Tyree Speaks On Florence Housing At Capital Meet

Handy Heights One Of First Re-use Projects To Be Completed In U. S.

The City of Florence gained national recognition again this week with its urban renewal efforts the subject of an address at the national meeting of the American Society of Planning Officials in Washington, D. C. Karl T. Tyree, Jr., Florence attorney who serves as Executive Director of the Florence Housing Authority, he spoke Monday night at the Statler Hotel on the Florence slum clearance project, Handy Heights.

The ASPO conference each year draws around 1500 planning officials, representatives of housing and redevelopment authorities, public officials, and representatives of civic organizations and business firms from throughout the United States and Canada. The chairman of this session was Mr. Jack Meltzer, Urban Renewal Consultant and Planning Director around the University of Chicago area. Other speakers at the session were from Kansas City, Missouri and Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

Mr. Tyree spoke on "The Execution of a Project."

"Florence," he said, "can take great pride in the Handy Heights project. One of the very first residential re-use projects to reach completion in the United States, the Authority has demolished and cleared 113 slum houses while relocating the 106 families from the area. Prior to the project, less than 4% of these families were in standard housing and today, more than 85% of these same families are in decent, safe, standard housing. The 78 new residential lots were purchased in March by Garber, Cook & Hulse, Inc., of Birmingham, and construction and sale of the houses by the redeveloper is expected this summer."

Mr. Tyree also planned to confer with the Washington office of the Urban Renewal Administration and with FHA while in Washington.

Wallace Queries Patterson Record

Ask Opponent's Stand On Waterway Expansion, TVA, Reapportionment

"The enemies of the Tennessee Valley Authority are fighting me in my bid for the governorship of Alabama," Judge George C. Wallace declared.

The Clayton Circuit Judge pounded home this point as he stumped through the Tri-Cities. The gubernatorial candidate told listeners in Tusculum and Florence that his record will prove his friendship for TVA and the Tennessee Valley. He stressed that business interests opposed to TVA and "the things in which the valley is interested, also are opposed to me."

And once again Wallace called on his opponent in the runoff campaign to choose Alabama's Democratic nominee for governor, to "tell the voters" where he stands on TVA, the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway and on reapportionment.

"I have not heard my opponent make a single statement on any of these issues in which the Valley is so vitally interested," said Judge Wallace.

In attempting to spell out for the voters his stand on all the issues, Judge Wallace reiterated a pledge to work with Mississippi and Gov. J. P. Coleman to bring the reality a giant waterway linking the Port of Mobile with the Tennessee River and thus, with the industrial areas of the midwest and with the Great Lakes. Wallace pointed to his long friendship with Gov. Coleman and to the fact that Gov. Coleman appointed Wallace as one of four speakers to lead the South's successful fight against an objectionable civil rights plank in the national democratic party's platform of 1954.

Judge Wallace asserted once again that "I am committed to reapportioning the state legislature in order that the Tri-Cities and all of North Alabama may gain the voice it deserves in the lawmaking body of this state."

The candidate, who late Sunday night and again early Monday morning met workers at the Reynolds plant voiced his appreciation for "the fine support given me by labor."

"My record has proved that I am a friend of the laboring man," said Judge Wallace, adding:

"I ask the people to check the records of the two candidates in this race on TVA, on reapportionment, and on waterways development."

Judge Wallace spoke Monday at Tusculum, Florence and Athens.

Accompanying the speaker is "Cousin" Minnie Pearl and a "country music" band.

Tax Decision Promised Soon By Eisenhower

In an address broadcast to the nation Tuesday night President Eisenhower sounded an optimistic note regarding the present recession though his speech did warn that the country's economic troubles are not over and could not be overcome with a "pep talk."

The President did say that the recession is "slowing down" and promised a decision on a possible tax cut in the very near future. "Not all of our economic troubles are over by any means," Mr. Eisenhower said, "but there is a change in the making. That will prove to be a change for the better, I have no doubt."

The President's talk, over nationwide TV and radio networks was made at a New York meeting of the American Management Association attended by some 2,000 business executives gathered for a two-day economic mobilization conference for the purpose of finding ways and means to cope with the current recession.

Stock Market Affected

Vice-president Richard Nixon, who introduced the President, also participated in the meeting and called for a much needed tax reform and said it should be the kind of reform that would put money in the hands of "job creators as well as consumers." The Vice-president's optimistic comments sent the stock market prices upward, particularly noticeable in industrial stocks and restoring more than 1.8 billion to market values.

Tax Cut Possible

The President said he knew the nation was concerned with a possible tax cut and that the administration would like to improve the tax structure so as to provide one that would interfere least with "sound economic growth."

He said, "after consultation with congressional leaders certain decisions will be taken in the field of taxation."

He said also that such decisions would be "made in the light of the latest information regarding the economic situation and with a full evaluation of the probable short and long range consequences."

"Taxes are too important to the American people to become the subject of political competition," he said.

Refund Claims On Gas Due On July 1

Farmers May Obtain Application Forms At Assessor's, Agent's

The State Department of Revenue announces that tractor gasoline refund claims to be filed under the recently enacted law, Act No. 743, are not due until July 1st. The period covered on the first claim will be from September 23, 1957 through June 30, 1958, and must be filed not later than September 30, 1958. Thereafter, claims will be for the twelve-month period ending on the thirtieth day of June each year and must be filed by September 30th following.

Farmers who held an active 1956 or 1957 refund permit under the old law will be mailed the new type claim blanks by the Department of Revenue during the month of June.

Farmers who have not previously participated may be placed on the mailing list by writing the State Department of Revenue, Gasoline Tax Refund Section, State Capitol, Montgomery, Alabama.

Although the new law does not require that refund permits be secured, it does provide that no refunds can be made unless all tractors owned have been assessed for ad valorem tax purposes.

A supply of claim forms and "guides" to the law will be made available to all Tax Assessors, County Agents, gasoline wholesale dealers and any others who request them.

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

We have been wondering what to do with the quarter of century gap between two important years. We are told that life begins at 40 and yet old-age pensions do not begin until 65. Some smart person should figure out our problem—we can't.

It was near the end of a busy day and the elevator operator in the big office building was just about tuckered out with standing on his feet for eight hours and having to answer thousands of questions, or so it seemed. As he was about to start one of his last trips up, a little old lady stood at the door apparently debating with herself whether she should enter the contraption. Finally, as the floor closed behind her she asked: "What would happen if the cables broke when we were halfway up this tall building—would we go up or down?" "Madam," the operator sighed, "that would depend entirely on what kind of a life you have lived."

The bright young man was calling on the sweet young thing the other evening and, when conversation got a bit draggy, he thought he'd show off some of his learning. "Do you enjoy Kipling?" he asked. "I don't know," giggled the young lady, "how do you kipling?"

The other morning the father of a 20-year-old daughter came into his office wearing a most dejected expression. His staff knew better than to ask him any questions until later in the day when his secretary casually remarked that he did not appear to be his usual gay self. "How can I?" he asked. "Here I've slaved hard all my life to keep the wolf away from my door and what happens? My daughter grows up and brings one right into the house."

Every man needs a wife because there are so many things that go wrong that he can't blame on the government.

In the drawing-room conversation, while friend wife was out in the kitchen preparing a few knick-knacks, the head of the household was heard to say: "I'm very fond of the human race. All my family have belonged to it—and some of my wife's family, too." And then the fight began.

Estimated 150,000 Visit TVA On 25th Birthday

Muscle Shoals Area Installations Thronged With Visitors Sunday

With the Chemical Engineering Building, the new Wilson Dam Lock and the Wilson Hydro Plant drawing the most visitors locally, more than 150,000 persons inspected the 7-state installations of the Tennessee Valley Authority on its 25th birthday Sunday.

Open house was held in virtually all facilities of TVA on a sunny day just a quarter of a century after President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the act authorizing its creation.

Visitors at the Chemical Engineering Building numbered 3,252, while those at Wilson Lock, to be the world's largest upon its completion, were counted at 3,208. Other area installations receiving visitors on the silver anniversary of the agency were Wilson Hydro Plant (2,648), Forest Nursery Division (140), Wheeler Dam (2,684), Pickwick Dam (10,248) and Guntersville Dam (5,892).

One spokesman for the Authority said license tags from 17 different states were recorded at the Shoals installations Sunday. He was pronounced in his praise of the open house, which he said made the people "appreciate TVA just a little bit more, now that they've seen some of its operations."

Later this week, the Senate Public Works Committee was reported ready to recommend Senate confirmation of two interim directors of TVA without further hearings.

This brought a protest from Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee that he would ask the committee to hold hearings on Dr. Frank J. Welch and to recall Arnold R. Jones for more questioning.

Both are serving on the three-man directorate under recess appointments from President Eisenhower, but subject to confirmation of the full senate.

AES Seeking Jobs For Area's Youths

Graduates, Vacationing Students Are Registered With Tri-Cities Agency

Officials of the Tri-Cities office of the Alabama State Employment Service announced this week that considerable thought was being given to a youth program during the summer months.

Aspirants for employment among youth generally fall into two categories, officials said. One group is graduating students entering the labor market for the first time, while the second are boys and girls seeking employment for the summer.

Aptitude and proficiency tests are used by the AES in determining the capacities of the youth seeking jobs, and these are maintained in the office as a permanent file on these individuals.

Many high school graduating students, AES officials said, have expressed interest in entering such fields as stenographer, typist, receptionist, general office clerk, business machine operator and telephone operator.

Others have indicated they would like to get apprentice training as machinists, electricians, welders and structural steel workers.

Information on students seeking summer employment only are kept in a segregated file. Employers needing temporary workers during the summer are invited by the Alabama Employment Service to take advantage of this student service now offered.

Mrs. Julian Case is in Safety Harbor, Fla., for a fortnight with her sister, Mrs. Callye Darby Watson.

Who's To Blame?

Vice President Richard Nixon's reception in South America was not one on which the United States can look with pride. The Eisenhower Administration and others have been prone to place the blame largely on Communist infiltration in those countries and have been suddenly and justifiably alarmed.

Where was U. S. Intelligence and why was not this change made sufficiently evident before Mr. Nixon's visit? This country could have been saved embarrassment before the world. The fact is this country did not know such a thing would happen because this country is not yet awake to its own shortcomings as the "leader" of the free nations of the world.

There was nothing personal in the riot-marred reception accorded Mr. Nixon. It would have happened to anyone from the United States travelling as this nation's "good will" ambassador. It shows, however, a number of things . . . that the cause of Communism is better exposed and better presented to other nations than the cause of Democracy. It shows that we have too long depended on buying our friendships with greenbacks.

And for the Eisenhower Administration to place the blame on Communism is a lame excuse. Communism is gaining by leaps and bounds in South America because we have failed in our patrimony . . . because we have not accompanied our dollar diplomacy with sympathy and understanding of South America's growing social and economic revolution. We could have been there first with the most but we were too busy elsewhere to clean up our own house.

What a price to pay for our stupidity. We should have solidarity of purpose and a mutual assistance pact between all the nations of the Western Hemisphere in view of the turmoil in the rest of the world. Instead we have mutual assistance pacts with European and Mediterranean nations that commit us to lend military assistance instantly in case any hostile act is committed against such nation or nations.

There is little doubt but that this country would act instantly in case any nation "south of the border" were attacked from abroad but would it not greatly serve to bind us closer to those nations if such an expression were made by the United States?

There have been individual cases where the United States rendered material assistance to small nations in Central America in their fight against Communist infiltration and fifth column aggression. Guatemala is an example but this country failed to follow through and as a result the fate of this little nation that so bravely ousted the Communists is in doubt.

It will be interesting to see how the Eisenhower Administration handles the situation. If it pursues its usual bungling course little constructive will be accomplished and we may indeed become an "island" in a hostile world.

Our Strange Foreign Aid

Presumably the American people have been led to believe through the years that foreign aid has been a panacea for the world's economic ills and that we have been promoting the system of free enterprise in the so-called free nations . . . this of course in addition to making ourselves secure by arming our Western Allies to the teeth.

Actually foreign aid, so we are told now, has not only been poured into the coffers of our so-called Allies with little or no strings on it, but has been used to further the progress and well-being of certain nations with ways of life diametrically opposed to ours.

Tito, we are told, has received approximately two billions in foreign aid simply because there appeared to be some sort of rift between Yugoslavia and Soviet Russia. There was certainly no free enterprise to benefit by our generosity to Tito who spent the money to transform his ragged guerrilla armies into modernly equipped fighting men with the latest weapons, and who in case of war, could descend with a lightning thrust into the very heart of neutral Austria and our Allies in southwestern Europe. Foreign aid to Tito put weapons in the enemy's hands as surely as the sun shines.

In Poland there is much the same story. If foreign aid could have reached those splendid, patriotic, freedom-loving Poles held under the iron heel of their "Quizling" leaders it would not have been spent in vain. Envision, if you will, any of our foreign aid dollars reaching into this dim and fading wellspring of freedom in a country so close to Russia the very air is charged with tyranny.

On the other hand with Austria a border nation of Hungary we could have sent aid to that beleaguered country well in advance of the Russian debacle. It could not have been more evident that the Soviets would attack, there was every indication of it well in advance. The Hungarians could have been armed and they would have used those arms against this wanton invasion . . . but we who helped Tito to the tune of billions, stood by and let it happen to a nation that had asked nothing but to be let alone.

But let us look further into this orgy of spending abroad which is one of the primary reasons for this nation's huge confiscatory income tax. In India we view our hard earned money (foreign aid is American tax dollars) promoting Nehru's five year socialistic plan . . . again anything but free enterprise. No one can blame Nehru, a very patriotic Indian and one dedicated to the betterment of his people. One can object less to aid to pacifist India than to other Socialist and Communist states but one cannot help but wonder where it will all end.

Someone has said there are only two things that are certain . . . "death and taxes." The statement is beginning to make sense.

State Caves Are Rich Field For Exploration

Alabama's many limestone caves are a rich field for underground explorers, according to Dr. Walter B. Jones, State Geologist stationed at the University, who has been exploring caves for 31 years. The greatest attraction—and the greatest danger—in "spelunking," or exploring caves, is the unexpected, he said.

Such things as giant rock formations shaped and colored into staggering beauty, and strange underground life are to be found in the many caves abounding in this state. Dr. Jones tells of seeing herds of bats, pure-white fish,

In The Week's News

Charles Starkweather, mass slayer, went to sleep during his trial at Lincoln, Neb., Thursday as the jury listened to his signed confession to killing ten persons during a wanton shooting spree to show off before his teen-age girl companion. Starkweather in his confession accused the girl of two of the slayings.

Russia's Sputnik III weighing one and a half tons, spun about the earth Thursday night, its somewhat sloppy signal being a Morse code letter "L". Its orbit time is estimated to be 106 minutes or approximately 13½ circuits of the earth every twenty-four hours. Taas, the official Soviet news agency, said the new satellite is jammed with instruments and equipment for probing the secrets of outer space.

Vice President Richard Nixon returning from his somewhat riot-marred South American tour was greeted with a rousing ovation in Washington Thursday. President Eisenhower led a welcoming group that numbered thousands of diplomats, congressional leaders, students and ordinary citizens.

The Redstone, a missile fired for the first time by a regular army crew instead of the launching specialists at Cape Canaveral, Fla., was declared now in its combat phase of usefulness. The announcement was made by Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commander of the Army Ordnance Command at Redstone Arsenal.

A formal investigation is being conducted by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington following the mauling to death of a small child at a Washington, D. C., zoo by a lion when the child squeezed through the outer bars of the fence surrounding the cages. A horrified grandfather who fought vainly to save 2½ year-old Julia Ann Vogt suffered a heart attack afterward.

Final action on the President's requested reorganization of the nation's defense agencies is expected within the next several days according to official Washington. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said he expected "some Senators are going to want a hell of a lot stronger defense organization bill than was drafted by the House."

Britain Saturday asked this country to hold off its decision regarding halting A-tests until a further discussion could be held on the subject. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has requested an opportunity to talk over the matter with President Eisenhower sometime in June, it was reported.

Despite a lot of talk regarding tax cuts, the prospects for such cuts appeared to be dwindling this week due to more and more red ink appearing on government books. According to House leaders there is a strong leaning toward limiting cuts to excise levies and not income taxes. Legislation with respect to tax cuts has not been drafted since neither the Eisenhower Administration nor congressional tax writers appear ready to make any move in this direction.

FHA Offers New Farm Loan Plan

More farm construction—with better homes for farm families, better shelter for livestock and improved storage facilities for machinery and grain. That's the prospect in coming years says Cecil C. Mixon, County Supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration.

Recently, as an anti-recession measure, his agency expanded its farm housing loan program to the fullest extent possible under existing laws set up by Congress. And Mr. Mixon reports that he already has received more than 50 inquiries from interested people in the area. To be eligible now, an applicant must own a farm that is in agricultural production and must plan to produce at least $400.00 worth of commodities for sale and home use, based on 1944 prices. Many part-time farmers who previously were ineligible can qualify for loans under the expanded program.

Robert H. Howard, chairman of the Lauderdale county FHA committee said that 12 applications have already been approved by his committee and are being processed for loans. The construction work can start after the loan is closed. The loan bears a 4 percent interest on the unpaid balance and may be repaid over a period up to 33 years.

Building construction costs which have been steadily rising in this area have leveled off according to Mr. Mixon, and some supplies are actually cheaper than they were in the past few years. He said that a new 3-bedroom home can be built for $7,000.00, a large pole-type shed for $800.00, a Grade-A milking parlor for $1200.00.

Mr. Mixon said that one reason for renewed interest in farm construction is that many of the farm homes and service buildings in the community were built about the same period 18 years ago and because of weather and age now need general repair. And in some cases farm owners need to replace them entirely with modern structures designed to meet present day needs.

In addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help a farm owner repair and update buildings. For example, he may wish to add a bathroom including a waste disposal system, modernize the kitchen, add an extra bedroom, improve the heating, insulation and electric wiring, put a basement under the house, and repair floors in service buildings, or paint the house and service buildings.

R. H. Abernathy, Woodmen vice president and educational director, and Talmage E. Newton, field manager, Omaha, Neb., are in charge of the sessions. Other national officers attending include Max B. Hurt, executive vice president, and Robert L. Kirk, national director, both of Omaha; and John B. Cobb, Nashville, Tenn., treasurer. E. D. Rivers, chairman of the board, was scheduled to attend.

Survey Seeking Real Opinion Of State Schools

A questionnaire aimed at finding out what Alabamians really think of their schools, prepared by an educational researcher at the University of Alabama is now being sent state-wide by the Alabama Educational Commission.

Some 100,000 copies have been distributed in order to determine the opinions parents hold on many areas of the school program in which their children are enrolled.

Attitudes toward the school's administration, teaching standards, discipline and methods of teaching are asked, along with questions on increased taxes for school improvements and teacher salaries.

Dr. L. E. Smith, staff member of the U. S. Bureau of Educational Research, prepared the questionnaire which will be used to help the commission in their year-long study of state schools.

Interest Of Adults Big Aid To School

Waterloo Patrons Back School Activities, Form Two Competitive Groups

The Adult meetings held monthly at Waterloo School during the school year have been very successful, according to the principal, C. T. Wilson. These meetings have been held under the auspices of the vocational agriculture and home economics departments with William B. Hagood and Miss Sybil Wise as sponsors.

In the beginning, it was felt that some competition might be a factor in promoting the meetings, and the idea of having a contest membership and attendance contest was advanced. The two sides were designated the "Blues," with C. T. Wilson as leader, and the "Whites," with A. D. Ray, Waterloo banker, as leader. Competition was keen and the contest was close, but Mr. Ray's team won. So, on Monday night the defeated team entertained the winners with a chicken dinner in the school lunchroom. The chickens were raised by the FFA boys in their large chicken house, and fried chicken with all the trimmings was served to about 150 people.

After a report of the progress made was given by Mr. Hagood and Miss Wise, Allen Thornton, Lauderdale County Superintendent of Education, was called upon to speak. His words were to the effect that these meetings certainly showed the interest that the people of the community had in their school. Mr. Wilson made some commendatory remarks about the work being done by Miss Wise and Mr. Hagood and stated that these two were probably the best trained and hardest working teachers in the county.

It was decided that these meetings should be continued along more formal lines, and the following officers were elected for next year: Charles Murphy, chairman; C. T. Wilson, vice-chairman, and Mrs. William Hagood, secretary. A committee composed of Mr. Wilson, chairman, Dave Ticer, Miss Wise and Mrs. John Lard will plan the programs for the coming year.

Life-Termer Loses Arm In Prison Mishap

Rush K. Delony, former Leighton tavern operator serving a life sentence in Kilby Prison for the rifle-slaying of H. J. Searcy, Leighton policeman, was reported in a critical condition in the prison hospital this week following the amputation of his left arm.

Relatives of Delony said they were informed he was operating a buffer in the prison cotton mill May 14 when he attempted to correct trouble in the machine and his arm was caught in the gears. His arm was badly mutilated and broken in three places, necessitating amputation just below the shoulder.

Delony started a life sentence in Kilby in December of last year after a jury found him guilty of fatally shooting Searcy on a Leighton street on May 11, 1957.

Reynolds Creates New Credit Agency

Reynolds Metals Company today announced the creation of a new subsidiary, Reynolds Aluminum Acceptance Corporation, to make available consumer credit for irrigation equipment.

David P. Reynolds, executive vice president for sales in the parent company, said the new corporation will handle credit for purchase of Reynolds aluminum irrigation pipe and certain other non-aluminum components of irrigation systems.

The operation may be extended later to cover consumer credit for other types of aluminum products, Mr. Reynolds said.

Irrigation activity has increased greatly in recent years, and this method is being used to increase productivity in many farm areas which are far from arid.

However, aluminum industry officials believe that only a small part of the potential farm market for irrigation equipment actually has been sold. Lack of convenient credit is considered one of the factors previously holding back development of this market.

All aluminum producers together sold about 35 million pounds of the lightweight metal for irrigation purposes last year.

The purchase credit program will be handled through Reynolds irrigation distributors all over the country. Farmers can make finance applications to one of these distributors or to a local dealer.

Ann Jordan MacDougall Bride In Home Nuptials

Surrounded by small guest company of family members and close friends, Ann Jordan MacDougall, daughter of Mrs. MacFarland MacDougall, formerly of Florence, and of Elwyn Chauncey MacDougall of Lakewood, Florida, became the bride of John August Wolgast in a high noon ceremony at the home of the bride's mother in Kansas City, Missouri, on Saturday, May seventeenth.

A double ring ceremony marked the repeating of vows before an improvised livingroom altar. A mantel decorated with white flowers and arrangements of white stock and candelabra to light the scene, was the setting before which the Reverend Howard H. Worth, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, read the vows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her mist green silk suit was fashioned with box jacket, oval neckline and jewel-length sleeves. Her small hat was veiled and covered with off-white flowers, and her ivory prayer book, showered by lilies of the valley and stephanotis, had been carried by her grandmother, Mrs. William Fontaine McFarland, in her own wedding. A cherished lace handkerchief was also an addition to her attire.

An informal wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. The three-tiered wedding cake was served from a table covered with white lace and centered with a silver bowl of white carnations and lilies of the valley flanked by wedding tapers. Guests seated at small tables decorated with nosegays of white blossoms included: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Wolgast, parents of the bridegroom, of Alta Vista, Kansas; Mrs. Howard H. Worth, sister of the groom, and two sons, Thomas and Larry, of Hutchinson, Kansas; Mrs. Larry M. Kella, aunt of the groom, of Kansas City, Mrs. William Fontaine McFarland, grandmother of the bride of Florence, Alabama; Captain John Lang Tiffany, cousin of the bride, of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilder Watts, the bride's godmother of Cherokee, Alabama.

After a honeymoon spent in the Ozark Mountains the bridal couple will be at home in Kansas City, Missouri.

Church Ceremony For Hammond-Campbell Vows

A May sixteenth ceremony in Lexington Methodist Church united in marriage Miss Carlene Hammond and Robert Gerald Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Campbell. Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hammond, parents of the bride. Both families reside in Lexington. Reverend J. F. Phillips, pastor, was the officiating clergy.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell have returned from a short wedding trip and are at home at 502 North Cherry Street, Florence.

Whitehead-Owen Vows Are Solemnized

On Saturday, May seventeenth, at 2 p. m. Mrs. Louella Owen and Wheeler Vaughan Whitehead were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony at the home of the bride on Lee Highway.

A fan-shaped arrangement of blue magnolia leaves with white wrought iron branched candelabra on either side, tall baskets of white gladioli and a profusion of deep greenery completed the altar arrangement before which the vows were read by Phillip L. Hunton, Church of Christ minister, in the presence of a small guest company of their immediate families and a few friends.

Mrs. Adelle Thompson and Mrs. Almon Whitehead both of Florence, lighted the candles. The bride wore navy taffeta, the fitted bodice featuring a sweetheart neck and short sleeves, the skirt full with which she used blue and white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. Adelle Thompson, the bride's sister, served as honor attendant with Almon Whitehead, serving his father as best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead left for an extended honeymoon trip to the Smokies. They will be at home in Rogersville when they return.

Martha Ellen Tidwell Weds Warren P. Jones

An afternoon ceremony in First Presbyterian Church of Huntsville marked the exchange of vows between Martha Ellen Tidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Tidwell of Killen, and Warren P. Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. Jones of Tuscaloosa, on Saturday, May tenth.

Nuptial music was presented by Kenneth V. Turvey, organist, and Judge E. H. Parsons, vocalist. Altar candles were lighted by ushers, Major Lincoln H. Townsend and Mack Tidwell, brother of the bride, before the half past four o'clock service was read by the Reverend Harry B. Wade.

Mr. Tidwell gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of French hand-clipped lace and tulle over white taffeta featured a square neckline finished in scallops and long fitted sleeves pointed over the wrists. The floor length skirt of tulle was banded with lace and swept to a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was caught in a bandeau of jeweled net flowers and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Serving her sister as matron of honor Mrs. Elizabeth Townsend wore pale pink polished cotton with ballerina length skirt. She wore a pink picture hat and her flowers were pink carnations. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Tidwell, sister of the bride, and Miss Betty Phillips. Their blue frocks matched the honor attendants' in material and design and their headresses were bands of pale blue flowers. They also carried pink carnations.

Douglas Jones, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Leaving for their honeymoon trip to points south, the bride changed to a black cotton suit with which she wore black accessories and a white corsage.

Upon their return they will be at home at 709 Norris Road, Lakewood Manor, Huntsville.

Delightful entertainment was provided by Mrs. Theodore Hubbuch with a review of Mary Mell Preminger's story of her own life and experiences. Under the provocative title "All I Want Is Everything," the Hungarian - born author weaves an engrossing story from her two broken marriages, her years of restless discontent, and her eventual discovery of happiness. Having been for years the toast of Hollywood and New York, she is now a member of Dr. Albert Schweitzer's band of devoted workers.

Guests for the afternoon were the hostess' mother, Mrs. W. C. Reams, her sister, Mrs. J. E. Meeks, Sr., Mrs. J. E. Meeks, Jr., Mrs. W. W. Slaton, Mrs. Fred McCallum, Mrs. Lambuth Archibald and Mrs. J. E. Morris.

Mrs. Porter Hostess Thursday Study Club

Mrs. H. H. Bradford entertainingly reviewed Mary Craig Sinclair's "Southern Belle" for Thursday Study Club's meeting on May 15. Mrs. Hugh G. Porter was hostess at The Town Club, and guests in addition to regular members were Mrs. W. R. Tipton, Mrs. Charles Cooper and her guest, Mrs. H. M. Cooper of Ft. Myers, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Wilson will leave Wednesday for a vacation visit to their daughter, Mrs. C. Donald Everson, Mr. Everson, and their children in Baton Rouge, La., and for stops in New Orleans and Biloxi before returning to Florence about June 3.

Business Firms Here Invited To Bid On U. S. Goods

Business firms of Lauderdale County were urged by the Atlanta field office of the United States Department of Commerce to give more consideration to the purchasing program of the Department of Defense as a means of stimulating the business economy of this section.

Information received here from Merrill C. Lofton, field manager of the United States Department of Commerce in Atlanta, pointed out that each year the federal government buys millions of dollars worth of goods and services in the state, ranging from food to heavy durable goods, and that there is no reason why firms in this area cannot participate in this purchasing program if they manufacture or otherwise produce goods and services that the government can use.

"The U. S. Department of Commerce each work day issues a listing of goods and services for which the government is in the market for prime contract purposes, and also in the same publication lists the goods and services just bought for sub-contracting purposes, which is available through this office on a subscription basis," Mr. Lofton said. "We have just arranged for this listing to be sent air mail to those desiring quicker service. I suggest that those business firms interested in receiving these lists contact the Atlanta field office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, 604 Volunteer Building, Atlanta, for further information."

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY FLORENCE COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

From The Simple Side By THE FARMER'S WIFE

The earth is suddenly taking on a new brown look, with the soil drying enough for the farmer to start his spring plowing. All around us tractor motors were heard last week and where once the bright greenness caused by an abundance of rain met the eye, now is seen the darkening tones of the soil, as the farmer's plow buries the greenness underneath.

Watching this performance one is reminded of the many things both written and spoken of the earth and its fullness, and we feel sure that our own lowly pen or tongue can add nothing to its state. Even so, in our heart there is an indescribable feeling of kinship to the earth at this time of year—a feeling which seems to assure us that there remains something yet to be said of its greatness. Perhaps our own feeling for the soil is near to that of the farmer, who, when things go bad for him, with too much rain or too little, in his heart still says "I won't leave my land." Come pestilence, or drought, or whatever befalls, his heart is buried in the depths of his soil and there it will remain.

With a feeling such as his, where else could a farmer find contentment except in tilling the small patch of the great earth which God has allowed him for his own?

Leo Views the College Campus By DOTTIE McRAE

Exams. For four days next week, the silence of concentration will hang over FSC classrooms. Then, for all who don't expect to be in summer school, will come the first of about 90 classless days.

With the end of May, besides exams, come the usual picnics and banquets, and Recognition Day.

Actually, there were two recognition day programs—one was the ROTC Awards Day, and the other, the Inter-presidents Council's annual Recognition Day.

Awards Day was held last Tuesday as part of a full-dress review at the college football field. Awards were made to ten Military Science students — Deward Sisson, Florence; William Barrell; Ronald Carter; Florence; J. P. Sides, Oakland; Ronald Meeks, Sheffield; C. H. Jackson, Tusculumbia; Eugene Glenn, Decatur; David Ammons, Eva, among others who showed outstanding ability in the fields of leadership, academics, and aptitude for military training.

Thursday many of the campus organizations and college departments recognized their outstanding members and students. Recognition was given seniors with the highest averages in their departments, to several others with high academic records, and to members who had contributed most to their organizations.

In both of the programs, names of students to be recognized were not announced previous to the presentation of awards.

Last week, FSC had a visit from the field secretary of the Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity. It seems that there is a group of students at Florence State who feel that fraternities could do a lot for the college, and it also seems that at least two national fraternities are interested in helping establish colonies on our campus.

The Rehearsal Club did a very good job with their last production of the year. The story centered around a pair of twins and their very mixed up love affairs. It was thoroughly confusing at first, but it was also very funny.

Beginning Sunday morning, May 25, graduation will be underway. The Senior Breakfast is to be Sunday morning; the baccalaureate sermon will be given by Dr. Hudson Baggett Sunday evening, Monday, at 7 p. m., the commencement will be held in the amphitheatre.

Tomorrow, the last big social event of the year—the Junior-Senior Prom—will take place in the college gym. The theme of the dance will be springtime; music will be provided by Edsel Holden, and members of the senior class and their dates will be admitted free.

Well baseball season and tennis season are over, at least for FSC's teams.

Jones Proposes Marker Honoring North Alabamians

North Alabama people made recent history and history must not be allowed to forget them, says Congressman Robert E. Jones (D-Ala.).

A bill asking Congress to memorialize the launching of Explorer I, the rocket which sent the free world's first earth satellite into orbit, and the personnel at Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Alabama, where it was produced, has been introduced by Jones. The Congressman suggests that a historic marker be placed at Cape Canaveral, Florida, where the successful flight of the Explorer occurred on January 31, 1958.

"The dedicated scientists and the military and civilian personnel of the Redstone Arsenal did more than make a splendid scientific contribution to the International Geophysical Year," Jones commented. "When Explorer I shot our first satellite into outer space, it took with it American pride, prestige and a restored national morale."

Smoking Habits To Be Examined In Current Census

In addition to the usual questions about employment and unemployment in May, the Current Population Survey will collect information on the lifetime residence histories of persons 18 years old and over, and on the smoking habits of persons 35 years of age and over, it was announced today by Thomas W. McWhirter supervisor of the U. S. Census Bureau's field office in Atlanta, Georgia.

The inquiries on residence and smoking habits are being made by the Census Bureau at the request of the U. S. Public Health Service in connection with its study of national health problems.

The questions on residence will be asked of persons 18 years old and over who are members of the 35,000 families visited each month by Current Population Survey interviewers. The questions will cover place of birth and subsequent places of residence throughout the lifetime of persons interviewed and provide information as to types of places, such as urban and rural, in which people have lived. The inquiries on smoking will be asked of persons 35 years of age and over and cover the use of cigarettes, cigars, and pipes.

The regular monthly questions on employment and unemployment will provide the data for the Monthly Report on the Labor Force, which is employed as one of the indicators in feeling the economic pulse of the Nation. Because of the current economic situation, unusual interest attends the results of the May survey, which will be issued early in June.

The Current Population Survey will be conducted here and in 329 other areas of the country during the week of May 19. Information will be collected locally by Mrs. Adrienne Brown.

Alabama's Rivers

Local Interest Is Vital To River Development

WARRIOR-TOMBIGBEE TOW—Pictured here is a tow consisting of eight barges of iron ore bound from the Port of Mobile for Port Birmingham. Scene is on the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway.

By 1821 three steamboat companies were operating on the Tombigbee and Warrior Rivers, and there has been traffic on the rivers ever since. Even with steam power, those early steamboats took two to three weeks to travel the 220 miles from Mobile to Demopolis. For six to nine months of the year the steamboats could navigate to Tuscaloosa. Passengers as well as freight relied on the river steamboats for transportation.

Improvement of the river began in the 1870's and late in the last century work was begun to open the waterway to the coalfields near Birmingham. In January of 1896 the first barge load of coal started down the river, making the trip to Mobile in 18 days. Town meetings were held and crowds assembled at the landings to witness the inauguration of the new traffic which, it was believed, would materially affect the prosperity of the Warrior basin.

A new series of locks and dams, completed in 1915, opened the way to Birmingham for larger tows. In the first year of this improvement the waterway tonnage totaled 407,245 tons. By 1937, the annual tonnage had grown to 12 times that volume—approximately five million tons annually.

The system of locks completed in 1915 consisted of 17 locks and dams, with locks 286 x 82 feet. By 1950 it was apparent that these locks were substandard and obsolete. A Warrior-type barge tow consisting of towboat and 11 barges had to lock through these small locks in three sections, taking about 45 minutes for each lockage, or more than two hours to get the tow through one of these small locks. When it is realized that four such locks exist in a 17-mile stretch of the river above Tuscaloosa, it is evident that these old locks meant a loss of time and money in the use of the waterway.

A new series of modern 600 x 110 foot locks is being installed, ultimately to cut the number of locks and dams from 17 to six. The Demopolis Lock and Dam was the first of these modern projects, and its opening occasioned an immediate increase in river use. Since then the Warrior Lock and Dam is under construction now. Holt Lock and Dam, to replace the four obsolete structures (Locks 13, 14, 15 and 16) above Tuscaloosa, is the next project in the program for a completely modern waterway on the Warrior and Tombigbee Rivers.

Intelligent local interest, directed by the Warrior-Tombigbee Development Association, has been responsible for much of the success of this waterway. Without local interest, it is not likely that any waterway, however feasible, will be improved for navigation.

Along with growth in freight movement, the Warrior-Tombigbee Rivers have enjoyed great industrial expansion. Much of this industrial growth is directly attributable to the improvement of the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway. Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles on Alabama waterways, prepared by the Alabama River Development Authority. Next week: Industry follows Navigation—Growth on the Warrior-Tombigbee System.

W. L. Culley, Branson Embry, Billy Johnson, Shelby Goode, Mike Merston and Farrell Patterson. Anderson will play Cross Roads at Anderson on Saturday afternoon.

The First Baptist Church of Anderson was fortunate in having the Rev. J. I. Berryhill of Tupelo, Miss., fill the pulpit at both services Sunday. For his morning message he used the subject, "The Motivation of Evangelism," a very inspiring message to be sure. His Sunday night message was on how to be happy as a Christian.

The pulpit will be filled next Sunday by Rev. Billy Ryan who is pastor of the Happy Valley Baptist Church.

Here's the Answer

Telephone Talk

by
FRANK REYNOLDS
Your Telephone Manager

OFF THE HOOK: Here's a rhyme I like. "When time has flown... get it back by phone!" Ever let an important date, anniversary or appointment slip by? Really puts us on the spot! Luckily, we can always phone. Just a call can get us "off the hook." Lets the person we almost forgot know in a fast, friendly way that we did remember. Sure is nice to be able to reach for a phone, for business or pleasure, across the nation or just around the corner, any day, anywhere!

... WHEN DO sweet dreams become a nightmare? When you need the convenience of a bedroom extension! It's real livin' to have extension phones in your home where they're handiest—in bedrooms, kitchen or den. Lots of fun to choose them in decorator colors to go with furnishings, too. And they cost less than a nickel a day each, or several for less than the cost of your main phone. To order the extensions you need, just give us a ring.

WHAT COULD BE NICER? Mother's Day is next Sunday. How about giving her an extension telephone in her favorite color—to save her time and steps all through the whole year.

CALLING BY NUMBER is the quickest way to get Long Distance calls through. To help you find the numbers you call most often, jot them down in your "Blue Book." If you don't have one, it's yours for the asking. Just call our Business Office.

Commencement Exercises

The gymnasium was used for the graduation exercises on Friday evening when 87 seniors received their diplomas.

Peonies in red and white, the class colors, were used across the improvised platform on which were seated Rev. C. R. Fooks, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, who gave the invocation; Ronald Pettus, class president; Woodrow Hooie, salutatorian; Steve Thornton, class speaker; Jean Dollar, faculty speaker; Patricia Favors, valedictorian; W. C. Hannah, principal, who presented the awards and diplomas; Mrs. W. C. Hannah, sponsor; Rev. Ralph Wilson, who pronounced the benediction; and four of the senior girls, Joyce Middlebrooks, Patty Bedingfield, Dorothy Thigpen, and Mary Frances Harvey, who sang "My God and I," with Judy Belew at the piano.

Handel's "Largo" was used as the processional, played by Billy Scott, to which the senior girls, robed in white and the boys in black, took their appointed places. Ronald Pettus, class president extended the welcome.

Speaking to the class, Steve Thornton, in listing some necessary ingredients of success, named sociability, hard work and unselfish service. His challenging remarks were closed with this thought: "The life we live is the final examination of how well we have learned what these, our teachers, have endeavored through many difficulties to teach us."

Jean Dollar, faculty speaker, chose to tell what America means to her, stressing the ability to get along with others as being of paramount importance.

Patricia Favors stated in her valedictory address that our greatest enemy in achieving what we aim for is our apathy.

The band trophy, awarded for the most outstanding student in the band, was presented by Jerry Capwell, band instructor, to Johnnie Raines.

The Good Citizenship award went to Judith Fuqua.

Recognized for outstanding ability in leadership and presented "I Dare You" by the Danforth Foundation were Morris McKee and Virginia Jeffers.

Mr. Hannah in his remarks wished for them some failures, reminding them that one of our freedoms is the right to fail and try again, emphasizing that regardless of the failures, our experiences he is not himself a failure until he begins to blame someone else for them.

He urged that failures be "diagnosed" thus: Was it due to discouragement from fellowmen, from pursuing the wrong career, or from being unable to take the criticism that is the natural heritage of one who is succeeding?

Marshals were Charles Phillips and David Thacker. Usherettes: Maude Pettus, Wynelle Evans, Betty Moore and Ann Walker.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

Dear Molly,
On Mother's Day I'd like to be able to give you a thousand and one little and just below. Instead, I will give you only a corsage to wear to church and this letter.
For on this Mother's Day, I'd like to say some of the things I love you, and how proud I am that you're my wife as well as our daughter's mother.
When I saw Cathy walking out of Church school last week, it did something to me. I have you to thank for it. I wasn't much of a churchgoer when we got married, you know that... and even if I had nothing else to be grateful for, I could never forget that it was you who taught me what the Church means, and that it was you who taught me that the Church means I am grateful to God for bringing us together. In church this morning my prayer will be one of thanks for you today, for always.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

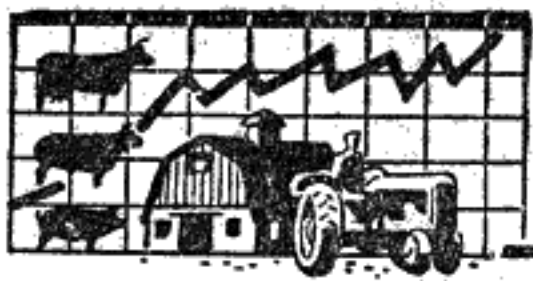

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cotton Council Sets Meeting Here

Representatives Will Explain Fiber's Status In Markets Of World

Can the U. S. cotton industry hold and increase its markets?

A three-part analysis of this question is scheduled by representatives of the National Cotton Council in a visual presentation to cotton leaders of Lauderdale County at the Courthouse in Florence Tuesday. It is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m.

Raymond Jones and Carlton Powers, representatives of the Council's field service staff, will explain in detail cotton's competitive situation at home and abroad, industry activities aimed at increasing consumption of its products, and potentials for cotton provided it competes effectively in price, quality, and promotion.

Walker Brown, in announcing the meeting, pointed up the seriousness of the challenge to U. S. cotton, not only from a host of man-made fiber substitutes and foreign cotton production but also from the many goods and services being offered consumers and promoted aggressively.

The Cotton Council presentation, he explained, will employ numerous slides to portray graphically where the cotton industry stands at present, what is being done about its situation, and where it is headed. The Council field representatives will describe the progress that is being made to achieve a competitive price for cotton through efficiencies in production, marketing, processing, and manufacturing.

The presentation will analyze the role of quality in cotton's competition for markets, revealing how the fiber not only must appeal to consumers but also to the textile mill and those who merchandise textile products. It will give specific examples of how consumption has been expanded by capitalizing on research and promotional opportunities.

In a summarizing statement the speakers will emphasize the alternatives for cotton: (1) a substantial increase in markets by keeping pace with the rapid expansion in population and standards of living at home and abroad; or (2) dwindling markets, reduced acreage and volume, and a constantly shrinking income not only for the cotton industry but for all who are dependent on it.

Insect Control Pays Off Farmers

Would you be willing to spend one dollar if you knew you could get four in return?

Farmers who carry out a good program of insect and disease control on truck crops usually do just that. Practically every truck crop grown in Alabama is subject to attack by one or more pests, and a good control program is the only way a grower can expect to harvest a crop that will give him top net returns.

API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby explained that this doesn't mean the grower can use just any material to control all garden pests. Pest control materials, like any other farm tool or practice, must be properly used to obtain best results. The farmer must first determine what insects or diseases are most likely to attack his crops, Bagby said, then find out what chemicals will give the best control. It's also important to know just when pests are most likely to attack the crops.

Some pests, such as wire worms and nematodes, live in the soil and attack the roots of plants. Control of these insects requires chemical applications to the soil. Pests that attack plant leaves and fruit are best controlled by spraying or dusting.

Some important points in planning a spray or dust program are: (1) Use the right material. If you are not sure of this, check with your county agent. Be sure to read the label and use materials as directed. (2) Apply materials at the right time. In most cases, sprays or dusts must be applied before the insect or disease appears. (3) Repeat applications regularly to protect new growth on plants. (4) Do a good job of covering all parts of the plants.

Snakes May Be Beneficial

Most folks get awfully alarmed about snakes this time of year.

"But there's little reason to get so concerned," says Earl Kennamer, API Extension fish and wildlife specialist, "because the danger of snakes is overrated. Actually, less than two deaths from actual snake bites occur in Alabama every year. I believe the U. S. death rate in a year from snakes is around 30, which means that we put more stock in fear than we do in actual danger."

"There are only six poisonous snakes," Kennamer reminded. "These are the copperhead, the cottonmouth or water moccasin, the timber rattler, the eastern or southern diamondback rattler, the pigmy rattler, and the coral. The other 40-some-odd species are harmless. Learn how to recognize the dangerous snakes. Then don't worry about the others."

"For protection, wear boots out in the field or when you're fishing. Carry a flashlight when you're walking at night and watch your step," the specialist recommended.

"Most snakes do good work around a farm. They eat rats, mice, and some harmful insects. Such snakes do a lot more good if they're left alive rather than killed just because they're snakes."

"My belief is that more people die from nonpoisonous snakes than from poisonous ones. I've talked with several men of the medical profession, who agree that shock and heart failure often occur from just seeing a snake, even a nonpoisonous one."

"So learn to tell the difference between poisonous and nonpoisonous snakes," Kennamer advised. "Don't get friendly with the poisonous ones, but don't be afraid of the others."

AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS AMONG WORLD'S BEST

The best American newspapers are as good as any in the world, and the quality of the average paper in this country is high, a University of Alabama Professor of journalism told a Phi Beta Kappa dinner audience at the University on April 29.

Professor John Luskin was the speaker when 17 new members of the oldest scholarship society in the United States were honored guests.

The press and colleges and universities have the same task to perform — public education — and face similar obstacles in performing it, the speaker pointed out. He said many newspapers lack money to attract highly talented people to interpret for readers the increasingly complex problems of the world in which we live.

The lot or parcel of land located on Tennessee Street in Florence, Lauderdale County, Alabama, particularly described below, et als
RESPONDENTS

TO:
M. R. OUSLEY, AMOS WYNN and W. B. GREENLOW whose addresses are unknown, if living, and the respective heirs or devisees of any of said named persons who may be deceased, M. W. LONG, if living, and his heirs or devisees, if dead, C. H. LONG, if living, and his heirs or devisees, if dead, W. M. RICHARDSON, ALMA LONG, JANE LONG BENDALL, and FLORENCE INVESTMENT COMPANY, and the unknown partners composing the firm of FLORENCE INVESTMENT COMPANY if same was a partnership and if it was a corporation its unknown stockholders, directors and trustees:
Take notice that in the Circuit Court of Lauderdale County, Alabama, in equity, there is pending a verified bill of complaint filed on April 29, 1958 by First National Bank of Florence, a national banking corporation, as Trustee under the will of Samuel Adams, deceased, against the following described real estate situated in Lauderdale County, Alabama, to-wit:

A part of Original Lots 101, 102, 103 and 104, City of Florence, Alabama, according to the map and survey of said City of Florence, made by the Cypress Land Company, more particularly described as beginning at a point on the southwardly line of Tennessee Street 50.0 feet westwardly of the westwardly line of an alley shown on said Cypress Land Company map, said point also being 121.25 feet from the eastwardly line of Cherry Street as the street now exists (70 feet wide); thence, at right angles to Tennessee Street southwardly a distance of 132.0 feet to the northwardly line of an alley as shown on plat made by Charles Boeckh, C. E., for the Florence Land Mining and manufacturing Company, recorded in New Plat Book No. 1 Page 144, in the office of the Judge of Probate of Lauderdale County, Alabama; thence, eastwardly with the northwardly line of said alley 90.0 feet; thence, at right angles to the said alley, northwardly 133 feet to the southwardly line of Tennessee Street 90.0 feet to the point of beginning, and against those persons named above and any and all persons claiming any title to, interest in, lien or encumbrance on said real estate, or any part thereof.

Said bill seeks to establish the complainant's right and title to said real estate and clear up all doubts and disputes concerning the same. It appears from said bill that:

First National Bank of Florence, as said Trustee, owns and is in the actual, peaceable possession of said real estate; M. R. Ousley, Amos Wynn and W. B. Greenlow, if living, are all over the age of 21 years and their addresses are all unknown and cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry or, if any of them are dead, their respective heirs or devisees, are unknown, and their names, ages and residences cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry; W. M. Richardson, whose address is Florence, Alabama, M. W. Long and C. H. Long, if living, are both over 21 years of age. The last known address of said M. W. Long was 2702 San Jacinto Street, Houston, Texas. His present address and that of said C. H. Long are unknown and cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry. If the said M. W. Long and C. H. Long are dead, their respective heirs or devisees are unknown and their names, ages, and residences cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry. Alma S. Long is over 21 years of age, her address being Florence, Alabama; Jane Long Bendall is over 21 years of age, her address being Birmingham, Alabama; whether Florence Investment Company was a corporation or a partnership and the names and addresses of its successors, whether directors, stockholders or partners, are unknown and cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry.

Complainant acquired title to said lot by virtue of the will of Samuel Adams, deceased, which is recorded in the office of the Probate Judge of Lauderdale County, Alabama, in Will Book 6 on pages 297-299, having been admitted to probate on June 20, 1944. Said Samuel Adams acquired title to said property by deed duly executed by the City of Florence, Alabama, a municipal corporation, dated March 26, 1941, and recorded in said Probate Office in Book 311 pages 170-171. Complainant claims to own the fee simple title as Trustee under said will, by virtue of said will and deed and by virtue of its peaceable possession of said lot. Title to said lot now stands in the name of complainant on the records of the Probate Office of Lauderdale County, Alabama. No one except complainant and those through whom it claims has been assessing said lot for taxes or paying taxes thereon for more than ten years next preceding the filing of said bill of complaint. The above named respondents and unknown persons claim or are reputed to claim some right, title, interest in, lien or encumbrance upon said lot.

Therefore, the above named respondents, and any and all persons claiming any title to, interest in, lien or encumbrance upon said lot, or any part of said lot, are hereby given notice to appear in said cause and specify their title, claim, interest in, lien or encumbrance upon said lot, or any part thereof, and show how and by what instrument the same is derived or created, and plead, answer or demur to said bill of complaint by the 8th day of July, 1958, so that said claims may be adjudicated by the court, so as to clear up all doubts or disputes concerning the title to said lot, or otherwise a decree pro confesso may be taken against each of them, and said cause shall be submitted for final decree as provided under Article 2, Title 7, Sections 1116 and 1132, inclusive, of the 1940 Code of Alabama, as amended.

Done this the 7th day of May, 1958.

ALBERT BOUTWELL
Led His Opponent
for LT. GOVERNOR
by 53,973 votes

Albert Boutwell led his opponent in 57 counties for Lieutenant Governor in the first election, with a total vote of 197,854.

By this big vote, our citizens endorsed these things for which Boutwell has always stood as State Senator for 11 years:

- Segregation on all fronts.
- Sound and thrifty government.
- Fair reapportionment.
- Competitive bidding on State contracts.
- Aid to education, public health, conservation and our indigent and aged.
- Development of our State's resources.
- Broader rights for our Counties and Communities.

The Press named Boutwell "Alabama's Outstanding State Senator" because of his service as Chairman of the joint Senate-House Committee to preserve segregation and his able leadership for sound government. He will help our next Governor be a better Governor.

This outstanding policy will help to pay those unexpected expenses for bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike without warning at work, on the farm, at home, at school, at play, or while traveling. Here is a modern, practical, essential and economical personal accident policy prepared to give the best possible protection at the lowest possible cost that will fit the pocketbook of every family.

Each member of the family—man, woman and child—regardless of age, residence, occupation or activity—is constantly exposed to accident hazards "around the clock" and "around the calendar" and should have this valuable and helpful protection which is now available through this newspaper because of the serious accident situation which exists everywhere today. Subject to the policy provisions, it includes indemnity for Loss of Life, Loss of Limb, Loss of Sight, Total Disability, First Aid, Ambulance, Hospital and X-Ray.

The policy is issued without medical examination. There are no age limits (specific loss and total disability indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when the insured is or becomes age 70 and over). It costs only $5.00 per person per year, plus a first-year only registration fee of $1.00. This averages but slightly more than a penny a day for protection everyone needs and can afford to pay. It is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois.
