The Passing Parade

1884 - 1959

● Weaver Fuqua, our genial county tax collector, his staff and the Lauderdale taxpayers are due congratulations because, for the second year in a row, there is not a single delinquent tax on the tax collector's books. Not only does it speak well for our county citizens in meeting their obligations but especially well of Tax Collector Fuqua, whose diligence saves the taxpayers additional costs when property must be advertised and sold at tax sales. We well remember when page after page of tax sales appeared in this newspaper at this time each year. Today—not a single piece of delinquent tax property is advertised.

● When a man looks a girl in the eye—she had better do something about her figure.

● With the serious situation facing us as a result of the failure of the Geneva conference of foreign ministers; which, apparently, has little hope left in it, we are reminded of the remark of Winston Churchill (which certainly does not apply to Secretary of State Herter) that an appeaser is one who feeds a crocodile—hoping it will eat him last. We believe that the Soviets have learned that they are not to be appeased.

● It is a great kindness to trust people with a secret. They feel so important when telling it.

● One day, while the children were at summer camp, Laddie, their fine collie, was run over by an auto and killed. The mother was quite upset over the fearful scene that was sure to ensue when she would have to tell the children. However, when they came home from camp, she sat down and told them the sad news of Laddie's passing. Surprisingly, the children took it in stride and went out to play. In a few minutes, the mother was startled to hear them calling: "Laddie, Laddie, come here. Oh, Laddie—where are you?" Shocked, the mother called the children in to her and again explained that Laddie was dead. "Oh, oh," said one of the youngsters, "we thought you said Daddy."

● Karl Elebash, the able publisher of the Tuscaloosa Graphic, expressed the rescaled feeling of all newsmen who attended the recent Alabama Press Association Convention on Dauphin Island when, upon checking out from Holiday Inn Motel after four days of luxurious comfort, said: "Well, back to reality—I was beginning to think I was rich."

● When something goes wrong, if we spend our time in figuring out who's going to fix it rather than who's to blame, we'd find ourselves making better progress.

● Until someone thinks of a better way, we plan to stick with our present system of getting the most for the least effort.

● How many wives have you heard say: "John comes home, hides behind his paper, and never says a word to me." It's a common complaint by wives, we understand, but until now one has taken the trouble to analyze the reason for this universal answer by husbands—that is, until Marjorie Homes discussed the problem in Reader's Digest. Of the seven reasons she lists, the most meaningful ones to us are: 1. Interrupting. 2. Cutting him off before he starts. Of course we would not dare mention that we are aware of these two "conversation stoppers" but—then again—well...

● We have always enjoyed a good story and try, in our way, to relate them as interesting as our ability will permit. But, on occasion, when you feel that we have a most amusing one and try to tell it to an inattentive and uncomprehending woman and she blankly remarks, at the finish: "Really?" That's when you feel like a wet towel.

Legislature Passes Bill For General State Funds

Gov. Patterson Calls Special Session To Consider School Needs

A filibuster in the State Senate was stopped as the upper house passed the general appropriations bill in a record time Friday. The House, which had already passed the bill, concurred in a number of amendments.

The filibuster which had blocked the appropriation measure was abandoned under a compromise agreement which also pulled out of the finance committee two bills aimed at blocking Gov. Patterson's tax equalization program. The appropriation bill provides $74 million to finance the non-educational functions of the state governments for the next two years.

With the general fund bill out of the way, the House and Senate voted to take a recess until Aug. 25. Gov. Patterson immediately called a special session of the legislature which convened Wednesday to consider the critical needs of Alabama schools for the next two years.

Patterson has suggested an increase of $42 million in the school budget and the issuance of $75 million in bonds for new classroom construction. Although most lawmakers see the need for more money for the schools, there will undoubtedly be trouble ahead for Patterson's proposed program to raise the extra money.

Patterson's proposals would put 3 per cent taxes on new and used cars and construction contracts exceeding $25,000, reduce personal income tax exemptions from $1,500 to $1,000 and raise the corporation income tax ceiling from 3 to 5 per cent.

The opponents of these proposals have lined up in favor of an increase in the state sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent, but Patterson is determined to block any sales tax increase.

Other proposals to raise the needed money through taxes include taxes on advertising, quickie divorces, cigarettes, liquor, beer and soft drinks.

The governor has said that he will go along with any "reasonable" substitute for his program, if it doesn't get through the Legislature.

In calling the special session, Patterson said: "I hereby designate the following subjects and matters to be considered in extraordinary session assembled: Legislation to provide for the necessary revenue and appropriations to meet the existing emergency in education in the State of Alabama."

This statement means that the business of this session is restricted to school finances. However, by a two-thirds vote, legislators can approve other legislation.

In talking further about the special session, Patterson noted: "It is our duty to provide adequate public education for every child in Alabama regardless of race, on a segregated but equal basis."

He said he would not put "a penny" into an integrated school. "If the Negro agitators insist on any school integration in Alabama with the new term this Fall, they will destroy public education."

Sam H. Robison With Law Firm

Sam H. Robison has recently become associated with the law firm of Mitchell, Poellnitz & Cox in Florence.

Mr. Robison graduated from University of Alabama Law School in 1947, after spending four years in the armed services in World War II. After graduation he practiced law for some time in Tuscaloosa with the law firm of LeMaistre & Clement before going into the field of business.

Moving to Florence five years ago, Mr. Robison, for this period, has been actively engaged in the real estate business. He lives at 2359 Norwood Boulevard. His wife, Louise Robison, is a member of the faculty of Florence Junior High School. They have two daughters, Mary Louise and Ginny.

Late News

● Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Whittaker Tuesday refused to grant condemned murderer Charles R. Starkweather another reprieve from Nebraska's electric chair. Whittaker acted only a few minutes after the plea was presented to him. After the high court denied Starkweather a hearing Monday, the state set his execution for early this morning.

● The careless smoking of a Norwegian guide Wednesday was suspected of causing the Stalheim resort hotel fire in Stalheim, Norway, in which 25 vacationers are dead or believed missing. It is believed 22 of the victims were Americans. The U. S. Embassy refused to give out any list of American casualties or survivors until it made certain its information was correct.

● For the first time in history a dependent of a U. S. soldier in Germany stood trial in a German court on a charge of manslaughter. Mrs. Emma Lee Cheaves of Heflin, Ala., is accused of the fatal stabbing of her husband, SP/5 Oliver Cheaves, in their Darmstadt home Aug. 15, 1958. Previously U. S. Army dependents in Germany have been tried in American courts. The right of a German court to hear Mrs. Cheaves case is still being contested.

● The Trujillo government claims it has wiped out a Cuban-supported invasion force near the Dominican Republic's north coast and killed its leader. Announcement was made by Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, 68, who has ruled the country for 29 years.

● A strong rebel unit smashed into the outskirts of the east Algerian port city of Bone Wednesday in a pitched battle with thousands of French soldiers. It was the first rebel military assault on a major Algerian city. Army authorities said they were unable to determine the size of the rebel group. But they said the area it occupied and the resistance it put up indicated "a large band" armed with modern automatic weapons.

Cotton Crop Below Normal In County Says County Agent

Acreage Has Been Lost Due To Wet Weather, Foulness Wagon States

The Lauderdale County cotton crop is below normal due to continuing rains and lack of cultivation, but the farmers are doing an outstanding job of cultivating the crops at the present time, according to L. T. Wagon, County Agent.

Mr. Wagon further stated that a few more days should put the crop in good condition, in regard to cultivation.

Some acreage has been lost due to wet weather and foulness. This land will be planted to other crops. Some of the farmers are planting it to grain sorghum, others to corn and a few will get the land ready for fall crops.

Farmers should watch their cotton crops for insects and not let them destroy any of the fruit, cautions Mr. Wagon. Time for poisoning is almost here and any farmer needing assistance or any information in regard to procedure is urged to contact the County Agent's office.

"The combines are harvesting the grain crop and the yields are very good when the conditions under which the crops were grown are considered. Corn crops are good but are late due to the wet weather in the spring," Mr. Wagon stated.

Former Resident Killed In Wreck

Jimmy Anderson Fatally Injured In Two-Car Crash North Of Elgin

Clyde Hill (Jimmy) Anderson, formerly of Florence, was killed Monday at 12:30 a.m. in a two-car crash on Alabama Highway 101, 1.9 miles north of Elgin Crossroads.

The 34-year-old Anderson was driving South and was on the wrong side of the road when his vehicle collided almost head-on with a pickup being driven by Fulton Putman, 34-year-old resident of Lexington. Putman was carried to ECM Hospital, where he was in fair condition with a severe laceration of the knee and possible chest injuries.

Anderson, rushed to ECM Hospital, was pronounced dead on arrival.

The death was the first traffic-caused fatality in the Muscle Shoals area since May 25 and brought the year's death total to 8.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Anderson, who had recently moved to Lawrenceburg, Tenn., at the Morrison-Elkins Chapel at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Dr. Lambuth Archibald, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating assisted by Rev. TVA Self-Financing Bill Gets By U. S. Senate Sub-Committee

Senators To Tour TVA Installations For Inspection

Alabama Solons Will Accompany Others To Region Saturday, Sunday

Four Tennessee Valley senators and the chairman of the Senate Public Works committee, Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) will tour TVA projects in this area on Saturday and Sunday.

Accompanying Kerr will be Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman of Alabama and Albert Gore and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Originally, the Public Works committee and other TVA senators planned to make the trip about a month ago, but it was postponed because heavy rains would have prevented aerial inspections.

The trip will begin at Kentucky Dam in West Kentucky and include Pickwick Dam, Chattanooga and Knoxville, as well as the Muscle Shoals. Aerial inspections will be made, especially of the Upper Tennessee installations.

The group will spend Saturday night in this area.

Helen Keller To Celebrate 79th Birthday Saturday

Tusculum Native Is Author, Traveler And Philanthropist

Helen Keller will be 79 Saturday.

The birthday of Helen Keller, a native of Tusculum, will be noted throughout the world. Much has been accomplished by this person who was left without sight or hearing since a childhood illness at the age of 2.

Ivy Green, the birthplace of Miss Keller, was purchased by the city officials of Tusculum in 1952 and on Helen Keller's 73rd birthday day it was dedicated as a national shrine. Thousands of tourists from every state and many foreign nations have since registered there.

On May 7, 1954, Helen Keller and her companion, Miss Polly Thompson, visited the Tusculum shrine. A period of forty years had elapsed since she had been there. This date was proclaimed Helen Keller Day by Mayor E. J. Henninger. Accompanying Miss Keller and Miss Thompson were Miss Nancy Hamilton, producer of the movie "The Unconquered" depicting Miss Keller's life, and Katherine Cornell, actress, who narrated the film.

Miss Keller has written an autobiography, "The Story of My Life." Other books she has written include "The World I Love In," "Midstream," "Helen Keller's Journal," and "Teacher, a Tribute to Anne Sullivan Macy."

Ann Sullivan taught Miss Keller her first word by spelling in her hand water as it was drawn from the pump. The pump has been preserved at Ivy Green.

This person, who overcame these almost insurmountable handicaps, is today a world-known figure. She attended Radcliffe where she got her degree. As well as being a noted author, she is a world traveler, a humanitarian and a philanthropist. She has been actively identified with the American Foundation for the Blind since it opened in New York in 1923.

Harold Cater Is Exchange Leader

Esslinger And Diebert Named Vice-Presidents; John F. Gordon, Sec.

Harold H. Cater, who has been serving as first vice president of the Florence Exchange Club, was elected president of the local civic organization for the ensuing term at Hotel Reeder Tuesday noon. Frank Mosier is the retiring president.

Other officers elected to serve with Mr. Cater are Sam Esslinger, Jr., first vice-president; Dr. Kirk Diebert, second vice-president; John F. Gordon, secretary-treasurer and the following members of the board of control: Cris Moore, Ira Stagers, Fred Osborn, Jr., and Stewart O'Bannon.

Harry T. Hall, of the Pure Oil Co., was inducted into club membership by Ira Stagers and guests included John Ebaugh and Jim Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Sloan of Florence spent the long weekend in Nashville and Gallatin, Tenn. Their son, Martin, who has been away several weeks, is due to arrive home Saturday.

John Hatfield Commends Rotarians As He Retires From Presidency of Club

The Florence Rotary Club installed its 1959-1960 officers at its weekly luncheon meeting Monday. W. H. Mitchell, Jr., will serve the club as president for the coming year.

In accepting the leadership of the club, Mr. Mitchell pledged a continuation of the good work of the past administrations.

In his comments, retiring president John Hatfield congratulated the membership on its application of the "Ideal of Service" by each Rotarian to his personal, business and community life and the advancement of international understanding and good will by his every day living.

Serving with Mitchell will be: LeRoy Doster, vice-president; Fred Batters, secretary-treasurer; John Hatfield, Turner Allen, Dave Thompson and Phil Herm, directors.

Modified Measure Objected To By Budget Bureau

The Senate public works committee voted unanimous approval of a modified TVA self-financing bill despite the persistent objections of the Budget Bureau. The measure which would allow the TVA board of directors to issue up to $750 million in revenue bonds to meet future construction needs, now goes to the Senate. It has already passed the House.

The committee refused to go along with administration demands that the budget bureau be given strict control over the agency's bond proceeds. However, the

Senate Confirms Hays For TVA Board

The senate confirmed the nomination of former Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) Tuesday as a member of the TVA board of directors. The nomination was approved by unanimous voice vote.

Hays will be sworn in in Knoxville July 1 to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Frank J. Welch, who resigned from the board to return to his duties as dean of the University of Kentucky school of agriculture.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas) called for the confirmation vote after describing the Hays appointment as "one of the finest ever made."

Hays, who served in congress for 16 years, was defeated by segregationist Dale Alford last November. The term which Hays will fill expires May 18, 1960.

secretary of the treasury was given a voice in setting the time and maximum interest rates on proposed bond issues.

Chairman Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), who will visit the Muscle Shoals area this week-end, stated that he did not know whether President Eisenhower will carry out threats of a veto if the bill is passed in its present form. Kerr called the bill an excellent bill that will meet the requirements of TVA and at the same time place restrictions on TVA that are not there now.

Senators for the measure are hopeful that the bill will come up for a vote either this week or the following week.

Six major provisions were written into the house-passed bill by the senate committee, three of which provide:

1. The President must submit to congress TVA's proposed budget as approved by the TVA board. The budget bureau could not make any changes in the budget.

2. No construction of new generator plants, except the first one following final passage of the bill, could proceed until a 90-day waiting period during which time congress could veto or modify such plans, by adopting a concurrent resolution which is not subject to veto.

3. The secretary of the treasury may disapprove of the date of proposed bond issues and the maximum interest rates on the securities. If he did this, however, he would have to lend TVA up to $150 million by purchasing the agency's bonds with treasury funds. The loan would be repayable within one year.

The treasury department approved the bill in its entirety despite the refusal of the budget bureau to go along with it. The budget bureau's objection is that the President would have no discretion in submitting the TVA budget to congress. It wanted to reserve the power to amend it.

Herter Proves Fighter

Christian A. Herter has proven himself. In his talk to the American people on Tuesday night on television and radio, the new Secretary of State displayed the spirit of the late John Foster Dulles when he accused the Communists of engaging in propaganda, threats and "upside down talk" that prevented the Foreign Ministers at Geneva from coming to any appreciable agreements on the thorny question of the uniting of East and West Germany.

John Foster Dulles was the greatest obstacle in the way of the efforts of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to take over the beleaguered city of Berlin. With Dulles' death, most observers thought that the West would weaken in its efforts to fight for the lives of two million Germans in West Berlin. But this has not proven to be true. Herter's refusal to give in to the Soviet's demands at Geneva refutes this statement.

Although inexperienced in his dealings with the Soviets, Christian A. Herter seems to have come through with his initiation well.

Why Not Try It?

Authentic sources based on ample research show that only 11 per cent of college or high school "A" students drive automobiles of their own. Practically all "C" students own cars or more accurately drive cars that have been donated by doting parents. Nothing, say the experts, has proved more distracting than the automobile at school. And this is not hard to see, human nature being what it is . . . and while we are blaming somebody let's get tough with the parents and not the students.

Education today is pretty important. It's an age of specialization and we are told we are far behind those "illiterate and underprivileged Russians" in turning out engineers and scientists. One thing is certain and that is good engineers are not produced from "C" students. There is just not enough tolerance for that much error in any engineering subject. To make a good engineer the subject must first be a good student.

Some colleges have already taboed autos on the campus and many prohibit freshmen and even sophomores from owning and driving cars at college. Most of these colleges have found themselves with more dormitory and classroom space but with far better students. The playboy isn't about to enter a college where he can't play big shot with a lush automobile with twin exhausts.

Might this not work everywhere . . . taxes for education being what they are and going higher?

Let's Put First Things First

More and more people—and with every reason—have come to believe that one trouble with this country's educational systems is that too much money is spent on unnecessary luxuries and frills, at the expense of educational necessities.

In the light of this, something that happened a short time ago at Portland State College in Portland, Oregon, has much more than local significance.

It was proposed that certain additions be made to the College Center—among them a bowling alley and a barber shop. But the students' own College Center Board voted the plan down, by a 4-1 majority.

In part, the Board's resolution read: ". . . facilities for student entertainment and personal services are in abundance in the Portland Metropolitan Area, thereby making it unnecessary and even wasteful for large amounts of state and student funds to be spent in these areas of the college . . . The students of Portland State are more interested in education than in services."

Community after community, the small as well as the large, have gone overboard in building almost unbelievably expensive plants. The primary educational need is to allocate as much of the available money as possible to purposes where it will honestly serve true educational needs—such as salary structures that will make teaching more attractive to competent and ambitious people.

Don't Be The "Other Guy"

Accidents killed 655 "other guys" during the Fourth of July holiday last year.

Three hundred and seventy "other guys" died in traffic, 192 by drowning and 93 in miscellaneous accidents.

Not one of those 655 thought an accident could or would happen to him.

The "other guy" is all of us. No one is immune from accidents. Or rather, everyone is immune to the extent of his own caution or common sense.

This Fourth of July—like last year's—will be a three-day weekend holiday for millions of Americans. The National Safety Council has warned that motorists will clog highways and funseekers will jam parks, lakes and picnic grounds. The time will be ripe for some kind of accident.

Don't you be one of the "other guys" this Independence Day.

Atomic Spy Released From London Prison

Atomic spy Klaus Fuchs took off for Communist East Berlin in a Polish Airlines plane from London Tuesday. Presumably he went to live with his 84-year-old father, Prof. Emil Fuchs, at Leipzig. The 47-year-old Fuchs was taken in a police-escorted car from Wakefield Prison, 180 miles northeast of London, where he had served nine years, three months of a 14-year sentence for spying on British and American atomic secrets for Russia. He was given credit for good conduct while in prison.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was reported making a favorable recovery Tuesday after surgery for removal of an acutely inflamed appendix. The doctors said Hagerty probably will be discharged from the hospital late this week. It may be another week after that before he returns to his desk.

Civil War Vet Fights Pneumonia

Confederate Veteran Walter Williams "looks pretty good" despite his two-week bout with pneumonia and may pull through, his doctor says. Williams, 116, last survivor of the Civil War, developed pneumonia last June 6.

Vanguard Fails To Orbit Satellite

The United States fired a Vanguard rocket Monday in an effort to put a weather satellite into space but the sphere apparently failed to achieve an orbit. The satellite, which was designed to gather weather data, was the sixth in a series of seven Vanguard launchings. Only two have been successful.

Ethel Barrymore Dies At 79

The Church of the Good Shepherd was less than half filled Monday at requiem high mass for Ethel Barrymore. The queen of the royal family of the American theater, who played to thousands of packed houses during more than half a century as a star, died last Thursday at 79. After the ceremony, Miss Barrymore was entombed in private at Calvary Cemetery, alongside her famous actor brothers, John and Lionel.

Youths Get Life Sentence On Rape Charge

A white-haired Southern judge Monday handed out life sentences to four white youths convicted of raping a Negro co-ed. Sentencing came seven weeks after the crime. The sentences, maximum possible under jury recommendations of mercy, were hailed by a Tallahassee Negro leader as a step toward equal justice for his race. The four convicted were William Collinsworth, Patrick Scarborough, David Ervin Beagles and Ollie Stoutamire. Their court appointed attorneys said they accepted the penalties and would make no effort for a new trial or for an appeal.

President Grim Over Rejection of Strauss

President Eisenhower said last Friday that the American people are the losers in what he called the sad episode of Senate rejection of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce. The grim-faced president took the highly unusual step of calling newsmen into his White House office to read a brief statement. At the outset, Eisenhower noted that the Senate refused to confirm Strauss for the cabinet post. The turn-down came in a dramatic post-midnight roll call, 49-46.

Gov. Long Returns To Court

Claiming fraud and his own sanity, Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana went to court Monday night in an effort to free himself from a mental hospital—his second such attempt in 25 days. Through counsel, the 63-year-old governor asked the state's 22nd Judicial Court to approve his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Robert Jones responded by setting a hearing for 10 a.m. Friday.

Alabama Farmers Throng Capitol

Hadley Howard Of Lauderdale Among Delegation To Attend

Several hundred Alabama farmers thronged to the capitol June 18 to back up legislation to forestall drastic increases in property tax assessments as announced by the state revenue department, and to leave local tax matters in the hands of county officials and equalization boards.

Following a public hearing, attended by delegations from virtually every county, the Senate Finance and Taxation committee gave the measures, Senate Bills 62 and 63, favorable reports. While supporters considered this action an important victory, gained in the face of strong administration opposition, they pointed out that the bills still must pass the Senate and then face an even harder fight in the House.

One notable feature of the hearing was to crush the idea that had been planted by the opposition that the bills were sponsored by the large farmers of the Black Belt and by enemies of education. Several spokesmen for the large crowd at the hearing were from small-farm areas, and it was brought out repeatedly that supporters of the anti-property tax hike were working hard for a sales tax and other sources of educational revenue.

Walter L. Randolph, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, acted as chairman of the supporting group. C. H. Wilhite, of Cullman County, who said farms of his area averaged less than 30 acres, told the committee that "we are not fighting equalization—we believe in it—but we don't want outsiders coming in and doing it. We believe in education, but we don't want to destroy the people who own their homes, and force them on welfare."

Vernon Crockett, of Colbert County, and Hadley Howard, Lauderdale, expressed similar views and declared that small farmers, not the big landowners, would be hardest hit by the state's announced intention of "equalizing" all property assessments at 30 per cent of market value. Farmer State Senators Dave Yarbrough, Autauga, and Albert Davis, Pickens, urged the lawmakers to take away the power of the revenue commissioner to over-ride the actions of local officials. Sen. Roland Cooper, Wilcox, and Rep. Ralston Long, Uniontown, both leaders in legislation in behalf of municipalities, strongly supported the bills and urged their passage.

Revenue Commissioner Harry Haden, who has accused county tax officials of not doing their duty, has set a $43,609,134 in property tax collections as his goal to be "produced by equalization at 30 percent of fair and reasonable market value" (as determined by the state). The revenue department's research division estimated that under the plan, property taxes in Lauderdale County would be increased by $641,558.

County 4-Hers Attend Roundup

Patsy Watkins Takes First Place In Yeast Bread Baking Contest

Eight Lauderdale 4-H Club members, winners in various achievement categories in Lauderdale County, competed in the 16-county District 4-H contest held Monday and Tuesday in Decatur.

Patsy Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Watkins, Route 4, Florence, won first prize in the Yeast Bread section of the Foods Projects awards and will represent District I at the State finals in Auburn.

Ronnie Paulk, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paulk of Route 6, Florence, received honorable mention in the decorative lamp wiring contest.

The presentation of awards was held Tuesday night in the Auditorium at Decatur High School. Dr. E. T. York, Jr., newly appointed director of the Alabama Extension Service was guest speaker. The public was invited to attend the two-day session.

Other 4-Hers attending from Lauderdale County were: Louis Robertson, Star Rt. 10, Waterloo; Don Stanfield, Rt. 6, Florence; Brenda Hairriell, and Nancy Seaton, both of Rt. 4, Florence; Martha Smith, Rt. 2, Florence; and Brenda Wright, Rt. 5, Florence.

Albert Heaslett, assistant-county agent and Miss Ann Phillips assistant home demonstration agent, accompanied the youths to Decatur.

Graham Has Part In UA Discussion

In Tuscaloosa Monday, William A. Graham, director of Kilby Elementary, laboratory school for Florence State College, participated in a panel discussion as part of the program of the Elementary School Principals Conference convening there.

The theme of the conference is "Guidance In The Elementary School For More Effective Learning," the subject of the panel was "Selection and Effective Use of Standardized Tests."

Keynote speaker for the session was Dr. John L. Goodlad, professor and director of the Center for Teacher Education, University of Chicago. His topic was "Pressures To Learn."

All worn garments should be thoroughly cleaned before storing. Perspiration and some other stains can cause deterioration and discoloration when left in clothes for any length of time.

Vogel Denies TVA Guilty Of Piracy

Herbert Vogel, TVA Board chairman, denied Tuesday the Tennessee Valley area has committed industrial "piracy." He spoke at a meeting of the Board of Directors and the presidents of the colleges and universities in the Tennessee Valley area.

Some northern congressmen have accused the Valley of stealing northern industry because of the cheaper power rates. Vogel said that when industry chooses to use the natural advantages of the Tennessee Valley area, it is in the national interest.

Vogel said the whole nation benefits when a firm decides to locate a plant in a new area "because cost obviously is a factor in this decision." He said the industry can then produce its goods cheaper, benefiting the entire nation.

The wedding is planned for July seventh in St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Florence.

Teatime Courtesy Fetes Bride-Elect Nancy Douglass

Highlighting the week's social calendar was the afternoon tea of Saturday, June twentieth, hosted by Mrs. Donald S. Trowbridge and her sister, Mrs. J. Thomas Reeder, in compliment to Miss Nancy Ann Douglass, bride-elect of the former's son, Donald Ezell Trowbridge.

The Reeder home on Palisade Drive was the gracious setting. Gift bouquets of magnolia blossoms, Shasta daisies and roses lent a festive air to the scene into which the hostesses and honoree, with the bride's mother, Mrs. Gerald A. Douglass, Jr. and her grandmother, Mrs. Douglass, Sr., welcomed the guests.

Overlaid with a white linen cloth of cutwork and embroidery, the silver-appointed teatable was centered with an arrangement of pink and white asters, white daisies and white stock flanked by candleabra of burning pink tapers.

Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Clarence Simmons of Homestead, Florida, and Mrs. Robert H. Broadfoot, aunt of the bride-elect, Mrs. Joseph McLester Meade and Mrs. Megde, Sr., Mrs. William Mitchell, Mrs. Thomas N. Smith, Mrs. Preston Reeder, Mrs. Mims Rogers, Mrs. Charles Poelinitz, Mrs. George McBurney, Mrs. John Hattfield, Mrs. Frank Crow, Mrs. Thomas Bennett, Mrs. Richard Parker, Miss Caroline Daniel, Miss Mynell Atchley, Miss Fay Parrish, Mr. Karl T. Tyree, Sr., Miss Douglass, Miss Pat Thompson, Miss Caroline Allen, Miss Lucretia Landrum, Mrs. James D. White, Mrs. Robert M. Hill and Mrs. Sewell Jones.

Family friends from the entire district called during the hours of half past three 'til half past five.

First in the series of pre-nuptials honoring Miss Douglass was last Friday's luncheon tendered by Mrs. Milton Kiser at her home, 219 Mandala Drive, Rose Park.

A pyramid arrangement of asters and gladioli, shading from pale pink to deepest rose, centered the luncheon table which was spread with a cutwork cloth of white linen.

Appropriate name cards marked places at the half past one o'clock courtesy for the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Gerald A. Douglass, her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Donald S. Trowbridge, Mrs. Edgar Scott, Mrs. James Harbin, Mrs. Robert Fulmer, Mrs. Clara Meyers and the hostess.

Open House Honors Mr. Mrs. Gifford

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neal McCabe in Killen, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Killen's Methodist Church entertained with an open house on Friday evening, June nineteenth, as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gifford whose wedding was an event of Saturday, June sixth.

Against a flower-bedecked backdrop callers were greeted by the honor guests and Mrs. L. E. Gautney, president of the local WSCS.

Garden flowers fashioned a colorful centerpiece for the refreshment table where Miss Johnnie Mae Jones, Mrs. Atticus Harrison, Mrs. Milton Mitchell and Mrs. Larry Gautney presided.

About sixty guests were present.

Morning Coffee Fetes Visitor From Hawaii

Numerous informal courtesies greeted the Reverend and Mrs. Claude Du Tell during their visit of the past week to family members in Florence.

Mrs. Karl Tyree, Sr., and Mrs. Henry Tyree, entertaining on Monday morning at the Cleveland Avenue home of the former, included twenty-five in their invitations to meet Mrs. Du Tell.

Gladioli, asters and stock in mixed arrangements graced the party rooms and graced the coffee table, spread with an embroidered cloth of white linen.

Lake "gatherings" and evening patio parties combined with daytime festivities to fill the hours prior to the visitors' departure on yesterday, Mrs. Du Tell, the former Roberta Richardson of Tuscaloosa, is the sister of Mrs. Karl Tyree, Jr., and of Mrs. Lester Norvell, Jr., both of Hickory Hills, Florence.

Now on vacation in the States, Reverend and Mrs. Du Tell and their four children will presently return to their Episcopal mission station in Kailua, Oahu, Hawaii, where he is rector of St. Christopher's Church.

Annual Luncheon Ends Current Events Season

Always looked forward to with pleasure, the Current Events Club's traditional end-of-season luncheon was an enjoyed event at noon on Thursday, June eighteenth, at The Town Club.

Magnolia blossoms fashioned the table decor where places were laid for members and their guests. With Mrs. Fred Long were Miss Julia Neal and Mrs. T. O. Butler, and with Mrs. E. V. Bender were her sister, Mrs. G. G. Glover and Miss Virta Jones.

New officers who will serve during the next club year are Mrs. E. B. Norton, president; Mrs. Joe S. Redd, vice-president; Mrs. B. V. Bender, secretary-treasurer.

NUTRITION NEEDED IN SCHOOL MEALS

"It is within your power to feed Alabama school children almost one third of all their meals; you have no right to deprive these children of health," Miss Louise Sublette told school lunchroom managers at the 20th annual School Lunch Conference at the U. A. Miss Sublette, an official of the Tennessee School Lunch Program, told the more than 250 lunchroom personnel that they have a responsibility to plan, prepare and serve nutritious meals to those children under their feeding care.

Telephone Talk

by
FORREST W. BRICE
Your Telephone Manager

LET'S GO! It's that time of year again. Everybody getting set for well earned vacations! Whatever you plan to do, here's something to help smooth out any kinks in vacation plans. Long Distance. For instance, why not phone ahead to make sure of accommodations? No fun to be on the road watching the "no vacancy" signs roll by! Then, too, calling ahead to plan get-togethers with old friends is a lot of fun. And, naturally, you'll want to check in with the office or possibly home to make sure everything's O.K. while you're gone. For all this help to make a vacation happier, you pay very little. Remember, Long Distance costs less when you call station-to-station with extra bargains after 6 P.M. and on Sundays.

HINT FOR A HAPPY ENDING. If you're like me, you're already making plans for a big Fourth of July. But all too often the fifth of July isn't such a happy day. So I'd like to put in my two cents worth about safety during this big holiday weekend. Play it safe... swimming, boating, or driving along the highway. And here's a thoughtful thing to do... call friends or family by Long Distance to let them know you got there safely. It means so much to keep in touch... particularly on the Fourth.

WHO IS "SIBYL"? Born and bred in the Bell Telephone Laboratories, she's a computer-like machine by which new phone systems can be tested before a lot of time and money are spent on actual construction of equipment. Why is she important to you? Because she's one way your telephone company can continue bringing you the best in new telephone developments at the lowest possible cost. Through research, Southern Bell works constantly to add pleasure and convenience to your everyday living.

THE SPILLWAY

THERE'RE SOME WHO say they start the day
On coffee quickly brewed
But we like best the pleasant zest
That goes with HEARTY food...

A HEARTY BREAKFAST is... we claim... one of our mainstays... and it's with pleasure that we learn of friends here 'n' there with similar thoughts about the mornin' meal...

AN ITEM of interest concerns a recent breakfast gathering in charming surroundings... with delightful folks... and simply sumptuous food... 'Twas a sort of continuance of the church service when grandchildren of the hosts were confirmed on a Sunday morning... Family members and close friends were present and the menu included home-made bread served with whipped butter... piles and piles of small sausages... coffee cake (the REAL kind)... strong black coffee... and much... MUCH more... The hosts (you may have guessed) were Agnes and John Eckl of near St. Florian...

NOTED AMONG THE guests were James Robert Lovelace (we can't lay eyes on the gent without thinking of Coffee football)... his lovely (wife) Martel... and (her mother) delightful and interesting Maria Gnadke... here for a three months' stay from her home in Wiesbaden on the Rhine, Germany... 'Twas really a memorable event...

A TWO-FOLD PLEASURE was in store for guests arriving at 474 Palisade Drive on Saturday afternoon... After eyes were feasted on lovely blue-cream Nancy Douglass... who was being fêted by (her mother-elect) Martha Trowbridge and (her aunt-elect) Nell Reeder... they were feasted again on the exquisite party setting... The new and recently moved-in home of Nell and Tommy Reeder is a delight to behold...

A PROGRAM WE MISSED... (and we'll never cease to regret it)... was the "This Is Your Life" story presented on FUN NIGHT at the Alabama Presbyterian Synodical meeting at Huntington College in Montgomery last week... when the evening's subject was our very own Rose Arell... Synodical President and Dean of the Synodical School... Arriving in time to appear on the program was Rose's "preacher"... (Rev.) "Bing" Summerell... and (her hubby) Philip... The latter (we're told) was domiciled for the night in the Girls' Dormitory... and seemed much at home...

ALSO IN MONTGOMERY last week were four of Florence's first-flight teenage golfers... Jimmy Edwards... Lyman Penland... Chip Tarbox and Steve Bradley... who took part in tournament play at Woodley Country Club... Madam's tip to her reading public is WATCH THAT CHIP... He returned from this contest with two silver goblets... which we claim is NOT BAD... not bad AT ALL...

ACCOMPANYING THE golfers... Margaret Penland (mom of one) brings late and pleasant news of ex-Florentines Olene and Sam Esslinger... in whose home on Montgomery's Montezuma Road she spent Thursday evening (last)...

A VISITIN' IN OUR midst... and causing whispered Ahs and OHs where'er she appears... is gracious and pretty Bambi Roulhac... captivated daughter of Polly and (Doctor) George Erwin Roulhac of St. Louis... who's enjoying a bit of ole Alabama as she is guested by (her gran'mama) Olivia in the North Court Street atmosphere of charm which once surrounded her forebears...

EVERY AVENUE OF persuasion toward a longer stay netted only a zero of response from Sara (Deal) and Bud Chenoweth... who arrived yesterday for a one-hour visit... no more... They were enroute to their home in Richmond after a two-weeks' stay with family members in Texas... Promises of an early return helped drooping Florence spirits...

WITH AN EAR to the ground (as usual)... we caught an interesting item... Irene Maples of 618 North Wood... who has spent some time with (her daughter) Elizabeth Looft in Chicago... has sufficiently recovered from a recent illness to've made plans for a return to her native health... She'll arrive... accompanied by Elizabeth... sometime next month... A warm welcome awaits...

TRAVELERS HO... Esther and Charlie Green... hied themselves away last week for a vacation jaunt to Arizona... stopping in Memphis to pick up (daughter) Cynthia who's there in nurse's training... YOU'LL WANT TO keep an eye peeled for Martha and Jim Gilbert... They're driving a new pale grey car with all the trimmings... Very snazzy...

WELCOME NEWCOMER... who arrived at ECM Hospital on Saturday, June twentieth... and whose parents are Judy and (the Reverend) Bob Crumby... AND NOW... CHEERIO and goodbye... until more news comes through The Spillway...

SARA SAZE

Dear Mrs. Saze,
My boy friend and I double date a lot with other couples. People who're mostly my friends, since he hasn't lived here very long. And my problem is that I'm beginning to think he's a cheapskate.

If we eat 'burgers at a drive-in, or go to a movie, the other boy is the one who pays the check or buys the tickets. It's seldom that we even go in his car, so he and I have a wonderful evening—all completely free.

Now, my problem is how to get it over to him that I'm not willing to continue sponging off my friends. I don't want to hurt him because I really do like him very much and also because he has been getting very serious lately and I may end up as his wife.

How would you advise me to handle this, Mrs. Saze? I really think he is a wonderful fellow, except for this peculiarity.

Just Plain Jane.

Dear Jane,
It's a matter of clever (?) timing with guys such as yours. They're adept at looking the wrong way at the right time (when a waiter brings a check, for instance) and, if ever they get a hand in a pocket, they have trouble getting it out.

People put up with "being had" for a while, and then they usually shy away. So, don't be surprised if your friends begin to make themselves scarce.

I've actually never seen one of these characters change his spots, but it wouldn't hurt to try shaming him. Just say to the "stuck" member of your group on the next occasion that you want to begin splitting the expenses, that HE shouldn't have to pay YOUR way. Then, if you can be really brutal, add that you'd also like to pay for your date.

Of course, you'd better be prepared because your "wonderful fellow" may let you do just that. Or, it may be the last you'll see of him for all I know.

But, in the latter case, I urge that you not be too concerned. This type is not altogether rare, and neither is it in demand.

Dear Sara Saze,
I have seen a vine along the highways that is beautiful and I want to get a root for my yard. My husband calls it a "plain old trumpet vine" and says they grow wild and that people try to get rid of them instead of cultivating them.

But I'd still like to have one. What do you think?

Green Thumb.
You're not the only one. I recently saw a trumpet creeper (the botanical name is campsis radicans) trained at the side of a carport and it was stunning. The gor-

FSC Will Present MA Degrees To 24 In July Exercises

Dr. Brock Reports That 73 Are Enrolled In Present Graduate School

Twenty-four candidates will be presented for Master of Arts degrees by the Graduate Division of Florence State College at summer Commencement July 31.

Thirteen of these twenty-four are in the field of Elementary Education; eight in Secondary Education; three in Administration. "While the Master's Degree conferred here is primarily in Education, it is possible to pursue major and minors in any of the academic departments of the college except Home Economics and Foreign Languages," commented Dr. Hoyt M. Brock, Director of Graduate Study.

"A few students, after completing requirements for Bachelor's Degrees, immediately continue toward the higher degree," Dr. Brock said. "But for the most part our enrollment is made up of people who are enriched by a few, or many, years of practical work in their fields. And," he added, "we feel that as a rule it is more advisable to have a year or two of teaching experience, then come back for graduate work."

"This program at Florence State is essentially a Summer one. During the Fall and Spring semesters, late afternoon and Saturday classes are offered so that with the eight weeks sessions the Master's requirements may be completed in three years.

First of the State Colleges to offer the higher degree, Florence State has conferred two: first Mrs. Louise Yates, a teacher in the Lauderdale system, Summer 1958; and Jack Wilhelm, Sheffield, Spring 1959.

Included in the total graduate division enrollment of 73 are: Lydia C. Barnes, West Palm Beach, Fla.; William Henry Eernoe, Annie Mae Bevis, Lois Young Blackburn, Lavinia S. Blakely, all of Florence; Ruby Irene Boatman, Waterloo; Jewell M. Brooks, Florence; John Bates Bostick, Sheffield; David Brown, Tusculumbia; Grace Mackey Brown, Sheffield; Imogene V. Cantrell, Tusculumbia; Doris S. Chitwood, Moulton; Frances M. Cook, Martha W. Cook, Tusculumbia; Glenda S. Crawford, Sheffield; Gracie Parsons Culver, Florence; Atha Clarence Curry, Sheffield.

William Andy Davis, Double Springs; Sara Stewart DeLony, Jennie Ellen Dorris, Florence; Arthur Greenhill Emmons, Gearldine W. Evans, Sheffield; Eugene A. Farley, Decatur; Eva Slaten Fuller, Florence; Emma Bonner Garner, Phil Campbell; Dixie Hancock Griffith, Tallahassee; JoAnn Grisham, Cherokee; Charles Barbee Hamilton, Rogersville; Cherokee McKicken Hamilton, Florence; James Harold Harris, Sheffield; Almon B. Harold Holcombe, Lexington; Carolyn Richeson Hovatter, James Edward Hord, Tusculumbia; Virginia Little LeCates, Florence.

John E. Lewis, Cloverdale; Kenneth Logan, Florence; Thema Chennault McGee, Florence; Rebecca Bishop McWilliams, Cherokee; Frances Sullivan Mann, Hodges; Jimmie Lou Martin, Florence; Mildred Davis Mize, Mary J. Moore, Tusculumbia; Eliza Henry Muse, Essie Curtis Newbern, Florence; Linnell Orr, Hartsville; James A. Patterson, Florence; Helen Gardiner Pickens, Sheffield; Maurine Rhodes Pittman, Florence; Glennis B. Posey, Double Springs; Richard Eugene Prestage, Florence; Belle Richardson, Tusculumbia; Thelma W. Richey, Russellville; Mithel U. Riggs, Mt. Hope; Douglass Robertson, Charline Robinson, Florence.

Doris Elaine Rutledge, Sheffield; Thomas H. Schell, Florence; Nettie L. Sherrod, Tusculumbia; Lucile Baker Sims, Phil Campbell; Donald W. Stovall, Carbon Hill; Elmon Terry, Florence; Bryce William Tidmore, Tusculumbia; Elizabeth Belle Walker, Florence; James B. Wesson, Lexington; James H. Whitfield, Russellville; Aileen Bishop Williams, James Lawrence Williams, Florence; Margaret Poindexter, Russellville; Sadie M. Willingham, Sheffield; Gertie Wisdom, Lawrenceburg, Tenn.; Mary Lynn Wombacher, Leighton.

Chicagoans Will Entertain Queen

Queen Elizabeth's visit to Chicago in July will provide a sparkling contrast to the city's first experience with royalty nearly 100 years ago.

Chicago's budding society was itching to show off its finery—imported from the East—and to display the fancy drills it had practiced for a grand parade, when the Prince of Wales came to town in 1860.

But Albert Edward—later King Edward VII—came incognito as Baron Renfrew. He squelched the plans for celebrations in his honor and insisted on being treated like an ordinary Englishman.

Mayor "Long John" Wentworth saved face by declaring that the prince was merely following the wishes for most Chicagoans, who did not like "kow-towing to royalty."

MOVIES TO BE SHOWN AT FLORENCE STATE
During the Summer session at Florence State, movies will be regularly featured each Friday night at 7:30 in Memorial Amphitheater. This week's picture is "Quo Vadis" starring Deborah Kerr and Robert Taylor.

TVA Revises Fact Booklet

To provide facts to answer questions most frequently asked about its operations, TVA has revised and brought up to date a publication originally issued several years ago, "Facts About TVA Operations," the agency announced today. Copies of the revised publication now are available.

The booklet discusses TVA power, tax and in-lieu payments on TVA power, operating costs, coal purchasing procedures, TVA's relations with the fertilizer industry, flood control and navigation features of the multiple-purpose system, and many other subjects.

HEART ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT POINT CLEAR

The annual meeting of the Alabama Heart Association and the Eighth Annual South Alabama Scientific Sessions on cardiovascular diseases will be held at the Grand Hotel in Point Clear, June 27.

Dr. Maxwell Moody, Jr., Tusculumbia, association president, said the meeting should have far-reaching effects on the citizens of Alabama.

Advance registration and dinner reservations are now being taken at association headquarters, 2912 7th Avenue South, Birmingham. More than 200 physicians, lay members and guests are expected to attend.

DR. MENNINGER ADDRESSES HOUSE AND SENATE

Endorsement of a $7 million tax bill supporting Alabama's mental institutions by 21 leading church, health, labor and civic agencies in the state added significance to the appearance in Montgomery Friday of Dr. William C. Menninger, distinguished psychiatrist and president of the Menninger Foundation. Dr. Menninger will address the combined Senate and House on the problem of caring for the mentally ill.

The proposed bill to increase the per diem allowance for mental patients from $2.36 to $3.60 would place a one-cent per bottle tax on beer and 10 per cent tax on whiskey, raising a two-year crash budget of almost $7 million. This would also provide for preventive psychiatry in the University of Alabama Medical Center, at clinics

SEVEN RABIES CASES REPORTED IN STATE

Seven cases of animal rabies were recorded in Alabama during May. The State Health Department said today that this is the lowest number of cases reported in a single month in several years.

The May cases were reported by Jefferson County which had four dogs, Chambers County with one dog and Dale County with one dog and one cow. None were reported in Lauderdale County.

a charge account tailored to your individual spending plan*

1. You decide how much you wish to pay each month according to your balance. For example:

If Your Balance is ...	UP TO $10.	$11- $20.	$21- $40.	$41- $60.	$61- $80.	$81- $100.
Then Your Monthly Payment is ...	Amt. of Bal.	$5.00	$10.00	$15.00	$20.00	$25.00

2. You pay nothing down. Each month you will receive a statement showing the amount purchased, payments and balance, plus 1% service charge on the previous month's unpaid balance. At your option you may use your custom account as a regular 30 day charge account.

3. Your account need not be paid in full before you use it again. You may make additional purchases at any time. As your balance increases your payment increases; as your balance decreases so does your payment.

4. Open your custom account at our store, in person, or write or phone. Our custom account is designed to give you the convenience and prestige of a charge account... the ease of long-range payments.

Fit out the tykes in one shopping trip. You can outfit them with every stitch they need for camp or school all at one time, knowing the billing will be spaced over 4 months. What a relief to bring the brood shopping just once a season.

SPORTS

Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson Monday finished his training for tonight's title bout with Ingemar Johansson with another two round workout in his steaming indoor gym. Trainer Dan Florio had to caution the 24-year-old champion several times to ease up when he started to batter his sparring partners. In sharp contrast to the challenger who finished boxing Saturday and did his last roadwork last Thursday, Patterson ran 4 1/2 miles Tuesday morning and loosened up briefly in the gymnasium yesterday. The fight will not be televised but will be carried on radio.

The Baltimore Orioles decided Monday to find out if history could repeat and signed up a 23-year-old rookie pitcher, Gary Cooper Wilhelm. He's the brother of Hoyt Wilhelm, the Orioles pitcher who has revived the knuckle ball craze. Gary will start learning with Bluefield, W. Va., the Baltimore entry in the all-rookie Class D Appalachian League which opens its season Thursday.

The American Legion will withdraw its support and fund-raising activities for the 1960 Olympic games unless the Chinese Nationalist Olympic team is allowed to participate. National Commander Preston J. Moore said last Thursday. The American Olympic team receives no government subsidy and is dependent upon voluntary contributions of amateur sports lovers to finance its expenses.

Baseball's third major league is a step closer to reality. A nucleus of cities, including New York, plan to announce the league's official formation by July 15. It expects to operate in 1961. Bill Shea, chairman of Mayor Wagner's baseball committee, said the three main groups of backers of the New York franchise are headed by Mrs. Charles S. Payson, sister of John Hay Whitney, American ambassador to Great Britain; Mrs. Dorothy Killam of Montreal, and Dwight Davis, son of the donor of Tennis' Davis Cup trophy.

Gene Fullmer will fight Carmen Basilio for the National Boxing Assn. middleweight championship at the San Francisco Cow Palace Aug. 28, the Salt Lake Tribune said Tuesday night. Sports Editor John Mooney said the announcement of the site and date would be made in New York Friday morning.

Auburn's first All American football player, James Franklin (Jimmy) Hitchcock, Jr., died of a heart attack in Montgomery Wednesday. He would have been 48 Sunday. Born at Union Springs where he played tackle as a gangling 15-year-old 135-pounder on the high school team, he entered Auburn in 1928 where he developed into a triple-threat halfback. Hitchcock, a member of the Auburn Board of Trustees, was elected to football's national Hall of Fame in 1954. He led Auburn to its first undefeated season in 1932.

Marines Near Full Strength

The Marines' "Johnny Reb Company" is nearing full strength according to Marine Recruiting Sergeant Henry F. Smith. This is the "company" composed of young men from Alabama and Northwest Florida that leaves for active service on July 1.

The limited number of vacancies are now being filled by high quality individuals who can qualify. When the "company" reaches full strength it is expected that it will be a 100% high school graduate unit.

Young men may enlist in the Marines now, thereby reserving a place in the "Johnny Reb" unit, and remain at home until the reporting date. On July 1, they will report to Birmingham and leave for active service.

Sergeant Smith will be pleased to furnish full information on the "Johnny Reb Company" to all interested individuals. He is located at the Post Office Building in Florence on Tuesday and Thursdays.

First Federal Dividend Payment Shows Big Increase

Large Amount Due To Increased Dividend Rate; Higher Savings Total

The regular semi-annual dividend by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Florence will be made June 30, W. L. Foy, Sr., president, said today. Mr. Foy further stated that a reflection of the increased dividend rate of 4% recently voted by the board of directors and a considerable increase in its savings total is shown in the figure of $340,000.

The new rate of 4% was made retroactive to January 1st and dividends will be figured at that rate in the June 30 payment, Mr. Foy said. This large disbursement of cash will come as welcome news to the thousands of savers at First Federal living in the Muscle Shoals area and will have a considerable impact upon the economy of the district, it is pointed out.

While announcing this splendid dividend increase, Mr. Foy also hailed the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, the permanent government agency established in 1934 to insure savings accounts in savings associations against loss up to a maximum of $10,000 per account. This agency's contributions to the nation's thrift and home ownership movement over the last quarter century have been tremendous, said Mr. Foy, who listed some of these contributions as follows:

Increased confidence in savings and loan associations, resulting in a vastly increased flow of savings which made available a continuing and ever-growing supply of home mortgage funds to meet the needs of an increasing population. Savings account insurance has enabled insured savings associations to make long-term loans on homes at more liberal terms and at lower interest rates, to the advantage of today's cost conscious home buyer. Home ownership has expanded from roughly 45% of the population in 1934 to over 60% today, Mr. Foy added.

It is a tribute to the soundness of savings and loan management policies—and to the public supervision of the FSLIC, that since the establishment of this agency a penny in insured savings accounts in America's Insured Savings and Loan Associations, and this agency most certainly deserves the thanks of the American people, Mr. Foy concluded.

Governor Urges Passage Of Small Loan Measure

Gov. John Patterson has again called for the early passage of the Gilchrist Bill to regulate the small loan business in Alabama.

The Gilchrist bill was drafted by an interim sub-committee headed by Rep. Bob Gilchrist of Morgan. This is the first time since the late 1920's that a committee of the State Legislature has approved a prospective bill considered unfavorable to the small lenders.

Under this bill, the charges on small loans would be based on a percent-per-month schedule.

The measure also provides a criminal penalty for charging usury, forfeiture of both principal and interest if the law is violated, revocation of small loan license and a reasonable attorney's fee for the borrower if he is forced to defend himself against a usurious contract.

Leighton Dial System Cut In

Leighton's new dial telephone system was cut into service Sunday, June 21 on schedule. All new telephone numbers were cut into service at 1:01 a.m. Sunday morning. These new Gilbert 6 numbers make it possible for Tri-Cities telephone users to call Leighton users without a long distance charge. Toll - free calling from Leighton to the Tri-Cities also became possible with the change. The new two-letter-five number calling plan also ties

Leighton into the nation-wide numbering plan.

"We are glad that this new dial system could be provided for our Leighton users," W. L. Ferguson, telephone manager in Sheffield stated. "Also, that the long distance charge between our towns has been eliminated."

Roy Berryman, Leighton Mayor, cut the new system into service and said that he felt that this was a fine step forward for the City of Leighton.

WHAT DOES THIS SIGN MEAN?

The R in this symbol is an abbreviation of the imperative of the Latin verb "recipio," meaning to take. In French, the letter P for "prenez" (take) is used. The stroke at the base of the R goes back to the ancient days of superstition, when an invocation, or prayer to a favorite deity was used ... the sign of Jupiter, the chief divinity of the Roman gods, was customarily employed. Even today, this final stroke is a part of the prescription symbol.

THE R IS FOUND ON EVERY PRESCRIPTION, BUT THE SKILL AND INTEGRITY INVOLVED IN COMPOUNDING AND DISPENSING EACH PRESCRIPTION IS OUR OWN PERSONAL CONTRIBUTION TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By BOB JONES

Eighth District
REPRESENTATIVE

Old fears that Alabama would lose cotton acreage have been relieved greatly. On March 25, I introduced a bill, HR 6052, asking permanent acreage history for all price-supported commodities. The acreage history provision is due to expire at the end of this crop year. My proposal got a further lift this week when Chairman

Cooley of the House Agriculture Committee introduced a bill which corresponds with mine. It received the approval of True D. Morse, Acting Secretary of the USDA. My bill and the Cooley bill provide that a county would not lose acreage even if some farmers failed to plant cotton. If a farmer failed to plant 75% of his allotment, his base allotment would be reduced for the next year. But the County ASC Committee could put this unused acreage "in a bank," and redistribute it to other farmers in the county. This plan has the full backing of most cotton producers' organizations and study groups in several states, including Alabama. The net effect will be to freeze cotton acreage history at the present state and county levels. It will do much to hold our cotton acreage in Alabama. The Agriculture Committee will have hearings within a few days and approval is expected. Jones Bill

My bill, the Public Buildings Act of 1959, has been reported to the House for debate by the Public Works Committee. The House is scheduled to consider the bill next week. Outlook for passage is good

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	2 Chronicles	20	20-37
Monday	Revelation	22	6-21
Tuesday	Leviticus	14	1-20
Wednesday	Leviticus	19	1-18
Thursday	Numbers	20	1-13
Friday	2 Kings	11	1-16
Saturday	2 Kings	12	8

When I walk out of my front door, it always gives me a good feeling to see the spire of the church down the street.

A church spire makes you look upward. You have an irresistible urge to gaze at its highest point. It is a lofty symbol, the physical manifestation of an ideal.

Sometimes, when I step through my front door, my thoughts are on the "down" side. Then I look toward the church, my eyes travel to the sky, and I feel better, no matter what my troubles.

Next time you're near a church — try it and see. Better still, try going inside.

Corner on Cotton BY BOB COLLINS

Think you won't be affected by crop support limitations recently voted by both houses of Congress because you are a "small" cotton farmer? ... we'll bet you are wrong ... first, limitations on loans can seriously disrupt orderly marketing processes and depress prices, forcing many small farmers to use the loan when they would not otherwise (and this could mean more cotton will go into the CCC rather than less) ... it would work like this: Loan limits could force the sale of much of the crop as it comes from the fields since it would be entirely unsupported and the producer would need his money immediately ... of course storage charges and interest are paid ... this selling the unsupported crop as it comes from the field could drive down the prices and all cotton farmers could get hurt ... of course, the ideal thing is to have a cotton crop that stands on its own feet without having or needing supports, but it can't be done this way ... in the past not so disturbing disruptions of established commercial procedures have started tragic chain reactions in our overall economy ... the politicians are playing with fire.

Added Strength

Research is underway to add strength to cotton lint ... those are the short fibers that stick to seed after ginning ... when this is done the linters will have a greater use in papermaking ... right now they have a limited use because they are weaker than the long cotton fibers ... USDA research division is at work on the project.

New Weed Killer

Experiments with diuron during the past two years give some promise of eliminating cost of a couple of cultivations ... this weed killer was applied early in the season when cotton was six to eight inches high.

The Cost

Diseases, weeds, and, of course, insects are the biggest headaches for cotton farmers ... cost of these is about 12c per pound of cotton ... no estimate is available on what politicians are costing farmers.

Agricultural Reminders

By S. M. EICH, JR.,
Assistant County Agent

We have many farmers who ask us how much feed and how many acres of grazing should I have for my beef cattle, dairy cattle, and hogs. We know that this will vary somewhat on each individual farm. For beef and dairy cattle you should have 1 to 2 acres of clover-grass pasture per mature animal. This should consist of something like Dallis grass, orchard grass and white clover.

In addition to this 1 to 2 acres of clover-grass pasture per mature beef or dairy animal, one-fourth to one-half acre of temporary summer grazing crops like Star millet, sudan or kudzu should be provided. Of course, these summer grazing crops should be seeded after a small grain crop or some other cool season, growing crop. About 1 acre should also be provided for supplementary cool grazing crops. These crops can be double cropped and consist of rye, oats or wheat alone; ryegrass and crimson clover; rescue grass and crimson clover; rye, ryegrass and crimson clover; or small grains and crimson clover. Let us go back now and sum this up. Provide 1 to 2 acres of clover-grass pasture, one-fourth to one-half acre temporary summer grazing crops and 1 acre of supplementary cool season grazing crops per mature animal. This system should provide ample grazing in most years for your beef and dairy animals.

In addition to the grazing I just mentioned, 2 to 3 tons of hay or 6 to 9 tons of silage for each dairy cow and about half that amount for each beef should be provided. Hay can be provided by alfalfa, coastal bermuda, oats and vetch, or sorghum. Silage can be made from corn, sweet sorghum, alfalfa, high quality surplus pasture growth, or Star millet. Then 6 to 8 bushels of corn or its equivalent should be provided for each beef cow and 20 to 25 bushels of corn or its equivalent per dairy cow. Grain may consist of corn, oats, wheat or grain sorghum.

The hog producer should provide 2 acres of grazing, one in winter and one in summer, for each sow and her 2 litters. Grazing can consist of alfalfa, Ladino clover, oats, small grains and legumes, or Star millet. In addition 175 bushels of corn or its equivalent should be provided for each sow and her 2 litters.

This may sound as if it takes a lot of feed for these animals. Farmers who have made a success with dairying, hog production, or beef cattle production are providing abundance of high quality feed. These points are worthy of our consideration, and I hope will give many of you an idea of how much feed to store this summer.

Stake Tomatoes For Better Fruit

Better quality tomatoes can usually be obtained by staking. API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby recommends stakes that are from 48 to 60 inches long and from 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Stake the tomatoes soon after the first bud is formed, and place it about six to eight inches from the plant on the side opposite the fruit cluster.

The specialist says that tomatoes may be staked and pruned in several ways. All the suckers are removed as soon as they appear in the leaf axils when the plant is pruned to one stem. To protect the fruit from sun scalding, the sucker or shoot over each fruit cluster may be allowed to form one or two leaves before pinching off the terminal bud.

When the tomatoes are pruned to two stems, remove the lower suckers except for the one just below the first bloom. This sucker will form the second stem.

When the plant is to be staked but not pruned, remove the bottom two or three suckers until the first sucker below the first bloom appears. Leave this one and do no more pruning.

When tying plants with one- or two-stem systems to stakes, Bagby advises making the first tie under the first fruit cluster. Another tie should be made under each new cluster as it develops. In making the tie, loop the string about the stem, cross it, and tie it in back of the stake. Make sure that enough room is left in the tie for the expansion of the stem.

When the vine is not pruned, tie the string fairly tightly about the stake and make a loop encircling the plant.

In May, 1775, lumberjacks with muskets, axes and pitchforks, under Jeremiah O'Brien, captured a British war-schooner off Machinais, Maine. The Yankees and their sloop are on record as the first sea battle of the American Revolution.

A. A. Ballew Praises Alfalfa

Cloverdale Farmer
Follows Advice Of County Agent Marks

"My alfalfa crop is almost unbelievable," says A. A. Ballew of Cloverdale County. Last year Ballew consulted Assistant County Agent Herman Marks for recommendations on growing alfalfa. He followed the advice as closely as possible in preparing the land and fertilizing. During the last of August he broadcast 25 pounds of Kansas common seed per acre.

Although the Cloverdale Rt. 1 farmer had selected good land and closely followed recommendations, he found the first yield hard to believe. After the first cutting, he weighed several average bales to determine the amount of production. The total weight was 24,400 pounds on slightly less than four acres, or approximately three tons per acre. Both Marks and Ballew were surprised when the first cutting yielded almost 12 tons.

Ballew is a resident of Central community. Besides alfalfa, he produces 10.6 acres of cotton, 49 acres of corn, 135 acres of pasture, and 36 registered Shorthorn brood cows.

Use Electricity With Caution.

Electricity can be dangerous, so don't play around with it. Careless handling of electrical wires and equipment kills about 150 people each year and injures another 5,000, reports API Extension Engineer Bill Cox. A few simple precautions can keep electricity a faithful servant instead of a public enemy.

According to Cox, it is dangerous to change a fuse if you are standing on a damp floor or on the ground. Be sure to stand on a dry board to prevent being shocked.

Also dangerous when handled improperly are television antennas. When these are placed near high voltage electric lines, the person installing them may be killed. A storm could blow the antenna on a line causing high voltage electricity to enter the home. Therefore, warns Cox, make certain that the antenna is installed on the side of the house away from the power line.

"Washing machines that are not grounded can kill you," says the engineer. See to it that a ground wire connects the frame of the machine to a water pipe or other good ground. Small portable electrical tools such as drills, saws, and hedge clippers become menaces if they short-out to their frames. In this case, your body becomes the best path for the electricity to go to the ground and you will be shocked or killed. Don't neglect having a special

Pay Attention To Tail-End Pigs

Paying attention to "tail-end" pigs can mean better profits.

According to Extension Hog Production Specialist G. B. Phillips, there is usually a good reason why a pig does poorly. However, in most cases they can be pepped up without much extra cost.

One reason for poor-doing pigs may be overcrowding. This means that aggressive pigs get to the feeders first and the more timid ones won't fight for their meals. The specialist recommends self-feeding to remedy this situation, but be sure not to overcrowd the pens.

Phillips points out that penning together pigs of uneven size or age may increase the number of tail enders. In this case the older and larger pigs are more aggressive and cause the smaller animals to fall further behind. It's important that the weight range between animals in the same pen not exceed 20 percent or below the average of the herd.

Disease may be causing the trouble. Be sure to check for symptoms of worms, mange, rhinitis, and other diseases. It's a good idea to have the pigs checked by a veterinarian before any disease spreads. Also, the specialist warns that internal parasites often keep pigs in the tail-end group.

Although the problem isn't as big now as it was a few years ago, pigs can get a poor start if the sow wasn't fed well before farrowing. Most growers now use rations with well balanced supplements instead of following a corn alone feed program.

Mrs. Patterson Entertained
On Friday at noon guests celebrating an eighty-third birthday anniversary with Mrs. Maude Patterson packed food and drink and availed themselves of the delightful facilities of the park at Elk River for the occasion.

From Decatur were the Jimmie Fouts (Ruth), Mrs. Nelle Jones and Mike from Florence, Mrs. William (Flora Edna) Blount and twin daughters, Barbara and Betty, of Scottsboro and Miss Mary Kay Patterson made up the party.

Visitors Entertained
Mrs. Jimmie Porter (Cleo Romine) and Mrs. Myrtle Romine Nagel of Edna, Texas, made an annual visit to Alabama which is the occasion of many gatherings of relatives and friends. On Tuesday the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harrison was the place of meeting for a luncheon at which Mrs. Annabel Parker, Mrs. Eddie Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Otha Rose, Mrs. Helen Pilgrim, Mrs. Albert Ray Harrison and Mrs. A. D. Ray of Waterloo were guests.

Surprise Birthday Dinner
Marvin Miller, with the help of friends, succeeded in completely surprising his wife on Sunday, her birthday anniversary, with dinner for which these were present: Mrs. J. H. Belew, Florence; Mrs. Ila Mae Griffin, Mrs. Melba Richardson and Dannie, Mr. and Mrs. James Craig and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pratt, Don, Mike and Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Lake Bates, Athens; Mrs. Leo Bates, Carland Leroy, Vinemont, Ala.; Ray Miller, Old Hickory, Tenn., and from Rogersville, Mrs. Mollie Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Richardson, and Dwight, Mrs. Beulah Griffin, Mrs. Odell Bates and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller.

Conversation and singing were diversions of the afternoon.

Personal
Guests of friends in Rogersville for the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Calvert and son of Cullman.

In the C. J. Pennington home were Mr. Pennington's sister, Mrs. Alton Nevins, Mr. Nevins and children of Hamilton, Miss., for the week-end.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crymes, Miss Lester Grisham and other relatives is Mrs. Oliver C. McLenore of Murray, Ky. Chevy heavyweight takes all the meanness out of tough hauls!

L.C.F. model 9103 maneuvers long load over rough terrain with ease.

When a truck goes to work for Lester Brothers, Inc., of Martinsville, Virginia, it's in for a life of extra-hard labor. Loads are whoppers—whole sections of Leasco prefab homes. Runs are scheduled without let up. And at the job sites the going's always tough. That's why Lester Brothers specify Chevrolet; why they're adding new ones as soon as the older models need replacing. Chevies take the meanness out of the roughest jobs. And they cost less to maintain than any other trucks Lester Brothers have owned!

A going concern like Lester Brothers, with tight delivery dates to meet every day in the week, demands maximum truck dependability and performance. And, mister, they get it—with most of their Chevrolets going at least 100,000 miles (some of them 150,000) before the engine heads even come off! With big truck V8's that hum right along on hurry-up schedules. With Chevy trucks that are easier to handle, specialists at getting in and out of congested job sites.

This particular operation sure points up Chevrolet's natural ability to handle any kind of job that could come along. It illustrates what we've been saying for a long time—that once you put a Chevy on the payroll, that tough job loses its fight fast and settles down to a smooth-running routine. If your job demands even half as much as this one does, you've got good reason to visit your Chevrolet dealer. He's the man with specific information... the man to see before another good working day goes by.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!
