

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

Those who heard Governor John Patterson's inaugural address today will agree with us that it was an excellent presentation of his planned program for the next four years. Those who heard Master of Ceremonies George C. Johnson's unnecessarily long, wordy, flowery and inappropriate remarks coupled with flights of so-called Southern oratory will agree with us that they were—nauseating.

The building of a road from Waterloo to Counce, Tenn., along the Tennessee River is a "must" for Florence and Lauderdale county today. The distance from Waterloo to the Tennessee state line along the proposed route is only 11 miles with an additional five miles on to Counce or a total of 16 miles to the site of the proposed paper mill. Now, from Waterloo to Counce by way of Savannah, one must travel a distance of 52 miles. With construction plans for a $4½ million bridge over Pickwick Dam being pushed by TVA, the opening of such a highway, long proposed but never adequately pushed, is viewed as a necessity if the western part of the county is to prosper as it deserves. This new road, although certain to be costly, as two sizeable bridges, one over Panther Creek and another over Union Hollow, will have to be built, would open up for development an area of Lauderdale County that is now neglected. In addition, the route from Florence to Memphis and the West would be shortened by many miles and travel from the West would be directed through this county instead of by-passing it as now. For an inlet by which added revenue can come into this county, we can think of nothing more challenging to our community leaders than an all-out effort to assure the construction of this highway.

It was on a flight out of Chicago when trouble caused the crew some concern. The pilot, appearing not at all bothered with the situation at hand, addressed the passengers over the inter-communications system, telling them that he had lost his way. He explained that the radar was not working, the radio beam could not be picked up and the compass was broken. "But," he added encouragingly, "you will be glad to know that we are making excellent time."

The little fourth grade Miss came home from school crying as if her little heart would break. Her mother tried to console her in an effort to learn what brought forth such a freshet of tears. Finally, she gained her composure and as she handed her mother her report card, whispered: "I flunked one of my subjects. I got 'F' in sex and I didn't know I was taking the course."

Then there's the fellow who said he bought his wife one of those hula hoops and it just fit.

After teaching her third graders "America the Beautiful," the teacher listened while they sang it for her. And one voice rang out above the rest: "O, beautiful for spaciousski!" (Could have been our eight-year-old spaceship devotee.)

It has been suggested, as the result of research, that lung tumors are a factor in lung cancer. In order to meet this situation, may we suggest that the new model cars be fitted with filter-tip exhaust pipes.

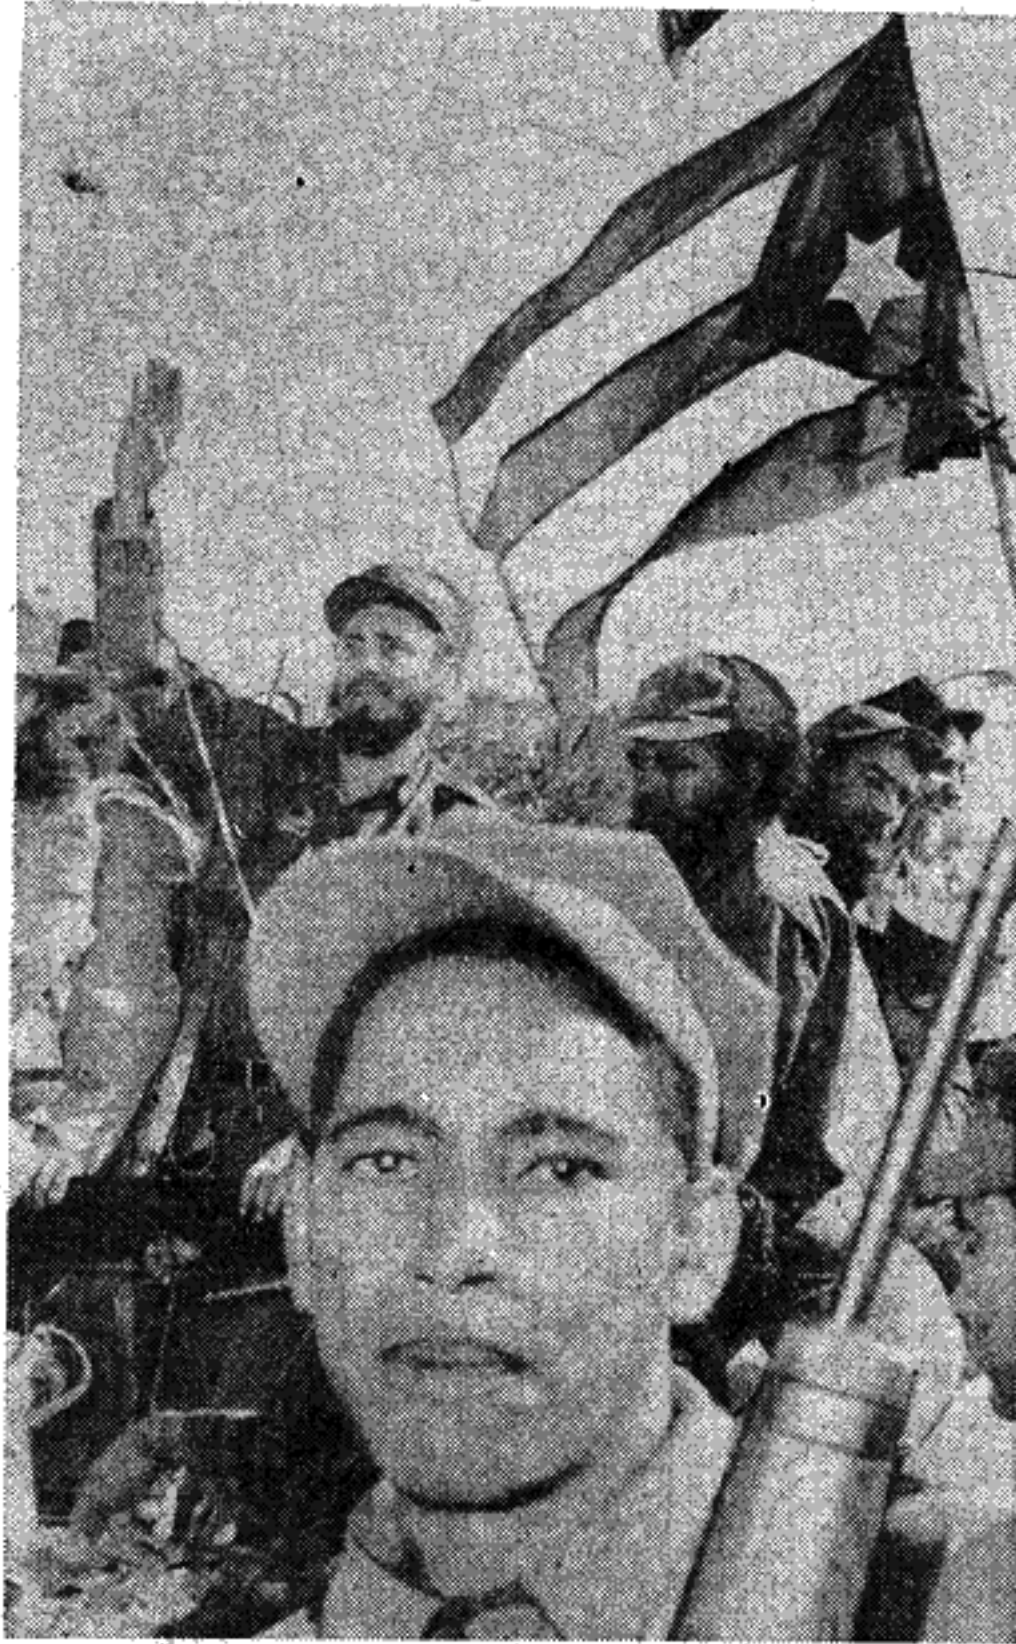

It was hard to get into the mood for work this morning, when we finally realized that the dedicated job for us to do was the one we should have done yesterday.

When a member of any governing body is so dedicated that he or she will leave a hospital bed to attend a regular meeting of that body, with orders to return to said hospital bed when the session is adjourned, we believe some note should be taken. Such was the case of Mrs. John R. Waddell, member of the Lauderdale County Board of Education, who this past Saturday morning practically forced her attending physician to allow her to leave her bed at Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital so that she might add her voice to the deliberations of the board. Few people in public life are so dedicated that they will endanger their health in the service of their constituents.

A friend of ours, viewing several new 1959 autos as they passed, remarked: "If the manufacturers bend the bodies around much more it will be hard to tell when a car has been in a wreck."

An elderly newcomer to Miami Beach was enjoying himself to the fullest. In fact, the weather was so perfect that he asked the hotel clerk: "The weather is so delightful here, how do you tell summer from winter?" "That's an easy matter, sir," the clerk replied. "In winter we get Cadillac, Continentals and stuffed shirts. In summer we get Fords, Chevrolets and stuffed shorts."

Most of us are broad-minded enough to admit that there are two sides to every question—our own side and the side that is not intelligent, informed, sane and self-respecting citizen could possibly hold.

Virginia School Law Is Killed By State Court Governor Declares Other Courses Will Be Sought Uphold Segregation

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond in a speech Tuesday night over a radio and television hookup, urged Virginians not to be dismayed at the death of the state's "massive resistance" laws regarding segregation. He said he would continue his uncompromising stand against racial integration.

Shocked by the sudden decision handed down by the state's Supreme Court, Almond gave only a cryptic hint as to how he intended to cope with the situation in rebuilding shattered segregation defenses.

"I propose to restore the tax revenues of this commonwealth to the control of the people," Almond said, adding that "they and they alone will decide the issues."

He called on backers of private, makeshift educational facilities to continue efforts to provide school facilities until something concrete could be accomplished.

"The people of Virginia," Almond continued, "through their elected representatives and by registering their convictions in the exercise of their franchise have repeatedly made it crystal clear that they cannot and will not support a system of public education on a racially integrated basis."

"I make it equally clear that I cannot and will not break faith with them," the governor said in his 15-minute address. He challenged integrationists to defend the "livid stench of sadism, sex, immorality and juvenile pregnancy infecting the mixed schools of the District of Columbia and elsewhere."

He said no parent or legal guardian is under any legal compulsion from any source to send a child to a racially-mixed school. Gov. Almond promised to convene a legislative commission to chart a new anti-integration course for consideration by the General Assembly.

The Virginia governor promised to use every "proper means" at his command to maintain the "peace and order" of the state and urged Virginians to "comport themselves with dignity and restraint to the end that the honor and name of Virginia not be defamed."

Elting Memorial Lecture Series Begins Feb. 1

1st Presbyterian Church
To Host Meet; Dr. Louis
H. Evans, Guest Speaker

Unusual interest is being manifested in the 1959 Elting Memorial Lecture series to be presented February 1-2-3-4 by both Presbyterians and members of other denominations, a First Presbyterian Church member said today. And there is much in the life of Dr. Louis H. Evans, the 1959 speaker, to justify that interest, he added.

Since September 1953 Dr. Evans has been Minister-at-Large for the Board of National Missions of the First Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., in which capacity he travels about the United States, and occasionally outside of it, speaking on invitation at colleges, universities and educational conferences; at meetings and conventions of labor, business and professional organizations; at conference and meetings of government and armed forces groups; at Bible conferences, preaching missions, and religious conventions of many kinds; before civic groups, general assemblies and national conferences of governing bodies of many denominations.

For the past seven years he has served a part of each year as summer pastor of the National Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C., among whose members are President and Mrs. Eisenhower, Mr. and Mrs. John Foster Dulles, J. Edgar Hoover and other prominent government figures.

Dr. Evans received his A. B. degree from Occidental College in Los Angeles, Calif., his B. D. degree from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, Ill. He holds honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity, Doctor of Laws and Doctor of Humane Letters.

Previous to accepting his present position, Dr. Evans served from 1941 to 1953 as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, Calif. In 1941 the church had 2,400 members. In 1953 it had 6,400 members and a Sunday School enrollment of 5,000. In this church there are 325 different societies to which a member of First Church may belong, according to an article in Times Magazine.

Of himself this big (6 ft. 4½ inch) preacher says, "I'm just an ordinary run-of-the-mill, to whom God has given splendid opportunities for partnership. My continual question to myself will ever be: 'How can I make Christ attractive?'"

Dr. Evans' overall subject will be "The Holy Spirit In This Hour," and all who are interested are invited to hear him Sunday morning and evening, Feb. 1, at First Presbyterian Church and three successive evenings, February 2, 3 and 4.

Alabama's Youngest Governor Issues
Stern Warning To Race Agitators

Late News

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan departed for Russia Tuesday by airplane and indicated he had failed during his 16-day visit to sell the U. S. on his country's ideas for easing cold war tensions. He stated in a final interview with newsmen that he was satisfied with his visit in this country. The airline carrying Mikoyan developed engine trouble over the Atlantic and limped more than 200 miles on only two engines.

Alaska's first and recently elected Governor William A. Egan, Tuesday, was given "less than a 50 percent chance" to live following two hours of emergency surgery, in Seattle, Wash., to remove an intestinal block. It will be four or five days before the definite outcome of the surgery is known. Dr. Joel W. Baker, chief of surgery at Virginia Mason Hospital, said Dr. Baker said the operation was successful in that its objective was achieved.

Cecil B. DeMille, 77, pioneer movie maker famed for his biblical epics, died Wednesday at 5:30 a.m. at his home. He had been ill for a week. Death was attributed to a heart attack. DeMille, who remained at the top of motion picture hierarchy from the days of his infancy until the present, had just returned from extensive travels on behalf of the movie, "The Buccaneer," when he became ill. He turned out more than 70 pictures, starting in 1913 with "The Squaw Man," the first movie ever made in Hollywood.

Alabama's youngest governor, 37-year-old John Patterson, was sworn in Monday at Montgomery in one of the most colorful inaugurations ever witnessed. Patterson took the oath of office from Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones to become the state's 49th chief executive.

The crusading son of a slain Phoenix City crime fighter, Abner Patterson, warned Negroes in these words after taking the oath of office:

"If you wish to preserve your public education system and educate your children you should stand up and speak out against the agitators of your own race whose aim is to destroy your own school system."

"If you do not do so," Patterson continued, "and these agitators continue at their present pace, in a short time you will have no public school system at all. Our public schools, once destroyed and closed down may not be reopened in your lifetime and mine. Our children will suffer the consequences."

Negro college and high school bands were excluded from the inaugural parade on Patterson's orders.

Out-going Governor James E. Folsom rode with Patterson in the parade but left before the oath of office was administered. From the inaugural platform in front of the Capitol building the new governor viewed the procession with its 133 colorful floats and 101 bands as well as scores of officials cars.

In his inaugural address Mr. Patterson devoted much of his time to assure his listeners that he will resist the power of the federal government. He said every section of the country is feeling "the heel" of the federal government.

"I will be unyielding in my opposition to this wrongful usurpation of power by the federal government and I will use every power at my command to prevent any further usurpation by the federal government of the sovereign powers of Alabama."

Patterson concluded his address by reiterating his stand against a waste of the taxpayers' money. He promised to plug loopholes in the state treasury and operate the state's departments in the interest of all the citizens.

PAY POLL TAX BY SATURDAY, JAN. 31

Weaver Fuqua, Jr., Lauderdale County tax collector, warns that all persons subject to the payment of the poll tax and who have not paid for 1959, should make payment by January 31 since February 1, the date prescribed by law, falls on Sunday. However, any person who fails to make payment at the office of the Tax Collector, may mail payment on Sunday as any mail received with the February 1 post mark will be acceptable. All poll tax payments, Mr. Fuqua pointed out, go to the maintenance fund of Lauderdale County's schools and, as of today, 2577 have paid their poll taxes for the current year. To be eligible to vote in any election this year, poll tax payments must be made as above set out.

President Asks For Plugging Of Tax Loopholes

BULLETIN

Five House members have pledged that they will fight to raise the President's recommended $200 million ceiling for the Tennessee Valley Authority's self-financing bill. They declared they will seek the full $750 million bond authorization that was sought by the Senate in the bill passed last session.

President Eisenhower Monday gave Congress a 77-billion dollar budget forecasting a cut of nearly four billions and a precarious surplus of some 70 millions. He called it a "confident budget," and predicted that it would help restrain inflationary forces that "cheapen our money and erode our savings." He said it also paves the way for a tax cut in the "reasonably" foreseeable future.

However no tax cuts were proposed and the President asked Congress to achieve the feat of balancing the budget by further increases in postal rates and increasing the gasoline tax. He also suggested that some tax loopholes should be plugged. These measures Mr. Eisenhower maintained would increase budget receipts.

TVA's Share Noted
The President's budget included the following provisions for the Tennessee Valley Authority:

A new appropriation of $15,286,000.

$200,000 of this appropriation would be used to continue design of the proposed Melton Hill Dam and reservoir on the Clinch River, near Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

$200,000 additional would start design work of a new, large lock at the Wheeler Dam.

Continuation of construction work on the new high lift lock at Wilson Dam.

Additions to hydroelectric installations to continue at Wilson Dam and to start at the Wheeler Dam all to be financed with revenues from sale of power.

Construction work on uniting units of several steam plants, including a 500,000 kilowatt unit addition to the Colbert Steam Plant, near Muscle Shoals, all to be financed from revenues from the sale of electricity.

The budget stated that the "demand for power is continuing to increase and provision is made in the 1960 budget to start additional facilities to meet power requirements in 1962-63 based on passage of proposed revenue bond financing legislation. When Congress has acted on this legislation requirements for the power system will be reappraised, it stated.

About 59½ cents of every dollar in the new budget will go into national defense, official Washington stated. The next biggest share, 10½ cents will be paid as interest on the federal debt. The remainder 30 cents is sliced as follows:

Eight cents for farm price supports and other programs.

Seven cents for veterans.

Five cents for relief, health, education and welfare.

Three cents for commerce and housing.

Two cents for water, power and other resources.

Two cents for general government costs.

Justice Must Prevail

In a country such as ours, governed by democratic processes and with a Constitution and Bill of Rights designed to protect individual freedom and dispense justice through due process of law, it is difficult sometimes to comprehend such action as Fidel Castro's hasty execution of the followers of Cuba's recently deposed dictator.

Probably no tyrant in recent times has exhibited a greater wanton cruelty than Batista, who not only accumulated millions through his connections with the rich gambling syndicates controlled in this country, but who, in his ruthless climb to power, took the law into his own hands and through his secret police murdered 20,000 of his own people.

This country was well aware of Batista's dissolute regime plus the fact that Havana's hotels were nothing more nor less than lush gambling casinos and yet nothing was done by this country to stop the persecution of the people and see to it that they were given an opportunity for economic security and freedom from tyranny.

We jumped into a war 10,000 miles from home to save South Korea from North Korea; we interfered in the Middle East and in Asia; we gave the Chinese Reds an ultimatum in the Formosan area without hesitating. But Cuba's predicament was too small to gain the attention of the world and so we found ourselves too busy elsewhere to pay attention to the sad plight of a friendly people whose geographical position and friendship means infinitely more than Formosa ever could.

Castro was angered, and justly so, that hundreds of Batista's followers escaped to the United States and while he is right that the known criminals among them should be arrested and sent back for trial, it is not likely that this will be done.

With all this however, Castro's methods are high-handed and there is little doubt that many innocent persons will die among the guilty. One cannot condone the quick trials and mass executions of any people however guilty they may be. "Fast justice" cannot be fair justice and even for these wanton criminals a fair trial should be granted.

In that case none will protest the punishment of the guilty and Castro's claim that he desires to establish a Democracy in Cuba will not be doubted.

We Are The Losers

In Anastas I. Mikoyan the Russians sent their top emissary to visit the United States. Obviously the reason was to sound out our willingness or unwillingness to deal with Russia in various fields of international relations, economic or otherwise and to learn something of the American attitude with respect to Soviet foreign policy that has not been argued diplomatically.

Mikoyan came, as he claims, as a tourist, but we know that this is not true. He was dined and vined by top business men and others and was likewise subjected to boos, jeers, insults and demeaning banners as well as extremely unflattering press notices.

In short some of us lost our aplomb. We, who had been loudly critical of the less privileged peoples of nations "south of the border" when they tossed eggs and jeers at Vice President Nixon, turned out a performance that did nothing for American prestige anywhere.

Our vaunted firmness of purpose, our moral climate and our political integrity, all suffered in the eyes of the very people we have been trying to impress. Whether Mikoyan or any other Russian who might visit this nation deserved the insults or not is entirely beside the point. We lowered ourselves to fight in the gutter with a personage whose rank entitled him to confer with our president. As Americans we should have been above such tactics even though we are convinced that Mikoyan is no different from the other ruthless masters of the Kremlin.

If John Foster Dulles were to visit Russia and receive the same treatment this nation would be swept by a justifiable wave of righteous indignation. It would be a pity for hatreds already engendered to be increased by our stupid incivility and un-American rudeness.

The action was taken in a joint proclamation, signed by Mayors E. F. Martin, Florence; C. L. Beard, Sheffield and E. J. Henninger, Tusculum. The proclamation had been requested by the Tri-Cities Dental Health Society with Dr. A. J. Greene as president.

In The Week's News

Legal barriers against racial integration of Virginia's public schools collapsed Monday when the State Supreme Court refused to uphold the state's law that vested total supervision and operation of public schools in the state. Governor J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., announced that he would confer with leaders on what future course to take.

Sam Englehardt, choice of Governor John Patterson for chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, brought cries of "bribery" and accusations of "brazen use of political power," as Englehardt won by a one vote margin over Frank Mizell. Englehardt won by 36-35 after S. Foy Williams of Dothan switched his vote in favor of the governor's choice. After his election Englehardt adjourned the meeting promising to call another later to kill the loyalty oath.

President Arturo Frondizi arrived in the U. S. Tuesday seeking financial aid following crippling strikes that now seriously threaten Argentina's economy. The strikes were blamed largely on die-hard followers of deposed dictator Peron. Congress Upholds Jones Stand In Election Dispute Seating of Rep. Dale Alford by the House of Representatives shortly after the opening of the 86th Congress last Wednesday upheld the stand of Rep. Robert E. Jones, in the Little Rock, Ark., election dispute.

Jones, a member of the five-man Special Committee to Investigate Campaign Expenditures, dissented from a majority recommendation that Alford not be seated as the elected Representative from the Fifth Arkansas Congressional District. He recommended recognition of Alford but that the investigation into the election be continued.

Charges were made to the Special Elections Committee by a Little Rock newspaper publisher that Alford won his election illegally by former Rep. Brooks Hays. Alford, a writer and candidate, offered only eight days before the general elections. Stickers bearing Alford's name and an "X" were distributed and pasted on ballots. The charges were that this procedure was illegal voting and that in some boxes the total vote exceeded the number of voters registered.

The majority of the election investigation committee, composed of two Republicans and one Democrat, voted to have Alford stand aside and not take his House seat. Jones demanded that the general election be given all congressional privileges, while the probe continued.

The House, in upholding Jones, voted almost unanimously to seat Alford, and directed that the House Administration Committee continue an investigation into the election case.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By BOB JONES
Eighth District REPRESENTATIVE

Some Labels Come Off
It is already apparent that many a prophet has been viewing this new 86th Congress through a clouded crystal ball. Even though the new Congress is only nine days old, at this writing, it has shown itself to be at the very opposite pole from what some of these seers predicted it would be.

Because the Democratic Party was given the heaviest majority in Congress it has had in 25 years, some of these pundits predicted an invasion on Washington by reckless, free-wheeling radicals ready and willing to wreck what we have and build up something the Kremlin would like. Well, we have had time to get acquainted with the new crop of young Senators and Representatives.

Very few of them are political accidents for whom their supporters will have to apologize in months to come. Most of them are regard politics and public service as an honorable career and are dedicated to raising the standards of government and legislation. Their backgrounds have been well publicized and most of them have held positions of honor and public trust before they came here. They are young, aggressive and very much aware that with man on the verge of taking off into outer space, the horse and buggy tactics of a regime that came in about 1953, is not what the American people want.

There is a deplorable tendency to pin labels on people in public life and "liberal" and "conservative" have become almost meaningless. Herbert Hoover, the archetype of conservative, was very liberal indeed in foreign aid, for instance. Some of the labels attached loosely to the newcomers in this Congress already have come off.

A Hardy Corps
With the advent of many more Western and Northern Democrats, quite a number of commentators and observers of the passing scene were passing out invitations to a wake for the so called "Southern bloc." But events in the past week have shown that the Southern contingent comprises a hardy, old corps for whom mourning is very much premature.

The uproar over what the new-comers and so called "liberals" were to do to the House Rules Committee and in changing Senate rules about filibusters has frittered away into confused mutters. Instead, there is a reluctant, but genuine admiration for the skill and diplomacy of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, both of Texas, leaders of the supposedly "doomed" southern bloc. Everywhere it is conceded that being effective in Congress means long tenure, seniority and a very long apprenticeship in learning the legislative ropes. The remarkable aspect of these compliments is that the Democratic Congress would rip itself apart. Instead, there is complete harmony within the Democratic ranks.

The more objective observers and those without axes to grind are taking a new look at the Southern bloc and have learned again that most of the congressional committees have been steered for years by southerners, who have given moderate, constructive leadership to legislation of not only national but international worth.

Strength For Service
We Democrats have been awarded great strength by the American electorate, but after the first elation and gratitude has come a realization that our greatest responsibility is responsibility itself. Our nation soon will have a 200 million population, a one-billion dollar economy and a $500 billion annual income. Middle-aged people will see humans in outer space. Industry, business, education and our people are expending billions of dollars and tremendous effort to meet the challenges of a true new age. Government in one of its branches has been lagging, devoid of imagination and hope and satisfied to hold the line. A nation as dynamic as ours cannot stand still, for it will either go forward or back. It is already the expressed will of this Congress to go forward.

THE SPILLWAY

SHE'S SYLPHLIKE AND lissome
(We report with a sigh) ...
And she was on the blue bike
That so swiftly whizzed by ...

THE SIGHT BEING caused by a mixture of emotions... a half-and-half concoction of admiration and envy... with imagination playing its own integral part... For Madam actually did NOT get more than a glimpse of the "swiftly whizzing blue bike" and its adept rider...

BUT NOW THAT we're put two and two together... we're ready to divulge our "rithmetic to you" as follows... When THE WINNAH of the dashing turquoise blue bicycle... given away recently by a popular store... stepped to the fore... it was none other than Harold Koonce... car-salesman hubby of Wilma Koonce... who claims cycling as her favorite childhood sport... On hearing Wilma's later musings... ("Hm-M-M-M...")... could streamline my figure and save on gasoline... too! Well you see what we mean... Our subject is (as you're sure to know) the jovial eighth grade teacher at Central Heights...

"ALL WE KNOW is what we read in the papers" But there's been a tremendous lot of interesting readin' of late... Two recent items from our B'ham P-H have caught our eye... The charming picture of Sallie and (Judge) Bob Simpson as they embarked on their honeymoon... (and a handsomer couple we think we never saw)... And the picture of stately old "Sweetwater" built in 1835... occupied by Alabama Governor Robert Miller Patton during its earliest years... and by the governor's grandson... John D. Weeden and (wife) Jessie for the past forty years... The picture was accompanied by an article written by Nolle Bigbee... our Tri-Citizen who is on of Alabama's first members of Who's Who of American Women...

ALSO LISTED AMONG the WHO'S WHO-ers are Martha McBurney and Julia Neal... Florentines of whom we're justly proud.

IT'S A COINCIDENCE, but one to be marked with a great deal of affection, that the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Lutie and Marcy B. Darnall and the seventy-fifth birthday anniversary of The Herald can be joined in a DIAMOND JUBILEE celebration... the long-time editorship of Marcy and long-time business manager activities of Lutie on this newspaper have been combined in the co-managership of a long and happy married life... and on Friday we will again salute both events... MANY MORE HAPPY YEARS, we add...

DRIVIN' ON A RECENT evenin' along Park Boulevard in our sister city of Sheffield... we slowed to a stop as beautiful melodies came waftin' o'er the breeze... We found that we were squarely before the home of former Florentine Elaine (Blackburn) Rutledge and (hubby) Bubba... and that the music-maker was a beautiful console record player... a present from Santa Claus Bubba to Elaine... who numbers music among her many interests... Another is the second grade at Blake School where she presides with delightful dignity... and still another the MASTERS DEGREES which she and her charming mother, Lois Young Blackburn of Florence Junior High School... will receive in unison at Florence State come Summer... Many... many congrats from Madam to a lovely mother-and-daughter team...

IN TUSCALOOSA last weekend to be thrilled by Alan Flowers' piano performance at U of A were Ellen and Babe Redd and Molly and Julian Vance... and (of course) momma and oppa Minnie and Eddie Flowers... "Impossible to tell..." and "You'll just have to hear..." are among the rush of words as family friends speak of "the experience"

AND IN BIRMINGHAM for the Van Cliburn concert we did a bit of neck-stretching and glimpsed music lovers Mary Belle and (Doctor) Harry Herndon... Mildred and Stanley Rosenbaum... William Lille Harris... among others...

SCAMPERING HITHER and yon about town... and handled with amazing dexterity... are numbers of motor-driven vehicles received by the young fry at Christmastime... They're known to their owners as GO-KARTS and to us as just plain CUTE... Bill Rea is manipulator of the one we see most often...

FRIENDS IN THE district of one-time resident Willie Ventress Kernachan will regret to learn that she has had recent major surgery and is now with (daughter) Ellen Kernachan Heaton in Severna Park, Maryland... Letters written to pals "back home" by Zillah Kernachan... a-visiting in Washington for the nonce... bring the story...

"IT'S A BOY..." resounded in the corridors of ECM Hospital on Saturday... January seventeenth... as Hattie Kate (McIntosh) and Jackie McDonald welcomed John Edward, III, their first child... Doting grandparents are Helen and Jimmy McIntosh of Riverview Drive and Elizabeth and John McDonald of Hermitage Drive...

AND IN FAR-AWAY Honolulu the (Lt. Col.) Bob Simpsons welcomed their fourth family-addition during last week... Name and date will be given later...

AND NOW... CHEERIO and goodbye... until more news comes through The Spillway...

Dear "Younger,"

The trouble may be a great difference in ages. Or it may be a great difference in temperament. Why not have a nice family chat about it and tell your sister what her friends are telling you. A "separate apartment" arrangement might be just the thing.

You see, you can be sisters and still be as different as night and day in your tastes. As is probably this case. Most every family produces both extroverts and introverts and, in order that both may be happy, this situation should be faced.

If your sister likes quiet and privacy, let her have it. Indulge yourself to your little "teas" and always mention to her that you'd like her to drop in, but never try to make her feel that she's "queer" if she refuses.

She has every right to the way of life she enjoys most, just as do you. And she has the same privilege of feeling that you're too young and gay, that you have of complaining that she's an old fogey.

In any case, lead your own lives and be happy. It can always be later than you think.

TVA News Letter

TVA said today that an estimated 10,676,900 visits were made to TVA dams and steam plants during 1958, bringing the all-time total to an estimated 99,674,000.

On the basis of visitor figures for the past several years, it now appears that the 100th million visit will occur early in February, TVA said.

The 1958 figure is some 800,000 under that for the previous year. This is the first decrease in the annual number of visitors since 1951 when powerhouses were closed to visiting for some months because of the Korean War. More than half of the decrease came in February and March. The visitor count in February 1957 was extremely high because thousands went to the dams to see the high waters during the flood season that year. Significant decreases also occurred in July and August, because of rainy week-ends, and

Let's Talk It Over

By SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,

My sister and I are the only two left now of a once large family, and for the past year and a half we have lived together in the old family home. Prior to losing our husbands about a year apart we had our separate homes in far-separated states and I think we were both happy.

And I thought we were happy when we were girls and lived together in this very same house. We had company almost constantly and (as the young folks say) things buzzed.

Well, I still like company. When we combined our resources and bought back the family home, I suggested that we set apart an afternoon each week to receive our friends. Always keeping it simple, of course. I thought that would keep us "in touch" and, since we're both in our fifties, it seems to me we're not too old to enjoy sociability.

I also thought we'd run the house as a house. Not as two separate apartments.

But I find that I was wrong every inch of the way. How can two people grow so far apart? My sister has a great many friends who do not hesitate to tell me that I am making her miserable, although I actually have worked in my effort to make her happy.

Please tell me what we're doing that is so completely out of focus. I could be as happy as I was at sixteen if she would only join me.

Sincerely,
The Younger.

News Of OAKLAND

By Erlene Rice

Church
There will be regular worship services in all churches of the community as usual on Sunday.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend the church of your choice. Church attendance is one of our best habits.
Choir rehearsals each Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the Methodist Church. We are glad to announce that several new members have joined our choir, and all others who are interested are invited to come and help us to have a better choir.
Regular Wednesday evening Bible Study is held at the Church of Christ.

Bro. Beasley brought to us a very fine message at the 11 o'clock worship service at the Methodist Church this past Sunday morning. He used as the subject of his message, "The Church and You." The following essential characteristics of any Christian church were discussed in a very effective manner: (1) Mutual love and respect for God, the church, and each other; (2) Willingness to put God first in all things; (3) Willingness to give of our services, our talents and of our means unselfishly; (4) Taking time to be holy, to read God's Holy Word and pray that our lives may be more consecrated and our faith increased.

Church attendance at the Methodist Church is certainly on the increase for which all are grateful.

School
On Jan. 16, the regular 4-H Club meeting was held. At that time a point meeting was held in both the junior high and elementary grades, and a representative of the TVA agriculture division gave a very interesting informative lecture and demonstration pertaining to electricity.

At the January meeting of the P.-T. A. Mrs. Rivers Lindsey gave a good devotion, after which a representative from Southern Sash presented a very good UALCO film, "New Horizons for Southern Sash," which proved to be both interesting and educational.

At the next P.-T. A. meeting, Mr. Dallas Jones will be in charge of the devotion, and a representative from the Health Department will be present to discuss various phases of health in relation to the school child. This should be of interest and concern for everyone, because of the direct relationship between good health and effective living and learning.

The first Tuesday evening in each month is the date set for all P.-T. A. meetings.

The Better English Club in the fifth grade met recently with the program in charge of Don Graham. Through the organization of this club, we are attempting to improve oral and written speech, program planning, and parliamentary procedure.

MAKING HISTORY COME ALIVE TODAY

A new method of making history come alive is being utilized by two teachers of United States History at the University of Alabama.

Dr. James Doster and Prof. Milton McPherson have inaugurated a series of historical movies that are realistic reenactments of episodes in history and biographies of builders of this country to show their classes. Included are dramatizations of such events as the drafting of the constitution and the western movement of settlers.

James Polk was the only speaker of the House of Representatives to become president. According to research experts, Polk ran against Henry Clay in 1844. It was the only campaign in which both candidates were former speakers.

Foods of the Future

FOOD "LIPSTICKS?"

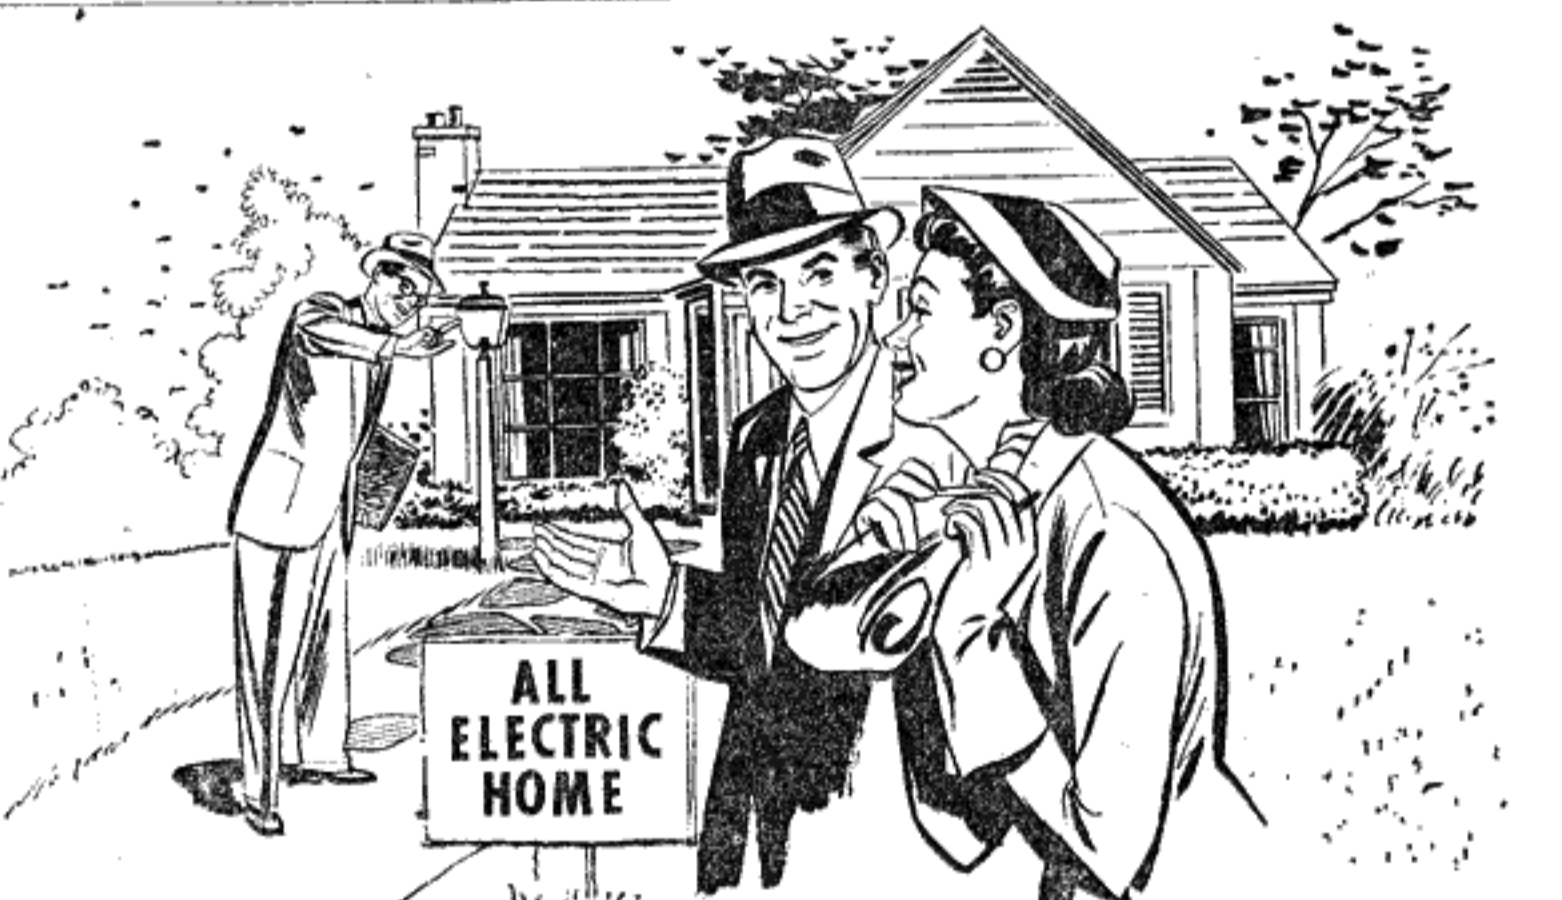

"Lipsticks" of concentrated food may soon be developed for the Armed Forces. Such frozen, dehydrated little sticks of food would include chicken, turkey and beef.

Four thousand packets of food sticks of a different kind are already used daily by the Air Force, Army and Navy.

In the rapid advancement of scientific nutrition, BEER and ALE continue to play important roles. These wholesome beverages will be welcomed with "Foods of the Future" just as they have been with foods of the past.

Church

One hundred fourteen attended Sunday school at the Bethel Baptist Church on Sunday morning, with others arriving for the 11 o'clock worship hour. In the evening sixty-four attended Training Union and evening worship. The Rev. McDougal filled his usual pulpit at both services.

On Saturday night of last week the Deacons of the church met at the home of Alton Bailey, board chairman, for their quarterly meeting.

Saturday night of this week is family night at the church, when the Brotherhood and WMU organizations meet—everyone is reminded to be there at 6:30 p. m.

Club. A new club, which should be of interest to many in our community is being organized or has been organized, the first meeting being held on Monday night at the Powell School. This is a Farmer's and Homemaker's Club, organized under the leadership of the county agent and his assistant. At the Monday night meeting the group installed their officers for the year, with Hubert Goode, Pres.; J. T. Word, Vice Pres.; Mrs. Porter McConnell, Sec. and Tres.; and Mrs. Jasper Phillips, reporter.

This club will meet in the evenings at the school, on each second Monday, at 7:00 p. m. The farmer's and their wives will meet jointly, and the programs will be planned around an interest common to both. We feel that this is just the thing our community needs, and we are sure that there are many in our community who share this interest that were not present at this meeting. We are certain that, under the able leadership of Mr. Wagoner, Mr. Marks, and with the help of Miss Conner from time to time working with the ladies, this club should become a good one. One which will not only be an asset to ourselves and our own homes, but to our community as well. So if you are interested in your home enough to desire improvements in it and its surroundings; or if you are interested in obtaining a better living from your soil than what you now have (and who isn't?); or if you'd like for your community to become even a better place for your children to grow up in, then you join us at the Powell School each second Monday night, and work hand in hand with those who are willing to help us. Ours is still a farming community and we are glad that it is, so let's keep it as such by having a better life on our land, from our land.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

Growing Up

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Monday	1 Timothy	3	15

Wednesday	Psalm	92	1-15
Thursday	Ezekiel	7	8
Friday	1 Thessalonians	5	14-15
Saturday	Hebrews	12	1-2

Would you like to be a child forever? Would you like to go sledding each time it snowed without a thought of shoveling the front walk or checking the firewood supply?

If at first you say yes, think again. Childhood is wonderful, but there are few of us who would want to be confined to it forever. Our natural urge toward growth is a strong one. We instinctively want to progress mentally, physically, and spiritually.

Nature will take care of a large part of the mental and physical part of our growth. But for our spiritual development, we must look toward the Church.

It is never too late to start learning—and you will find the Church the most patient of teachers. Start attending services this Sunday.

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

Why do foreign countries want to get into cotton farming just now? ... the answer is simple: There's a lot of money to be made there ... at least there is if the U. S. government keeps a high floor under prices ... let's take a look at what's going on in Africa ... while you have to fight to keep your cotton acreage, one African country is urging its farmers to increase cotton production ... why? ... the reason given by the African government is this: "as long as major cotton growing countries keep a prop under their prices we should increase our cotton production ... this is what the bulletin to farmers said ... and it isn't just one country either ... all along the west coast of Africa you can find more cotton being grown ... this season will see nearly 3 1/2 million bales grown in the dark continent ... production has shot up more than a third within the past 10 years ... and one African official makes the blunt statement that free market prices will mean all kinds of trouble when it comes to competing with American mechanization, science and know how.

Price Meeting

Cotton trade representatives will meet on Jan. 27 to discuss the present method of cotton price quotations and how the spot quotations are used to establish loan differences ... meeting has been called by USDA at request of producers ... will be in Dallas, Texas ... it's possible that some changes may be made in the present system.

Bugs vs. Bugs

Field tests are underway to kill insects by germ warfare ... it works like this ... spores of a bacillus are spread over the crop ... when the insects move in to feast they are infected by the germs and die ... we don't know how it works with cotton pests, but it sounds good, doesn't it?

Certainly!!

Cotton is the fiber most home-makers use and prefer for such items as draperies, table coverings, bed clothes, scatter rugs, etc. ... a check of nearly 3,000 households was made across the country in the USDA survey.

Hot Cotton

Some cotton farmers want a research project started to develop a warm-blooded cotton ... a plant that won't be delayed by cold during planting season and won't let a spell of cool weather slow up its growth ... what's needed is a seed that will germinate and grow at temperatures below 73° F. ... if such cotton is developed it could mean quite a change in the more northern areas of the cotton belt both in farming methods and in risks.

Agricultural Reminders

By L. T. WAGNON
County Agent

Last week we covered the first phase of agronomy, that being soils and land-use. This week we shall discuss cash crops, those being mainly, cotton, soybeans and wheat.

Cotton is still the leading cash crop in Lauderdale County when all farmers plant their allotment. The county received an allotment of 28,389 acres in 1958. Farmers rented 11,827 acres to the government through the acreage reserve of the soil bank program. Approximately 16,000 acres of cotton were planted, producing about 14,000 bales.

The main problems confronting farmers are low acreage allotments, low fields, improper fertilization, and insect control.

Efficient production practices, increased yields per acre, and marketing by quality offer an opportunity to increase income from cotton.

The county agents office is glad to assist farmers in producing cotton more economically and marketing according to grade and staple.

An effort should be made by each farmer to get their full allotment, of the 27,347.4 acres allotted to the county, planted in 1959 and to increase yields from the 400 pound per acre average yield in 1958 to 500 pounds in 1959. A decrease in the cost of production per bale should be strived for also.

Secondly, we have soybeans. Soybeans for oil is not a major crop in the county at present but the crop will fit on many farms that have good land and combines with which to harvest the crop. Some work was done on soybean production this last year, resulting in an estimated 1,000 acres being planted and an average per acre yield of approximately 35 bushels. This acreage should increase in the county to about 2,000 in 1959.

The main problems confronting producers are that oil bean production is new, beans must be planted on good land, and there is not a market for the crop within the county.

On the other hand, there is some good soybean land in the county, farmers need additional cash crops, many of them having harvesting equipment, a market is available in nearby counties and fair to good yields can be produced on properly selected land.

Production and marketing of soybeans for oil is a good additional source of income.

Keeping in mind that soybeans should be planted only on land where soybeans should be planted, farmers should increase acreage in 1959 and increase yields from 35 bushels per acre in 1958 to 40 bushels in 1959. The production per bushel should also be decreased.

The wheat acreage in Lauderdale County had increased each year until 1957 when the crop was between 25,000 and 30,000 acres. Wheat was considered one of the main cash crops until allotments were imposed again with the 1958 planted crop, resulting in a 7,726 acre allotment for the county. The county averaged slightly above 32 bushels per acre in 1958. Some farmers with less than 15 acre wheat allotments have planted 15 acres. However, the number exceeding their allotment may not be sufficient to bring the acreage to the normal planted acreage for the past five years.

The major problem facing county farmers is the allotment program. Efficient production and increased yields offer an opportunity for some of our farmers to plant wheat as a source of additional income.

In 1959 we should strive to increase yields from 32 bushels per acre in 1958 to 45 bushels and to maintain the 7,726 acre allotment. Of course, again we should try to decrease the cost of production.

Next week we will discuss pastures and feed crops, the third and final subject in the agronomy phase of farming.

Summer School Registration Set

On and after January 26, applications for enrollment in the summer school at Kilby may be made at the school office.

The summer school has two main purposes for the children; first, an effort is made to provide a program that will enrich the child's experiences; and, second, children who need more school experience for strength may be helped. Children who enroll will be expected to attend the full six weeks. There is no tuition but a small fee for materials will be charged.

The summer school will begin on Thursday, June 11, and close Friday, July 24. The children stay from 8 till 12 noon.

Soil Test Shows Need For Lime On Cloverdale Farm

Results of soil tests on George Porter's Lauderdale County farm showed a need for lime under his clover-grass pasture. And the way the crop has responded to the lime this fall has proved to Porter and his neighbors that it can be a limiting factor in high per acre yields.

Assistant County Agent Herman Marks also pointed out to the Threets Crossroads growers that using extra fertilizer doesn't increase yields appreciably on soil that needs lime. Actually, he said, high rates of fertilizer makes the need for lime even more serious.

Following the soil test demonstration last summer, Porter applied lime under his clover-grass pasture, which was seeded in the fall. He plans to have more of his land tested this year, according to Marks, and to fertilize according to laboratory recommendations. The Cloverdale Rt. 1 farmer expects proper fertilization of his corn and hay crops to increase the profits from his beef cattle business.
