The Passing Parade

● Fred Eiland, able editor and publisher of the Cleburne County News, Heflin, advises that Auburn is no longer known as the Cow College of Alabama but is now known as the upper university.

● The honeymoon is over when the wife complains about the noise her husband makes while preparing his own breakfast.

● The situation had become serious. Her husband went around the house snapping his fingers every few seconds and, naturally, it had gotten on the old girl's nerves. Finally, she managed to get him to the family physician for an examination which, she was afraid, might show some disheartening results. "Why do you continue to snap your fingers?" the doctor asked. "It keeps the tigers away, doc," was his reply. "Tigers? Why my friend there are no tigers within 6,000 miles." "Effective, isn't it?" he beamed.

● The awkward age: Too old for income tax exemption and too young for old age pension.

● Discarded cigar butts are claiming the attention of two New York doctors who, during the past six weeks, have collected 6,428 of them in public washrooms, railway and bus stations, airports and department stores and, yes, private homes. Startling facts revealed are that filter-tip butts are longer than non-filter types; that butts found in department stores are longer than those found in public transportation rest rooms; that butts left by the upper class on the average are longer than those discarded by the middle or lower classes; that the length of the butts collected in Canada are slightly longer than those collected in the United States; and that the butts found in private homes are the longest of all. Anyway, these findings are supposed to have something to do with the study of lung cancer and are supposed to indicate something or other.

● The smallest package that anyone has ever seen is a man all wrapped up in himself.

● Just about the time you teach your kids that you can't put more in a container than it holds, along comes some woman wearing slacks.

● To those of you who cry over your gray hair, listen to the experience of Probate Judge Bill Davenport of Spartanburg, S.C. Judge Davenport has disclosed that he is losing his gray hair. It's turning black—and he attributes his good fortune to his favorite health food—sunflower seed. We are getting a letter off to the honorable judge to learn if the consumption of sunflower seed might also grow hair where hair is wanted. That long-sought answer to the bald-headed man's problem may be in the seed of the sunflower, who knows!

● We heard of a man who wanted so badly to become a member of the police force but he was too short. He rigged up an apparatus and for days hung by his neck from the rafter in the ceiling with weights tied to his feet so that he could get taller. It worked, too. If he had lived, he'd have been the tallest man on the force.

Local Area Studied By Legislators

The members of the Study Committee on Parks and Beaches of the Alabama Legislature were guests Wednesday morning at a breakfast given at the Reeder Hotel at 7:30 o'clock by the Florence Chamber of Commerce.

The group, of which Sen. Douglas Webb is chairman, spent Tuesday night at Joe Wheeler State Park where they were joined by C. Hewlett Jackson, manager of the Florence Chamber of Commerce, and Terrell Houser of Sheffield, representing the Muscle Shoals Chamber.

Efforts are being made, it was stated, to have the committee recommend the installation of overnight facilities at Waterloo and Joe Wheeler Park, the latter to include such facilities for Negroes. The need was declared urgent. Inspectors of the Elk River area were also included in the committee's itinerary before the group left for Huntsville.

In the visiting group besides Chairman Webb were: Rep. Joe C. McCorquodale, Jr., vice-chairman; Rep. James A. Branyon, secretary; Senator Larry Dumas, Senator Robert R. Berryman, Senator Rufus Barnett, Rep. Homer W. Cornette, Rep. George F. (Bubber) Bailey, Senator Walter C. Givhan, Rep. Olin C. Hearn, Rep. Ulie B. Sullivan, Rep. Roy W. McClendon, State Conservation Director William C. Ministerial Body Deplores Recent Vandalistic Acts

Association Urges All Citizens To Think And Act For Brotherhood

A resolution adopted at the monthly meeting Monday of the Florence Ministerial Association was made public earlier this week which urged all citizens of the community to think and act constructively in behalf of Brotherhood as a means of doing away with the hurtful acts and attitudes of a destructive few.

The action came just before the annual observance of Brotherhood Week, scheduled Feb. 21-28, under the guidance of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Inc.

The resolution, which was adopted unanimously by the ministerial association, is as follows: "The tensions in our world today that cause misunderstanding, suspicion, and distrust between individuals, groups, nations and races create a problem which is of concern to every thinking person.

"The better world of peace and good will which we desire can only come as these tensions are relieved.

"We, the members of the Florence Ministerial Association, declare our deep interest in these problems and dedicate ourselves as servants of God to work for the higher principles of Brotherhood, upholding the truth that all men are God's highest creation, fashioned in His image and should have each for himself and for others the highest regard for the dignity of human life.

"We deplore the painting of swastikas and other emblems of hate and prejudice on the synagogue in Florence and the post office in Sheffield.

"We look with alarm upon this malicious act with the realization that sinister forces and motives may be closer home than many of us.

● It was announced Wednesday that President Eisenhower will go before the American people over nationwide TV and radio on Sunday night to defend his military program against attacks from "politically motivated" Democrats and generals with a yearning for more money. The President said he believed the people were "sensible on this issue and generally unresponsive to those who foster fear of potential foes whom, if our country must, it can destroy."

● One white youth was hospitalized with a slashed face and three Negro students arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and one with assault on an officer and carrying a concealed weapon, when an eruption of tempers and fists in Portsmouth, Va., turned a passive sitdown demonstration by Negro students at a segregated lunch counter into a bloody brawl, Wednesday. The outburst took place in the parking lot of a suburban shopping center, but had its beginning in the attempt of some 20-30 Negroes, mostly high school students, to obtain service at the "white only" lunch counter of the Department Store located in the center.

● As Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was on his way to Capitol Hill to defend President Eisenhower's $4,175,000,000 foreign aid program, Congressional critics talked Wednesday of a billion-dollar cut in the foreign budget. Herter had an appointment with the House foreign affairs committee at which he was expected to emphasize U.S. efforts to have European allies take on more of the burden. Opposing this point of view was Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.) Chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee which handles foreign aid, who said that the President's recommendation is at least a billion dollars too high.

A. D. Ray, Jr., Asks Election To Board

Waterloo Banker Serving As Member; Makes Race On Record In Office

A. D. Ray, Jr., president of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, Waterloo, today announced his candidacy for reelection to membership on the Lauderdale County Board of Education, subject to the will of the voters in the Democratic Primary, May 3.

Mr. Ray, a native of the Greenhill community, is widely known throughout the county for his interest in the advancement of education, his civic activities and his many efforts for the betterment of the county as a whole. He is interested in the improvement of agriculture in the county and has contributed much to the livestock industry which has meant so much to so many of our citizens. His efforts in behalf of rural education have been very productive and he has rendered a most important service during his years on the board. An able businessman, his business experience has been most valuable to the rural school system.

Receiving his early education in the rural schools of Lauderdale County, Mr. Ray was graduated from Coffee High School, Florence, and received additional business training.

In making his announcement, Mr. Ray said: "It has been a pleasure for me to have had a part in the wonderful improvements made in our county school system during the past several years. Much progress has been made and much more has been planned for the immediate future. All of us should be pleased with the high rating our system has attained and with our present plans an even higher place in the state will be ours. I pledge, if elected, to continue my best efforts for the betterment of our schools. I have been dedicated to this work for a long time and feel that my experience as a member of the board should serve me well if honored with another term.

"I trust that I have deserved your vote and support which I sincerely solicit in the coming primary."

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of farm boys who are studying vocational agriculture in the high schools of the nation. These boys, some 400,000 strong, are learning to farm by the most modern scientific methods.

Local chapters in Lauderdale County are active in all five county high schools and are in charge of the following vocational agriculture advisors:

William B. Hagood, Waterloo; Norman G. Spillers, Central; A. A. Thorne, Rogers; James Hankins, Lexington, and C. J. Pennington, Rogersville.

The Future Farmers of America actually hold in their minds and hands the progress our communities and the nation may make in the years to come. Much of the nation's prosperity and certainly a measure of its security is dependent on a prosperous and productive agriculture, leaders point out. The production and the distribution of a bounteous supply of food is the very foundation of the American high standard of living.

The Future Farmers of America will hold the attention of the nation February 20-27 as they celebrate National FFA Week. Participation in this observance will be approximately 400,000 members in more than 9,000 chapters in the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Alabama has some 15,000 members in 263 public high schools with vocational agriculture departments.

Future Farmers choose the week of George Washington's birthday each year for the observance since the "Father of Our Country" was one of the nation's first really scientific farmers. He practiced contour planting, crop rotation, fertilizing and other soil conservation methods, many of which are in use today.

A number of local programs are planned for FFA Week.

Tree Planting Set Saturday 2:30 P.M.

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, a tree-planting ceremony to plant the 500 millionth pine seedling produced by TVA Nurseries will be held. This epochal seedling, which was presented to the Elk River Development Association by General Herbert Vogel at the ERDA First Annual Meeting in Athens, February 2, is to be planted in Pulaski, Tenn., on the South-East corner of the Public Square, as a living, growing symbol of the Tennessee Valley Authority and its program.

Congressman Ross Bass will be the principal speaker and a number of officials of various interested forestry agencies are being invited as honor guests.

Attempt Delay Action Fails As Motion Defeated

The backers of Mr. Eisenhower's civil rights measure tied up in committee, won a minor victory Tuesday when the Senate killed a move by Southerners to force a week's delay of the bill.

The test came on a motion by Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, leader of the Southern bloc, to lay aside the bill until Tuesday of next week. The Senate defeated the motion by a vote of 61 to 28.

Russell's supporters made no effort to forestall a vote although they used up a large part of the afternoon in speeches against the various civil rights proposals.

However continued maneuvering brought renewed efforts Wednesday to get the Senate Rules Committee to give approval of a voting rights bill.

Substitute Proposed

As a substitute for the Eisenhower measure Chairman Thomas C. Hennings, Jr. (D-Mo.) planned to present a new bill he had drafted to the committee. He said it was designed to overcome what he termed major objections raised by the administration bill and an earlier proposal by the Civil Rights Commission for the use of federal registrars.

Politically it was said to have advantages to Democratic advocates of civil rights measures since it was sponsored by a Democratic senator.

How soon the Rules Committee would act on a civil rights measure was a matter for conjecture. Meanwhile the Senate continued its debate over civil rights proposals.

A parliamentary move on the part of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson caught the Senate by surprise Monday when the Texas got unanimous approval to bring up an apparently harmless bill to authorize a Stella, Mo., country school to use quarters in Ft. Crowder rent free.

He said this unrelated measure would become the vehicle for civil rights amendments, a procedure which would give the Judiciary Committee a vote on a civil rights bill. Johnson's action deprived the anti-civil rights Southern bloc of any attempt to filibuster against a motion to bring up a bill.

Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, leading the Southern opposition said he was surprised and alarmed at Johnson's choice of action. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said the maneuver smacked of subterfuge and contended that civil rights should be brought up as a separate measure.

Johnson's move however was supported by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois who said "civil rights is an issue with which we have come to grips."

American Bank Is Celebrating Its 50th Anniversary

The Golden Anniversary of the organization of the American Bank, St. Joseph, Tenn., in June, 1910 is being observed by that progressive financial institution this year, Miss Mabel Bryan, president, announced that a review of its growth and splendid service to this area has received the commendation of its customers and correspondent banks.

Miss Bryan points with pardonable pride to its development from a small beginning with capital stock of $12,500 to its present $25,000 capital stock and $50,000 in surplus, which makes it possible to serve a larger and ever growing clientele. The bank's customers come from North Alabama and Southern Tennessee and it is reported that the number is steadily increasing year by year.

The American Bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System and its deposit are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The current rate of interest on savings is 3 per cent and a "Bank by Mail" service is one of its features.

Following graduation from Judson College in Marion, Mrs. James George (the former Roberta Davis), is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Davis, 826 Kendrick, before joining Mr. George in Auburn where he is a student at Auburn University.

A Salute To Our Futures Farmers

There are many special "weeks" during the year but none is more important to America's future than FFA week, the week the nation pays tribute to its future farmers.

Vocational agriculture and the FFA constitute the most effective program yet devised for developing the nation's agricultural resources. Through training boys to be good farmers the Future Farmers of America build for the future, not only of farming but for responsible citizenship.

FFA boys throughout the nation are trained through their vocational agriculture directors to not only be good farmers but better farmers, to use the latest farming methods and to learn the principles of leadership and cooperation. FFA members not only learn through text books but learn by doing. By working out actual farming problems of their own they are equipped by experience to tackle the serious problems of farming when they reach manhood.

In view of the nation's great need for new and better farmers it is fitting that recognition be given this great movement. These young men who are preparing for careers in farming must be given every encouragement to stimulate them to harder work and greater achievement. Farming is our most important basic industry. It feeds the nation.

A salute to the Future Farmers of America.

Let's Close Ranks

It appears to us that untold harm is being done this nation over the knife-like thrusts being pushed into a sound defense by various leaders in the government—from President Eisenhower on down—and by so-called experts in the military and columnists of various stripes.

Although this newspaper stands firmly on the principle of free discussion of every problem facing us—be it local, state or national—still it seems to us that those we regard highly for their knowledge of our national defense are doing us untold harm by continually harping on the subject of our loss of Place No. 1 in the military standing of the nations. We are certain that those who continue to spout off on the superiority of Russia's missile and nuclear program are not fully in the know even though they may be in position to guess the true facts better than we. We are certain that the truth of our military and defense strength is not fully known—and shouldn't be—to those experts recognized as such only by the citizenry in general and not by those directly in charge of our military secrets.

General Medaris and Dr. von Braun, in our way of thinking, should confine their criticism of our missile program to those charged with the responsibility of the program and not air their remarks in newspapers and magazines for the simple purpose of stirring up the people to possible unwarranted alarm. Why weaken the backbone of our citizens with a fear that can do no good in aid of the overall program? We do not question the fact that we may be lagging behind the Soviets in this particular phase of defense. So what? Must we match the Russians missile for missile? Must all our will to protect this nation from an intruder be based solely on the value of a single bomb? Aren't there other bits of fibre that are equally as strong in a people?

The Republicans now say the Democrats are hamstringing the defense program. The Democrats are saying that the defense program of the administration is stagnant and has gone to pot. We believe neither statement, no matter who makes it.

The effect on the thinking of our people, to us, is the most important phase of the entire problem. Are we selling our people on a misconception that we are traveling the road of second best? If so, we are doing untold damage to the real fibre of our nation that is far more important than missiles.

It seems to us that the time has come for us to close ranks on the kind of injurious publicity that has been given our defense program in recent months and, if we don't know the true facts—as most writers don't—then let's leave this problem in the hands of the leaders who know the situation thoroughly (or should) and in position to accomplish the necessary. Those who know the true picture have not revealed it—why should we allow second guessing to control our emotions and bring about an inferiority complex that plays right into the hands of the Communists? How dumb can we get!

Calf Raising Is Waterloo Project

FFA Members Learn By Doing As Well As Classroom Training

Seven members of the Waterloo FFA Chapter are feeding beef calves which will be exhibited in fat calf shows next spring. William B. Hagood, Waterloo vo-ag teacher and advisor, announced this week.

Waterloo FFA's raising calves include Ronnie Murphy, Kenneth Murphy, Lenard Holcombe, Pete Watkins, Fred Condry, Douglas Baskins and Jessie Robertson.

Feeding and caring for show calves is one of the many ways in which vocational agriculture students find a use for classroom learning. What students learn about selecting beef cattle, about balancing a ration from feed available, grooming and training calves for showing all find practical application in show calf projects.

FBI Agent Tells Of Auto Thefts Plaguing Nation; Other Crime Stories Told

FBI Agent Clarence Kelley, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Alabama with headquarters in Birmingham, was the featured speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Exchange Club when National Crime Week was being observed. Dr. George H. McDonald had charge of program arrangements and presented the speaker.

Mr. Kelley told of recent conferences held in Huntsville and Birmingham planned to aid in meeting the growing threat caused by the theft of automobiles, 90 per cent of which are by juveniles. He stated that the conference brought together law enforcement officers from the state, city and county to give of their knowledge and experience in meeting this situation. He gave interesting information on how these youngsters operate and told of their training, in many cases, by hardened criminals and long-time offenders.

Jack Paar Quits: Jack Paar Returns

Comedian Jack Paar, simmering over a censored anecdote leading to his being cut-off five minutes early on his Wednesday night (Feb. 10) NBC television show, walked out in the middle of the show last Thursday night stating, "There must be a better way of making a living." His last gesture before making his exit was to shake hands with Hugh Downs, announcer on the coast-to-coast "The Jack Paar Show." After a meeting with NBC officials on Tuesday Paar apologized to the network and stated that he would return to the show March 7 following a South American vacation.

Cuban Court Convicts 104

A Cuban military court Wednesday, Feb. 10 convicted 104 persons of conspiring to overthrow the government of Fidel Castro. The government charged that the plot was backed by Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. The five-man military tribunal handed sentences ranging from 3 to 30 years in the biggest conspiracy trial since Castro seized power more than a year ago. Thirty-six of the defendants were acquitted while the 104 convicted were stripped of their property and money to be seized by the government.

De Gaulle Checks Uprising

President Charles de Gaulle, cracking down on his political-minded army in Algeria, has ordered much power returned to civil authorities. The French president and his cabinet last week approved "sweeping reforms" aimed at confining the military to its primary task in the North African territory. The cabinet also took away military arms from the French settlers in Algeria, which had been one of the chief props of the abortive French uprising last month.

Anti-Missile Missile Proves Successful

The Army last Thursday announced success in destroying a ballistic missile in the air with another missile. This development could be highly significant in the weapons race with Russia. This first "missile killing" took place at White Sands, N. M., on Jan. 29 which set the stage for a similar attempt to knock a long-range higher altitude intercontinental ballistic missile from the sky at tests to be held in the Pacific next year. At that time, the Nike-Zeus anti-ICBM is expected to be ready for experiments.

Russell Sums Up Civil Rights

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) Saturday summed up the civil rights battle in these words, "It will be a carnival of politics." The "battle" began in the Senate Monday. Russell is the leader of Southern opponents. The key man in the election-year struggle over the emotionally and politically controversial issue will be Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the Senate majority leader.

Sketches From Life

By FRANCES HALL

DR. W. R. DROKE

Although recognized as an optometrist of exceptional ability, Dr. Droke will be best remembered by hundreds of youngsters now grown to maturity for the glasses given to them during the depression years by him when, for lack of funds, their entire development would have been retarded." Is the observation made by a local citizen who is aware of the generosity of this man.

Often it is said that a man's true nature is reflected in his hobbies, and never was it truer with anyone than with Dr. Droke who demonstrates daily his patience and attention to detail as evidenced in his wood-working hobby in which he creates articles of sentimental value. Inlaid wood-carvings of rare beauty are being made by this patient man who finds that creation of numerous objects in wood satisfies his love of the beautiful.

Born in Northern Mississippi near Rhenzi, the son of John M. and Serina Droke, Dr. William R. Droke attended the public schools of Rhenzi. He received his O.B. degree from the National Institute of Optometry in Kansas and his doctor degree from the Illinois College of Optometry in 1914.

Following the completion of his schooling, Dr. Droke was married to Miss Lucy Jones, of Crystal Springs, Mississippi. They have three children, W. E. (Bill) Droke, of Silver City, New Mexico, a lawyer; Dr. Jack M. Droke, of Florence, who succeeded his father in the optometry practice; and Mrs. Byron Nicely, also of Florence. There are nine grandchildren.

Dr. Droke first established his practice in Crystal Springs, where he remained for several years before moving to Okolona, Mississippi. During his residence in Okolona, he, along with several other citizens of the town, saw the need for a more adequate, accredited high school, and through their steadfast, determined efforts, the school was finally accredited and the first basketball floor in North Mississippi was installed in the high school building. Because of his participation in aiding the educational system of the city, the name of Dr. W. R. Droke is inscribed on a cornerstone at the school in Okolona.

In 1928, Dr. and Mrs. Droke came to Florence, where, upon arrival, he established his successful practice of optometry. Dr. Droke has been a member of the Chamber of Commerce for many years and was at one time a member of the Florence Civitan Club. He is an active member of the First Methodist Church of Florence and has served on the Board of Stewards at both the Methodist Church in Crystal Springs and in Okolona.

In connection with his profession, Dr. Droke is a member of the Alabama and American Optometric Associations.

Another of Dr. Droke's successful enterprises was a poultry and egg business which he operated for four years. His modern air-conditioned chicken houses sheltered 1000 Homage pure bred caged-layers. To his knowledge, he was the first to introduce that particular commercial breed of poultry in North Alabama.

Now retired, and making his home in an ideally situated site on Mars Hill Road, Dr. Droke spends all his spare time in his completely equipped wood-working shop turning out unusual articles, some of which he offers for sale and others find their way to the homes of friends. He demonstrates here the true need for a hobby that will occupy the time and keep alive the interest of doing things worthwhile for a person who has retired.

Waterloo Chapter Enters Contests

Winners Prove Worth Of FFA Program In Lauderdale County

A number of Waterloo FFA members have entered the contests in FFA this year. A total of twenty-five boys took part in the Public Speaking Contest early in February. Ronnie Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy, Waterloo, Route 2, won the chapter contest and represented Waterloo in the county contest held at Lexington on February 2nd. This contest was won by the Lexington Chapter.

Hubert Lewis, an 11th grade student, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis of Waterloo won both the chapter and county Corn Growing Contest this year. He produced a yield of 89 bushels on an acre, which was the highest yield reported. Hubert will receive $67.50 for being the winner in both the chapter and county contests.

Kenneth Murphy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Murphy of Waterloo, Rt. 2, won the Tractor Driving Contest held at the school on February 12th. He will now represent the Waterloo Chapter in the county at Central High during National FFA Week.

The Waterloo Quartet composed of Donnie Culver, Billy Heupel, Louie Robertson and Donald Heupel will represent Waterloo in the area contest at Leighton during National FFA Week. The Waterloo entrants had no competition entered from other chapters in the county.

Other FFA members of the Waterloo Chapter are working preparing for the district contest in early March. Waterloo will have entrants in the Soil Judging, Livestock and String Band Contests. The winners of these and other contests at the district will go to Auburn in June to take part in the State Contests.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that about 40 percent of all the nation's jobs are concerned with agriculture—as actual farmers, farm-service personnel, processors, or distributors.

Projects Planned By LCHS Chapter

Shop Plays Important Part In Vocational Agriculture Training

The vocational agriculture students at Lauderdale County High School enjoy the new vocational agriculture farm mechanics shop.

The students plan and build many valuable projects in the shop that help them carry out their supervised farming programs.

Alton Bedingfield an FFA student is working on a farm trailer that he is constructing in the shop. The vocational agriculture shop helps the student by making it possible for them to build equipment that helps them in their farming program that they would not be able to afford by going to the store and buying it. The shop also helps the students develop skills that will be valuable to them in the future regardless of what occupation they follow.

During National FFA Week, February 20-27, FFA members over the nation will be in training to learn modern methods of producing food and fiber, to develop mechanical skills, and for useful citizenship that will enable this nation to remain strong and be able to take care of a fast growing population in a modern way.

by her father, the bride wore a gown of bouquet taffeta and tulle designed with a close-fitting bodice, portrait neckline and long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. Lace appliques detailed the voluminous, floor-length skirt, worn over period hoops. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of tulle embroidered with seed pearls and her bouquet was a spray of white rosebuds. She wore a single strand of pearls, her only ornament and a gift from the bridegroom.

Attendants were the bride's sisters, Miss Brenda Mae Sailors, maid of honor, and Miss Nancy Beech Sailors, bridesmaid. Their frocks of Venetian rose velvet were fashioned with scooped necklines, long sleeves and back-fullness in the skirts. White demi-hats with wisps of rose veiling and matching fur muffs, each with a pinned-on cluster of rosebuds, completed their attire.

Mr. Harris chose his father to serve him as best man and ushers included David Neil Harris, brother of the bridegroom, Charles Sasser and Jerald Walraven, both of Auburn.

For the occasion, Mrs. Sailors wore a model of dusty pink Alençon lace with matching peau de soie cummerbund and small, blending hat. Pink rosebuds at her shoulder complemented her dress. Mrs. Harris, mother of the bridegroom, chose a slim-skirted frock of moss green silk organza and Chantilly lace with matching hat and accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were reception hosts in the Parish House. Assisting were Miss Carol Price, Miss Jeanette Peery, Miss Mary Norris, Miss Mary Joy Pritchard, Mrs. Ralph Pritchard, Mrs. Richard Peebles, Miss Jordan Hairston, Mrs. J. B. Lathan, Mrs. Charles Matthews, Miss Roberta Davis, Mrs. Wayne Posey, Mrs. John Wilks, Sr., Mrs. A. R. Tomlinson and Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins.

For travel, the bride changed to a black and white checkered Spring suit, black straw hat and black kid accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris are now at home at 201 Beech Street, Auburn, where the bridegroom will be graduated from Auburn University in May.

Following the rehearsal of wedding plans on Friday evening, the bridegroom's parents entertained the bridal party, family members and out-of-town guests at The Town Club. Mrs. A. L. Armstrong assisted the hosts in serving their thirty-odd guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp, Jr. Returned From Honeymoon

A guest company composed of family members and close family friends were present for the wedding ceremony on Tuesday, February ninth, when Betty Muriel Holden exchanged vows with Jessie Thomas Sharp, Jr., in the home of Gilbert Kretzer, Church of Christ minister of 3524 Lee Highway, Florence.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Holden of Rogersville, Route One, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Thomas Sharp, also of Rogersville.

Floor standards of white gladioli and chrysanthemums marked the improvised altar and white tapers burned in branched candelabra to light the setting as Mr. Kretzer read the seven o'clock service.

For the occasion, the bride was gowned in ice blue satin with an embossed floral design. A molded bodice with scooped neckline, brief sleeves and full-gathered tea length skirt were distinguishing features. Her short veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white orchid encircled by white carnations.

Miss Carolyn Holden, wearing a pink taffeta street-length frock detailed with scooped neckline and very full skirt, was her sister's only attendant. Matching accessories, a small pink hat and a corsage of white carnations complemented her attire.

The bridegroom's father was his best man.

Mrs. Holden, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Sharp, mother of the bridegroom, were dressed in navy with a white caranation corsage at the shoulder of each.

For travel, the bride changed to a suit of black and white tweed worn with a small, black-feathered hat and black accessories. Carnations from her bouquet fashioned her corsage.

Following their honeymoon to points of interest in the Southern portion of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Sharp are now at home at 808 Tuscaloosa St., Florence.

THE SPILLWAY

OUR TOWN WAS such a beautiful sight Garbed in its robe of Winter white . . . But what we LOVED about the snow Was watching it so quickly go . . .

A HALF-TRUTH . . . IF ever we told one . . . and all for the sake of a rhyme . . . We actually weren't HALF-ready to see the robe of white begin to dwindle . . . or the many works-of-art which dotted front yards here 'n' there take on a weary look . . .

DOING A DOUBLE-quick to complete our own lawn decoration . . . we were soon out and about to make comparisons . . . and to glimpse with interest the artistry of our townsfolk . . .

IGLOOS WERE GIVEN the nod by a number of would-be sculptors . . . Like Frinstance in the 900 block on Olive Street . . . where young-and-personable Stanley Wiseman was the "architect" on the job . . . with neighbor children coming in flocks to lend a helping hand . . . A somewhat smaller Eskimo abode on Aoyai Avenue was complete with TV antennae and standing guard was a native Iceland wearing bright red ear muffs and other distinctive dress of the Frozen North . . .

A TEN-FOOT TALL witch at 210 McBurney Drive gave us two kinds of chills . . . and a very lovely (BLUE-EYED and BOSYLIPPED) blonde at the home of Claire and Jack Cook (228 Norwood Blvd) drove them both away . . . Sculptured by (the Cook's older son) Jerry and (his wife) Jane (Newton) . . . recently of Lawrenceburg . . . the project was tremendously enjoyed by younger family members . . . Nancy and Ronnie and Donnie . . .

ALL THE WHILE . . . friends of our FEATHERED friends were busily engaged in a different type of "yard work" . . . as they watched hourly to replenish the chick-a-dee pudding and water supplies in bird sanctuaries throughout the district . . . 'Monst those glimpsed as we made our way hither and yon were Jean and Bob Sandlin at their new address on Jackson Road . . . Isabel Williams at her tree-dotted plot on Oakview Circle . . . Lois Morris at 506 Hermitage Drive . . . Lena White (Tombigbee Street) . . . Paul Summerrell (806 North Wood) and Sam Robison (Norwood Blvd) . . . Armine and Charles Van Bibber on Crest and Helena and Paul Wilson on West Lelia . . . Doves had pushed their way in at one dinner table . . . Junco at another . . . and nary a single hungry chirp had fallen on our listenin' ears . . .

MARoonED . . . AND FORCED to spend the week end away from our midst were several of our favorite townsmen . . . Foster Barnwell, Jr. was enroute from Auburn U. for a brief respite in the ole home town when the flakes began to fall . . . He was caught by a road block seven miles beyond Decatur and 'twas from there that he returned to Auburn on Sunday soir . . . In the Magic City during the week end to represent FSC at a State Home Ec meeting . . . Mary Huff and Florine Rasch . . . Jane McIlrath and Celia Wilson were detained until the highways were given the ALL CLEAR sign . . . as was Tom McGough who was in transit from Gainesville, Ga., to Florence . . . Their Sunday evening arrivals were happily welcomed by waiting family members.

FARAWAY PLACES . . . AND a strange sounding name of which we're unsure about the spelling . . . is now the home of ex-localite "Mut" (William) Gregory and (his Mrs.) Kirk . . . who left the states about two weeks ago for (something like) Ghana, Africa . . . He's on a government mission which has to do with agriculture (a field in which he has long been a recognized authority) . . . and 'twas with twinges of regret that they left their beautiful home and farm lands near Auburn where they'd lived for a number of years.

AND CONTINUING to continue . . . Mut's lovely mother . . . one-time Florence Lizzie Malone Gregory (who numbers her friends by her acquaintances) is now making her home in Memphis with her sister . . . Mary Qualls . . . after many busy years on the University campus in Tuscaloosa where she house-mothered a fraternity . . . we're hoping for more frequent and longer visits from her during her well-earned leisure.

FROM OUR SISTER state of Georgia comes news of another former Florentine . . . as a recent Atlanta paper announces the promotion in that city of Bob Ashcraft to the presidency of Ashcraft-Wilkinson Company . . . a fertilizer establishment founded by the late Lee Ashcraft and joined in 1929 by Bob (known to many Florentines as Robert Erister Ashcraft) . . . cousin to Martha Gilbert and (Captain) Tommy Ashcraft . . . Madam's congrats and a genuine "invite" to come a-visitin' are wafted along to our VIP friend.

"DEEJAY FOR A WEEK" . . . That was the caption under the likeness in a recent Eham P-H of Anita Thrasher of Rogersville . . . as she was concluding her disc-jockey-for-a-week stint at a Radio Station in Boaz . . . where she maintains a daily program in connection with a Masquers Club project at Snead College . . . VERY lovely to look upon . . . we nominate this comely lass for promotion to a TeeVee spot . . . where she can be SEEN while being heard.

TRAVELIN' HERE 'N' THERE . . . Josephine McCullough left Tuesday for New Hartford, New York, where she is being guested by (her chile) Margaret Lee and Jesse Gerber and their chillun . . . Gerlie and Bramlett O'Steen have returned from a fortnight of vacationing on Florida's sunny shores and Myrtle and Alex Wade left Tuesday for a six-weeks' stay in the same delightful setting . . . The West Coast . . . with Naples and St. Petersburg and Ft. Myers included on their itinerary . . . will be their travel-route . . . Come tomorrow . . . Susan Jeter will be off for the University of the South at Sevanee where she'll trip the light fantastic at the mid-Winter formals with Bill Brown as her host . . .

MEMO TO CASH-WORD puzzle fans . . . We have a WINNAH here . . . Dorothy Hammond of 1913 Hickory Hills Road was one of two winners for the $500 stake offered by the Atlanta Journal last week . . . and on only ONE entry . . . believe it or not . . . (Our SIX were all wrong) . . .

Transit Company May Halt Service

Lack Of Revenue Said Cause Of Decision Effective On April 30

City commissioners of Florence, Sheffield, Tuscumbia and Muscle Shoals City, have been advised by officials of Shoals Transit Company, which furnishes bus service for the Tri-Cities, of tentative plans to abandon local operations unless passenger revenue picks up.

P. J. Giacomini, of the Shoals Transit Company, said in individual letters to the city commissioners of the local municipalities that the company was making plans to discontinue operations of the buses in the area April 30, the date their lease expires on the garage at Sheffield.

In the letter, the company stated that they would try to find a buyer so that the four cities would not be without service. "This we know will be difficult because of the depressed state of the transit industry in general and especially because of the high taxes and fees that this type of industry is subjected to," the letter said in part.

"Again, we regret that we must plan to discontinue this operation for our relations with the four cities has been good and the co-operation which we received in the past has been excellent."

Mayor C. L. Beard, of Sheffield, said Tuesday night at the City Commission session that he felt the four city commissions should hold a joint meeting on the situation in an effort to retain the local service.

Boat License Tags May Be Placed On Deck Of Boat

Conservation Director William C. Younger announced today an alternate method for placing tags on boats registered under the provisions of Alabama's new boating law. Younger stated that boat owners may choose between placing the tags on each side of the bow of the boat or placing the tags on the center of the deck forward of the front seat. In either case, the tags must be placed within the front quarter of the boat.

"We have received numerous requests for an alternate method of placing the tags on metal and fiberglass boats," Younger said, "and after many hours of studying the situation, Water Safety Chief Tom Shackelford and I agreed to the plan for placing the tags on the decks." Younger pointed out reasons for not allowing numbers to be painted on boats. Shackelford said that tags could be mounted on the decks by use of rubber suction cups but it would be up to the boat owner to make sure that the tags would not be lost or destroyed through use of this method. "If the individual boat owner desires to place the tags back to back on the deck then it will be necessary for one tag to face left and one tag to face right," Shackelford said.

Reynolds Metals Income, Sales Are Highest On Record

Aluminum Production
For Year 1959 Shows
Increase Of 11 Per Cent

Highest sales, net income and production in the history of Reynolds Metals Company were reported for 1959 by R. S. Reynolds, Jr., president today.

Net sales totaled $489,263,000, compared to $445,549,000 in 1958 and the previous record of $446,579,000 in 1957. Net income for the year was $44,761,000 against $39,364,000 in 1958. The previous earnings record was $41,240,000 in 1956.

Mr. Reynolds said net income, after taxes, amounted to $2.42 a share as contrasted with $2.22 per share in 1958. The per-share figures for both years are based on 16,920,003 shares of common stock outstanding. This new per-share basis is after a three-for-two split of the stock in October, 1959, and after dividend requirements on the company's 4-3/4 per cent Series A $50 par cumulative Preferred Stock and its 4-1/2 per cent Convertible Series $100 par Second Preferred Stock. Income taxes totaled $30,101,000 for 1959, compared with $32,269,000 in 1958.

"Commercial sales increased 25 per cent over 1958," the president of the nation's second largest aluminum producer said, "offsetting materially the expiration of government stockpiling contracts. Deliveries of primary metal and bauxite to the government amounted to $32,856,000 in 1959, compared with $80,133,202 in 1958.

"Primary aluminum production for the year totaled 545,081 tons, an 11 per cent increase over 1958's peak of 492,888 tons."

Reynolds reported that fourth quarter net income included an excess profits tax refund, plus interest, of $2,657,000 and undistributed equity of $1,405,000 in net income from unconsolidated subsidiaries. The company adopted in 1959 the policy of including in consolidated net income its equity in net income of unconsolidated subsidiaries.

Fourth quarter sales totaled $122,981,000 compared to $112,447,000 in the same 1958 period and $126,796,000 in the third quarter of 1959. Mr. Reynolds said. Profit for the last quarter of 1959 was $14,678,000 or 81 cents per common share, compared with $11,293,000 or 64 cents a share in the final 1958 quarter and $10,314,000 or 55 cents per share in the third quarter of 1959.

"While sales in January fell off some, because of bookings in December at the time of the price increase," Mr. Reynolds said, "the outlook for 1960 is good. We anticipate a 10 to 20 per cent increase in commercial sales in 1960."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Man's God-given ability to think and act rightly will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science services.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" will include these verses from Proverbs (16:1, 3): "The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue, is from the Lord. . . . Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be established."

Correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following:

"The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God" (258:21).

When pressing a hemline, place a piece of heavy wrapping paper between the hem and the garment to avoid ridges on the outside.

Onion powder, onion salt, onion juice, and onion flakes are convenient forms of a favorite flavoring to be found on many grocery shelves.

You can keep sweet potatoes from discoloring when boiling by adding a slice of lemon to the water.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a stronghold of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Proverbs	8	9-11
Monday	Job	8	10-11
Tuesday	Ezekiel	4	14-15
Wednesday	1 Corinthians	2	1-11
Thursday	1 Thessalonians	3	9-10
Friday	Hebrews	10	26-27
Saturday	Matthew	26	45-46

You can almost hear their voices, and see their eyes sparkle. They have confidence because they have studied their lessons. Questions do not worry them—they know!

Will they be as confident when it comes to the more serious questions of adult life? Those who grow up in the Church and give God His rightful place are building on a firm foundation. In His House they "increase in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." There is no substitute for the Christian precepts and ideals taught by your church.

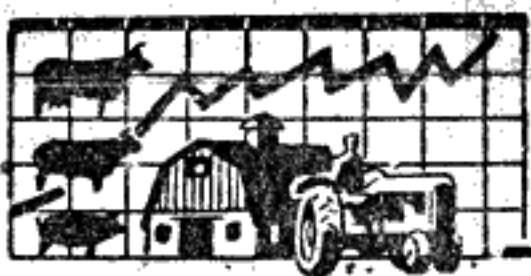

But what about those who lack this training? Will life seem difficult to them because they lack the confidence which comes from a knowledge of God and His teachings?

Do your children have the advantage of this confidence?

Small Farmers Miss Protection

Clearing $400 Qualifies For Social Security If Report Is Filed

"The small farmer is missing social security insurance protection because he thinks he must clear $400 to qualify for it," Mrs. Mary King Temple, Sheffield Social Security Manager said in an interview today. "Take the farmer who knows he didn't clear $400 in 1959. This is the man who doesn't realize that if he sold $600 worth of farm products, he has the portion of social security coverage." "Of course, there's nothing optional if the farmer actually does clear $400, and his sales amount to $600 or more," Manger Temple explained. "He has to file a social security report as a part of his income tax return. If he doesn't clear the $400, but sells $600 worth of products, he may make a social security report if he wants to. "The way I look at it, he should want to—when he considers the protection of old-age, survivors and disability insurance." Manager Temple explained there are also farmers who figure they have not cleared $400 because they have debts at the end of the year or don't have $400 in cash in their pockets or in the bank. "If during a year a farmer takes in $400 more than expenses of producing the things he sold, he has cleared $400 and must file social security report."

The Sheffield Social Security Office invites inquiries from small farmers to learn further about optional reporting and the method available to those who do not actually clear $400. The office is located at 204 Annapolis Avenue, Sheffield.

February Month To Plant Grasses

Plant dallis and bahia grass in February. Soil test recommendations will indicate the lime and fertilizer needs, says Auburn University Agronomist Bill Andrews. Mix the lime and fertilizer thoroughly with the soil, and make sure the seedbed is well settled either by rain or by disking and cultipacking.

Before planting, freshen the seedbed with a section harrow or weeder, advises the Extension specialist. Then drill or broadcast 10 to 15 pounds of bahia grass seed or 15 to 20 pounds of dallis grass seed per acre and follow with a cultipacker.

NEEDED PESTICIDE RESEARCH CONTINUES

Many chemicals are required in modern farming. However, continued research is important for solving the increasing number of problems relating to the use of chemicals in farming and other operations. At a recent meeting of the Agricultural Research Policy Committee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, immediate expansion in pesticide research was urged. This research will make it possible for agriculture to continue supplying the goods necessary for the country's present high standard of living.

New Discoveries Aid The Farmer

New knowledge was uncovered during 1959 by farm scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Perhaps the most important on the long list was the removal from plants and partial purification of a plant pigment which controls all plant development. Research that included performance testing of beef cattle, the heritability of tenderness and other quality characteristics in meat, and methods of measuring tenderness in live cattle was conducted.

The USDA also experimented with pelleted and chopped alfalfa hay for sheep, irrigation with brackish water, decontamination of agricultural land from radioactive fallout, and many other progressive ideas.

Nat'l Egg Month Observed In March

National egg month will be observed during March.

According to Extension Poultry Specialist J. H. Hubbard, eggs will be promoted through a nationwide publicity campaign using newspapers, magazines, radio and television, proclamations by governors and government officials, and other tie-in materials.

He adds that the U.S. Department of Agriculture, state agriculture Extension personnel, the State Department of Agriculture, the Alabama Poultry Industry Association, the Poultry and Egg National Board, and other groups are cooperating in the program.

Plant Pecans For Top Production

To get the most production from pecan trees select rich, deep, fertile soil with good drainage.

Auburn University Specialist John Bagby points out two important things to remember when planting pecans in Alabama. According to Bagby pecans will not produce high yields when they are planted on soils with a high water table. Also, poor, sandy soil is unsuitable for top production.

Be sure to plant varieties that are adapted to this area, urges the Extension horticulturist. For Alabama, he recommends the Desirable, Stuart, Elliot, Farley and Curtis. Ask your county agent for more information about growing pecans in your particular area.

PLANT QUAIL CROPS IN EARLY SPRING

Quail hunting season may seem to be a long way off but now is the time to prepare crops for the game birds.

Extension Fish and Wildlife Specialist Earl Kennamer recommends planting common, Kobe, and bicolor lespedeza seedlings in February and early March. Scarified bicolor and large partridge pea seed should be planted after danger of the last killing spring frost so that they will germinate. The Auburn University specialist warns against stock grazing quail crops.

Soil Test Truck To Leave Feb. 26

According to Assistant County Agent Herman Marks, of Lauderdale County, the truck that was to leave the county agent's office Friday, Feb. 19, carrying soil samples to the testing laboratories in Auburn, will not leave as originally planned due to bad weather conditions but that it is scheduled to leave next Friday, Feb. 26.

Farmers are urged to bring soil samples to the county agent's office before that date, as the truck will leave early Friday morning on the above date.

Marks added that the reports will be returned to the farmer before planting time if he will take advantage of this trip.

Freeze Sandwiches To Avoid Rush

Early morning is one of the busiest times of the day for the homemaker, especially if she fixes a lunch for her husband or school children.

To ease the rush, Extension Food Preservation Specialist Jeanne Priester advises making and freezing sandwiches during a slack period. If the frozen sandwiches are put in the lunchbox in the morning, they will be thawed by noon and retain a fresh, just-made flavor.

Fillings made of meat and poultry, hard-cooked egg yolk, cheese, peanut butter, pickles, or olives are suitable for freezing. But the specialist warns against the use of anything that may soak into the bread, such as jelly. Use mayonnaise sparingly and omit cooked egg white unless it is first put through a sieve.

Since frozen vegetables will wilt, it's best to add them fresh, says Miss Priester. And to prevent soggy, spread both slices of bread with butter or a butter substitute. It's important to use moisture-vapor-proof packaging material for the sandwiches—pint-size polyethylene bags are suitable and convenient.

John Sullivan Presents

TV CABLE TOPICS

This 'open letter' is being written to the people of the Tri-Cities area by the new manager of Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation.

I am a newcomer to the area, but not to the TV cable business. Having spent the past five years operating a very successful cable TV corporation in California, it is presumed that this experience can be of value to the local situation.

I moved to the Tri-Cities for one purpose only — to use this past experience in every way possible to help bring the BEST in cable TV reception to this cable area. Notice the choice of BEST instead of PERFECT. It will be our aim to bring good viewable TV reception to our cable subscribers 90% of the time. Weather conditions, changes in barometric pressure, terrain and many other conditions affect the TV signals exactly as radio is affected and it would be presumptuous and untrue to use the terms 'perfect' and '100%' of the time.

No excuses are or will be made regarding present picture and sound quality BUT the situation is recognized and acknowledged.

The following program was placed in operation February 8th, 1960. THESE ARE ACTUAL PROJECTS IN OPERATION AND NOT SOMETHING PROMISED FOR THE FUTURE.

1. Employed the services of a qualified engineer to check the system from end to end.
2. Added two additional men to our permanent technical staff.
3. Ordered the necessary microwave equipment for including the Alabama Educational TV network as a regular feature of cable service. (Actual date of operation to be announced.)
4. Temporarily halted ALL construction into new areas in order to devote our energies to reworking the existing plant and adequately service present subscribers.
5. Microwave engineer to check the actual operation of the equipment at Newberg Mountain and Florence.
6. Replacement of approximately 20,000 ft. of main trunk and feeder cable. This phase to start upon completion of engineering survey.
7. Installed adequate procedures to service trouble calls.

Your Cable TV people have done a remarkable job and I am proud to be called one of them. With proper coordination, scheduling and the spirit of teamwork that they have, this rather large program will be carried through to a successful completion.

To those of you not now on the cable the temporary halt in construction probably looms rather large. Please be assured that extensions will be constructed in the near future. Personally, I would rather have you perturbed at us for not being able to serve you than to serve you with a product that would be conducive to complaints. When we do extend our lines we will do it in such a manner that the added maintenance and electronic changes can be integrated into the overall picture without fuss or muss to present subscribers as well as prospective subscribers.

IN ACCOMPLISHING THESE PROJECTS, NECESSARY INTERRUPTIONS TO SERVICE WILL OCCUR. These interruptions will at times affect only small portions of the system; at other times the entire system will be off, but in either case these interruptions will be kept to a minimum. Much of our work is done from midnight to 6:00 A.M. but a great deal has to be accomplished when the stations are operating.

We at Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation realize the importance of good cable TV reception and our responsibility to the community. We have a genuine and sincere desire to fulfill this responsibility to the best of our ability.

- A little bit of quality
Will always make 'em smile;
A little bit of courtesy
Will bring 'em in a mile;
A little bit of friendliness
Will tickle 'em 'tis plain;
And a little bit of service
Will bring 'em back again.

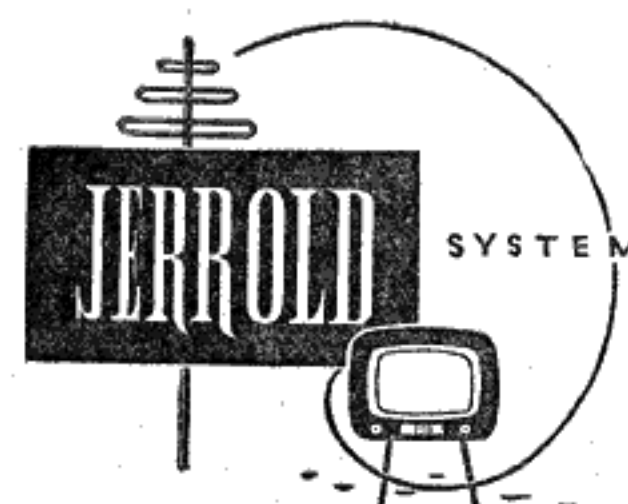

In behalf of the staff and management may I express our appreciation for your continued cooperation.

Sincerely,

MUSCLE SHOALS TV CABLE CORPORATION

This nation needs more farmers. It needs farmers with training, experience and new ideas. FFA is the answer because through its chapters members are taught the fundamentals of good farming at an early age so that they are able to make farming a success.

We are reminded during FFA WEEK of the obligation we owe the young men of rural America who learn by doing. It is fitting that such recognition be given these young men who are preparing for careers in agriculture.

Space Illusions Give Home Beauty

If your home seems crowded and small, here are some tips for creating an illusion of spaciousness.

Alice Peavy, Auburn Extension specialist in home furnishings, points out that too much furniture makes a room look crowded. To provide more free space, it's best to use as few pieces as possible. Also, small-scale pieces are perfect for small rooms—avoid using overstuffed furniture and patterned or coarse rugs.

Simple furniture arrangements, wall-to-wall floor treatments, emphasis of horizontal lines, and use of smooth textures and fine-grained wood help to create the space illusion, says the specialist. Besides these, mirrors help to suggest distance and cool colors, such as blues and greens, tend to open up a room.

But if all of these hints are used, the house would become cold and uninviting, warns Miss Peavy. She advises homemakers to choose only those that best fit their particular homes.

HOW TO HAVE QUALITY BEEF IN THE FREEZER

You can have high quality frozen beef by following certain recommended practices, says Auburn University Specialist Jeanne Priestner.

The first step is to select or butcher good quality meat and age it seven to 14 days or longer. After the meat is cut into usable portion, wrap it tightly in moisture and vapor-proof paper or polyethylene bags.

Hibbett To Head Drive For Funds

Expansion Program For Freed-Hardeman College Is Planned

A group of men, who have a keen interest in Freed-Hardeman College, met February 1 together with H. A. Dixon, President of Freed-Hardeman, and G. K. Wallace, assistant to the President, to discuss the advisability of launching an expansion program for the school. The group was unanimous in supporting the proposed plans, said Albert Hill of Killen, President of the local alumni.

Rufus Hibbett, well known citizen and business man, was selected by the group to head a committee for the purpose of raising funds from this area. The goal for the committee was set at $10,000. Alumni and friends of this area will be contacted during this drive for the expansion program. Mr. Hibbett will announce later the kick-off dinner for the committee.

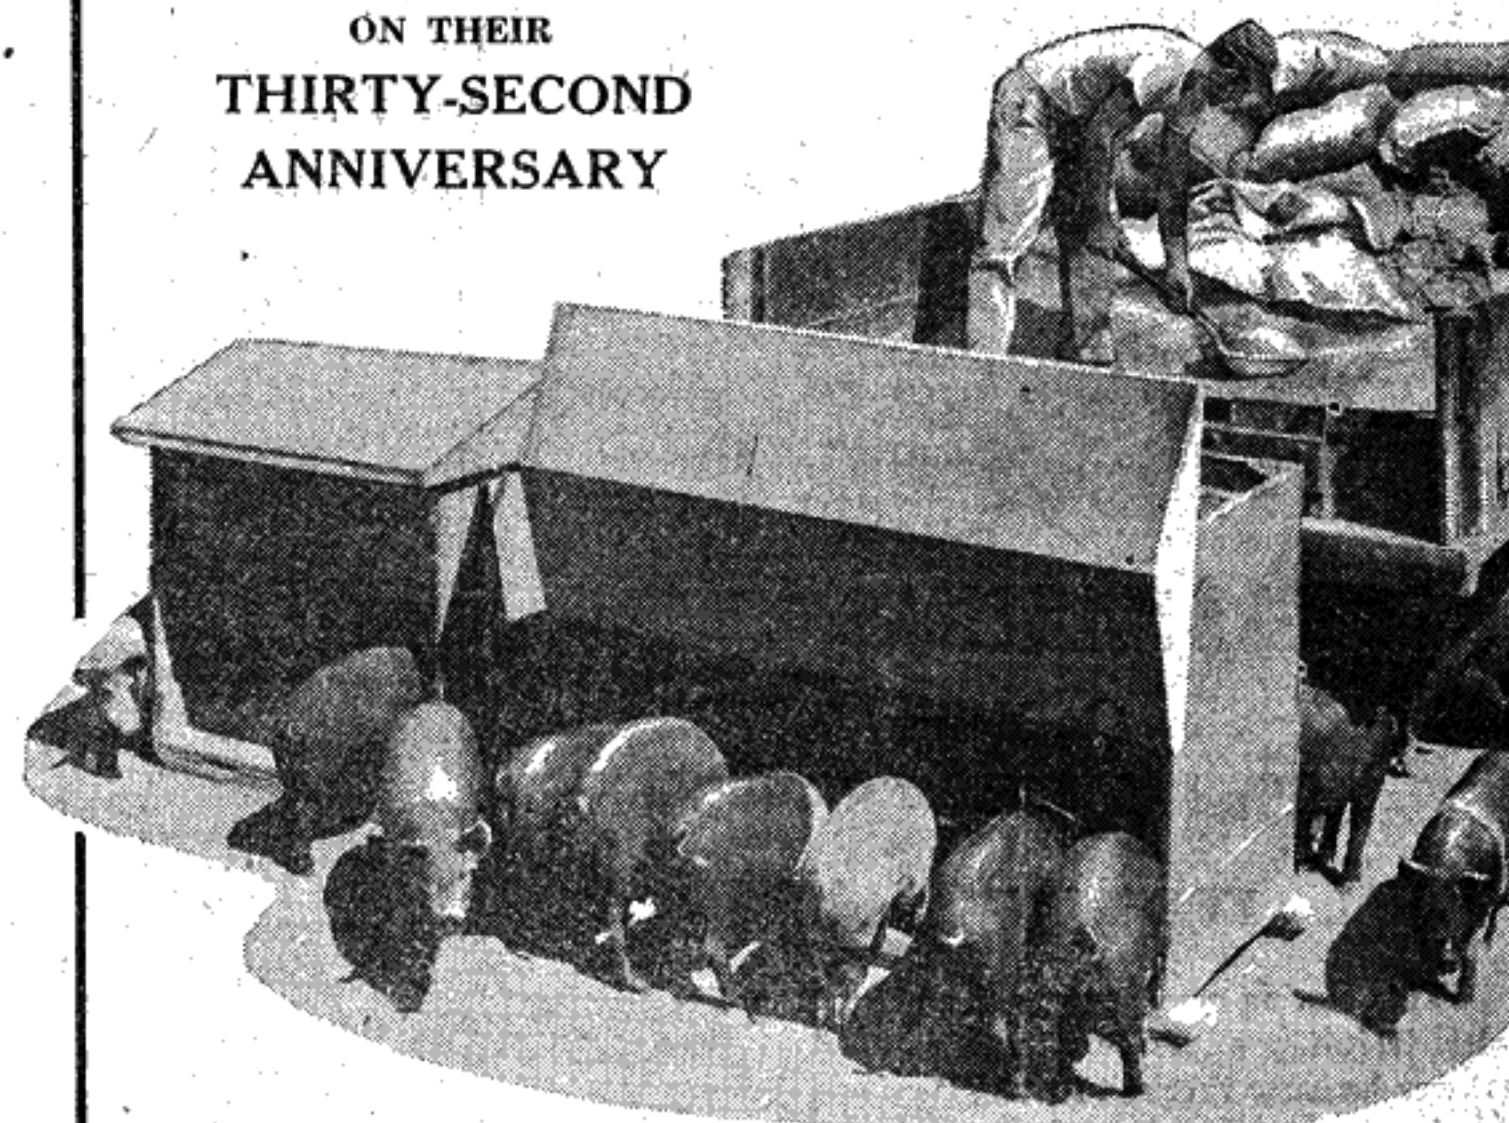

Freed-Hardeman, a well-known and recognized junior college, has the largest enrollment this year of its illustrious history. There is an urgent need for more campus room for future growth. The school has an opportunity to buy a suitable piece of property joining a section of the campus, which can be acquired at a reasonable rate, it was stated.

The Way To Better
Farming

Congratulations to the Future Farmers OF LAUDERDALE COUNTY

Believing, as we do, in the future of farming we are fully aware of the great contribution being made to this basic industry by the Future Farmers of America, whose thirty-second anniversary we observe during the coming week.

The Vocational Agriculture students in our high schools daily are learning more and more about farming practices of all types . . . through training, through study and through application of facts learned in the classroom, in the shops and on the farms, these boys are becoming more and more proficient at this ancient and honorable calling.

With training through actual farm projects, each year more and more boys are coming out of schools with the know-how of farming on a modern scientific basis. It is through these boys that the future of our nation will depend, for only through a strong agriculture can this nation hope to survive. We believe in the future of farming as practiced by the vocational students of Lauderdale County High Schools.

Tax Facts For The Homeowner

THE HOME AS AN INCOME PRODUCER

(This is the third in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Alabama Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

If you rent all or part of your home, the income you receive is taxable. However, the government is only interested in taxing the amount you gain over and above your expense for maintaining the lodging. You can save valuable tax dollars by being aware of the expenses you can deduct from the rent you receive.

Assume that you own an eight room house. Since you only need six rooms, you decide to rent the other two rooms as a furnished apartment. You will now have two kinds of deductible expenses, those expenses that apply to the house as a unit, and those expenses that apply particularly to the apartment.

As a home owner, you can deduct any property taxes you may have to pay. You can also deduct the interest on a mortgage. This is true whether you rent part of the house or not, but there are some additional deductions you can take from the rent you receive for the two rooms. You can deduct such items as insurance, repairs, collection fees, depreciation, and brokerage commissions. But remember, these deductible expenses must apply directly to the two rooms you are renting. In other words, if you make repairs to the whole house you can only deduct from rent income the cost of repairs applicable to the two rooms being rented.

If you supply any utilities such as gas or electricity to your tenant without making a separate charge, you can deduct a portion of the amount you pay for these utilities from the rent you receive. Income from renting all or a part of your home should be reported in Schedule G of Form 1040. However, if you perform any substantial services for you tenant, then the rent becomes business income and should be reported on Schedule C. For example, you may be supplying hotel-type services such as breakfast, laundry or cleaning. If such is the case, then you are actually receiving payment for the use of both your property and your services. In effect, you are in the hotel business and must report your income as business income.

Home as a Business Office
If you can show that it is necessary for you to work at home as a part of earning your income from a business, profession, or job, you may be able to deduct a portion of your household expenses as business expenses.

It may be that you use a room as an office. You have equipped it with a desk, a couple of chairs or other materials for performing your work. You can deduct a portion of the following expenses as legitimate business expenditures: depreciation of your home, heat, light, insurance and so on. You can also deduct any portion of your telephone bill applicable to your business affairs.

If you happen to be renting your home from someone else, you cannot deduct an amount for the depreciation of a portion of the house, but you can claim a deduction of the rent you pay as a deduction. Some of the expenses for your home office are fully deductible. These are expenses that relate exclusively to your business, such as supplies, postage, depreciation of your office furniture, and so on.

Whether you are renting your home or using part of it as an office, remember to keep records of as many of your expenses as possible. Although you are entitled to deduct the expenses discussed in this article, the Internal Revenue Service may ask for an explanation of some of the items you deduct. It pays to have whatever information you can gather to support the expenses you claim.

You can get additional information on deductible expenses from the free instruction booklet issued each year by the Internal Revenue Service. A copy will be sent to you together with your income tax forms.

DEDUCTIONS FOR CAR AND HOME

(This is the final in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Alabama Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Your home and car may be the source of deductions that will lower your federal income tax. It is important to check all possible deductions because of the savings involved. If you are in the lowest tax bracket—20 per cent—each $5 you can find in deductions will mean a dollar in your pocket. For persons of higher income the possible savings are even greater.

The interest on a mortgage is deductible on your federal tax return. In most cases, payments to a bank include both interest and principal; as the mortgage is reduced the interest is less, and a larger portion is applied to the principal. Only the amount you pay as interest is deductible in the case of your residence.

Real Estate Taxes
Sometimes the monthly payment also includes an additional amount which the bank holds for the payment of taxes, insurance, and so on. In this case the bank is acting as your agent in paying tax on your property. Real estate taxes paid for you by the bank are deductible as if you had paid them directly. The important point here is that you can only deduct the amount paid by the bank. For example, you may give the bank $360 over the year toward the payment of taxes but the tax bill may only come to $341. In this situation you can only deduct $341.

Deductible Auto Expenses
From the time you buy an automobile, you begin to have other expenses which are deductible on your federal income tax return. Any state or local sales tax you paid on the car purchase is deductible. So are the cost of your license, plates and interest on an auto loan.

A common deduction in many taxpayers' returns is for state gasoline tax. It is best to keep a record of your gasoline purchases during the year, but if you don't have such a record you can still make a reasonable estimate. For example, you may divide the average number of miles your car runs on a gallon of gasoline into the total miles you have put on the car over the year. This will give you an estimate of the number of gallons consumed. Multiply this by the tax per gallon, and you have a reasonable estimate of the amount you can deduct.

If you had a collision, you may be able to deduct the damage to your own car not covered by insurance. Although your driving may have been faulty, you are entitled to the deduction if the accident was not due to your willful negligence.

Such a loss is determined by subtracting the value of the car after the accident from the value before the accident.

A Roof Over Dependents
To determine whether or not you contribute more than half of the support for a dependent (one of the tests for claiming an exemption for a dependent), you must consider the value of the roof over the dependent's head. For example, if you provide a room in your house for your mother-in-law, you can consider the rental value of the room as part of your support contribution. This is the amount you could get for the room if you were renting it rather than allowing your mother-in-law to use it free.

If your mother-in-law lives in her own home, the situation may be quite the reverse. To determine the percentage of her support provided by you, you must consider the rental value of the one in which she lives. The amount she could have rented the home for is considered a contribution toward her own support. For example, suppose your mother-in-law has an income of $500 a year. The rental value of her home, even though she has no intention of renting it, is estimated at $1,500 per year. For tax purposes then, your mother-in-law is said to be contributing $2,000 to her own support for the year. To list your mother-in-law as a dependent, you must have contributed more than $2,000 to her support.

Additional Information
The instruction booklet you receive with your tax gives further information on federal income tax filing. Help is also available by telephoning or by visiting the offices of the Internal Revenue Service.

Mrs. Walter Dison and Mrs. J. R. Waddell were hosts to the Rogersville Garden Club on Monday evening at the home of the former. The valentine motif was carried out in the room decorations.

Thursday, February 18, 1966—Page 11

Presiding was Mrs. Buford Mithum with Mrs. Reynolds Thornton giving the devotional using the beauty of the simple things in nature as her central thought. A most interesting program, "A Guide To Spring Planting," was given by Mrs. Odie Harvey.

From a chart showing the proper arrangements of border and background planting the seed packets used in illustrating were prizes given to the holders of lucky numbers.

She chose to point out the good features of the unlovely month of February as far as gardeners are concerned. Since there was no weeding, no watering or mowing to do it was an excellent time to see the real possibilities of the garden area, whether it be a small or a large plot, and to plan for changes, making note of them on paper. She suggested that the area be viewed from an upstairs window and plants moved to more vantage points and beds planned where they will make the best showing. The hostesses served a delicious party plate.

Personals:

Mrs. Henry Hudson accompanied her son, Hurn, to Birmingham Friday evening and spent the week end with the Hurn Hudson family, returning on Sunday evening.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Williams on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. D. Romine of Athens, Miss Carolyn Moore of Cullman and Ted Williams of Athens.

Remarkable Growth Shown In State During Ten-Year Period

Alabama during the fabulous fifties has shown a remarkable growth measured by any yardstick. Jack W. Warner, president of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce said in reviewing the decade.

Manufacturing has increased, farm income has risen, State tax revenues have more than doubled, population is up, and Alabama's per capita income rise is one of the nation's highest, Warner continued.

More than a thousand plants have come to Alabama and nearly 500 existing industries have announced expansion during the decade just ended, a sure sign of a fine industrial climate.

In 1950, 206,000 persons were employed in 3,600 manufacturing plants and earned wages of 547 million dollars. Products were manufactured at a total value of 2.5 billion dollars. By 1960, manufacturing in Alabama had experienced a remarkable growth, with 250,000 persons employed in 4,800 plants, earning wages of 930 million dollars, and producing goods valued at 3.8 billion dollars.

New types of industry have appeared on the scene in Alabama along with remarkable growth in some of the older basic industries. Output of some of the newer industries, chemical and paper pulp being a good example, has shown outstanding growth. Output of these industries rose from 312 million dollars in 1950 and 467 million dollars in 1958.

Alabama industry was busily engaged in expanding during the decade from 1950 to 1960. During this period, a total investment of 1,460 million dollars in new capital investments in industrial plants was announced. A total of 1,139 new industries announced capital investments of 485 million dollars and 454 plants already in operation in the state announced expansions costing 974 million dollars.

Early in 1950 plans were announced to reactivate Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville for missile development. Since then Alabama has achieved worldwide fame as the rocket and missile center of the free world. In addition to the many millions of dollars spent for this and other U.S. military installation, railroads and public utilities in Alabama during the ten year period announced capital expenditures to cost in excess of 1.3 billion dollars.

Cash sales of Alabama farmers' products increased from 371.3 million dollars in 1950 to 520.8 million dollars in 1958. Cash receipts from sale of Alabama livestock increased from 131.4 million dollars in 1950 to 285.6 million dollars in 1958.

Alabama's citizens had at their disposal 2.4 billion dollars in effective buying income in 1950. This had risen to 2.7 billion dollars in 1958.

Retail sales in Alabama in 1950 were 1.7 billion dollars and in 1958 amounted 2.7 billion dollars.

Alabama have climbed from 116.5 million dollars in 1950 to 244.6 million dollars in 1959, more, than double.

Alabama's population is growing steadily, rising from 3,061,743 in 1950 to an estimated 3,224,890 in August 1959.

Per capita income increases in Alabama are running well above the average of increases for the nation. In 1956, Alabama's increase over 1955 was 6.6 percent, the highest in the nation, while the increase for the same period nationally was only 3.6 percent. Per capita income in 1950 in Alabama was 867 dollars and had risen by 1959 to an estimated 1,485 dollars.

NATIONAL FFA WEEK

1928 - 32nd ANNIVERSARY - 1960

— February 20 - 27 —

PURPOSE OF NATIONAL FFA WEEK

National Future Farmers of America Week seeks to focus attention on the work of the Future Farmers of today, who will be the successful farmers of tomorrow.

This nation must have many thousands of NEW farmers every year to replace those who die, retire, or otherwise leave the farm. These must be men with experience and training enough to become successful farmers. Generally, they must be men who have begun farming at an early age, so that by the time they are ready to marry and start a family they will be firmly established in a farming program that promises a good future.

Vocational Agriculture and the FFA constitute the most effective program yet developed for training boys to be good farmers and helping them to become established in the farming occupation of their choice.

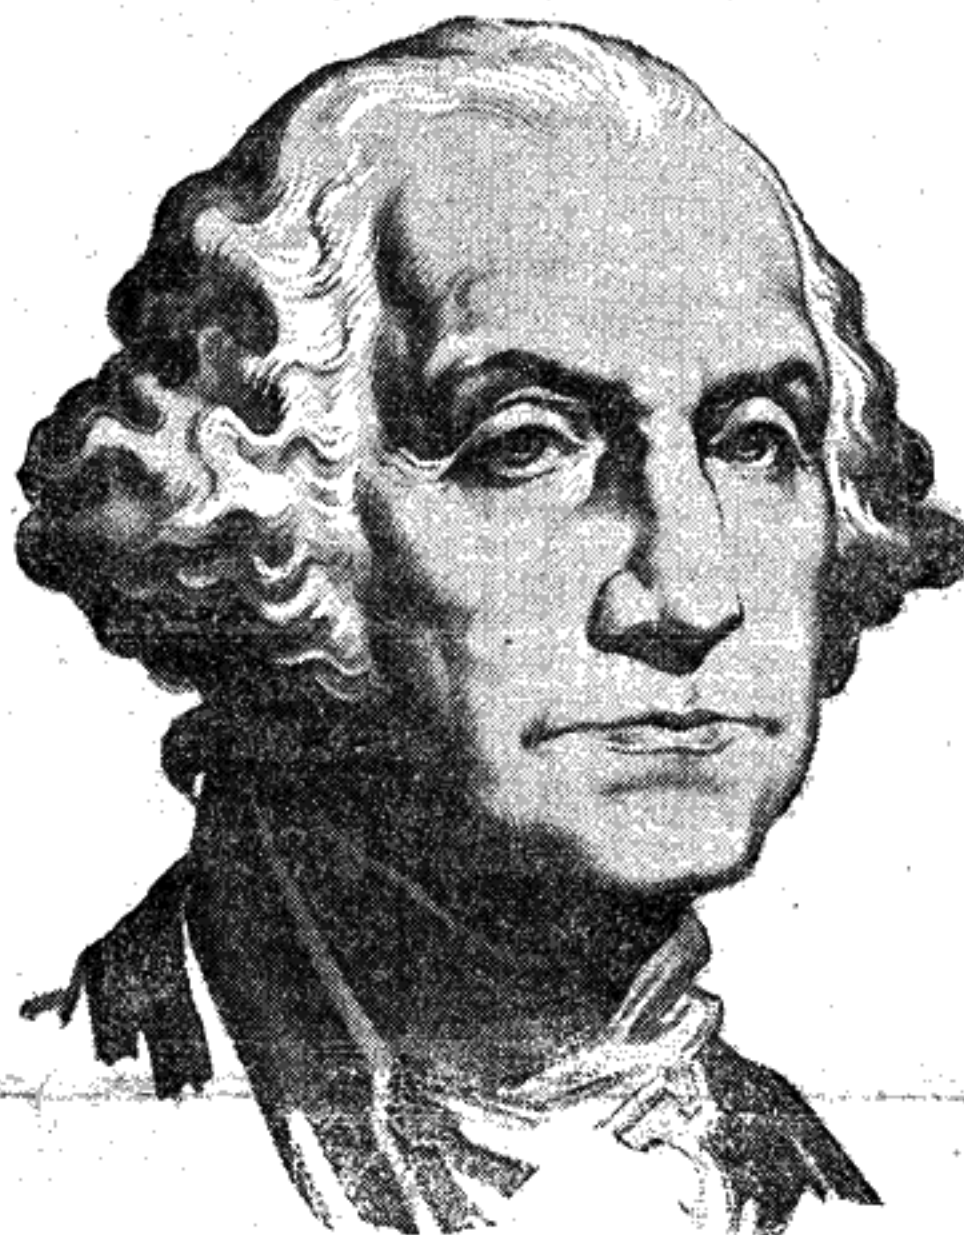

In view of the nation's need for NEW farmers, it is fitting that recognition be given these young men who are preparing for careers in farming. Encouragement at this time will do much to stimulate them to harder work and greater achievement.

WHY FFA WEEK IS OBSERVED DURING FEBRUARY

National FFA Week comes every year during the week of the anniversary of the birthday of George Washington. Although usually considered first as a great general, our first president, and an engineer, George Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, and other soil conserving methods. Probably no other man in America of his day spent more time seeking new agricultural information, either by experimentation on his own farm, or by correspondence with agricultural scientists in England. The title of America's first "scientific farmer" might be applied to Washington. It was more than a century after his death that many of the sound agricultural practices he advocated found general practice.

It is out of deep respect and admiration for George Washington, the farmer in whose progressive ways they seek to follow, that Future Farmers annually observe their National FFA Week at the time of his birthday.

WE SALUTE OUR FUTURE FARMERS

THE FFA MOTTO:

"LEARNING TO DO, DOING TO LEARN;
EARNING TO LIVE, LIVING TO SERVE"

WHAT IS THE FFA?

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA is the national organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture in rural high schools of the nation. FFA is an extra-curricular activity, having origin and root in the instruction program for boys who wish to prepare themselves for a successful career in farming. Among other things, members learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings; to speak in public; to market farm products; to solve their own problems; to finance themselves; to use improved farming methods; and to assume civic responsibility. Classroom training is a supervised farming program under the direction of the vocational agriculture teacher who is an agriculture college graduate employed on a 12-month basis.

WHY WAS FFA FORMED?

Vocational Agriculture in the public high schools was given its first big boost by the Smith-Hughes Act passed by the Congress in 1917, providing for Federal Funds on a matching basis with the States, to promote a program of education that would help to prepare those who intended to enter the occupation of farming. Many schools throughout the nation established vocational agriculture instruction in the early 1920's. Teachers, recognizing the need for some kind of organization to stimulate more interest in farming by the boys, provide them with additional incentive, give leadership training, and provide an opportunity for wholesome organized recreation. Many local "clubs," with a wide variety of names, were established to meet that need. The local units, in turn, organized county and state associations, and by 1928 the movement was so widespread that a national organization was formed. The national organizational meeting was held November 20, 1928, in Kansas City, Mo. About 35 vocational agriculture students attended the first national convention. Now, 9,000 or more members attend the national conventions held each year in Kansas City.

Cannibalism Is Robber Of Profit

With the current low prices for poultry and poultry products, producers can't afford to lose profits because of cannibalism.

Feather picking or cannibalism can cause down-grading and deaths in the poultry flock, warns Auburn Specialist Jim Hubbard. He points out that all of the causes of cannibalism are not known, but debarking the birds is one of the best ways to combat this problem.

The Extension poultryman also from Norfolk, Va. Mr. Howard is with the U.S. Navy.

"FUTURE FARMERS" CONGRATULATIONS

Cordial Greetings and Best Wishes

PRODUCTIVE YEARS

Every member of the Future Farmers of America who had a part in this great program has the right to be proud of the record of the past 32 years. We firmly believe that the F.F.A. has meant more to the success of agriculture than any like agency.

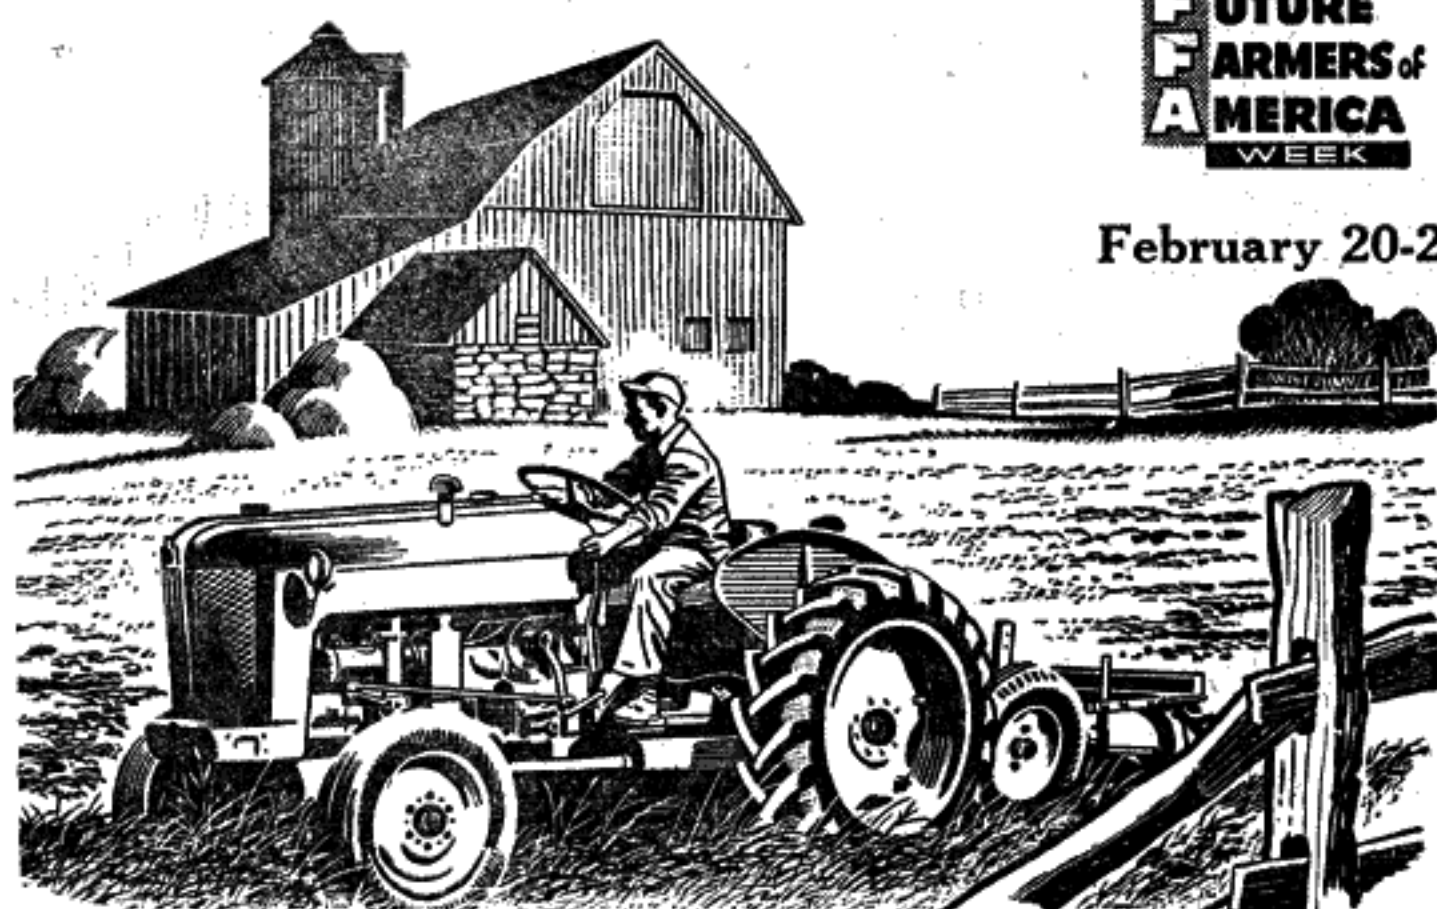

In reviewing the record of the FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA since its organization in 1928, we realize more and more what a wonderful contribution to the strength of our nation this organization has made. Our close association with the LEXINGTON HIGH SCHOOL chapter and the other chapters of the county has shown us that our progress in all agricultural pursuits would have been far less had not the F.F.A. paved the way through scientific farming to more productive acres and higher quality food and fiber ... goals that have paid dividends to all of us.

MAY WE AGAIN EXPRESS OUR APPRECIATION FOR YOUR EFFORTS.

CORDIAL GREETINGS

To The FFA MEMBERS IN OUR COUNTY

For many years it has been our pleasure to follow the activities of the FFA boys in the Lauderdale County chapters and cooperate in their projects. We appreciate the wonderful work that has been done by each boy and the contribution he has made to the betterment of agriculture and our county in general.

OUR BEST WISHES FOR YOUR CONTINUED SUCCESS

Now celebrating your thirty-second anniversary, you have established an enviable record since the organization was launched in Kansas City, Mo., in November 1928. Now spread throughout the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico with more than 380,000 members in over 9,000 active chapters, the history of the FFA shows a steady and healthy growth.

Your best efforts and training have made Lauderdale County one of the best in the state and we wish you every success for the years ahead.
