Editorial

Monday, the citizens of Florence can take a gigantic step forward—or they can decide that all is well and just drift with the tide.

Some months ago, in an advisory election, the people expressed themselves by a majority vote that they preferred a city government headed by a full-time mayor and two part-time commissioners. With this mandate, our State Senator and Representatives made possible an expression by the voters, through a legal election, a definite decision on this important matter. This decision will be recorded in Monday's election when voters will decide whether Florence will have a modern city government or continue with the out-dated, over-taxed system now in use.

There will be no candidates in Monday's election. The decision will be based solely on "how" our city will be governed not "who" will direct its affairs. Should the vote be in favor of the full-time mayor, then 60 days later (Nov. 30) an election will be held in which candidates will be voted upon for the three posts to be filled.

Why Full-Time Mayor?
Two and only two arguments against the change in city government (as far as we know) are being advanced. (1) We are getting along fine with our present set-up. (2) Why pay $19,200 for the service we now get for $8,400.

It is true that, in the main, we have been blessed with splendid, dedicated city officials who have rendered outstanding civic service at small pay and often at sacrifices in money to them. But, today Florence has 35,000 population and part-time officials just can not do the job that needs to be done. How fortunate we would be if our mayor were free to make all the contacts, in person, that lead to more and better industries for our city; would be available at the city hall at all times to do the thousand and one things asked of him. What a savings in the close supervision of the city's business this would mean. His salary would be small in comparison.

ALL SMILES—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower appear to be in accord on something that tickled the funnybones of the two world leaders during the former's current visit to this country. Following Khrushchev's tour of the West Coast this week the two will confer on more serious matters before the Soviet leader leaves for home.

Ike, Premier To Hold Discussion World Problems

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev appeared weary Wednesday from his whirlwind tour of the United States that included visits all the way from turkey farms in Maryland to the land of make believe in Hollywood.

Contrary to the facts about the cold war, the Soviet leader on almost every stop told newsmen and others that he was on a peaceful mission and desired nothing better than an end to tensions and bitter debate.

President Eisenhower last year in his report on America's part in the UN programs said, "the chief danger... since the founding of the United Nations, has been the failure of the Soviet Union to cooperate in achieving objectives of the organization."

In fact Khrushchev's speech before the UN General Assembly was repeated with distortions, his discussion of disarmament being completely at odds with the facts borne out during the past 25 years.

Tuesday visiting Iowa, Khrushchev appeared in a more jovial mood and more at home in discussing corn and other crops in the state of "tall corn." His greeting there was one of the warmest he had received since coming to America news reports stated. His prepared text before a dinner group at the University of Iowa in Des Moines called upon Americans to enter into competition with Russians in agriculture instead of the mass production of weapons.

Previously Khrushchev had been angered by the reception he received in Los Angeles, especially Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson's speech. He complained of what he called "conscious distortion of his words."

President Eisenhower meanwhile called for courteous treatment of the visiting Soviet leader. The goal of constructive conversations between the President and Khrushchev, "would not be served, by any, word, or action, or deed, or Russian leader," White House secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen.

"As you know the President's basic purpose and desire is to have Khrushchev see our country prior to the discussions of mutual interest he will have with him at Camp David this week-end."

Darby, Jr., and Newton Haraway will be the other committee-men.

Named as alternates for Lauderdale were Jim Montgomery, first alternate and William W. Smith, second alternate.

Appeals Court Upholds Pupil Placement Law

Number Southern States Affected By Decision Rendered In Arkansas Cases

On Monday, a three-judge U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a lower court order that three Negro children be admitted to an all-white school in the rural Dollarway School District near Pine Bluff, Ark.

The court upheld validity of Arkansas' pupil placement laws in a decision that is hoped will pave the way toward a peaceful and orderly transition to public school integration.

The court held that these three children and any other Negro children desiring to change schools may make their applications under the state pupil placement laws.

These placement laws are patterned after those in Alabama and North Carolina, and provide a set of 15 standards to be considered in the case of each individual pupil. These standards deal with the child's scholastic aptitude, mental energy and the impact his admission would have on other students.

Officials Optimistic
Atty. General Bruce Bennett of Arkansas, along with the officials of Dollarway District, were delighted to hear the ruling. Bennett called the case the most vital since the Supreme Court's ruling on public school integration.

The judges were Judge Harvey M. Johnson of Omaha, Martin D. Van Oosterhout of Sioux City, Iowa, and M. C. Matthes of St. Louis. The decision was delivered orally after a hearing that lasted more than two hours. Chief Judge Johnson declared that a written opinion going into fuller detail and a mandate putting it into effect will be filed as soon as possible.

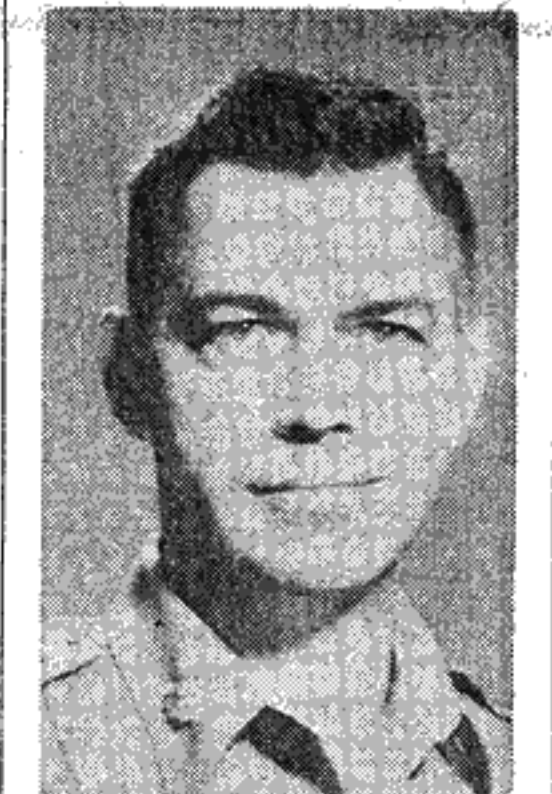

Ruling Appealed
Robert L. Carter of New York, Negro attorney of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had no comment except to say that the Supreme Court would be asked to view the case. He immediately submitted a motion for a stay of mandate until the Court could consider the case.

Although Federal District Judge Axel J. Beck had upheld the placement laws, he ordered admission of the Negro students—Earnestine Dove, James Edward Warfield, and Corliss Smith. The Dollarway District appealed his ruling by contending that he ignored the very laws he upheld. The Negroes appealed his approval of the placement laws.

Horton Trophy Won By Local Post

Local Vet Organization First In State To Reach One Thousand This Year

Frank V. Potts, commander, Florence Post No. 11, American Legion, today announced that the local veterans' organization is the winner of the Willie L. Horton Trophy which, sponsored by Clarence C. Horton in memory of his son who died in service during World War II, is presented annually to the first post in the Department of Alabama to attain a membership of 1,000. Post 11 reached that number on Sept. 19. Huntsville Post was the runner-up in this contest.

Commander Potts stated that the goal of Post 11 was to reach its total goal of 2200 members, to surpass last year's record, by Arm Forces Day, November 11 and indications are that this goal will be reached. Chas. Edgar Young, membership chairman and his committee are hard at work to make this record come true.

The community meetings, delayed because of the two fairs in the county, will be resumed Tuesday when a meeting, following the serving of delicious chicken stew to all members of the post present, will be held at Lexington High School. On Saturday following the Lexington meeting, Legionnaires and prospective members will gather at Central High for a similar session.

All veterans interested in Legion work and membership are invited to attend.

The United States Monday described Red China as an outlaw which has made itself unfit for UN membership by mass murder, atrocities and aggression.

Former U. S. Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson told the General Assembly that the seating of the Chinese Communists would be a mockery of the UN charter.

In his slashing attack, Robertson asserted that "by every standard of international conduct, the Red regime of Peiping is an outlaw. It has perpetrated mass murder and slavery upon its own people."

"In nine years, it has promoted six foreign of civil wars—Korea, Tibet, Indochina, the Philippines, Malaya and Laos. It continues to defy the United Nations decision to reunify Korea."

Learns To Read In Three Short Days

Illiterate Student Joins Wrong Class But Proves Efficiency Of Course

A wonderful recommendation for the new method of teaching the illiterate to read and write was brought out in quite a remarkable way when a student in Mrs. J. M. Massey's class at Florence State revealed that he had mistakenly joined the class for illiterates. After attending the class for only three days, he amazed everyone by reading three short sentences.

This is only one of the inspiring stories of men and women who have learned to read and write through the literacy movement which began here last April. There are some 49 students at the present taking these literacy classes in homes, churches, schools, and libraries. They are all showing much progress.

Another interesting fact about this particular student is that unlike most illiterate people, who are shy, and hesitant about entering such classes, he was not, and was very anxious to learn.

Mrs. Massey stresses the correct method in inviting students to learn to read and write.

Mrs. Arnold Smith (Dorothy Dabney) of Montgomery will arrive today to be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Van Arnold of North Wood Avenue, Florence.

School Day At Big Fair
An estimated crowd of 35,000 is believed to have broken all previous first night records for the North Alabama State Fair which opened its gates on Monday night in celebration of its Silver Anniversary.

An increasing interest in the Fair this year is brought on by several noticeable changes. Crowds have been so large in the past few years that the fair grounds have been out of necessity enlarged and modernized by the additional parking space added, enlargement of both the grandstand and exhibit halls, and the addition of modern restrooms and many other conveniences.

As well as the "physical" aspects of the Fair, the entertainment featured in the grandstand show is exceptionally fine this year. Acts such as Landon and his Midgits, who have appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show on T.V., the Mendel Trio highwire act which was featured recently in a movie, and local talent from this area have captivated the thousands of spectators making up the audience.

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● We still can't understand why the voters of Florence shy away from the polls. We have found the polling places very delightful with pleasant surroundings and have enjoyed our visits to cast our ballot. And yet less than 2,000 of the possible 8,000 voters took part in the election Monday in which Commissioner Alvah E. Hall won over E. T. Stovall by a vote of 1,278 to 679 making a total of 1957 votes cast. If Mr. Khrushchev was directing the voting in Communist style, all 8,000 would rush to the polls. And we don't mean maybe.

● "Opened by mistake" could also be stamped on most charge accounts.

● Last year, when Commissioner George J. Green was elected, just 1917 voted. Mr. Green, in comparing the winner's total vote Monday night, discovered that Commissioner Hall had received 17 more votes than his winning number. He said he studied over the matter for some time but finally came up with the answer: Mr. Hall has 17 more kinsmen in Florence than he has.

● It has been conclusively proved that money does not bring happiness. A man with five million dollars is no happier than a man with four million dollars.

● Although a subscription to this newspaper has long been recognized as the highest value offered in this city, still this year it is an even bigger bargain. The fact that there are 53 weeks in 1959 makes it so. Now, don't call us a fibber but in this office we measure the weeks by each issue of The Herald and this year you will receive 53 copies for the price of 52 as there are 53 Thursdays in this 12 months. Your first issue this year reached you on Thursday, January 1st. Your final issue of the year will reach you on Thursday, December 31st. Between those two dates there are an additional 51 Thursdays, each one highlighted by the receipt of your favorite newspaper.

● The only subject we flunked in college was math and we have long known that we were poor in arithmetic. However, we are certain that 36-21-36 adds up to a nice figure.

● The story is told of a local farmer who drove to town the other day to sell a load of cattle. After disposing of them at the livestock auction, he decided to buy himself new clothes. He bought a suit, hat, shoes, some shirts, ties and an assortment of underwear. On a deserted spot along the river and decided to surprise his wife by arriving in a completely new outfit. As he took off the back of his truck for his new outfit, he was shocked to find all his purchases gone. Standing there in the nude in deep thought, he finally got back in the car, started the motor, and said to himself: "Well, I guess I'll beat it on home—and surprise the old girl anyway."

● A man who thinks he's smarter than his wife—has a smart wife.

● Did you hear about the enterprising salesman who went around the mortuaries and bought up all the ashes of cremated people and sold them to the cannibals as "instant people?" (We wish we hadn't mentioned it.)

Smaller Cars Will Help

While much emphasis has been placed on alcohol as the major cause of traffic accidents, and it still is, it is not to blame for as many fatal accidents as one might imagine.

Excessive speed is today's great killer and it seems that no amount of speed regulations has any effect on the speed demon when he feels the surge of 300-horsepower under his feet and sees the speedometer needle climb to 100 miles an hour. The fact that there are no roads where such speed could possibly be safe seems to make no difference.

Where then in the name of common sense is there a logical and reasonable need for such speed? The few safe roads we have, among which are the turnpikes and parkways, have speed laws that are radar-controlled and stiff penalties are invoked against violators.

Each day thousands of new cars are sold by dealers adding to the multiple confusion on city streets and highways to say nothing of the ever-increasing problem of how to park these millions of vehicles.

Recently an underpass was flooded near New York and cars were backed up bumper-to-bumper for 35 miles. In New Jersey the Garden State Parkway has a bumper-to-bumper traffic problem that each Sunday night stretches from the coast resorts to scores of towns in Central New Jersey where the weekend vacationers live. What good is the gas drinking 300 horsepower juggernaut in traffic like this?

Certainly the big automobile manufacturers are smart in bringing out smaller and more economically-operated models. These smaller cars will run as fast as most human beings can safely drive them and at the same time will furnish reliable transportation for many Americans in need of a second car or who are trying to operate a larger car that proves a strain on the family budget.

Once smaller cars make a substantial gain, the number of small foreign cars being already of considerable importance in the traffic picture, there will be a noticeable decrease in fatal traffic accidents.

Something To Think About

Following is a reprint of part of an editorial in the Birmingham News of Friday, September 18th entitled "We're Way Behind In Space." We think the editor's comments are timely:

The blunt comments of Gen. Medaris and Dr. von Braun as to the Soviet moonshot were strong enough to shock any person seriously concerned about the welfare of this nation.

Mr. Eisenhower thinks the Russians do not want a catastrophic nuclear war. We dare say they don't.

But the hard fact is that they are considerably ahead of the United States in the space program. Gen. Medaris thinks we're doing well on military missiles. How well compared with the Russians remains to be seen. We do not know what kind of stockpile of effective, ready-right-now, intercontinental missiles the Reds have.

But we do know from Medaris' and von Braun's comment that if they do have a stockpile they could do serious damage to any number of U. S. citizens.

The advanced guidance system which put the Soviet missile on the moon is sufficient to show conclusively that the Russians now have a guidance system which can put a missile, launched in Russia, within an effective target range anywhere in the United States.

This means that right now they have a guidance system which can hit near enough to the center of downtown Birmingham to destroy this city.

Gen. Medaris believes that if the Russians stopped their research right now it will still take the United States between one and three years to catch up with them. And the Russians are not going to stop work.

Medaris and von Braun believe that the United States can effectively spend twice as much money as we now are spending. The Congress, they say, has never failed to give the Administration what it asked for for space work. The fact is, therefore, that the Administration has not asked for enough.

Gen. Medaris said that he was aware of the Administration's obligation to apportion American money. You can't just dump all your dollars into the space bucket.

But if we are to give these scientists and space men what they say they can effectively use, the money has got to be forthcoming and if necessary this nation is going to have to reduce or eliminate entirely some of the programs which have accumulated over the years.

Khrushchev can feel very confident in the knowledge that his people are ahead of the United States, significantly ahead.

This knowledge is not going to make him any the more willing to fix policies which are reasonable.

The Russians believe right now that they have us on the run.

The American people have got to decide whether they want this situation to continue.

Lt. Brown Talks To Senior Cadets

First Lieutenant Marion L. Brown of Jasper spoke to the senior ROTC cadets of Florence State College Wednesday, September 16, about the duties and responsibilities of a junior officer and their effect on the ROTC graduate.

Lt. Brown graduated from Florence State in January 1956 and following his completion of the ROTC program was commissioned a 2d Lt. in the Artillery. He was called to active duty in March of that year and after completing the Basic Officers Course at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, was ordered to Hawaii where he served with the 25th Infantry Division Artillery. In 1959, Lt. Brown applied for and was awarded a regular army commission in the Quartermaster Corps.

Toll Heavy As Building Collapses

It was announced recently by the rescuing teams in Barletta, Italy, that the death toll resulting from the five-story apartment collapse was almost certain to exceed 100. It is also believed that more than the 118 persons now identified were in the building which crashed due to earthquake violence.

Football Player Dies In Wreck

Jerry Mayhall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mayhall of Double Springs, was killed in a traffic accident last Thursday. The accident occurred 11 miles south of Haleyville on State Highway 278, when the car in which he was riding went out of control while going around a curve. The car was being driven by his 22-year-old brother-in-law, Harold Brownlow. Young Mayhall, a Winston County High School football lineman, was killed instantly from a head wound, just four hours before he was to have played in the football game between Double Springs and Phil Campbell. Brownlow is recovering from severe bruises.

Satellite Placed In Orbit

The 100-pound Vanguard III satellite was boosted into orbit on September 18, thus reviving U.S. prestige in the space exploration field. It was lofted at Cape Canaveral by the last of the Vanguard rockets. This space success follows the two straight flops, one occurring just 14 hours before, the Thor-Able rocket which fissioned in an attempt to place a 265 pound satellite in orbit, and the Jupiter missile carrying mice and frogs on a space flight which exploded on September 16 1,000 feet above the launching pad. The satellite was the third put up in 11 tries by the Vanguard.

Dr. DeFoore Guest Of Exchange Club

First Baptist Minister Reviews Khrushchev's Visit And It's Impact

Dr. John N. DeFoore, pastor, First Baptist Church, was the guest speaker before the Florence Exchange Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Reeder and gave an interesting and provocative address on the impact of the Khrushchev visit to the United States. Barksdale Jordan had charge of program arrangements and presented the speaker.

Dr. DeFoore declared the efforts of a large portion of the people of this country to prevent the visit of the Soviet leader and pointed out that in no other way could we learn the thoughts, actions and habits of those of other nations except through free exchange of visits and ideas. "Neither country can know the other unless each knows the personalities of the people and their ways of life," Dr. DeFoore pointed out. "The cold war will continue until the people get to know each other," the speaker added.

"Made in America" is stamped on all arms and tanks and implements of war seen in the foreign nations of the world but nowhere is seen "Made in America" stamped on the bread and wheat and other aid given to these nations, Dr. DeFoore said. "Further, the most popular TV programs shown in Britain and elsewhere are the gangster or cowboy-Indian films. The most read news articles are the juvenile delinquency and gang warfare stories; the Little Rock scenes and teen-age debauchery are the pictures reproduced, and other such picturing of America in the reading material of all of Europe, the speaker said.

Dr. DeFoore charged that this nation can not last forever and we, too, will fall. History, he pointed out, gives a nation 250 years of life. "We are nearing that age," the minister stressed. "We are not invincible and can't expect to live forever," Dr. DeFoore warned.

WORLD'S GREATEST BARITONE—When Leonard Warren, the Metropolitan Opera's star baritone who will appear in concert at Coffee Auditorium on September 29, made his debut at Milan's La Scala two seasons ago, he was the first non-Italian to sing "Rigoletto" at Italy's premiere opera house. Mr. Warren appears under the auspices of the Muscle Shoals Concert Association. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Leonard Warren To Present Concert

Metropolitan Baritone Will Appear At Coffee Auditorium, Sept. 29

Leonard Warren, Metropolitan Opera star and hailed as the world's greatest baritone, will open the Muscle Shoals Concert Association's 1959 fall season with a concert at Coffee High School auditorium on Tuesday, September 29. Curtain time will be 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Warren who has made headlines around the world when he appeared in the Soviet Union last May for the cultural exchange program, will star this year at the Metropolitan in the much-awaited revival of Verdi's "Macbeth" with Maria Callas as his Lady. He is also scheduled to appear in the new production of "Pagliacci" and in several of his other most notable roles including "Rigoletto" and Scarpia in "Tosca."

The singer called "the world's finest dramatic baritone" by Newsweek Magazine will appear this year on such top radio and TV shows as "The Telephone Hour." His large catalogue of RCA Victor recordings are among the industry's most admired.

Born in New York City, Warren reached the Metropolitan through the Auditions of the Air. After six months' study in Italy, he made his debut in 1939 and rose through minor roles to dominate the company's baritone roster. Despite his American origin, Warren has been hailed around the world as the unique Verdi singer of our time, from Milan's La Scala to Buenos Aires' Teatro Colon. Last season Howard Taubman in the New York Times said "this singing recalls the Golden Age of Song."

Shoals Will Have Educational TV On Channel Five

Cable Company Has Over 2000 Letters Which Now Assure Programs

Bill Mays has more than 2,000 letters, and it's final, now—the Muscle Shoals area will have educational TV.

It won't be long, either. Mays, general manager of Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation, announced Tuesday his company is preparing an application for Channel 10 microwave. Channel 10 is one of three channels licensed to the Alabama Educational Television Commission.

Now serving approximately 70% of the state, the AET network currently programs 67½ hours a week.

The "stars" of its shows are top educators, scientists, and musicians, and experts in various professional and business fields. Programs will include cultural broadcasts, college credit courses, and general informational presentations.

Mays announced several months ago he favored putting educational TV on the cable, if subscribers liked the idea. His statement sparked a supporting clamor by educators and by other citizens anxious to take advantage of the AETC's programming, and a public meeting was called August 27 by the educational committee to the Florence Chamber of Commerce.

At the meeting agreement was reached that only the cable could bring educational TV into the Muscle Shoals area now, since North Alabama's uneven terrain prevents reception on a direct line from Alabama Educational TV Network transmitters.

Mays told the gathering his firm is a public corporation, and explained that he could give cable Channel 5 over to educational programs if 500 citizens of the area would write in to express their desire for it.

As of Tuesday, the cable company had received well over 2,000 letters.

Now on the air Monday through Friday from 8:30 in the morning until 10 at night, the Alabama Educational Television Network has won international praise since it became the first network of its kind in the United States. And it has grown quickly.

Programs originate in studios at API, at the University of Alabama, and in Birmingham; the Birmingham studio is operated by Jefferson County's five school systems.

According to Mays, his application for the microwave channel should be in the hands of the Federal Communications Commission within the next two weeks; the speed with which the FCC acts on the application will determine when Muscle Shoals will get educational television.

Sept. 30 Last Day For Referendum

Joe J. Rasch, chairman of the Lauderdale County ASC committee, Monday reminded wool growers that all ballots in the wool and lamb market development referendum must be voted by Wednesday, Sept. 30. Lauderdale has some eight eligible wool growers.

Ballots were mailed to all known wool and lamb growers. If the ballot is mailed, it must be postmarked no later than Sept. 30. If not mailed, the ballot can be brought to the county ASC office.

The referendum gives the farmer who produces wool a chance to vote yes or no on approval of a new agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council for the advertising and sales promotion of lamb and wool.

Deductions will be made from government wool and lamb payments for the 1959, 1960, and 1961 marketing years to finance the Council's activities if the agreement is approved.

Miss Jean Davis Weds In Late Afternoon Ceremony

Highland Baptist Church of Florence was the scene on Saturday afternoon, September nineteenth, of the exchange of nuptial vows between Jean Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Davis of 1009 Olive Street, and Madison Davis, Jr., in a five o'clock ceremony.

The Reverend L. E. Kelley, minister of the church, read the vows following musical selections by Alan Flowers, organist, before an altar decorated for the occasion with arrangements of white stock and specimen chrysanthemums against a background of greenery. Myriad candles burned in wroughtiron candelabra and a single cathedral taper glowed at either end of the white satin prayer bench. A cluster of tuberoses and stock flowers, tied with white satin streamers, marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of white Chantilly lace and bridal satin was distinguished by a Sabrina neckline detailed with lace appliques, re-embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent, and bracelet-length sleeves. Floating panels of lace extended from a bustle-effect at the back of the voluminous, floor-length skirt.

Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried an arm-bouquet of white roses and pink lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Darwin Davis was her sister-in-law's honor attendant and bridesmaids were Mrs. William Campbell of Gunterville and Miss Carolyn Davis of Fort Davis, sisters of the bridegroom, Miss LaVonne Kennedy of Florence and Miss Gail Davis of Vana, the bride's cousins. Mrs. Ronald Meeks of Fort Campbell, Kentucky, and Miss Vickie Dean Scott of Florence, also a cousin of the bride and junior attendant.

The matron-of-honor wore a cerise satin dress with a shawl collar which dipped to a deep V in the back, and a bell-shaped skirt. Other attendants were in pink satin of identical styling. Flat bow head-dresses with tiny veils matched their frocks and they each wore a pearl pendant, their gift from the bride. The honor attendant carried a bouquet of pink roses and the bridesmaids' flowers were American Beauties.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Davis of Fort Davis, Alabama, the groom chose his father as his best man and ushers were Darwin Davis, brother of the bride, William Campbell, Lt. Hubert T. Davis of Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, and Joseph L. Davis of Ft. Davis, cousins of the bridegroom, and Jack A. Worley of Florence. Steve Akin of Tusculum, cousin of the bride, was junior attendant.

Mrs. Davis, mother of the bride, was gowned in candlelight peau de soie and the bridegroom's mother wore a model of rose lace. Their accessories matched their dresses and orchids were pinned at their shoulders.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were reception hosts at Florence Golf and Country Club. Assisting were Mrs. Jack Turner of Birmingham, Mrs. Dayton Akin of Tusculum, Mrs. T. V. Scott, Mrs. Eugene McMeans, Mrs. Jack A. Worley, Mrs. Henry Romine, Mrs. J. G. Fortney, Mrs. Sam McMahan, Mrs. Fred Thomas, Mrs. A. I. Beadle and Miss Anne Beadle of Florence and Mrs. J. W. Gaskins of Sheffield.

Before leaving for a Florida honeymoon, the bride changed to a costume suit of royal blue silk faille, matching velvet hat and accessories in mingled shades of print. A white orchid corsage completed her attire.

Upon their return in early October, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will be at home at 101 Davis Court, Florence.

Party Whirl Precedes Jean Davis' Wedding

Continuing through the reception at Florence Country Club which followed her afternoon wedding on Saturday, the nineteenth, Miss Jean Davis was honored with numerous pre-nuptial courtesies.

Mrs. Ronald Meeks of Fort Campbell, Ky., a wedding attendant, and her mother, Mrs. Gray Lovelace, were luncheon hostesses at The Town Club on Wednesday.

Pink linen place mats and a silver bowl of pink carnations and tinted stock appointed the table in the Old South Room around which the eleven guests were seated. Included among those present were Mrs. Dan Davis, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Dayton Akin, Mrs. Darwin Davis, Mrs. J. G. Fortney, Mrs. J. W. Gaskins, Mrs. Samuel McMahan, Mrs. Bobby Neal Wade, Mrs. Eugene McMeans, Mrs. Jack Worley and Miss LaVonne Kennedy.

Mrs. Meeks' gift to the honoree was a pair of engraved silver napkin rings and Mrs. Lovelace's gift of hand-painted china was her own handiwork.

Using the wedding colors of pink and American Beauty, Mrs. Darwin Davis was hostess to the bridesmaids luncheon at The Wynne House on Friday, centering her table with a distinctive arrangement of roses encircled by a miniature bride and her attendants, with nosegays of pink rosebuds dotting the wide satin streamers which traversed the table.

Miss Davis' gift from the hostess was a sterling silver loving cup engraved with bridal names and date, and her gifts to her 'maids were a jewel case and a pearl pendant.

Present in addition to the bride's attendants were Mrs. Dan Davis, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs.

Madison Davis, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. Jack Turner and Mrs. Dayton Akin.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison Davis entertained the wedding party, family members and out-of-town guests at a dinner party at Hotel Negley on Friday evening following the rehearsal of wedding plans. Wedding colors of rose and pink were again in evidence in the flowering background, and in the costume of rose silk faille and matching accessories worn with a pink rosebud corsage by the bride-elect.

Florence State Ties Tech 14-14

Lions Refuse To Quit Even When Outplayed By Stronger Opponent

Although Tennessee Tech, the pre-campaign choice for Ohio Valley Conference champions, was the favored team according to pre-season press releases here, Florence State Lions refused to believe this and took advantage of every break that came their way in the ballgame, and held the Tech opponents to a dead-lock finish of 14-14.

The big play came in the second quarter, when Tailback Max Burleson and Wing-back Ken Gunter combined forces for a long, scoring pass. The pigskin was on the Florence 41; both ends went deep, and Ken Gunter shot down the middle and grabbed Burleson's pitch at the Tech 40, with clear sailing the rest of the way. Graham made the extra point giving the Lions a 7-0 advantage.

Resulting in a 66-yard march, Tech didn't lose much time with their next move. Big man most of the way was Ralph Boyles. Two plays later, Boyles made the TD, and Wright split the goalposts for a 7-7 tie.

Florence got back in business in the third period. Burleson intercepted a pass meant for end John Clayton at the Tech 47, and returned to the seven. With 4:17 left in the third, Larry Yancey crashed in for the touchdown and Graham again made the point giving the Lions a 14-7 advantage.

Tech struck back and using 13 plays, moved from its own 33 to a 7-point gain, tying the score. For Florence, backfielders Yancey, Burleson, Graham and Hunter drew praise, along with both ends, Henry Prater and Carl Hannah; tackles Dave Martin, Sammy Smith, and Ed Carter; and guards Joe Beard and Darrell Blaylock.

Let's Talk It Over By SARA SAZE

Dear Mrs. Saze, I have met a very fine man and have been dating him about once a week for several months. He is good company and I always enjoyed every date with him until recently when he started talking about marriage. Now, the whole picture is changed.

All of a sudden I'm even bored when he calls me on the phone. And I haven't the faintest idea of how to explain this to him, or how to tell him that I won't marry him. It's sure to seem like an about-face on my part because, up 'til now, I've felt so different.

Please tell me what I should say and do about this predicament.

Sad Sal, You should say NO, and you should say it both loud and quick. And not only for selfish reasons. You'd be doing your amorous friend a great and ever-lasting wrong should you accept his proposal of marriage.

I don't know if LOVE has been discussed between you and, if not, WHY not. It's certainly the most important ingredient in marriage, and it's certainly not present on the distaff side of this particular setup.

And there's no "about-face" involved. Practically everyone I know admires MANY people. ADAMIRATION is what you've felt. If it's been misunderstood—and mistaken for love—you should be able to explain it in a few simple statements.

Now, get busy. There may be a hornet's nest for the moment, but one of these days he'll be on his knees with gratitude.

Dear Sara Saze,

We have prepared a place to plant bulbs and hope you'll give us some helpful hints, such as how deep to plant the different varieties like tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, etc.

Many thanks.

B. and J. W.

Wear B. and J.W., For .5c you can get an 8-page pamphlet by writing to the superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C., and asking for "Spring Flowering Bulbs." Lauderdale Youth Guests Of Sheriffs

Two-Day Citizenship Tour In Montgomery Educational And Fun

Forty-five Lauderdale County youths went to Montgomery by chartered bus from Florence, Thursday, for a two-day good citizenship tour arranged by Sheriff Roy Lee Call.

The tour was part of a youth activities program under the provisions of the Honorary Membership plan of the Alabama Sheriffs Association.

The group was met in Montgomery by Sheriff Deputy Richard Goodwin, Sheriff's Deputy-Matron Sophie Chambliss and Mrs. Louise Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barnett of Florence, secretary of the Alabama Sheriffs Association.

After lunch at Maxwell Field, where they were quartered during their stay in Montgomery, the group toured Kilby Prison, Draper Prison, Gunter Field and the State Coliseum.

They saw the automobile tag plant where the new Alabama car tags were being made. They were also shown the cotton mill where cloth used in making prisoners' clothes was manufactured. Another interesting visit was to the Electrocuting Chamber in the prison where they were the electric chair. This car was designed by a prisoner and patented in 1927.

Other points of interest included the canning plant at Kilby where over 20,000 cases of vegetables have been canned since October of 1958.

The evening program consisted of witnessing a football game between Sidney Lanier and Woodlawn high schools.

A tour of the Archives and History Department and a visit to the State Capital for a meeting in the House Chamber and Senate Chamber with the Lauderdale Legislative Delegation—Senator Bert Halton and Reps. Charles Long, and Robert Broadfoot, was on the morning program. A visit to Maxwell field and to other historic points in Alabama's Capital City were also on the Friday itinerary before their departure in the late afternoon for Florence.

Sheriff Roy Lee Call, Tom Pirkle, Lauderdale County Juvenile Parole officer, Howard Bolling, State Supervisor 11th Judicial Circuit of the State Pardon and Parole Board and Mr. Joiner, Owner of the Joiner Bus Company who transported the boys accompanied the group on the tour.

United Fund Kickoff For Industry Held At Reeder Saturday

The Lauderdale United Fund Special Division kickoff meeting was held on Saturday morning at the Hotel Reeder under the leadership of co-chairmen T. M. Rogers and Fred Moore.

A corps of some 30 or more team captains and workers have been recruited by these leaders and have been given their assignments. This year a joint committee with the Colbert County United Fund will be directed by co-chairmen for industry, T. Ed Campbell and Sam J. Israel. They will assist the various manufacturing plants in the area in arranging their individual United Fund drives.

Team captains who will serve the Special Division are Allen M.

Northington, Edward Smoot, C. Hewlett Jackson, Luther B. Baker and Marshall Smith. This division will have the responsibility for raising 75 per cent of the campaign goal for 1959 of $112,500.

The work of the Special Division started immediately and it was hoped by Fund officials that it could be virtually completed by the time the general drive gets underway when the Vanguard Division kicks off on October 6.

The first Good Citizenship Award to Eliza Memorial Hospital was announced by co-chairmen Wesley Patton and T. W. Schuessler. Hospital employees who have consistently supported the United Funds Appeal again pledge $2,000.

To secure the Good Citizenship Award, a firm must meet its Fair-share Quarter with 75% or more of employees donating to the fund.

Telephone bills of farmers in the United States for July, 1958 averaged $4.08 for local service. This is an increase of six per cent from the 1957 average.

CONTINENTAL CLASSROOM, the first network TV program for college credit, will present a new course—modern chemistry—during 1959-60. Financial backing will be provided by the Ford Foundation and seven leading industries, including the Bell Telephone System.

IT'S CALL-HOME TIME! Kids away at school? Then you know what a job it is to keep in touch with them. Letters are all too few, and your campus Joe or Jill is often hard to reach. So, why not try this. Plan a Long Distance get-together. Set a certain time on a certain day—once a week or more often if you like—for your young folks to call you. It's fun to get the news and not expensive, especially when you call station-to-station.

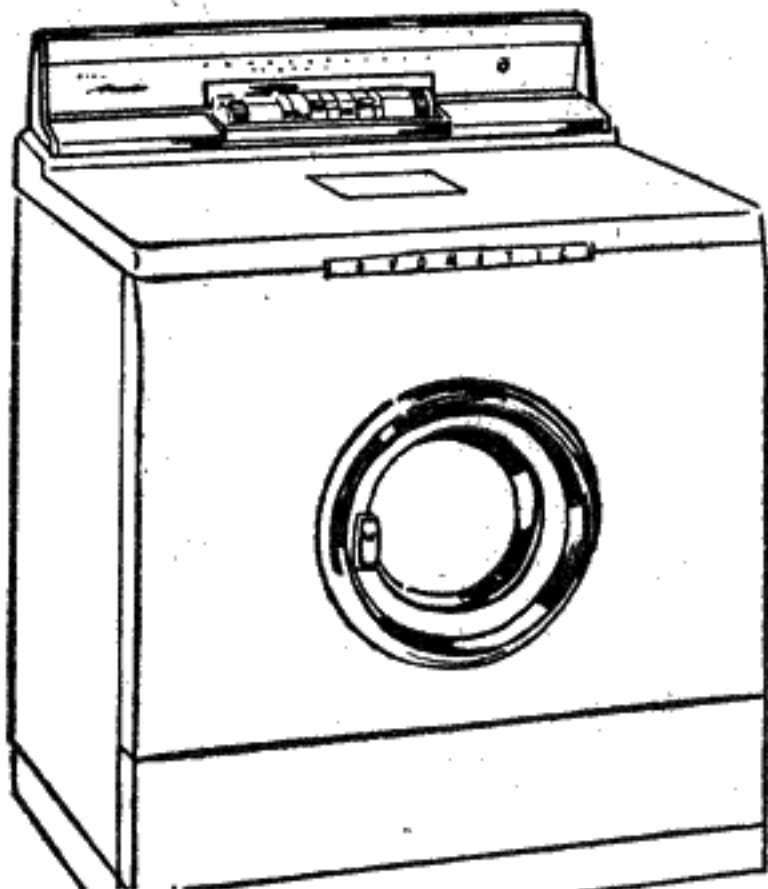

AND, HERE'S another money-saving tip. Long Distance is an efficient sales and buying tool. Salesmen can save time, reduce travel expense, process orders faster by using Long Distance. And if you're the buyer, quick Long Distance calls will often help track down the best buys. Try it for economy and efficiency.

HELLO, IVAN? For the first time in 22 years, statistics have been compiled on the number of telephones in Russia. Comes out to about 2 telephones for every 100 people as compared to our 37 per 100. And even though our total of 64 million phones makes us the best-telephoned country in the world, we still have plans to bring you even more and better services in the future.

1,240 new roller-bearing freight cars!

THE SOUTHERN, first major rail system in the United States to be completely dieselized, will soon put forty-eight new diesel-electric freight locomotive units in service. These locomotives, now on order, will incorporate all of the latest technological improvements in diesels and add tremendous new "muscles" to our present modern, up-to-date fleet of diesel power.

This fall, too, deliveries will start on 1,240 new roller-bearing gondola and covered-hopper freight cars. 1,205 of these cars will be of new composite aluminum-steel construction, each with a carrying capacity of 100 or more tons. This is the railroad industry's first big order for this type of rolling stock and represents a pioneering break-through in the large-scale use of lightweight, corrosion-resistant materials in freight car construction. It will take a lot of money to pay for all this new equipment—more than $38 million. But they will be dollars well spent, for they will help provide the better-than-ever mass transportation so necessary to the continued economic well-being and growth of the territory we serve.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farmer Plans To Have Soil Tested

James Montgomery Has Experience Showing Wisdom Of Program

James Montgomery believes you can walk through a field of cotton or corn and tell if recommendations have been followed.

A Farm and Home Development demonstrator in Lauderdale County, Montgomery had his soil tested for the first time this spring. Although the tests showed a need for lime, the Cloverdale Rt. 1 farmer didn't have time to lime his field before planting. However, he followed recommendations for the kind and amount of fertilizer.

After evaluating his corn crop, Montgomery told Assistant County Agent Herman Marks that he plans to follow soil test recommendations every year from now on.

He stated that his corn yield increased, but it would have been even greater if lime had been used. He plans to apply the needed lime this fall.

Montgomery farms 40 acres in the Cloverdale community. In addition, he works for the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office checking cotton and has an opportunity to observe many farms during the cotton growing season.

One of the problems of the boll weevil is finding out what the cotton plant has to attract the pest... apparently cotton, and only cotton, has some item that appeals to the boll weevil... if this can be found it might be possible to breed it out of the cotton plant and thus make cotton unattractive to the insect... or it might be possible to use the attraction as a bait to poison the pest... there are several other things that can be done to rid cotton of its most expensive pest... for instance, there is the "diapause" treatment, which means poisoning several times after the weevil season ends... this would prevent the weevil from fattening up and he would starve during hibernation... another plan would be the setting of non-cotton zones where cotton would not be grown for a couple of years... this, of course, would certainly cause economic troubles

Farming Changed In Past 25 Years

We hear a lot about the agricultural revolution that has been in progress for the last 25 years. But exactly what has happened?

For one thing, today's farmer can produce as much in one hour as he did in two in 1940. API Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones points out that farmers—who make up 13 per cent of the population—now feed themselves and the remaining 87 per cent. In colonial days, however, farmers constituted 85 per cent of the population.

Many factors have contributed to the upheaval in agriculture, says the specialist. For example, efficient management of large-scale farm operations have been brought to a high level in the last 25 years. Farm production risks have been reduced and more farmers are willing to expand now. Also, production is now organized from seed planting to marketing of the final product. And more capital is available to the farmer-producer.

According to Jones, research and mechanization are two important factors in the change. Today we have materials that kill weeds but are harmless to grass—and chemicals that kill insects but not animals. Also, the development of cotton pickers, automatic feeders and waterers, and field harvesters have played an important part in bringing about a change.

The birthplace of Nikita Khrushchev—the Ukraine—was also the birthplace of the Russian nation. The first Russian state had its capital at Kiev, now the capital of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic.

Agricultural Reminders

By HERMAN MARKS
Assistant County Agent

If you want better stands of disease-free plants that will produce higher yields, make certain that the oats and other small grain seed you plant have been treated with either ceresan M, agrox, or panogen, and be sure that you follow the manufacturer's recommendations as to rate of application, etc.

Seed treatment gives these four benefits:

1. It destroys seed borne fungi that cause plant disease.

Alabama Has Good Markets

Approximately 70 to 80 per cent of Alabama's market hogs are sold through two main channels—local auction markets and hog buying stations.

The remaining small percentage are sold directly to packers and processors at their premises, reports API Extension Hog Marketing Specialist Ray Cavender. Auction markets provide a major outlet for livestock in the United States, and there are approximately 2300 livestock auction markets in the nation.

Most of these markets will be subject to regulation under the amended Packers and Stockyards Act, says Cavender. He points out that once a livestock market is posted, it must operate under the regulations issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. These requirements deal with such things as fair trade practices, service charges, facilities, producer funds, records, and weighing practices. "All markets are subject to the government act if livestock originating at that market moves across state lines," says the specialist.

In Alabama last reports showed there were 67 auction markets and 14 buying stations in operation. And Cavender says that nearly all of these markets employ capable personnel and have good facilities for properly handling top hogs and other slaughter livestock. He also points out that very few Alabama hog producers are more than an hour's drive from one or more marketing centers. This is important since a sound livestock program depends on the availability of markets.

Livestock marketing agencies should continue to look for ways to improve marketing procedure and offer better service. Markets that do these things best will dominate in the future, says Cavender.

Permits May Be Requested To Hunt Wildlife Areas

Beginning October 1, the Alabama Department of Conservation will accept requests for permits to hunt the state's wildlife management areas this fall, according to an announcement here today.

William C. Younger, Director of the Conservation Department, said that some requests already received for permits on the management area have been returned unfulfilled. "Since hunters in all counties of the state have not yet had an opportunity to buy a state hunting license which is required before they could request a managed hunt permit, we feel that in all fairness we must delay issuing any permits until all hunters will have an equal opportunity to compete for them."

Younger said that after October 1 permits will be mailed to hunters on a first-come, first-served basis. Permits to hunt on the National Forest areas in the state cost hunters $2 while those for other areas are free of charge.

County Low In Pounds Per Acre

According to a report by Clarence D. Palmby, Acting Administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service, Lauderdale County has the lowest cotton yield per acre of any of the seven counties in the Eighth Congressional District.

The normal yield of cotton per pound per acre for these counties is as follows: Colbert, 403; Jackson, 424; Lauderdale, 362; Lawrence, 432; Limestone, 429; Madison, 437; and Morgan, 415. Average for the seven is 413 pounds per acre. However these seven counties are above average in the 20 states that produce cotton, according to the Department of Agriculture.

The Soviet Union—nearly three times the size of the U. S.—covers almost one-sixth of all the land area in the world.
