The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

In Monday's important city runoff election, the total number of votes cast was 1917—a fair number for the year 1917, when Florence had less than 10,000 population, but a pitiful number in 1958 for a city of 35,000 patriotic, progressive and civic-minded citizens.

Anyone who thinks chemical warfare is something new—doesn't know much about perfume.

The "fall" stories will now come out of Alaska instead of Texas—and they have already started this way. Just the other day a rich Alaskan arrived at a swank Miami Beach hotel. He told the doorman he needed several bellboys to carry in his luggage. Well loaded with skis, toboggans, sleds and other items foreign to the Florida resort, the desk clerk was aghast at the sight. But, when another bellboy brought up the rear with several brace of Alaskan hawks, the clerk passed out. Finally, when revived, he exclaimed: "Man alive, this is Florida. There's no snow here!" "I know, know," boomed the Alaskan. "It's coming right along with the rest of my luggage."

To acquire friends, you must inevitably acquire enemies. When a new friend becomes more attached to you than an old friend has been, you will find, if not careful, that you will lose the old friend completely.

Someone has pointed out that many wise words are spoken in jest, but they can't compare with the number of foolish words spoken in earnest.

If the new 1958 automobiles will include brakes that get tight when the driver does, many owners will find that they have a greater value in their investment than they bargained for.

We were interested in a listing of the "Ten Commandments for Husbands" we just had handed us. They are: (I) Thou shalt not think that thy business is none of thy wife's business. (II) Thou shalt not deal grudgingly with thy wife. Half of the money is hers. (IV) Thou shalt make the building of thy home thy first business. (V) Thou shalt cooperate with thy wife in establishing family discipline. (VI) Thou shalt enter thy house with cheerfulness. Remember thy wife assumed she was marrying a man, not a bear. (VII) Thou shalt not nag thy wife about dieting. It will do no good. (VIII) Thou shalt not let anyone criticize thy wife. (IX) Thou shalt get away with it. (X) Thou shalt not take thy wife for granted. (X) Remember thy home and keep it holy.

People were content with their walk in life—until politicians began to offer free rides.

No matter what you may think about the majority of our television shows, there's one thing you must say—they stick to their guns.

We are told that one Florence State student has found a way to beat the parking problem. He parks his car some blocks away and then takes his bicycle out of the trunk of his car and rides to school.

The teacher took her class to the zoo as a special event in her teaching program. They saw the lions, tigers and other caged animals and finally came upon a fenced-in area where several deer were sunning themselves. The teacher pulled little Johnny close to her and asked: "What animal is that?" "I don't know," replied Johnny. "Oh, yes you do," the teacher urged. "What does your mother call you?" "Daddy," replied Johnny. "Quick as a flash Johnny exclaimed: 'Don't tell me that's a louse!'"

The young man and the young girl were very much in love. They talked of marriage. They began making plans and finally got down to the important study of finances which included a breakdown on income taxes. Finally, he said: "Honey, there's one thing certain, now that we plan to be married, you should have your $30-a-week job." "Certainly, sweetheart, of course I will," sighed the young thing. "The way I figure it," explained the prospective groom, "You're going to have to make at least $45 per week."

Green's Victory Margin Near 2-1 In City Run-off

Defeats Howard Hickman In Another Light Vote In Municipal Race

George Green, former County Service Commissioner making his first bid for public office, Monday defeated W. Howard Hickman for membership on the Florence city commission by a near two-to-one majority.

Green's margin was 597 votes—1,257 to Hickman's 660 votes.

Monday's balloting was slightly heavier than that in the five-man race a week before, when only 1,796 votes were cast. In the Green-Hickman run-off, 1,917 ballots were marked for short of the approximately 8,800 eligible to vote.

Green, as he did a week previous, carried nine of the 10 boxes where voting was carried on in the city. He lost only in the Weeden Heights neighborhood, where Hickman led him by an 81-to-55 count.

In a post-election statement Tuesday, Mr. Green declared, "I certainly appreciate what the people of Florence have done for me. I have lived here 46 years and have the interests of Florence in my heart. I want to see our city grow and prosper."

Continuing, the commissioner-elect said, "I have a number of projects in mind for the city but will need time to investigate what programs are already in prospect before I can make any statements."

Mr. Green will succeed A. W. Darby, named two months ago to fill out the unexpired term of Rufus G. Hibbett, Sr., who resigned to become superintendent of city schools.

Succot Festival To Be Observed At Local Temple

Period Of Thanksgiving Begins At Sunset Sunday Lasts For Seven Days

The Succot Festival known as the Feast of Tabernacles will be commemorated this week at Temple B'nai Israel, it was announced by Rabbi J. S. Gallinger. These religious rites are more than 3,000 years old. The Florence Temple ministers also to Jewish families of the Tri-Cities area, Russellville, Decatur, Moulton and Iuka, Miss.

The holiday begins this year at sunset, Sunday, September 28 and lasts for seven days. Rabbi Gallinger announced that special Succot services will be conducted on Friday, October 3, at 8 p. m., when children entering Sunday School for the first time will be received into the Temple family. They will be followed by a Bible investiture ceremony on October 10 which will symbolize the binding tie of the Word of God to Jewish families through the generations.

These observances are based on the traditional character of Succot, with its closing day called Simhat Torah (Bible Day), as a period of thanksgiving. As its Hebrew name Succot implies, the festival originated during the desert travels of the Israelites, when they felt the need of giving thanks to God for His protection against the dangers of an hostile environment, even though they were sheltered only in hastily erected tents or huts. Later, when they settled in the Holy Land where similar temporary booths were used at harvest time, special thanksgiving praises were added for the beauty and bounty of nature. Still later, when divine fate had decreed new migrations for the Jewish people after the destruction of the Second Temple by the Romans, prayers of thanksgiving were composed for God's Law, the Bible, which made of every Jewish home a fortress of faith.

An interesting development is described by Dr. Gallinger in a discussion of the American Thanksgiving as follows:

THANKSGIVING A Jewish Holiday In American Life

By Dr. J. S. Gallinger, Rabbi Tri-Cities Jewish Congregation

The professor was stumped. He had been teaching this course on American Civilization for more than twenty years, and there came this inquisitive freshman, just out of high school, with a question he could not answer. "Why was Thanksgiving Day set for a Thursday?" Some quick research was in order.

He knew, of course, that Thanksgiving was the oldest native American holiday. The Pilgrims had established it after they finally had reaped a meager harvest the second year after they had

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler asserted Tuesday night that President Eisenhower's White House aide Sherman Adams resigned as a matter of political expediency and not on moral grounds. Virginia Will Continue Fight Against Mixing Following his executive order closing all the high schools of Little Rock last week, Gov. Orval Faubus attended the governors conference in Lexington, Ky., this week. He told newsmen there that Little Rock schools might reopen as private institutions following Saturday's special election on the question of admitting Negroes. The Little Rock board has asked the district court for a ruling on Faubus' plan.

Faubus said he did not anticipate any legal difficulty but added, "there could be litigation brought about by the federal government. If they want to tie up everything and keep the schools closed further that is their responsibility."

Governor Leroy Collins of Florida suggested at the opening of the session that the integration controversy become the first order of business when Congress meets in January. He said the present racial crisis could lead to national catastrophe.

"Too much time," Gov. Collins said, "has elapsed to warrant any further delay in extricating the nation from the desegregation dilemma."

Group Supports Faubus

A resolution urging support of Faubus efforts to keep Little Rock schools segregated was adopted by the youth group of 17 Missionary Baptist Churches in the Little Rock area.

In Little Rock about 200 white teenage students demonstrated in front of the governor's mansion chanting in pep rally style, "two, four, six, eight, we don't want to integrate."

Virginians Seek Reopening

At Norfolk and Charlottesville, Va., petitions were signed by students urging that schools be reopened. At the same time no governor was more adamant in his opposition to integration than Virginia's Governor James L. (Bobby) Almond, who voiced the slogan, "no secession, no bolt, no surrender."

Almond, an orator of great ability, contends the high tribunal has usurped the power of Congress to enact the nation's laws. The court, he says, is "stealing the people's leading social and economic evolution."

If Almond's plea asking a stay of a court order admitting 17 Negroes into six white schools in Norfolk is denied it is almost inevitable he will order that city's six schools to close.

Eight Negroes entered Van Buren, Ark., High School Monday and three others returned to a nearby union high. Mild demonstrations were reported. They had been out for two weeks due to a boycott of the schools by white students.

At Johnson City, Tenn., five Negro undergraduates attended classes at East Tennessee State College for the first time in the institution's history. There were no incidents reported.

Alabama Prepares

It was announced this week that legal authorities in Alabama are considering a tax refund plan to finance free private schools in Alabama if other means fail to preserve segregation.

While details have not been worked out the plan would provide closing of public schools and the property turned over to privately operated corporations. The state would refund a pro rata share of tax money to parents of school children. The money, it was stated, would not be restricted to paying school tuition but could be used for other purposes.

A law passed in 1957 gives local school boards the right to close integration-threatened schools and to turn the property over to private corporations and to use state funds to pay students' tuition.

LEGISLATURE SALUTE

The incoming legislature of Alabama will be saluted by the Alabama Textile Manufacturers Association in Birmingham Oct. 3. E. R. Lehmann, president of the association, has announced.

The Reason For Aid

The greatest merchant ship replacement program in this country's history is now underway. Its cost will be in the neighborhood of $3 billion. Within 10 to 15 years some 300 ships, mostly of World War II vintage, will be replaced with modern vessels.

This huge program stems from necessity—we are the world's foremost importing and exporting nation, and we must have a Merchant Marine geared to that situation. As is well known, the U. S. government aids in the building program, by making differential subsidy payments to the shipyards. And if anyone still wonders why the government does that, information released by the Committee of American Steamship Lines should resolve their quandary.

For some time Japan has been the world's largest ship-builder. The reason is that it can build ships cheaply, because of very low wages and other costs. To take a typical example, Japan can build a 12,500 ton diesel freighter for less than $3 million. To build an equivalent ship in American yards, with their high wages and other overhead, costs more than $10 million. And Japan is not an isolated case. The other maritime nations can all build for much less than we can.

This is the reason for government participation in ship-building. A first-class Merchant Marine is a cornerstone of both our economic welfare and our military strength. We must have an active shipbuilding industry—a going concern, ready for emergency. We're getting these "musts" at minimum cost.

However even with this fleet of fine ships America must remember she can lose the battle for world trade to the Soviet Union which nation is out to outdo not only America but the entire free world.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota, before the Export Managers Club of Chicago, Inc., last June, summed this problem up fairly well when he said:

"Now trade is a major weapon in the arsenal of the Communist economic offensive. The trade missions have been at work, and these trade missions from the Soviet and the Iron Curtain countries are well staffed. These are not tired, worked out, worked over people. They are vigorous, fresh, and aggressive. They are out to do business. And so I say to my fellow Americans, let's take some of these political vitamins that we need and get out and do some business or you are going to come in second in this two-man race—and that means last."

Unfortunately there are other implications. If other nations join the Soviet economic bloc then they are ripe for picking by the Soviet political bloc. People have to live and they have to eat. Once they are dependent on Russia they will be easy prey to Communism. This is the primary reason for China falling into the Soviet sphere. It was economic at first then almost before the free world realized it China was Communist.

We must be realistic. We haven't lost the battle. America's productivity is far superior to that of the Soviet Union though the Russians are making tremendous strides industry-wise and have caught on to the American way of doing things abroad. They too have begun to inaugurate extensive technical and economic assistance programs and with typical Russian aggressiveness they are succeeding.

It is up to us to beat them.

Practical Christianity

A widely known Huntsville industrialist, Milton K. Cummings, has shown a commendatory realization of his responsibilities as a man of wealth and leadership in his community. One day last week, Mr. Cummings offered to put $25,000 into any worthwhile enterprise or campaign to provide "hope and inspiration" for what he termed "the forgotten people" of the Rocket City.

Mr. Cummings identified these "forgotten people" as farmers driven off the land by crop controls, physically handicapped men and women, textile workers no longer able to find employment and high school graduates unable to go to college.

The public, says Mr. Cummings, thinks everybody in and around Huntsville is experiencing prosperity to a degree unimagined, and it is true, he continues, that "most of us are booming" with the swiftly-growing community. But not everyone, he says, is enjoying the boom.

"These are the people—men and women of all ages, little children living in hungry homes over here in Boogertown (a section of Huntsville)—who need the opportunity to participate with the rest of us in making Huntsville and the world a better place in which to live," Mr. Cummings said.

That, to our way of thinking, is a practical application of the Biblical admonition that we are, indeed, our brother's keeper.

Infant Is Victim Of Suffocation

Donald Lee Cochran, Jr., five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Cochran, Route 4, Florence, apparently suffocated at the home of Mrs. Cochran's parents, on Sunday afternoon. The infant was pronounced dead on arrival at ECM Hospital where it was rushed in an effort to save its life.

It was reported the Cochran child had pulled a plastic bag over its head in some manner and suffocated during a visit to the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wright, 1931 Hickory Avenue, Florence.

The paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cochran, Route 4, Florence, also survive.

Services were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at Wesley Chapel Methodist Church with Rev. Hunt officiating. Burial was in the adjoining cemetery, Brown Service directing.

RARE CIVIL WAR BOOK IS GIVEN TRANSLATION

Two University of Alabama scholars have collaborated in translating and editing a Civil War document that Southern historian Douglas Southall Freeman once called "one of the outstanding bits of the war."

Dr. W. Stanley Hoole, UA librarian and Dr. J. C. Hayes, head of the German department, have completed an English translation of "Seven Months in Rebel States During the North American War 1863," written by a Prussian military observer, Captain J. Scheibert.

The 166 page book tells of the months Captain Scheibert spent in 1863 with Robert E. Lee's Army, including some time with Jeb Stuart's cavalry unit. It is number nine in a Confederate Centennial Series being published in Tuscaloosa by the Confederate Publishing Company. Dr. Hoole said the Centennial Series is being sold in every state in the U. S. and in several nations abroad as well.

Jas. E. Sherman To Discuss History Of Russian People

Interested Tri-Citians are invited to join Florence State faculty and students at Kilby Auditorium Monday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p. m. to hear James E. Sherman discuss "The History and Culture of the Russian People."

A Lauderdale countian, native of White Russia, whose own life story is hardly run-of-the-mill, Mr. Sherman was born at the break of the century on an estate which came to his great grandfather together with knighthood and 500 serf-peasants, in 1709 when the war between Peter the Great and Charles XII was brought to a close.

Mr. Sherman served with the Russian Imperial Army from 1917, and with the White Russian Army all during the civil war.

In 1925 he came to the United States and the University of Alabama as an exchange student. His wife is an Alabamian. They have lived in Lauderdale County, engaged in farming and business, for the past twelve years.

Succot Festival

landed on Plymouth Rock. But why on Thursday? He scamped to his history books.

They had regarded themselves as latter-day Israelites, these sturdy martyrs of religious persecution who had come to the New World to practice the tenets of their Bible as their conscience led them. They had suffered under English tyranny, just like the Children of Israel had endured slavery under the Egyptian Pharaoh. Like the ancient Hebrews, too, their God had set them free, had guided them safely across the deep of the sea, had brought them to a new "Land of Milk and Honey." After the failure of their first crop and the hunger of the following winter, the scanty gleanings of their second summer looked to them like manna.

They had searched their Bible for the proper way to give thanks to their Lord for His deliverance. They had found their answer in Numbers 29:12. Governor William Bradford had read the passage as part of his proclamation: "And on the fifteenth day of the seventh month ye shall have a holy convocation . . . and ye shall keep a feast unto the Lord seven days . . ."

Something was wrong here. The professor was puzzled: The fifteenth day plus seven in the seventh month would put Thanksgiving on the twenty-second day of July! That was impossible. Harvest doesn't come until much later, especially in the cold New England climate of Plymouth Rock!

Then something clicked in his mind. He checked his history further. Of course, it was not until 1752 that January 1 had been established, in the English speaking world, as the first day of the legal year. That was more than 130 years after the Pilgrims had landed, and had celebrated their first Thanksgiving. These Bible-bound men and women had observed their religious dates, too, according to the Holy Book. Their year, then, had started with the first new moon after the vernal equinox, the first new moon of Spring, just before Passover and Easter, sometime in early April!

This figured! The seventh month from April was November! It also accounted for the fact that Americans can Thanksgiving Day always falls close to the date of the Jewish holiday of Succot, the Biblical thanksgiving feast of Tabernacles. As a matter of fact, the two holidays were essentially one and the same. Members of the same family, mother and daughter, even as Judaism is the parent faith of Christianity.

And this relationship finally furnished the answer to the student's question. Having suffered deprivation and even martyrdom for the sake of the freedom of their own convictions, the Pilgrims could not, in good conscience, deprive others of that very same privilege. They had determined that the adherents of all faiths should be able to celebrate this feast together without violating the religious sensitivities of anyone.

So they had decided to avoid Sunday, the Christian Sabbath, as well as Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, perhaps the logical choice, or even Friday, the Moslem Sabbath, and had chosen Thursday instead. On that day, the partisans of all the religions could join in a common outpouring of gratitude which would not interfere with their weekly Sabbath devotions.

The next day, the curious student received more than he had expected. Not only did the professor give him his answer, he also gave the whole class a new appreciation of the true meaning of religious freedom as beautifully demonstrated in American civilization. No finer example could be found.

Lower photo shows how new highway will look upon completion. This four-lane section on U.S. 31, north of Birmingham, was completed last year and Director Herman Nelson has announced it will be incorporated into new Federal Interstate System. Editor: The Florida landside of "White Folks Candidate" Spessard Holland for U. S. senator over radical Claude Pepper, who ran with the blessing of NAACP, Walter Reuther, Soapy Williams, Hubert Humphrey, Paul Butler, Javits-Celler & Co. Adam Clayton Powell et al, was the greatest news the free Democrats of the South have heard in many months. We need senators who will stand up and be counted for the Southern position. All southern senators do this except Kefauver, Sparky and Lister. They talk big at home but in Washington you can't hear a sound out of them. The labor unions and other leftwing groups must have a tight rein on them. About 85 per cent of all Alabama voters now are states' rights Democrats and they think "there should be some changes made." THE SPILLWAY

WE SAW YOU at the County Fair ...
But couldn't catch your eye ...
With glamorous views just ev'rywhere
We easily could guess why ...

THE WHOLE LAYOUT was fabulous ... 's what we think ...
Never before had we seen such farm exhibits ... Never a "more-fun" midway ... And those exciting free acts we'll remember for many a day to come ...
"Twas our first "good look" at lovely and talented Jeanne Moody ... and what a thrill to chat with her and to find her a really neighborly neighbor ...

ON THE MIDWAY we stopped to watch three charming young matrons who were keeping in tow three almost-delirious two-and-a-half-year-olds ... to see another mother prod her young son into addressing a ferris wheel attendant as SIR ... and to see the smile that wreathed "sirs" homely face ... These and many other small incidents we'll store alongside the big ones in a package distinctly marked LAUDERDALE COUNTY FAIR ... 1958 ...

A GOURMET SHOP for Florence has ... until recently ... remained a bit of wishful thinking ... Pleasant rumors during the past couple weeks are being enthusiastically received ... The location will be in Zeké Rahner's Book Shop building at 324 North Court ... Eloise Tomlinson will be the capable proprietress ... and we will be in the waiting line-up on whatever day the new shop opens ...

OTHER NEWS CENTERS about the Tomlinson home ... and the recent visit of (son) Bob and his lovely (bride) Lavinia ... who paused (enroute to the West Coast where Ensign T. has been assigned duty) long enough for the new daughter to meet and be met by family friends ... An afternoon "at home" at 825 Sherrod Avenue was the happy medium and a cherished occasion ... We shall long remember the spirit of delightful camaraderie with which we were completely surrounded ...

REAL OLD - FASHIONED neighborliness is being enjoyed by Jane and Bill Taylor (Bill's a former Florentine ... you know) in their new home just a stone's throw from Mt. Vernon in Virginia ... Carpentry having been completed on Bill's Summer project (a picket fence around their backyard premises) ... seven "thoughty" gents (wearing jeans and each with paint brush in hand) appeared at their door on a recent Saturday afternoon ... "We've come to paint" ... they announced ... and "We didn't give them time to change their minds" ... Jane-and-Bill report ... Wives and chillun were called in when the job was completed ... and Jane produced a "quickie supper" under a backyard oak ... It sounds very exactly like what we-wish-would-spread-to-Florence ...

ALWAYS GRACIOUS! Gertrude Crow bowed a formal "howdy-do" to Dottie Martin ... whom she's known from birth ... at the reception last Sunday afternoon when the Trinity Episcopal congregation honored their recently-arrived assistant rector ... John Ebaugh and (wife) Joy ... Moments later she was attempting to unravel the mystery ... It has to do with Dottie's HAIR ... and she's NOT wearing a wig ... We suggest HEADquarters for further details ...

IT HAPPENED TO HAPPEN on the new AR's birthday ... (the Welcoming Party ... that is) ... and it also happens that Barbara Robinson ... Helen Williams ... Paul Wilson and Fred Douglas are among others who were celebrating on exactly the same day ... (It's the equinox (21st) ... you know ... in case you want to mark it for remembering) ...

DOWN FROM LOUISVILLE for a look-in on mamma and papa Emma and Ben Craig ... Frances Wiggins was lovelier than ever ... And luckier than most folks ... since she caught a ride right to her very front door as she returned home along with Ann and (brother) Ben Craig, Jr. ... they journeyed to Chicago ... Ben ... we're told ... is attending a Builders' Convention ... and together ... we'll guess they're doing the town ...

THE BIG DAY'S a-comin' ... Fact is ... it's exactly one week hence ... Janet Delano will line up with other Alabama lovelies in front of the grandstand at the State Fair in Birmingham where the 1959 Maid of Cotton will be crowned ... We'll be among those present to give our Florence beauty a hand ... and we'll be lookin' for y'all ...

IT'S OFF TO WASHINGTON again for former-Florentine Elizabeth (Gregory) and (hubby) Lamar Lee ... who'd lived in Atlanta just long enough to feel settled in the lovely home they'd purchased there ... Their even lovelier home in our Capital City is being often "warmed" by friends made during a former sojourn there ... and they're again feeling at home ...

INTERESTING VISITORS to Florence town during the past weekend were two German scientists and wives from Redstone Arsenal ... They were guests of their fellow-worker ... Ann Grey ... at the home of mamma and papa Grace and Duncan on North Wood ... where a colorful afternoon was made more-so by a happenstance visit from fluent-Spanish-speaking Mary Eliza Southall ... "Not that we always knew what was being said ..." Grace is reported to've remarked to a friend ... "but it was all such fun ..." And it's been fun for us ... just hearing ...

AND NOW ... CHEERIO and goodby ... until more news comes through The Spillway ...

Leo Views the College Campus By Dottie McKae

Rat Week is still in process. Last Friday I walked into the Little Drug just as several upperclassmen stood Tonito Kilgo, Florence freshman, on a chair so that everyone in the room could hear her apology for forgetting her rat cap. Other freshmen have been asked to demonstrate the hula hoop, sing such songs as "Jingle Bells," and act as leaders for impromptu pep rallies.

Most of the campus clubs have had their organizational meetings by now. The Flor-Ala, of course, has been active since early in August; the Circle K has had its first meeting and heard a short report by representatives to the convention in Huntsville, Texas.

The BSU had a progressive dinner party for its first meeting. The evening began at the BSU Center, progressed from one church to another for the various courses, and ended at the First Baptist Church for dessert and a short religious ceremony.

The Film League, something new at FSC, showed its first presentation, "The Picture of Dorian Grey," last Wednesday. The Film League, sponsored by the English Club, has selected eight pictures, one for each month with the exception of December, from the classics of the motion picture world for presentation on the campus.

This week's Leo's Loveliest, Madeline Hillman of Florence, certainly provoked a number of flattering comments when the Flor-Ala hit the campus.

I certainly hope that Saturday is a beautiful day with no rain. Not only is there a game to be interfered with, there is also the official end of rat week—it would be a shame to have the closing ceremonies rained out. The rat rules for the first game are not out and this is really going to be fun.

The freshmen will meet, around seven, in front of Bibb Graves Hall, wearing pajamas (over their other clothing). The parade to the football stadium will form in this order — police, band, freshmen, Lionettes, and upperclassmen. Before the game, the rats will march around the field, participate in a rat race down the middle of the field, and form an honor guard through which the team will enter the field.

Freshmen will be required to sit in a special section of the bleachers, and to yell throughout the game. They must also be prepared to sing the "Alma Mater" at some point of the evening. This will be the first opportunity for the two freshman cheerleaders elected last week, Mary Butler, Florence and Elaine Perkins, Central, to prove themselves.

It will be the first opportunity for the "58 Lions to prove themselves, too. I haven't had a chance to watch practice, so I can't make any personal observations (considering my limited knowledge of the sport, I probably wouldn't have anything to say even if I had seen every practice session this fall). However, according to the sports department of the Flor-Ala, the team looks pretty good—I hope so.

A salt dome located about 40 miles North of Mobile, Alabama has brought about the development of a growing chemical industry which includes the production of synthetic fibres.

Let's Talk
Over
By
SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,
A very nice family has recently moved to Florence and Mrs. ... is well liked by my friends and I am with her very often. You'll notice that I said she is liked by my friends. I am embarrassed about the way I feel and I certainly can't understand or explain it, but the honest truth is that I don't like her at all.

It is strange, too, that while I am considered easy to get acquainted with, she seems to feel the same toward me as I do toward her. Neither of us has ever been outspoken but the fire is there whenever we're together in a group.

This feeling cropped up the very first time I was with her. What do you suppose caused it and what can I do to overcome it? I'm afraid we're making others uncomfortable.

Pat.

Dear Pat,
It's my guess that you two are experiencing a personality clash. And if this is the case, the little that can be done other than facing it and remembering that, after all, it isn't too serious. You simply can't be everybody's best buddy. And so why try?

You should certainly take care to never be openly rude. Who knows but that in the years ahead you two may become devoted friends? I assure you that I've known this exact circumstance to develop.

Dear Mrs. Saze,
I am living with my grandmother and she does not want me to go to my best friend's home because she has a 15 year-old brother. She is afraid people will say I am running after him. What do you think I should do?

My friend and I are both 14 now.

May

Dear May,
If you are not going there because of the boy I see no reason why you should stay away because of him.

You might not ever find a "best friend" if you're touchy about them having brothers. Such circumstances seem to be fairly prevalent 'round-about.

Just remember to be on the square with yourself and "people" should have no complaint.

It pays to dehorn cattle and cut boars' tusks short.

15 From County In Induction Call

State Director James W. Jones said today that 644 Alabamians will be called up for induction during the month of October to help the nation meet its quota of 11,000 men.

Jones said that the call would be composed of registrants in Class 1-A, or 1-A-O who are 22 years of age and older, and without children, and volunteers and delinquents. Fifteen will report from Lauderdale County.

In 1947 Alabama produced only 4,796,000 broilers and was given no national ranking; but by 1956 Alabama was producing 82,473,000 broilers and was fourth in the nation.

Board Reviews Salary Schedule

The salary schedule of all teachers in the Lauderdale County school system was reviewed, adjusted and approved by the Board of Education at a meeting Saturday.

In other action taken the board approved construction of a duplex apartment on school property at Rogersville, and Supt. Allen Thornton and Construction Supt. W. H. Walker instructed the proceed with the work of building this teacherage.

Supt. Thornton said a new survey of the Wilson School area was scheduled this week and will be used in lieu of an earlier one, made by the State Department of Education. The state's survey was made under the impression that Wilson School was still situated in its old location, thus giving an incorrect picture of student population in that area.

Mrs. Madge Ritter was employed as a teacher at Center Star and Cecil Armstrong at Central. Douglas Holland was elected a trustee of the Rogersville schools to succeed E. E. Patterson, who has moved from the county and Dee Robinson was elected as a bus driver.

The Board of Education meets again at 4:30 p. m. Friday.

Pvt. Thomas H. Haddock, whose wife, Emma, lives on Route 6, Florence, recently arrived in Germany and is now a member of the 3rd Armored Division.

Haddock, a tank mechanic in Headquarters Company of the division's 33rd Armor, entered the Army in February of this year and received basic training at Fort Hood, Tex.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1952 graduate of Central High School. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Haddock, live on Route 4.

Our school seems to have gotten off to a very good start this year, and we are looking forward to a good year's work.

Our first PTA meeting of the year was held recently at which time a short business meeting and social hour was enjoyed. The regular time of PTA meeting will be the first Tuesday evening of each month. We hope that all parents will keep this date in mind, and come out and be participating members with us.

PTA officers for this year are as follows: president, Mrs. Owen Murphy; vice president, Mrs. Hugh L. Rice, Jr.; secretary, Mrs. Walterine McCollough; treasurer, Norman Hall.

The room count was taken at this first meeting and the attendance banner went to the second and fifth grades who tied in attendance of parents.

Don Graham was elected as president of the fifth grade this year.

The Bookmobile has already made its first visit to our school. We appreciate this service for the pupils, and feel that it contributes much toward their growth and development in the reading of wholesome literature. Too much stress cannot be put upon the importance of reading good literature.

THE GREAT GREEN FLEET is just that! Over 85,000 cars and trucks are used by the Bell System—the largest private automotive fleet in the world. Of this total, over 10,000 of these vehicles are in use in Southern Bell's nine-state area. They're a familiar sight as they roll through the highways and byways of our land, and in times of emergency or disaster they're often first on the scene. Bearing the Southern Bell emblem, this great fleet is a symbol of progress and good telephone service to all of us wherever we live.

SAFE DRIVING is a habit. With school days underway, it's a good time for all of us to get the habit of driving carefully, especially near school zones and playgrounds. Each year traffic deaths of children alone add up to a terrible toll—a fact that should remind each of us to drive with extreme care. Drivers of telephone cars and trucks can be counted on to set a good example . . . because safe driving is part of every telephone employee's training. Southern Bell is proud of the record of its drivers who have helped earn for the Bell System the nation's top safety award for the sixth time in seven years . . . the Award of Honor by the National Safety Council.

THERE GOES DAD! Racing from the shower to answer the phone! Now wouldn't it be wonderful to have a convenient extension phone right there in the bathroom? And wherever you need them, you'll find colorful extension phones make living so much easier. In the kitchen . . . bedroom . . . den . . . enjoy extra phones where you work, sleep, live. The cost is really low. The convenience great. And, they're available in pastels and other beautiful colors. To order as many as you'd like, call our Business Office any time.

Scholarships Are Awarded To Three

The Florence State College Alumni Scholarship Committee has announced the awarding of scholarships to three FSC students who rank high in academic average. They are Max Buff, Section;

THE FLORENCE HERALD, Thursday, Sept. 25, 1958—Page 7

Frances Mann, Hodges; and Maurice Reece, Haleyville.

It is required by the Alumni Scholarship Committee that its recipients must rank high in academic achievement, must be either a junior or a senior, and must be worthy.

In announcing the awardees, the committee said that they felt that these three were perfect examples of the requirements of such a scholarship. The Alumni Scholarship Committee is John Finley, Mrs. Mary R. Hudson, and Miss Donnie May Lowry.

Alabama's principal industries are textiles, iron and steel, lumber and wood products. In mining, Alabama ranks first in the Southeast and eleventh in the nation.

NOW QUALANTITY SAVINGS

insurance—

Qualantity Savings is a philosophy of fairness, developed by The Family Fraternity . . . a new rate structure that means real, not imaginary, dollar savings on life insurance protection. With Qualantity Savings, when the quantity of protection goes up, the rate per thousand goes down, and the quality of the life insurance protection is better than ever before . . . with new, liberal accidental death benefits and other new features.

Here's how Qualantity Savings puts money in your pocket:

At age 30, for $2,000 whole life insurance, under the new rate structure, you save $3.89 per thousand over the annual rate for $1,000, a total savings of $7.78 per year. For $3,000 of exactly the same insurance, you save $5.19 per thousand . . . $15.67 a year. With Qualantity Savings, by purchasing a $10,000 certificate you save $7.00 per thousand . . . an annual saving of $70. For any and all kinds of term, whole life, limited payment, and endowment coverages, similar savings apply. Your local Woodmen Representative will be happy to explain this new concept in life insurance to you.

This TOO is Texas Eastern

Shipping petroleum products from Gulf Coast to Midwest

The Little Big Inch Division of Texas Eastern is a common-carrier of petroleum products. Its 1800-mile system links Gulf Coast, Ark-La-Tex and Mid-Continent refineries with steadily growing markets in 13 states.

Refined petroleum products, such as aviation and motor gasoline . . . jet and tractor fuels . . . heating and burner oils and liquefied butane and propane, move through the line from points as far south as Sweeney, Baytown and Beaumont, Texas, to points as far north as Chicago and as far east as Lebanon, Ohio.

The completion, last month, of the 1,100,000-barrel terminal at Lebanon, Ohio, marked the ninth storage point placed into service along the Little Big Inch since its conversion from the transportation of natural gas. The system now provides storage capacity of more than ten million barrels: 6,100,000 barrels owned by Texas Eastern and approximately 4,000,000 by shippers. In addition, the system has access to nine terminals in the Chicago area.

To further expand the service and capacity of the system, the Little Big Inch Division is mining the first of several caverns at Todhunter Terminal south of Middletown, Ohio. Mined out of solid rock 350 feet below the surface, the caverns will store LPGas for distribution throughout Southern Ohio and neighboring areas. The capacity of the initial cavern will be 150,000 barrels.

The Little Big Inch Division gives added versatility to Texas Eastern's operations. Its common-carrier pipeline system, one of the nation's largest, provides a dependable, economical means of delivering clean petroleum products—in surplus in the Southwest—to the Midwest where the demand for these products is increasing from year to year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When the gears of a machine mesh together in motion, things begin to happen. Wheels turn, and power is transmitted to every part of the mechanism. Prayer is something like that. Individual prayer is a vital and sacred thing. Each of us has moments when we—and we alone—must turn to God.

And collective prayer—mass prayer—can be a tremendous force for good too. It is as if thousands of "spiritual gears" suddenly were meshed together into a unit directed by a single purpose.

On Worldwide Communion Sunday, remember the power of collective prayer. Join with your neighbors throughout the globe by attending church and praying both for peace and for each other.

Refund Deadline For Gasoline Tax

Farmers Urged To File Claims By September 30 On Purchases Of Fuel

Taxpayers have until September 30 to file claims for refund of Federal excise taxes paid on certain gasoline purchases from July 1, 1957 to June 30, 1958, George D. Patterson, District Director of Internal Revenue announced today.

The Director said farmers who purchased gasoline during that time for use on the farm are entitled to refund of the full 3 cents a gallon tax by filing Form 2240.

Other taxpayers, he said, who purchased gasoline for nonhighway use may claim refund of 1 cent a gallon by filing Form 843.

Mr. Patterson said taxpayers who file by mail must have their claims postmarked no later than September 30.

The Director said helpful information about these two refund provisions of the law can be found in Internal Revenue Service booklets, "Farmer's Gas Tax Refund," Publication Number 308 (6-58), and "Federal Gas Tax Refund for Nonhighway and Transit Users," Publication Number 378 (6-58).

He said these booklets and claim forms can be obtained from any Internal Revenue Office.

Fine Corn Yield Foreseen, But Crop Could Be 'Lost' In Crib, Agent Warns

By HERMAN H. MARKS
Assistant County Agent

Lauderdale County farmers, faced with the happy prospect of an extremely fine yield, will begin harvesting corn within the next few weeks. Many of them will store a part of their corn, if not all of it, to be fed to livestock in the coming months.

But if these farmers are not to "lose" their crop after it leaves the field, they must take steps to store it properly to keep insects from damaging the grain.

A good way to prevent insects from damaging corn in storage is to (1) make crib air tight as possible; (2) spray inside crib with a mixture of 2 pounds of 50% DDT, TDE, or methoxychlor in 5 gallons of water; (3) harvest corn as soon as dry; (4) fumigate in fall if needed and again in spring.

The following fumigants are recommended: A 3-1 mixture of ethylene, 1,000 cubic feet in steel bins or 7 1/2 gallons in tight wooden bins or cribs. Another recommended fumigant is a 4-1 mixture of carbon tetrachloride and carbon bromide applied at the rate of 1 pound per 1,000 cubic feet in still bins or 1 1/4 pound in wooden bins or cribs. Keep building closed at least 48 hours.

Synergized pyrethrins or premium grade malathion may be used in shelled corn or other grains.

Apparel Market's Cotton Demand Shows Increase

An increase in the apparel market led the way toward a general rise in cotton consumption during the ten years ending in 1956.

According to the National Cotton Council, cotton scored a gain of more than 7.26 million bales in the apparel market during that time. In 1947, cotton held 56 per cent of the market, in terms of raw cotton equivalent, with consumption estimated at 2.7 million bales. By 1956, cotton held 61 per cent of the apparel market with consumption estimated at more than four million bales. These figures are contained in "Cotton Counts Its Customers—Special Edition," a report just released by the Council's market research section. It contains cotton consumption estimates on more than 400 end uses.

The publication reports that cotton consumption in the United States, in the end uses covered in the study, increased from almost 7.5 million bales in 1947 to more than 8.1 million bales in 1956. In 1939, before the National Cotton Council's programs to increase cotton consumption through research and promotion were inaugurated, only 6.6 million bales of cotton were consumed in these end uses. The report shows that cotton expanded in the household uses market although its share of the market declined somewhat. Consumption in this field in 1947 was slightly more than two million bales, while in 1956 it had climbed to almost 2.5 million bales. Cotton's share of the household market declined, however, from 56 to 52 per cent.

Cotton Harvest Halted By Rain In Shoals Area

Rains throughout the Shoals area last week halted cotton picking for several days and gunners and extension officials expressed concern over weather conditions since last year's wet harvest season caused heavy damage to cotton.

L. T. Wagon, Lauderdale County agent, said last week that many farmers had stopped dusting cotton too soon resulting in serious damage by weevil and worms to the bolls. While he said cotton would dry out in about 24 hours if no more rain fell, fields would be too muddy for picking for several more days.

Early grades and staples of cotton are very good this year and well above the 1957 average, officials stated, however it was felt that if more rains fell it could reduce the quality. Recent rains have been general, it was stated. Little picking has been done since Tuesday of last week.

"Where's the new highway going, mister?"

That's a good question, son!

A LOT MORE than a youngster's idle curiosity is at stake in the answer to this question. The location of a new superhighway can vitally affect — for all time — the future industrial development of a community.

Often, vacant land along a railroad is ideally suited for industry. Factories locating on it create new home-town job opportunities and new sources of local tax revenue. The land when thus put to industrial use becomes a valuable community asset.

Certainly, no forward-looking civic planner would intentionally do anything to destroy this asset. But, through oversight, it can be wiped out completely and forever by locating the new highway too close to the railroad. When this is done, the highway blocks off easy, economical access to the rail service that most industries must have.

On the other hand, when an adequate strip of land is left between the existing railroad and the proposed superhighway, the land becomes doubly attractive to industry. Then it can offer modern rail service on one side and a modern highway on the other.

Good planning when the new highway is still on the drawing board will mean lasting benefits to you and your community.
