Hospital Board's Request Approved By City Officials

Judge Estes R. Flynt To Recommend Cooperation Of County In Project

Following an over-all study of the plans and progress of the additions of the two new wings to Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital by the Board of Governors at the monthly meeting of the group, a request for additional funds to frame-in the fourth floor of the south wing was made to the governing bodies of the City of Florence and Lauderdale County. The additional sum required is $50,000 and Probate Judge Estes R. Flynt and Mayor E. F. Martin agreed to place this request before their respective groups as it was shown that considerable money could be saved if this was done during the current construction. It was also pointed out by Architect A. L. Northington and Hospital Administrator R. C. Barnes that this addition would add much to the appearance of the hospital.

The commissioners of the City of Florence approved their portion of $25,000 and Judge Flynt advised this newspaper that he would recommend the same sum to be appropriated by the county at the meeting of the County of County Commissioners at the regular session Monday, April 27. He stated that he felt certain that the commissioners would go along with this matching fund of $25,000 which means so much to the hospital program. The interior would be completed at a later date, it was shown.

Specialist Will Discuss Food Costs

Miss Dorothy Overby, Specialist in Consumer Education, Alabama Extension Service, will be in Florence, April 24, to discuss reducing food costs through wise buying.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in the curb market kitchen.

Since meat requires a major share of the food dollar, special emphasis will be placed on wise selection of meats. Miss Sara F. Conner, Home Demonstration Agent, says all homemakers interested in this subject are invited to attend.

L. T. Wagnon Stresses Need For Dairy Program

John Parrish Points Out Important Part Played In State Agriculture

Under the direction of L. T. Wagnon, county agent, a meeting was held at the Municipal Building last Friday attended by bankers, business and farm leaders of Lauderdale County, on the promotion of manufactured milk production.

Mr. Wagnon pointed out that Alabama and specifically Lauderdale County is well adapted to grazing land and the dairy and milk business. He asked that everyone present contribute some thought to the furthering of dairying in the county, thus bringing in additional revenue.

John Parrish, extension dairyman from Auburn, the initial speaker at the meeting, pointed out that dairy farming is an important part of Alabama Agriculture. He said that in 1958, dairying ranked fifth with an estimated income of $44.9 million. Dairying in Alabama ranks 19th in number of milk cows with 324,000 herd, ranks 47th in production per cow, 30th in total milk production, 1,089,000,000 in 1958, ranks 47th in percent of total dairy cows keeping records on farms, and 46th in DHIA herd average with 6,518 pounds per cow in 1958. He said that including the Aleutian Islands, Alabama would rank 51st in average per cow production per day with a 5.5 pound average.

Howard Jones, of Shoals Cheese Corporation pointed out that there is a ready market in Florence at the Cheese Corporation and that it could do a 2½ million dollar business a year, with present equipment, "if we could get the volume business."

Parrish pointed out that we could expand the industry in Lauderdale County by modernizing production methods, these being:

1. Using of Elevated or pit parlors milking barns.

2. Using of milking machines.

3. Harvesting more quality roughage—self feed roughages.

4. Increasing herd to maximum land available.

5. Producing better cows—breed to proven bulls.

Mr. Wagnon praised the moving of many industries into Alabama but also pointed out that in a county where he had previously worked that when a comparison was taken it showed that businesses received more income through farm money than through industry. He said "that if farming is that important to our local economy, then it is most necessary for us to keep the farmer farming. By bringing a greater dairying program into the county we can insure prosperity for all concerned."

New Firm Buys
Funeral Homes

Chisholm Funeral Home and Brown Service of Florence, operated by William R. Chisholm and Jewell Archer, respectively have been sold to Stanley Elkins of Florence and Joe Morrison of Decatur.

They will be consolidated at the Chisholm Funeral Home at 1535 Hermitage Drive under the name of Elkins-Morrison Funeral Home.

The transaction with Chisholm was officially completed Saturday night and with Archer Monday.

Both Archer and Chisholm had been in the undertaking business here for a number of years. Neither has said whether he will retire.

Mr. Morrison is a native of Anniston. He was associated with the Mutual Service Funeral Home in Decatur for 10 years and for the public relations department of Mutual Savings Life Insurance Company. Elkins is a native of Tusculum. He had been associated with Brown Service of Florence since 1942 and its manager since 1950.

Occasionally advertisers wonder if their displays in the newspapers bring the desired results. One day two businessmen met on a downtown street and in the conversation one asked: "Is your advertising getting results?" "It sure is," moaned the second. "Last week we advertised for a night watchman and that night we were robbed."

If absence really made the heart grow fonder, a lot of people would miss church more than any place in the world.

The modern young wife was having her first house party. The guests had finished eating and the dishes were stacked high in the kitchen, when suddenly the hostess rushed into the livingroom and gasped: "I just blew a fuse; anybody here know how to wash dishes by hand?"

'Straw Vote' Light In City Election

Proposal To Change
To Council-Manager
Defeated 633 To 545

A small turnout at the polls on Tuesday indicated a decided lack of interest in the "straw vote" on proposed changes in Florence city government. The ballot proposed the question of whether or not the people desired such a change and presented two preferences: one that would change the form of city government to the council-manager plan and the other to that of full time mayor, retaining the commission form of government. Only 1,178 votes were cast, 633 being for a full time mayor and 545 for the council-manager plan.

The count, box by box follows:

Box 1, Courthouse: council plan 96, mayor 46.

Box 2, Dept. Pensions & Security: council plan 43, mayor 56.

Box 3, Gilbert School: council 89, mayor 58.

Horsfield Retires
Reynolds Director

Three New Directors Elected At Company's Annual Meeting

Basil Horsfield, senior Reynolds official at Listerhill is retiring as a director of Reynolds Metals Company. He will continue as a vice president of the aluminum firm until his company retirement expected at the end of this year.

Mr. Horsfield joined Reynolds in 1940 after 18 years with the Aluminum Company of America following by executive positions with several metallurgical and chemical firms.

He selected the Listerhill plant site on the outskirts of Sheffield for the first Reynolds aluminum producing plant. Today the Listerhill site has the largest and most varied plant complex in all the world-wide operations of Reynolds Metals Company.

Mr. Horsfield supervised the design and construction of the original Reynolds Listerhill reduction plant and served as plant manager during the early 1940's.

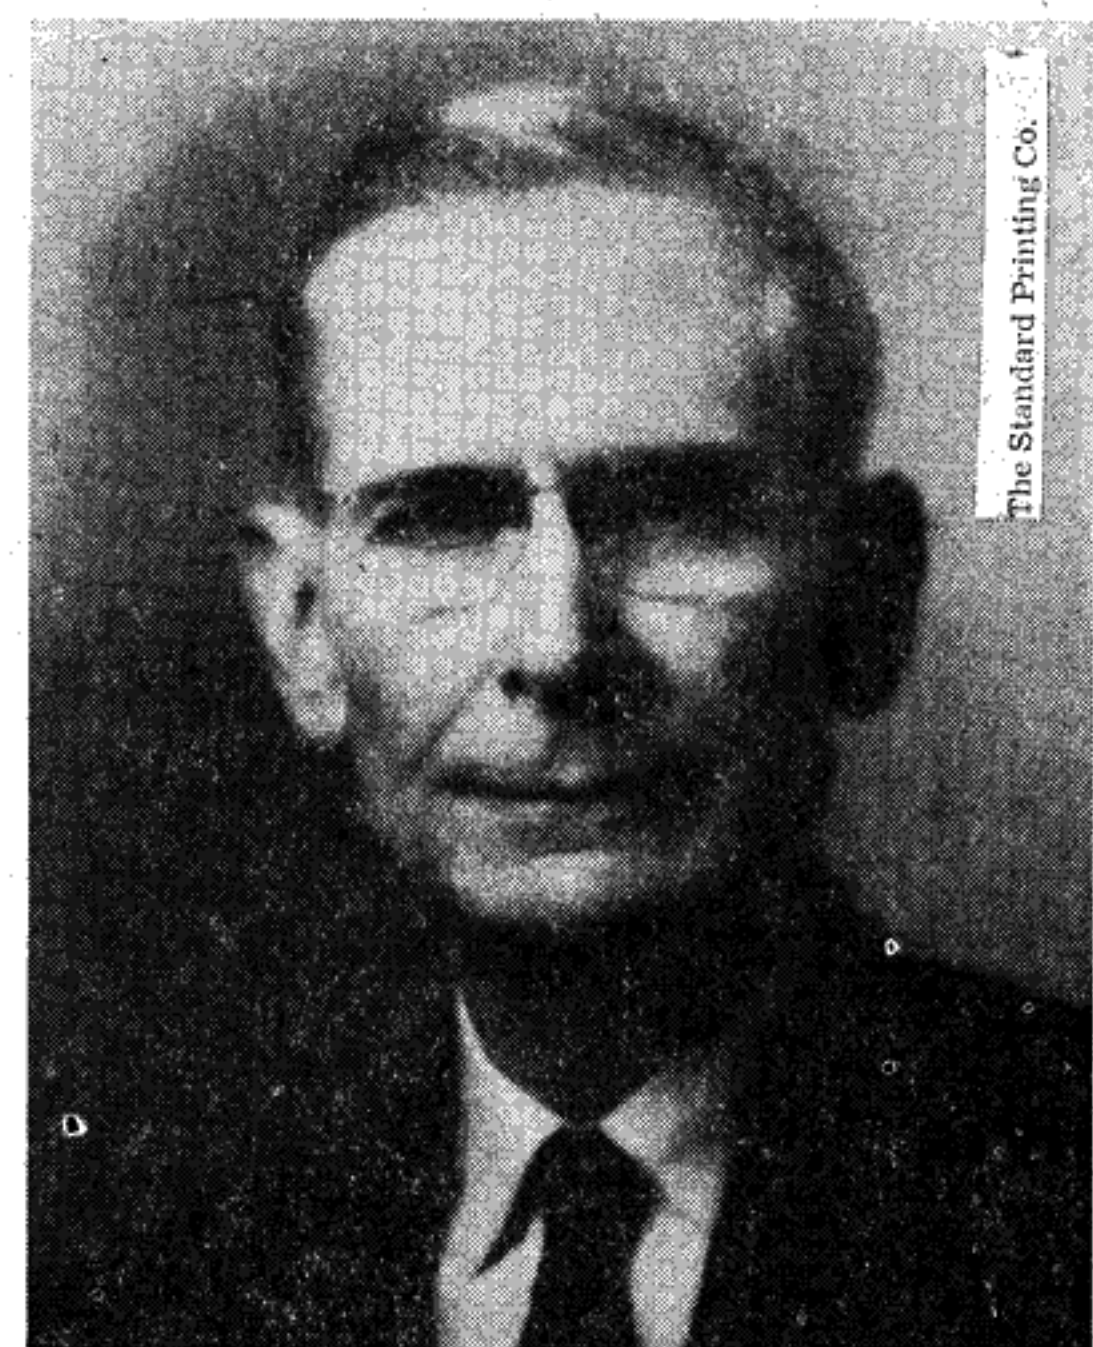

Until a few years ago he headed the expanding firm's alumina and aluminum producing operations and since then has had overall direction of the reduction research headquarters at the Listerhill site, in addition to his corporate responsibilities.

Three new directors were elected at the company's annual meeting of common stockholders at Richmond, Va., today to succeed Mr. Horsfield and two other retiring directors, Marion M. Caskey and John A. Robertshaw.

New board members are William T. Brunot, controller; Allyn Dillard, corporate secretary; and Gustav B. Margraf, general solicitor. Mr. Brunot served as plant accountant and later plant controller during World War Two at the Reynolds Alloys Company, now the Reynolds Metals Company Alloys Plant at Listerhill.

Ban On Nuclear Tests Proposed By President

Note Sent To Khrushchev Would Affect Explosions Below 30 Miles

Official sources Tuesday revealed that President Eisenhower appealed directly to Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev to put an end to nuclear testing. A first stage agreement to outlaw tests below an altitude of 30 miles, it was said, would ease tensions among the negotiators seeking a way to halt weapons testing.

Mr. Eisenhower's proposal to the Kremlin was made public Monday as the President arrived for a two-weeks vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga. The note was revealed, however, only after a Soviet official talked about it in Geneva where the East-West talks are being held.

The letter was actually sent to Khrushchev on April 13, the same day that negotiations started and the U. S. proposal was outlined. Mr. Eisenhower said he thought even a partial agreement would be better than none. The East-West talks had been blocked since last October until the April meeting was approved. He added that the negotiations should not be permitted completely to fail.

He said a simplified control system to detect any test explosions could be easily developed from expert recommendations already at hand. Test explosions, it was explained, cause more radiation fallout than those conducted underground or in outer space. These two types would not come under the proposed ban on the East and West are trying to reach an agreement on. Eisenhower said negotiators could continue to work toward a general ban.

The President's action was praised by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Frank Church (D-Idaho) who said it means that the newest proposal is not a tactical maneuver calculated to give us some transient advantage at the conference table, but is a serious proposition, earnestly made.

Gore said even if turned down the U. S. should ban all tests in the atmosphere for perhaps 3 years and invite the Soviets to do likewise.

Pinegar Fund
Short Of Goal

Bill Mays, general manager of the Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation, who started the Pinegar fund, said Tuesday it will cost $200 more than has been collected to pay the expense of burying Elza and Ronald Pinegar.

Though about $300 was left in the bank after Ronald's funeral was paid for, that amount—and more—was already committed to defray his father's burial expense.

The Pinegar fund is administered by the First National Bank of Florence. Contributions may be deposited there, or may be taken or mailed to either the Florence or the Sheffield office of Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation.

Mrs. John M. Slaughter and family of Birmingham, arrived today to attend the Powell School dedication.

MAGAZINES NEEDED

Muscle Shoals Regional Library announces that magazines are needed for the bookmobile service. Anyone who has magazines to donate may contact the library at Telephone At 2-6563 and a member of the staff will pick them up. Or anyone who finds it possible to bring the magazines in their own car, they may be left at the Florence-Lauderdale Public Library, The Sheffield Public Library, The Leighton Public Library and the Helen Keller Library, Tusculum.

At the same time as Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation was granted its latest microwave channel, it was authorized to change lower locations from Colbert Heights to Florence. This would improve the quality of the signal.

Mays pointed out that many of the programs on Channel 10 originate at the University of Alabama, and that it has been recognized nationally for its quality. "It has been featured in 'TV Guide' and other publications as being one of the leading networks of its type," he said.

"I would like very much to receive comments from others hereabouts—laymen, whose only interest in the educational channel would be in watching it, and those such as educators—who are interested in it professionally," Mays continued.

Educational TV stations presently are located only in the larger metropolitan areas, and it is highly unlikely that a region the size of Muscle Shoals, in point of population, could support one. So only cable TV can bring educational TV to local viewers.

"I hope viewer support for our plan will enable us to bring into Muscle Shoals homes one of the most informative and pleasurable advantages of big-city living," Mays said in summing up his support for the addition of Channel 10.

At the same time as Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation was granted its latest microwave channel, it was authorized to change lower locations from Colbert Heights to Florence. This would improve the quality of the signal.

Can Herter Pass The Test?

To err is human and John Foster Dulles, like everyone else made his share of mistakes. However, let it be said, that Mr. Dulles' mistakes were mistakes of the mind and not the heart. His intentions have always been motivated by a high purpose and an unquestionable integrity. Moreover Mr. Dulles had a capacity for work seldom seen in a single human being. No one in the history of this nation travelled as many miles or took part in as many conferences as the indefatigable secretary of state. Such a man will be hard to replace and only time will tell if Christian Herter is the man to fill Dulles' shoes.

Even if Christian Herter does a good job in the nation's number two post, it is likely he will employ a far different technique from Mr. Dulles. He will probably stick more closely to his department and delegate authority, something Mr. Dulles did not do, although he did increasingly rely on Mr. Herter, his undersecretary, after his first serious bout with cancer last year.

Christian Herter, those in the know say, is a man with a tremendous capacity for getting things done and a man, moreover, with an excellent grasp on foreign problems, particularly the Berlin crisis. Herter will go to the summit meeting if such a meeting is held this summer and it is already known that he will attend the Big Four Ministers' meet in May. It will be a test of Herter's ability to cope diplomatically with some of the world's most adroit foreign diplomats and at the same time it will enable them to also size up the man we have decided will replace Mr. Dulles. It will take first class statesmanship to measure up to this test even though we will likely make no basic changes in our foreign policy.

Mr. Herter's big job, as the man in the street sees it, will be to maintain the accord and solidarity among the Western Powers as achieved by Mr. Dulles. If Mr. Herter does this he will have passed the test and then some.

We Are Spending Too Much

Is Congress coming to its senses with respect to spending? That probably is too much to hope for but it is an encouraging sign nevertheless that a token effort at least is being made to curb the dangerously accelerating inflation onrush of government spending.

In fact it was the President himself who "took the bull by the horns" by bringing up the matter of a balanced budget. There is nothing Mr. Eisenhower and GOP party leaders would like better than a balanced budget, on paper at least, a year before the national elections . . . and too Mr. Eisenhower also realizes the folly of a continued program of reckless spending which inevitably calls for more and more taxation.

Now if there is anything more dangerous to the party in power than the levying of additional taxes on the people, it is hard to find. Nothing renders a political party more unpopular than any sort of an extra tax. And so Mr. Eisenhower has put up a warning sign that definitely said "slow down on spending."

Last week the House blocked the Housing Bill which would have added $300 million more to spending but it still may pass as it is a popular vote getter for Congressmen living in places where Housing needs a shot in the arm by rich Uncle Sam.

So Mr. Eisenhower, knowing Congress' proclivity for spending . . . the Senate adding 24 per cent to its spending bills and the House 12 per cent . . . is in a bit of a dilemma where saving is concerned much less having a chance to balance the budget in the next two years.

However there is one thing as sure as rain and taxes and that is another big surge in the cost of living if spending isn't curbed, and soon. The rise in the cost of living may, unfortunately, be accompanied by a still further decline in the value of the dollar.

The storm signals are up and Congress should take heed and make some effort to batten down the hatches. If not the next recession might really reach serious proportions.

HD Leaders Attend Leadership School

"Putting yourself in the other person's shoes" was the definition Miss Elita Majors gave for the word empathy when she met with the home demonstration leaders recently.

As Family Life Specialist with the Alabama Extension Service, Miss Majors used this definition as a part of a discussion on Personal Improvement through improving ones relationships with others. She stressed the importance of growing toward one's best potentials—keeping negative feelings and attitudes to a minimum and letting positive feelings be dominant. The philosophy, not where we are but where we are going, in ones own development and in the development of children was also discussed.

Home demonstration leaders who attended this leadership school and will give this demonstration in the clubs in May were the mesdames: Albert McConnell, C. M. Goode, Powell; John Patterson, Olen Patterson, Stony Point; L. B. Bernauer, Jerome Bernauer, St. Florian; Browning Snoddy, Henrie Tate, Whitehead; James H. Parker, Corrine Campbell, Center Star; Woodven Wright, J. H. Simons, Seven Points; A. D. Balanced Budget Not An Issue

Snark Tested Tuesday

A blazing Snark intercontinental guided missile streaked over the horizon Tuesday on the start of a round trip test flight. The missile is the first truly intercontinental weapon that will be in the hands of U. S. troops. The launching was aimed at a trip 900 miles down the Atlantic range. Then, if all went well, the 69-foot Snark would reverse direction and head back for a smooth landing at the Cape.

Draftsman Resists Deportation

The immigration service again is ordering the deportation of William Heikkila, a one-armed draftsman it rustled off to Finland and then had to return. Heikkila, who has lived in this nation all but 2½ months of his 53 years, said he would appeal the ruling in the courts. He has been resisting deportation for 11 years.

TV Cable

prove reception for all TV cable subscribers.

In the words of Helmut Dieter, Chief Technician of the system, "Everyone's picture will be better, because the signal will be fed into the center of the system, instead of being fed into one end, as it now is."

Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation has estimated it will cost nearly $200,000 to complete three projects now underway which will provide better pictures and give local cable-TV viewers five channels to choose among, instead of the three they now watch.

The projects: Relocation of the present receiving tower, at Colbert Heights. Construction of a new, 300-foot tower in Florence.

Addition of a new microwave receiving and transmitting station at Newburg Mountain, near Russellville.

"We want Muscle Shoals to have what it wants, and that is why we are asking for the views of others, our subscribers and non-subscribers alike, on this matter of educational television," Mays reiterated.

Rehearsal Club Presents Play

'The Cherry Orchard' Scheduled At Florence State April 28-30

The Florence State Rehearsal Club, under the direction of Miss Gladys Shepard, will present, "The Cherry Orchard," by Anton Chekhov, at 8 the nights of April 28, 29, and 30, in Kilby Auditorium.

In order to make "The Cherry Orchard" the best possible production all available resources are being used in Florence State's presentation of this extremely difficult play.

Mrs. Bertha Klenova, former translator for TVA and a native of Russia, met with the Rehearsal Club to discuss the historical background of the play and to teach Russian pronunciation. She also explained Russian personality and social prejudices and customs.

Dr. Jesse Reese, of the Florence State English department, has been helping with interpretation of individual line and understanding of the meaning of the play as a whole. In addition to assisting with interpretation he has taught the group the Viennese waltz which they will dance in the ballroom scene.

Authentic Russian dress has been ordered from Eaves Theatrical Costume Company for every member of the large cast.

A dimmer system will be used to increase the effectiveness of regulating the mood of the scene. Doyle Pace will operate the dimmers.

Judging from the quality of the rehearsals so far, "The Cherry Orchard" promises to be a fine production.

Recent Graduate Addresses ROTC Students At FSC

In furtherance of a program of having recent ROTC graduates address advanced ROTC students, 2d Lt. Raymond O. Lindsey talked to all advanced ROTC cadets while on leave from the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Lindsey's remarks to the cadets were concerned primarily with the Army School System, initial duties at school and at the first unit, and his own experience as both a student officer and unit officer. He stated that while the Army Schools were demanding, with study and effort on the individual's part, any newly commissioned officer can establish a good initial record. It should be noted that in a class including graduates of many famous Eastern Colleges, Lindsey's final standing was 17 of 47 officers in the class.

On active duty for two years, Lindsey, his wife, the former Geraldine Nash of Sheffield, and their small son are currently living at Fort Bragg.

Haltom Report Is Accepted 15 To 10

Recommendations On Reapportionment Has Chance For Approval

The Haltom Subcommittee's final recommendations on a majority report prepared on reapportionment of the State Legislature was presented to an interim committee on revision of laws on April 10 and was accepted by the committee by a vote of 15 to 10. It will be presented to the Legislature at the body's next session, it was stated.

State Senator E. B. Haltom, Jr., of Lauderdale and Limestone, is chairman of the committee, whose other members are Representatives E. K. Hanby, John A. Murphy, Homer W. Cornett and Henry B. Steagall, II. Sen. Haltom was joined by Murphy and Hanby in compiling the majority report.

Included in the final recommendations was a proposed reapportionment measure which a majority of the subcommittee concluded would be fair and equitable and which, in its opinion, would have an excellent opportunity of being approved by the necessary three-fifths of the Legislature.

The recommendations of the Haltom Sub-committee favor reapportionment on a population basis and refer to the Alabama constitution of 1901, which provides that "representation in the Legislature shall be based on population." "Representatives shall be apportioned by the legislature among the several counties of the state, according to the number of inhabitants in them." "It shall be the duty of the legislature to define by law the number of representatives and apportion them among the several counties according to the number of inhabitants in them respectively."

Mr. Haltom's sub-committee reported that it had given consideration to recommendations of the Joint Reapportionment Committee report of October, 1950, which in summary recommended the bracket system for apportionment of the House on the following basis:

1. Counties of under 40,000 population, one representative.
2. Counties of population from 40,000 to 60,000, two representatives.
3. Counties with populations of more than 60,000 but not more than 130,000, three representatives.
4. Counties with populations of more than 130,000, but not more than 225,000, four representatives.
5. Counties with populations of more than 225,000 but not more than 500,000, five representatives.
6. Counties with populations over 500,000, ten representatives.

This report further recommends a continuation of the 35 member Senate, and a redistricting of the Senate on the following basis: that the counties of Jefferson, Mobile and Montgomery would constitute a senatorial district. The remaining 64 counties would be divided into 32 two-county districts. The senator from each two-county district would be elected first from one county and then from the other by the voters of both counties.

Englehardt

ed out the access this highway would give to employees from this area at the new paper mill soon to be constructed at Counce, Tenn., only two miles from Hickwick Dam, was important.

In the discussion of the progress being made on the four-lane Highway 72 between Florence and Athens, Mr. Englehardt said that all of this was authorized and should be completed in approximately a year and a half.

A. L. Britt, who is in charge of all highways and roads in Lauderdale county for the State Highway Department, was present at all committee meetings and gave added information on each project for Mr. Englehardt and the committee's information. He pointed out the feasibility of each project and the progress made on each.

William A. White, city engineer of Florence, gave details of the survey made relative to the North-South route proposed by the City Commission and is working with Mr. Britt and the State Highway Department on this program.

J. A. Keller, chairman, of the C. of C. bridge committee and his members and Mr. McBurney and his highway committee cooperated with the city and county officials in presenting the local picture to Mr. Englehardt.

Pledges Support

Mr. Englehardt, showing interest in each project, pledged his full support to the entire program and ordered studies made on the North-South traffic correction route in the city; the badly needed bridge project that would cure the existing traffic problems between the cities of Florence, Sheffield, Muscle Shoals City and government reservations, and the new highway proposed for West Lauderdale county. The Highway 72 project is already assured, he pointed out.

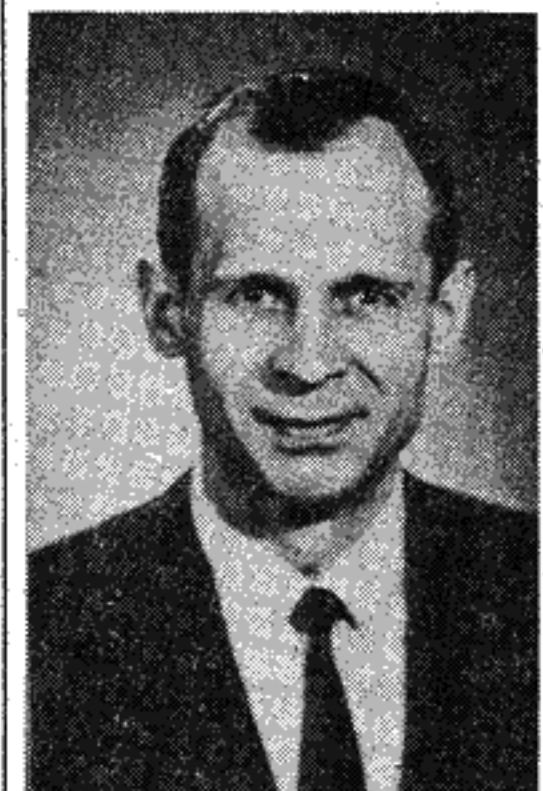

Realizing the importance of each project shown Mr. Englehardt, the State Highway Director's earnest support of each could be the difference in much of the future progress of Florence and Lauderdale county.

Leo Views the College Campus

By DOTTIE McRAE

What an awful thing to get up at seven to get to an eight o'clock class and find out that the instructor isn't coming to class. And after climbing all the way to the third floor. You can't win.

As May Day draws closer, everything is falling into place on schedule, or at least almost on schedule. The queen and her court have been elected. Betty Aderholt, Haleyville senior and Betty Jean Miller, Killen senior, are queen and maid of honor.

Senior members of the court are Barbara Brown, Paris, Tenn.; and Gerda Newton, Vina. Representing the junior class are Jane Blair, Florence, and Sue Cox, Stevenson. The sophomore and freshman classes each have one member on the court. Madeline Hillman, Florence, and Nell Wade, Phil Campbell, respectively.

Three Florence State seniors have won graduate school awards this spring. Doug Crawford, Birmingham, has an assistantship to the University of Miami. Jimmy Hooper of Russellville was awarded a national Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to Auburn. The latest, Peggy Norton, Town Creek, has accepted an assistantship to the University of Tennessee.

We had another election last week, in which Joan White, Robert Steen, Mary Butler, Elaine Perkins, Andy Moore, and Jane Tume were elected Florence State cheerleaders.

Have you seen the campus yet? If you haven't, you have really missed something. It's past its peak now, the dogwoods are turning green, now and the trees have lost their feathery look. It is still beautiful, but a couple of weeks ago it was breath - taking.

Did you know? The new Florida officers have been chosen. Wayne Collier will succeed Maurice Reece as executive editor and Nancy Hale takes my place as associate editor. Weldon Cole will continue as business manager. The golf team has, I hope, begun winning. At least, last week they defeated Howard in Birmingham, and Sewanee here. About the baseball team I am thoroughly confused, but I'm fairly sure they have won more than they have lost.

ALABAMA MAY CALL BECKONS 252 YOUTHS

The May national call is for 6,000 men.

SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,
My grandmother was bedridden during her last years and, after a spell of flu, she seemed to be stone deaf. She kept a tablet and pencil by her bed and we wrote down whatever we wanted to say to her.

She was a great care to us and my older sister (thinking grandma couldn't hear her) often made remarks about it. She'd say things about being tired of nursing, and that it looked like old Money Bags going to outlast us all.

Well, grandma never let on that she was hearing. And we didn't know 'til her will was read. She said she was real sorry to have acted a hypocrite, but that she was just dead set on leaving her money to somebody who was on the up and up, and she knew if she acted like she was deaf she'd find out some things for sure.

So she left every penny, house and all, to me and a neighbor who helped look after her.

This has caused my sister to feel very hard toward me. She seems to think I influenced grandma, and she tells every body who'll listen, that she was double-crossed by her own blood kin.

Do you think I should split with her? I don't believe she's going to let me enjoy one penny if I don't.

Deeply Hurt.
First of all, I urge that you make no quick decision. Your grandmother certainly deliberated at great length and I'd like to think that you'll respect the conclusion which she reached.

Tell your sister that SHE is the one who influenced "grandma," not you.

If your inheritance is a sizable one, I think you might assure your sister that you will never let her want for necessities and that you will take care of her in case of illness or disability.

After that commitment, I think you should shake away from the "deeply hurt" role and lead a full and worthwhile life.

Dear Sara Saze,
We have bought a place with a small, shady yard and we wouldn't part with a single tree but would like to know what flowers will do well here.

Aren't there lots of things that grow and bloom in the shade? A Reader.

Dear Reader,
If your soil is right, you should be able to grow lilies of the valley.

Hill Says Cotton Acreage Measure To Provide Relief

Disappointed That Bill Is Limited But Benefits Will Payoff in 1960

Senator Lister Hill last week hailed Senate passage of a cotton acreage lease agreement bill, which he says will "provide some measure of relief where it is most needed—among the small farmers who want to stay in cotton production."

The bill, as it passed the Senate, is a modified version of a lease transfer measure introduced earlier this session by Senators Hill and Sparkman. It provides authority for one year lease of allotments for use on other farms within the same country. The bill provides that allotments may be leased only from farmers with quotas of ten acres or less and may not be used on any farm on which the total allotment would then exceed fifty acres.

"It is regrettable that these limitations were imposed," said Senator Hill, "but the Senate Agriculture Committee felt that they were necessary to overcome Benson opposition and possibly a Presidential veto."

The bill in its present form would be limited to a three-year "test run" extending through the crop years 1959, 1960 and 1961. The legislation still is pending in the House of Representatives and it is doubtful the bill can be passed in time to benefit growers this year. If finally approved, however, its benefits undoubtedly will be felt in 1960, according to Senator Hill.

"The major beneficiary of this legislation is the small farmer whose allotment has been cut under the Eisenhower-Benson Republican Administration to the point where it is useless—the bill helps this man to acquire enough acreage from those not going back into production to create a production unit that will make his planting worthwhile," said Senator Hill. "It will enable the small farmer to obtain credit, buy machinery, and modernize his farm programs."

"The legislation offers no cure-all. It is another stop-gap measure and does not lessen the need for a complete overhaul of the government control program," emphasized the senior Alabama Senator.

Population Gain In South Due

Senator John Sparkman predicted in weekend radio broadcasts that the 1970 census will show the South's population again in a rapid upswing after recovering the lost momentum that will probably be indicated for the South in the 1960 census.

Sparkman said that the 1960 census will show that the South is not increasing in its population as fast as the country as a whole. He stated that he did not believe that this situation "holds any serious problem for the South."

Citing Alabama as an example, he pointed out that a great part of Alabama has been converted "from row crops into cattle and dairy lands."

"Now, the people who work those crops, many of them, have migrated to other sections of the country to get jobs," Sparkman observed. "But since that time, and now, within the last few years, we have been getting a great many industries in Alabama, and I think this is true throughout the South generally."

"So I think we are going to see that population rebuilt," he predicted.

distance of Childersburg, Montgomery, Atlanta, and other important southeastern cities.

The plant is a modern, multi-million dollar one formerly the Muscle Shoals Chlorine - Caustic Soda Plant, and was acquired by Diamond Alkali Company in 1954.

The Diamond facility is a part of the growing complex of industry in the Tri-Cities area, which includes aluminum, chemicals, textiles, rubber, electrometallurgy, alloys, and numerous other industries attracted by plentiful water, low-cost power, and the combination of river transportation and a good network of railways and highways.

Diamond was an old and respected name in the chemical field long before it acquired the Muscle Shoals plant in 1954. Its basic chemicals have been supplied to industry for more than half a century.

Soda ash and caustic soda — basic alkalies — were the first products, but other products were added as the company grew and industrial needs increased. Diamond now produces an integrated family of chemical products for industry, including agricultural chemicals, organic and specialty chemicals, calcium carbonates, cement, coke and coke by-products, plastics, chromates and others.

Diamond chemicals are supplied to many branches of industry: rayon, aluminum, steel, textiles, plastics, paper, rubber, printing inks, pharmaceuticals, soaps, petroleum, and others. Almost every product from modern industry calls for one or more of these chemicals in one form or another in its processing or production.

The Muscle Shoals plant is an important addition to industrial Alabama. Of its products, chlorine is used almost universally for water purification. But this widespread use of chlorine for water purification is only one of its many uses. It is used in a variety of chemicals such as detergents, bleaching materials for paper and textiles, drugs, dyes, refrigerants, insecticides, weed-killers and solvents. It is also important in the plastics field, and the Diamond firm itself makes various products which use chlorine.

Caustic soda also has many uses. It is essential in the production of rayon, cellophane, soap and paper. It is used in the manufacture of drugs and dyes. It also plays a key role in the refining of petroleum to produce gasoline and lubricating oils. It is a component of many detergents and washing compounds.

Diamond considers the Muscle Shoals operation one of its major plants, particularly because of its strategic location in the heart of the expanding South, where the chemical industry is growing more rapidly than in any other part of the nation.

Alabama Wildlife Federation Lashes Out At USDA

Directors State That Officials Failed To Remain Factual

Alabama Wildlife Federation officials recently lashed out at the U. S. Department of Agriculture for claims made about the imported fire ant control program.

The Board of Directors meeting in Montgomery on Saturday, April 4, went on record stating that agriculture officials failed to remain factual in presenting testimony to congress in support of a $24 million appropriation to continue fire ant treatments in Alabama and other southern states. Federation President Joe Pearson stated that claims of the USDA that fire ants were devastating row crops would not stand the test of facts.

He also said that efforts to discredit findings of high wildlife kills and loss of domestic birds and animals from the widespread use of chemical poisons, heptachlor and dieldrin, shows the length the USDA will go to continue the destructive methods now being used in the treatment of fire ants.

The federation directors declared that the USDA is not carrying on an eradication program and expressed doubt that an eradication program was ever attempted. This was claimed recently in testimony presented to Congress by USDA officials.

"It is high time these public officials stop telling farmers and landowners that we (Wildlife Federation) are opposed to the progress of the farmer and start telling the farmers and landowners the truth about the fire ant program," Pearson said.

"The majority of our members are farmers and landowners and we certainly would do nothing that was not in their best interest," Pearson said the reason for the federation opposing the present methods of treating the imported fire ant are:

1. The program was started on the basis of exaggerations and misrepresentations;
2. The USDA has not given the farmers and landowners a true picture of the fire ant or the results of the chemical treatment with heptachlor and dieldrin;
3. Widespread use of heptachlor and dieldrin has resulted in large kills of bird and animal life. These kills are documented;
4. Reputable medical men have warned of the danger to humans through the continued use of these chemicals. Dr. M. M. Hargraves of the Mayo Clinic is listed among the medical authorities warning of these dangers, and
5. The USDA has continued to attempt to discredit the findings of responsible public agencies including the U. S. Department of Interior.

Pearson said the federation has based its stand on research carried on by the API Agriculture Experiment Station at Auburn, the U. S. Department of Interior, and the Alabama Department of Conservation.

"These responsible agencies have nothing to gain by stopping the program," Pearson stated.

"Their responsibility is to deal in facts and present these facts to the public. This they have done."

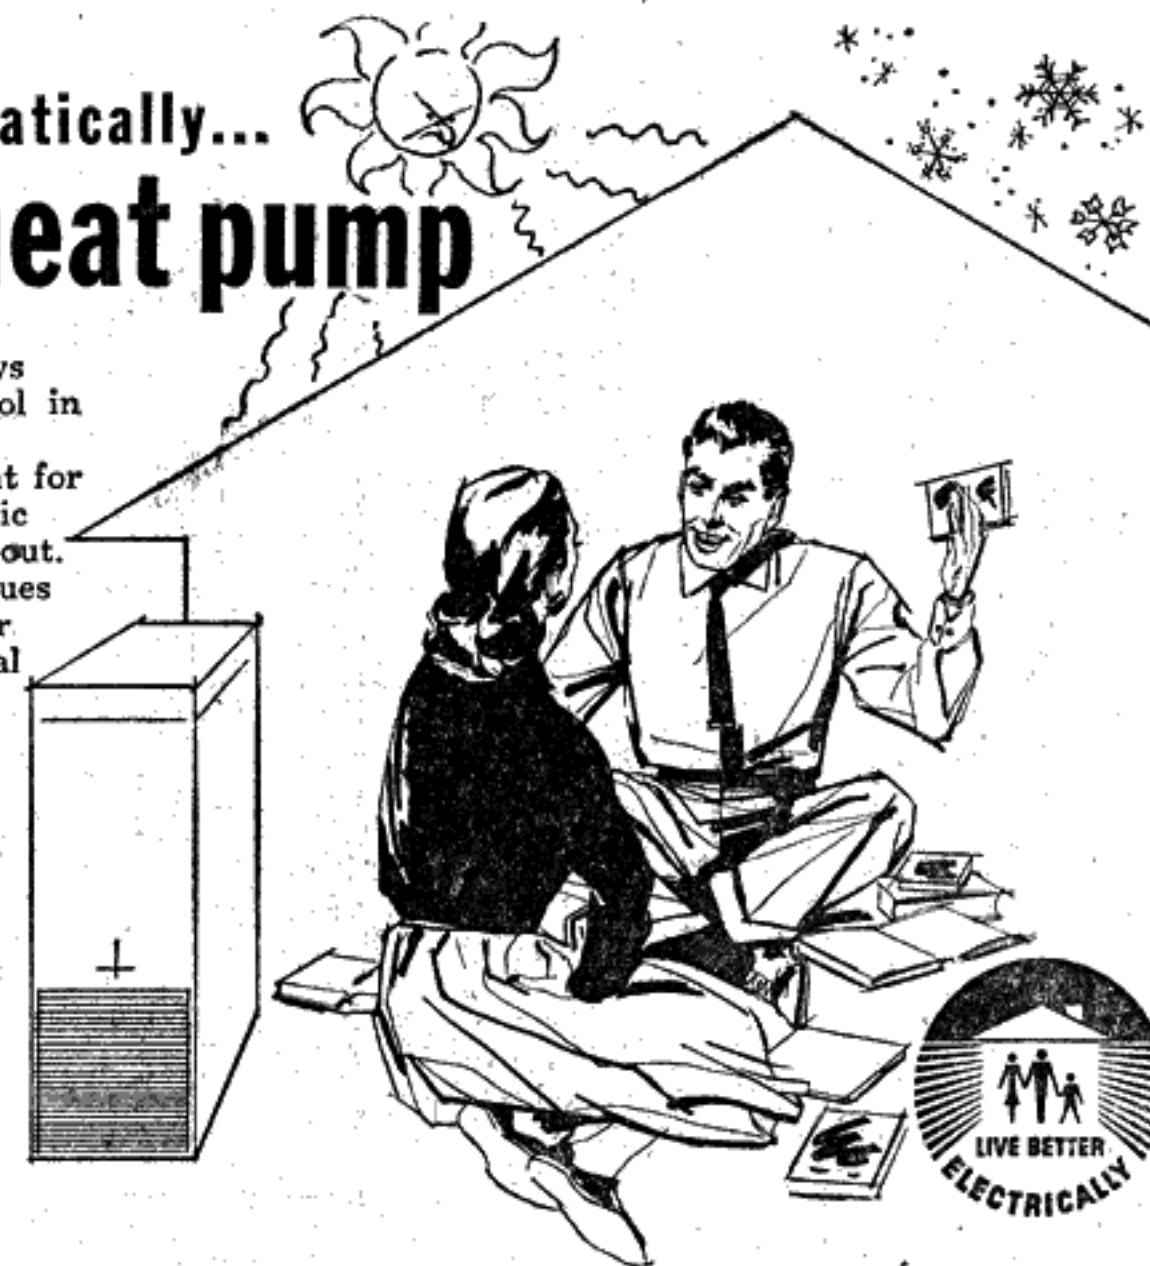

The federation directors were unanimous in asking for a halt to further federal and state funds for fire ant treatment until adequate research can be carried out to determine the short and long range effects of heptachlor and dieldrin on wildlife, domestic animals, and humans.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	1 Samuel	7	1-17
Monday	Revelation	2	1-17
Tuesday	Revelation	2	18
Wednesday	Revelation	3	2-22
Thursday	1 Samuel	8	1-22
Friday	1 Samuel	9	1-14
Saturday	1 Samuel	12	1-19

We have all seen it! That sudden transition from tears to a smile as a child reappraises the situation.

Do we, when we grow up, lose that ability to emerge quickly and completely from every crisis?

Probably not! But our thinking processes become more complex . . . consequently slower. It takes us sometimes days, weeks, even years, to reappraise a situation.

But, significantly, one of the common effects of religious faith in the life of an individual is a marked increase in the ability to understand a crisis and emerge from it happily. Those who are conscious of the power and love of God seem to have an immediate source of courage and hope.

Observing this fact, the careless man thinks of the Church as a refuge in time of crisis. The thoughtful family makes worship and church school part of every week, knowing that the spiritual insights gained each Sunday will shrink every crisis . . . conquer every fear.

POULTRY BULLETIN ON MINIMUM-WAGE LAW

A pocket-sized leaflet on the Poultry and Egg Industry under the Federal Wage and Hour Law has just been made available.

It's full of information about the $1-an-hour minimum, and gives many examples of methods of computing overtime pay, as well as definitions of some individual exemptions.

Parts of the giant Alabama industry not covered by the law, or partially exempt for certain periods, are also discussed in the bulletins.

Free copies are available by writing the Wage and Hour Division, 1401 South 20th Street, Birmingham, Alabama.

Market hog production requires small capital outlay—less than that required for any other form of livestock production.

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

Who says it costs too much money to grow cotton? ... we know a young fellow over near Cartersville, Ga., who just showed the cotton industry what can be done about cotton's high price ... 1,761 pounds of lint cotton grown on one acre at a cost of less than 10 cents per pound ... Robert Dabbs, 18-year-old 4-H Club youth, is the winner of the Georgia One-Acre contest ... his father was the state winner of the Five-Acre contest in 1955 ... seems to run in the family ... Robert did all of his own work and charged his labor at the going rate ... he had good land, of course ... he used 700 pounds of 4-12-12 fertilizer and 200 pounds of disc dressing ... planted 40 inch rows ... two rows of cotton then two of soybeans ... poisoned five times ... had a seed cotton yield of 5,034 pounds ... of course this was unusual ... Robert had all the right breaks ... but the fact is that he did grow three and a half bales to the acre at a cost of less than 10 cents per pound ... he's proud of his accomplishment and we're sure his father is even prouder ... Robert tells us that the 4-H Club contest that he won increased his interest in cotton and modern production methods until he was reading everything he could find on the subject.

This cotton championship contest and similar contests are fine things ... we wonder if they get the support they should ... seems to us these kids could use a few more pats on the back than they get.

Some Pats Anyway
The Atlantic Cotton Association patted Robert on the back with a $500 college scholarship ... the Cotton Producers Association gave him a $100 prize ... the American Cotton Shippers Association flew him to Memphis for a look at the cotton market and all its facilities and decked him out in an all-cotton wardrobe for college ... latest thing in cotton suits, wash and wear cotton clothes, etc. ... arranged for him to appear on a national radio farm show.

Check Your Kids
In talking to Robert we couldn't help but think that the time he spent in the cotton field helped make him the fine young fellow he is ... wonder if some of today's problem-children wouldn't be improved by seeing a field of cotton grow to a record crop through their efforts ... why not check the kids in your neighborhood? ... see if they can be interested in 4-H Club work or a similar field ... then see that those who earn pats on the back get them ... we can't think of a better way to help cotton than by helping youngsters like this Georgia 4-H boy.

Correct Feeding Puts On Pounds

Stop! Don't feed those cobs and shucks to your growing - fattening pigs and shotes.

According to G. B. Phillips, API Extension specialist in animal industry, you'll want to skip them when mixing hog feed, if you want to get the most for your money.

Increased use of portable feed grinding and mixing mills have led many farmers to have home-grown grain ground and mixed with commercial supplements to be fed to growing swine.

"However," said Phillips, "research has shown you can better afford to use your cobs for bedding, and shucks for cow feed, than to run them through your hogs."

In recent experiment station tests comparing ground shelled corn and ground ear corn, with supplement added to both, pigs gained one-fourth pound per day faster on the shelled corn than on ground ear corn.

The feed cost per 100 pounds gained was $2.95, or almost three cents per pound more, when cobs and shucks were included than when straight ground shelled corn was fed. That makes cobs pretty expensive.

The feed cost for 175 pounds of pig gain from weaning to market was $5.17 more per pig where they were forced to become cob and shuck burners. And a $5.17 difference in feed costs between two pigs might well determine whether you make a good profit or lose money.

So it's best to skip the cobs and shucks for your fattening hogs. "The stomach of the pig is small," said Phillips, "and it needs to be kept full of concentrated feed. It cannot handle lots of fiber, in the form of cobs and shucks, to best advantage."

Little pigs may have tired blood, too. However, iron can help eliminate pig losses from this cause.

Extension Hog Production Specialist G. B. Phillips reports that baby pig anemia and its secondary effects probably account for more loss to swine producers than any other young pig disorder. There are a number of fairly effective methods for supplying pigs with iron, but they are inconvenient and need to be repeated during the suckling period. The easiest way is to inject into the ham muscle of each pig two cubic centimeters of iron dextran when the pig is three days old. The age is important so treatment must be prompt.

Pigs are born with a limited supply of iron. The amount varies even among pigs in the same litter, but no pig has enough iron to sustain maximum growth for more than 10 days to two weeks. Often the supply is dangerously low by two or three days after birth.

Sow's milk contains practically no iron. So, you must supply pigs farrowed in confinement with iron in some form to keep them healthy and growing at a maximum rate. The treatment must last until pigs eat enough creep ration or good forage to supply their mineral needs.

The faster a pig grows the quicker his reserve supply of iron is used up and signs of anemia begin showing. Anemic pigs develop rough hair coats and wrinkled skin along with an increase in heart beat and rate of breathing.

Some pigs may die from anemia when three to four weeks old, but the main losses come from secondary effects such as stunted growth, scouring, and pneumonia.

Iron dextran can be obtained under various tradé names from

Agricultural Reminders

By S. M. Eich, Jr.,
Asst. County Agent

Listed below are suggestions that I believe may help you to grow quality tomatoes in Lauderdale County in 1959:

Plant on good soil—A fertile, well drained, sandy loam soil with a good supply of organic material is best for tomatoes. Plant the late crop on an elevated site to avoid early frost damage. Break land several weeks before planting and disk two or three times to form a smooth, firm seed bed.

Variety—Homestead No. 24 is the preferred variety. This tomato is wilt resistant, usually sets a heavy crop of fruit and has good market quality. The fruits are slightly smaller than Rutgers.

Organic material—Apply 8 to 10 tons per acre of stable manure or 5 tons of poultry manure if available. Turning under a cover crop of clover, vetch, or rye will also add organic material to the soil.

Fertilizer—For best yields, tomatoes require 90 to 100 pounds of nitrogen, 120 to 160 pounds of phosphorus and 80 to 80 pounds of potash per acre. Use 800 to 1,000 pounds of 4-16-8 or 4-12-12 per acre well mixed in the soil 10 days before planting. Side-dress with 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen (200 to 250 lbs. of nitrate of soda or half as much ammonium nitrate) per acre 3 weeks after transplanting and again 3 to 4 weeks later.

Lime—Tomatoes do best when the pH is about 6.0. If soil test shows need or if land has not been limed in 4 or 5 years, apply one ton of ground limestone per acre.

Nematode control—Nematodes are a serious pest in many parts of Alabama. To control this pest use ethylene dibromide (6 gallons of Dowfume W-40 or 3 gallons of W-85), 6 gallons of DD, or 20 pounds of 30% Nemagon granules per acre applied in the row on 5-foot rows, 25 pounds in 4-foot rows. Wait two weeks after applying ethylene dibromide or DD before planting. Nemagon can be mixed with the fertilizer and applied at the same time.

Planting—Transplant the early crop after danger of frost. For the fall crop plant seed in the field June 10 to July 1 or set plants July 10 to 25. Space staked plants 24 to 30 inches apart in 4-foot rows. Unstaked tomatoes should be spaced 36 inches apart in 4-½ to 5 foot rows.

Cultivation—Cultivate tomatoes only when needed to control grass and weeds or to break the soil crust after rains. Do not plow deep or close to plants to avoid damage to feeder roots.

Insect and disease control—Plant on ground that has not been in tomatoes, potatoes, pepper or egg plant for at least 3 years. To control cut worms dust ground around plants with 20% toxaphene immediately after setting.

Follow a complete spray or dust program for control of other insects and diseases. Spraying is more effective in controlling diseases. Spray or dust once every 7 to 10 days and as soon as possible after rains.

Spray—Use 2 pounds of wettable concentrate zineb (Parzate, Dithane Z-78) or maneb (Dithane M-22, Manzate) in 100 gallons of water. Add 3 pounds of 50% wettable TDE (Rothane) to control worms.

Dust—Use 6% zineb or maneb plus 5% TDE. To control aphids (plant lice) dust with 5% malathion or 1% lindane.

DR. DRAUGHON NAMED AS BOARD MEMBER

Dr. Ralph B. Draughon, president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, has been appointed to the Executive Committee of the Southern Regional Education Board by Chairman Cecil H. Underwood, governor of West Virginia.

Other Alabama members of the Board are: Governor John Patterson; Fred Polson of Cullman; Dr. Frank A. Rose, president of the University of Alabama; and Sen. Dave Archer of Huntsville.

Foods of the Future

STEAK OFF THE SHELF?

Soon you may be eating steaks which have been on a shelf for months. By a special irradiation process, meat and foods may "stay fresh" for many years.

The Army has precooked chickens irradiated three years ago which—without refrigeration—are still edible.

Many research groups and firms are experimenting with irradiated foods, some of which may be stocked by supermarkets in 1965.

In the rapid advancement of scientific nutrition, BEER and ALE continue to play important roles. These wholesome beverages will be welcomed with "Foods of the Future" just as they are with foods of today.

THE RURALITE
Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy designed especially for
The Florence Herald
Subscribers and Their Family Household Members

This outstanding policy will help to pay those unexpected expenses for bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike without warning at work, on the farm, at home, at school, at play, or while traveling. Here is a modern, practical, essential and economical personal accident policy prepared to give the best possible protection at the lowest possible cost that will fit the pocketbook of every family.

Each member of the family—man, woman and child—regardless of age, residence, occupation or activity—is constantly exposed to accident hazards "around the clock" and "around the calendar" and should have this valuable and helpful protection which is now available through this newspaper because of the serious accident situation which exists everywhere today. Subject to the policy provisions, it includes indemnity for Loss of Life, Loss of Limb, Loss of Sight, Total Disability, First Aid, Ambulance, Hospital and X-Ray.

The policy is issued without medical examination. There are no age limits (specific loss and total disability indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when the insured is or becomes age 70 and over). It costs only $5.00 per person per year, plus a first-year only registration fee of $1.00. This averages but slightly more than a penny a day for protection everyone needs and can afford to pay. It is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois.

News Of ANDERSON

By Myrtle McGraw

The Anderson P.-T. A. held its regular meeting last Tuesday night in the lunch room. After the regular business routine the entire audience enjoyed a Pot Luck supper. Mrs. Hilda Fincher's seventh grade won the attendance banner. Coleman Howard, a representative of the W.O.W. was the guest speaker. He presented Rayford Raney, who was chosen Mr. Woodman from the Anderson Camp for 1958, with a beautiful plaque. Mrs. Raney was given a beautiful manicure set also.

The Junior High school baseball team of Anderson defeated the Lexington team at Lexington last Thursday by a score of 11-5.

On the night of April 28 beginning at 7:30 the ninth grade will present, "Good Gracious Grandma," a comedy, in the school auditorium. The admission will be twenty-five cents for students and forty cents for all others. The cast is as follows: Henry Breckinridge—Mike Herston, George Breckinridge—Larry James, Mrs. Lenox—Linda McGill, Helen Allen—Carolyn Mobley, Cecile Allen—Betty Fields, Clancy—Larry Bailey, P. Sam—a negro houseboy—Roger Harrison, and Delia—a negro maid—Anita Bailey. This play is being directed by Mrs. Cazelle Bedingfield.

The Anderson Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leona Luffman, with fourteen of the seventeen members present. This was a very interesting meeting since Miss Conner showed a film on cancer. After the film a social hour was enjoyed at which time the hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Vera Camp. Mrs. Athalee Herston and Mrs. Valeria Ridgeway will attend the next leadership meeting.

The John Luffman family all went to Decatur Sunday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Luffman to join in the birthday celebration of Mrs. Loyd Luffman and her little daughter Cheryl. The following families were there: Mr. and Mrs. John Luffman, The Charlie McConnell family, The Dillard McConnell family, The Jim Bullard family and the J. B. Berryhill family.

Telephone Talk

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS! The first tulips coming up . . . Junior learning to drive . . . Sis going to her first dance. Those little events in your everyday life are what mean so much to your loved ones faraway. And what better way to share them than by a Long Distance phone call? You have the fun of telling . . . someone else has the fun of hearing it "first hand." And, Long Distance rates are low . . . even lower when you call station-to-station . . . with extra bargains after 6 P.M. and on Sundays.

WHY WAIT? The other day I heard a young housewife eagerly describing her "dream kitchen" — "enough cabinets . . . a dishwasher . . . a built-in oven . . . and a phone right there at my elbow!"

Fortunately, you don't have to be able to afford your "dream kitchen" to enjoy the wonderful convenience of a kitchen phone. It's available right now for less than a nickel a day. And they come in a variety of spring colors. Why not contact our Business Office and select yours right away?

WITH MOTHER'S DAY just around the corner (May 10), you'll probably be thinking up something nice to give her. Wouldn't she enjoy a kitchen extension phone—or one in her bedroom?

THE TELEPHONE COMPANY helps lend prosperity to any given community in many ways. Not the least of these are the people that provide you with efficient, trouble free telephone service. They're also good neighbors and citizens. They live next door and help any area to grow. For example the total gross monthly payroll for the Tri-Cities area is $91,583. Your kind of people — living, working, earning, spending, saving — in yours and their community.

Cable customers in the Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia area will be enjoying FIVE-CHANNEL, interference-free television programming, thanks to the new video microwave transmission system. This new system calls for the installation of new towers and relay equipment at Newburg Mountain near Russellville, and for the erection of a 300-foot tower in Florence for the reception of the microwave beams.

This microwave installation will make possible a rearrangement of existing cable facilities resulting in the addition of two more program channels to the cable, and clearer, better pictures on the other three channels.

Five-channel equipment change over is more than 60 percent complete. Both the new microwave channel and the two additional channels will be available, within the next few months, to all cable subscribers.
