member of the Amason family, Loyd, was unable to attend the event.

From The Simple Side

By THE FARMER'S WIFE

How far does the influence from a household reach, I recently asked myself. Does it end with our own immediate family, or does it continue to pass with each generation, permeating the lives of our children and then their own?

The question came to my mind as I thought of a grandmother of my own, passed on now to another world but leaving behind in this one to the female generation in her family methods of house-keeping which will linger with them their whole lives through. I can recall, as a youngster, when as the oldest grandchild it became my duty to spend some time with her due to the condition of her health. Removing the tray from her bed at meal time, where she had her meals if unable to be up and around, I can still hear her words to me yet, "Pour boiling water over these dishes before you wash them with the others."

And then of course they would get a second application of boiling water along with the rest. In memory yet I can see the two water kettles steaming which were a constant presence on the old wood range in the corner of her kitchen.

To a youngster such extremity regarding germs seemed quite unnecessary, but, to a house wife and mother years later, my grandmother's teaching no longer seems fanatical but rather a most sensible thing, and I have many times been thankful for it. Such were the thoughts that set me wondering recently as to how far an influence, whether good or bad, reaches into the lives coming after our own. Perhaps we would all live better lives if we could ever be aware that our lives, in one way or another, reach on into other lives, and with this awareness strive to make our own influence a better one.

Calf Crop Should Improve Yearly

If this year's calf crop wasn't an improvement over last year's, it's time to look around for a new herd sire.

"To make sure that the quality of your cattle is continually improving," states API Extension Cattleman Bob Farquhar, "carefully evaluate each year's calf crop. If the youngsters are not an improvement over their mothers, chances are that the bull you are using is degrading your herd, and you should begin to look for a sire to buy this fall or winter."

Farquhar mentioned that as the quality of the brood cow herd improves, it gets harder and harder to select a bull who can continue this improvement. "Cattlemen with time and thought in selecting the sire," he continued, "And, of course, the fastest way to improve a low-grade cow herd is to get the best bulls possible."

"A cattleman who decides that an additional bull will be needed for this winter's breeding program should start now to locate the animal. After selecting a prospective bull, he should see the bull's dam and make certain that she is a big, growthy cow, capable of giving enough milk to wean a fat calf."

"With the salvage value of cull bulls as high as it is today," said Farquhar, "there is no excuse for a cattleman who uses a poor-quality bull that is not improving his calf crop."

About three million persons are added to the population of the United States each year.

Cloverdale Man Plans Increased Grazing Acreage

"I know I have a great deal of work ahead of me, but I'm expecting big dividends," said Dupree Austin, Cloverdale farmer.

With this attitude toward his new project, the Lauderdale Cattleman is beginning work designed to improve his land and bring unproductive acres into use. Of the 200 acres of his Cloverdale farm, only 103 are currently open land. Some of the lowland is grown over with bushes, and water stands on part of it. Austin intends to cut the bushes and construct a drainage ditch, after which he will seed the land to pasture.

With a decrease in his cotton acres, the farm and home development farmer plans to expand his livestock program. To do so, he must produce additional feed and grazing.

"I've got to raise more livestock if I want to stay in the farming business," said Austin to Assistant County Agent Herman Marks. Austin feels the new pasture will add considerable to his farm's income by enabling him to feed more animals for market.

FHA Clients Map Improvement Plan

Emphasis Being Placed On Soil And Water Extension Work

To raise the values of their farms and increase their incomes, a number of Lauderdale County farmers are thinking in terms of better soil conservation practices, permanent pasture improvement, full development and use of farm water supplies, and good drainage, reports Cecil C. Mixon, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

The Farmers Home Administration has a loan program to help eligible farmers carry out needed soil and water conservation measures, he said, and added that the practices most needed and most likely to be carried on through the agency's loans in this area include improving pastures, drilling wells, developing farmstead water facilities, irrigating and constructing reservoirs.

The making of soil and water conservation loans to farmers who are eligible is one of the functions of the agency's county office located at 605 South Seminary Street, Florence, the county supervisor pointed out. Each county has a three-member county committee, and one of its duties is to determine whether or not an applicant is eligible for a loan. To be eligible, the applicant must be a farm owner or operator, with necessary experience, whose credit requirements for soil and water conservation improvements cannot be supplied through private or cooperative sources.

The agency has completed approximately four years of making soil and water conservation loans under the present program, Mr. Mixon said. During that time approximately 7,250 individual farm families throughout the nation, plus 141 associations serving approximately 5,200 families, have borrowed $48,100. About 80 per cent of this total helped farmers develop farm water and irrigation systems. This included buying pumps, motors and piping, drilling wells, and constructing and repairing irrigation ditches and laterals. Farmers used the rest of the loan funds to develop livestock and household water systems, and for soil conservation practices such as terracing, improved pastures, drainage, clearing and tree planting.

For the present fiscal year, Congress made $5,500,000 available for direct soil and water conservation loans. This is in addition to a larger amount which local banks or other private lenders may advance for this type of loan, with repayment in full insured by the Farmers Home Administration.

Uses Found For Lowly Corncob

The common corncob is coming into its own.

More than a million—and perhaps as much as two million—tons of corncobs are finding their way each year into agriculture and industry. Most of this amount is ground and used in cattle feeds. Another portion, about a half-million tons, is used in the preparation of a chemical important in the nylon industry and in the process of refining oil.

The balance is crushed, ground, and screened for a variety of products, such as mulches for shrubs, cleaners and polishers for metal stampings, and dryers in electroplating operations. It is also used for soft abrasive in air-cleaning engine parts and other electrical equipment, and as polishers for hand saws and braces.

J. L. CLAY APPOINTED

James L. Clay, former principal of Lauderdale High School in Rogersville, has joined the faculty of Battle Ground Academy in Tennessee. It was announced last week. Mr. Clay has been principal of the Cornersville High School, Cornersville, Tenn., since leaving Alabama. He will teach high school English and Junior high mathematics in his new assignment.

Specialist Gives Tips On Better Poultry Houses

Just what is the value of poultry-house litter as a protein supplement in steer fattening rations?

"I've been asked that question over and over again, lately," said API Extension Poultryman S. L. Davis. "The answer, in most cases, is 'very little.'"

"According to experiments conducted by the University of Georgia," he continued, "poultry-house litter of wood shavings base is almost worthless as a protein supplement." Since wood shavings are becoming scarce as litter material, some producers are considering the use of ground corncobs, which make good litter, said Davis, if ground into pieces no larger than three-eighths of an inch in diameter. And when the base is ground corncobs, poultry-house litter may contain as much as 20 per cent crude protein and can be used in fattening rations for steers. "But it is not as economical to use $15-a-ton poultry-house litter as protein supplement," said the specialist, "as it is to use $61-a-ton cottonseed meal."

Because poultry-house litter will vary greatly in crude protein and crude fiber content, Davis advised making a chemical analysis of each large batch of litter to determine its food value and the proportion to use when mixing it with grain.

21 CASES OF RABIES REPORTED IN STATE

Twenty-one laboratory confirmed cases of animal rabies occurred in Alabama last month. The State Health Department said today that the July cases brought the 1958 total to 128. The total for the similar period last year was 191.

Jefferson County reported 14 of the July cases, all being rabies in dogs. Dallas County recorded five cases of rabies in dogs, and Lee had one dog and one fox. The Department said that over half of the 1958 cases have occurred in Jefferson County which has reported 68 laboratory confirmed cases of rabies in dogs. Dallas County has had 41 cases, 40 in dogs and one in a cat. Covington, with a total of eight foxes and one dog is the only other county to report more than three cases.

New Lakes Opened At Gulf Shores

258 Acres Fresh Water To Be Ready For Anglers September 4

The Alabama Department of Conservation and The Tri-State Corporation, Inc. announced jointly that Little and Middle Lakes in Gulf State Park, Gulf Shores, Ala., will be opened to public fishing at daylight, September 4.

The two lakes, which were renovated and restocked along with Big Lake, contain 258 acres of fresh water lying only a hundred yards or so from the Gulf Beach. Checks of the fish population recently indicate that bream and bass in the lakes are in good condition. Fishing should be excellent.

Permits to fish the two smaller lakes in Gulf Park will be sold at $1 per person per day by The Tri-State Corporation, Inc., which has the lakes and a portion of the Park under long-term lease.

Thirty rental boats will be available on Middle Lake at $1.50 per day. Motors not exceeding five horsepower may be used at trolling speeds only on the two lakes.

Persons 16 years of age or older must have a permit. Baldwin County residents who fish with pole and line only need no license but if using rod and reel must have the $2 rod and reel license. All other fishermen must be holders of appropriate fishing licenses unless they are 16 years of age or younger or are 65 years or older.

other fresh waters of Alabama. Anglers may take 15 bass per day, and have a lifetime license.

Crook limits are the same as in or 40 bream per day, with the daily aggregate not to exceed 50 of all game species.

Personnel of the Department of Conservation will be present during the first few days of opening to assist fishermen in securing permits and boats and in weighing of fish. Fishermen are requested to have weighed and counted all fish taken from the lakes. Bream, bass and other species should be kept on separate strings to facilitate weighing and counting.

It is anticipated that the two lakes will remain open to public fishing the year round after the official opening.
