The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

Is Vice-President Nixon a sick man? That's the question that is being asked all over the country following the historic TV debate of Monday night when he and Senator Kennedy locked horns on domestic issues. Mr. Nixon appeared to have aged 10 to 15 years since the Republican convention and, according to published reports, he has been ordered by his physicians to slow down immediately. This may account for his poor showing in face-to-face combat with his Democratic opponent when, at times, he seemed to be fumbling his words. The contents of what each man had to say left little to choose between them, however it seemed to us that Kennedy's presentation surpassed Nixon's considerably. We await the next debate with keen anticipation.

In Rio de Janeiro the other day, union chorus girls demanding a higher wage scale from theatre owners got nowhere until they threatened to appear on the stage fully clothed. Within six hours, a new contract was signed with wages being increased.

If you think that everything you read in newspapers is correct, take another look at this sentence.

A few days ago, we are told, a patron of a local lunch counter ordered four poached eggs and French fried potatoes, a dozen raw oysters and a grilled steak. After wading through these, he finished off with a slab of apple pie and two cups of black coffee. When the waitress handed him his check, she meekly remarked: "You must enjoy your meals." "No," the patron said, "it isn't that—but I'm nuts about bicarbonate of soda."

You just can't put down one of those modern novels—when the children are around.

We read where a Navajo in New Mexico operates a garage called Honest Engine and Mary O'Toole, who runs a Los Angeles baby sitting business, calls herself the Irish Setter. We also note that Lilla Klagmuren runs an income tax advisory service which she calls the Little Wailing Wall.

If a law was passed whereby we might sue a candidate for breach of promise, there would be fewer candidates.

Well, the farm issue promises to be a big one in the future Kennedy-Nixon debates. Both sides seem to be an agreement as to what needs to be done and in complete disagreement as to which side didn't get the farmer in the tough fix he now finds himself. If this can be untangled to the complete satisfaction of all our farmers, a miracle will have taken place.

History is the collection of past errors that nobody ever paid any attention to.

The annual fair has come and gone and now, within three or four weeks, everyone will get caught up on his delinquent time payments and accumulate enough, too, to get back in the retail market for various supplies necessarily delayed in purchased because of the arrival of said fair.

One reason folks get into trouble is that trouble usually starts out with fun.

The doctor's office was crowded as an elderly man, bent over at the waist, was helped into the room by his wife. In terrific pain, the nurse did what she could to help him to a nearby chair. "Arthritis with complications?" she asked in a sympathetic voice. The wife slowly shook her head and explained: "No. Do it—yourself with concrete blocks."

Views Clash

Kennedy-Nixon Debate Attracts Huge Audience

Senator John F. Kennedy, Democratic standard bearer, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican nominee for the presidency, debated the issues of their respective goals in an interesting nation-wide television debate on Monday night.

While the two were in broad agreement over American security and certain domestic policies, they disagreed on the methods of achieving them.

In essence Senator Kennedy's talk was predicated on the need for getting "America on the move." The Senator made it plain that he was not satisfied with the way things are going in America with particular reference to his differences with Vice President Nixon over medical care for the aged, school construction and teachers' salaries, federal debt reduction, cost of government and the economic race with Russia.

At times the exchanges were sharp and the questions asked by the newsmen pertinent and to the point. The question of Kennedy's religion did not come up as the two debated who can best provide the leadership the nation needs. It was also interesting that neither mentioned civil rights although Kennedy did cite the plight of minority groups.

The Vice President hammered away with his argument that his Republican programs would move America forward "on the wonderful record we have made during the past seven-and-a-half years."

He said the proposals advanced by Kennedy on health, education, housing, farm, and medical care for the elderly through Social Security, would, Mr. Nixon declared, "lead to stagnation of the motive power we need in this country to get progress." He added that Republican proposals would boost federal spending by only 2 to 4.1 billions.

In his summation Kennedy said that his program could be included in a carefully drawn balanced budget "if our economy is moving ahead."

The program, the first of a series of four such public forums, was carried by all major TV and radio networks.

Both agreed at the conclusion that the debate had served a useful purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy White and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horton were in New Orleans Saturday for the Alabama-Tulane game.

School Revenue Is Up But Proration Still Necessary

No Chance For Change
With State's Fiscal Year Ending Sept. 30

A 27 per cent gain over last year is needed if school collections are to meet the $147,344,000 appropriation, according to the State Revenue Department.

State school revenue for the first 11 months of the fiscal year were 16.1 per cent more than for the same period of last year, and with just one month remaining of the fiscal year, it appears too late for income to match the appropriation.

School collections for August were 20.95 per cent above those for the same month of 1959, but when proration was declared in March, school revenues were only 13.97 per cent above those of last year. The department's figures further show that the sales tax collections increased 10.2 per cent compared with the same month of 1959. Income tax collections were up 30.68 per cent.

Tobacco tax gained 52.92 per cent more during August than during the same time last year, while the use tax brought in 40.4 per cent more. Gasoline tax showed a loss of 3.11 per cent during August.

For the first 11 months of the fiscal year, collections and percentages of increase are:

Sales tax—$74,140,000, up 9.15 per cent.
Gasoline tax—$62,949,000, up 2.49 per cent.
Income tax—$37,525,000, up 17.17 per cent.
Tobacco tax—$16,774,000, up 52.92 per cent.
Use tax—$8,058,000, up 25.25 per cent.

Overall Revenue Department collections for the fiscal year to date were up 11.00 per cent to $218,601,000, an increase of $21,813,000.

State Cotton Maid Selection Nears

Lauderdale County's Maid of Cotton, Janice Chappell, will be one of sixty-seven of Alabama's fairest of the fair to converge on the Alabama State Fairgrounds next month to be seen by thousands of cheering Alabamians.

On Thursday, October 6, the 67 beautiful girls from over the State will stand before the giant Alabama State Fair grandstand when the selection will be made for the winner to complete for national honors.

Alabama's 1960 Maid of Cotton, the beautiful Miss Mildred Nelson of Troy, Alabama, will be before the State Fair Grandstand to crown the 1961 Maid.

The winner will be sent to Memphis in December where she will compete with Maids of Cotton from other states. Should she win at Memphis, she will become the goodwill ambassador for the huge American cotton industry, be outfitted by the world's top designers and will be sent with chapters around the world to be feted and heard.

This popular contest is sponsored by the Alabama State Fair and the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation in cooperation with the Extension Service at Auburn University and the Alabama cotton manufacturers, ginners warehousemen, cottonseed processors, buyers and shippers. The activities of these groups are directed by the Alabama Cotton Promotion Committee.

Law And Equity Opens October 3

The regular non-jury monthly session of the law and equity court of Lauderdale County will open Monday morning at 10:00 a.m. Due to the circuit court being in session the law and equity court will be held in the grand jury room at the court house, Charles Edgar Young, clerk reported.

All persons who have signed bonds to appear before the law and equity court and have not made full settlement of their cases by Monday October 3rd, are required to be present when their case is called. Also all persons who have appeared before the court at a previous session and had their cases continued are required to be present Monday.

In recent sessions of the court a number of persons have failed to appear when their cases were called and as a result warrants had to be issued for their arrest. This adds additional cost and trouble to them. So it is very necessary that all persons who have undisposed of cases on the docket to be in court promptly at 10:00 a.m. Monday.

Judge Emmett N. Roden will preside assisted by John R. Barnes solicitor.

City Park Named For Ellie Martin

Mayor Honored By Park And Recreation
Board For Civic Work

The Florence Park and Recreation Board Tuesday named the City of Florence's park on Royal Avenue, adjacent to the recreation center, the Ellie Martin Park, in honor of the long-time city official Mayor E. F. Martin who was just re-elected to another three-year term.

Board Chairman Charles P. Stewart said, "The commission is responsible for the type of parks and recreation we have in Florence and Ellie won't take credit for anything. We feel that he should be given credit for a few of the many fine things he has done for the city."

A recreation miniature train was recently completed at the park, and picnic tables, barbecue pits and modern restroom facilities are planned in the future.

Other members of the Park and Recreation Board include Ed Smoot, Harold Hammond, Ralph Young, Kenneth Williams, Lee Cathey and Mrs. J. Will Young.

Two Men Killed In Highway Accident

A tragic highway crash some 12 miles south of Savannah, Tenn., at 3:30 p.m. Monday snuffed out the lives of two Lauderdale County men and injured two others.

Victims of the car-truck accident were Charles Edward Gresham, 21, of St. Florian and William Nathan Cummings, 22, of Rt. 6, Florence.

Gresham was thrown from the car in which the two were riding when it struck a tractor-trailer truck loaded with fertilizer skidding on the wet pavement.

Cummings body was removed two hours later from beneath the car which had been pinned down by the overturned trailer at the bottom of an embankment.

Seriously injured in the accident was Allen McCasland, 65, a passenger in a third car which was involved in the accident when Gresham was thrown through the windshield. This car was driven by R. D. Hughes of Route 2, Savannah, Tenn.

The tractor-trailer was driven by Thomas Ralph Carraway of Murray, Ky., who was hospitalized following the accident but later reported in fair condition.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO FIGHT COMMUNISM

AND PRESERVE FREEDOM

Alert yourself—learn the true nature and tactics of communism.

Make civic programs for social improvement your business.

Exercise your right to vote; elect representatives of integrity.

Respect human dignity—communism and individual rights cannot coexist.

Inform yourself; know your country—its history, traditions, and heritage.

Combat public apathy toward communism—indifference can be fatal when national survival is at stake.

Attack bigotry and prejudice wherever they appear; justice for all is the bulwark of democracy.

Construction In 1961

Bridge Across Pickwick Dam Approved By TVA

Hailed as a step forward in the realization of the proposed Alabama-Tennessee Scenic Highway, the announcement by the Tennessee Valley Authority that construction of a highway bridge across Pickwick Dam would begin about August 1961. The announcement stated that an agreement on the project had been completed between TVA, the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and the Tennessee Department of Highways. Cost of the project will be approximately $5 million it was stated, the amount to be equally divided between the Bureau and the state.

Design of the structure and construction supervision would be under TVA direction who would be responsible also for the maintenance of the bridge.

When constructed the Alabama-Tennessee Scenic Highway would give Waterloo an access route into Tennessee and greatly enhance the area as a resort. The proposed roadway would be routed along the northern border of Pickwick Lake and besides being a valuable tourist attraction would, after the bridge is built, provide Florence and Lauderdale County with a short route to Countee, Tennessee where a number of local residents are employed in the paper mill there.

The bridge will also link Tennessee State Highways 128 on the north and 57 on the south. There now is no bridge across the Tennessee River between Savannah, Tenn., and Florence.

Construction contracts are to be awarded about July 1, 1961. The job is expected to take from 1 1/2 to 2 years.

With the completion of the bridge, highway travel will be provided across seven of the nine TVA dams on the Tennessee River. A bridge across Fort Loudoun Dam, now being built, is expected to be completed in the spring of 1961. The remaining main stream dams, Hales Bar and Guntersville, are relatively near existing bridges.

Length of the Pickwick bridge will be 3,671 feet. It will have a two-lane roadway 28 feet wide with sidewalks on both sides and will be lighted along its entire length.

The bridge will be high enough to provide a 57 foot navigation clearance above the Pickwick lock.

The admission of Red China to the United Nations was shelved on Tuesday night as the UN Steering Committee overrode Soviet objections by a vote of 12 to 7. This was the same vote on the issue as last year. While the outcome had been expected it was nevertheless a victory for the West and a decided setback to the Soviet delegation led by Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Supporting the U.S. proposal to shelve the issue were Britain, France, Nationalist China, United States, Panama, Italy, Costa Rica, Haiti, Pakistan, Canada, Venezuela and Japan. Voting against it were the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Ceylon, Iraq and Sudan. Libya abstained and the assembly president, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, did not vote.

The Steering Committee acted after Khrushchev had proposed to bring neutralist nations into the disarmament negotiations. "The United States, however, received this bid with deep skepticism, reports stated."

Naturally the uncommitted or neutralist nations, as they have been so designated in the conference, are the ripe plums and both sides are hoping to count as many of these as possible when the showdown comes. One of these is Egypt, whose president Gamel Abdel Nasser has been extremely busy and has talked with both President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He has also talked with President Tito of Yugoslavia and India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Nehru on meeting with the Arab leader said there was no neutral bloc but independent nations. Following this statement Nehru hastened across town for a meeting with Khrushchev.

About his interview with Eisenhower, Nasser said, "I am looking forward to strengthening the good relations between the United Arab Republic and the United States."

Winding up his own whirlwind session in the UN Mr. Eisenhower appeared confident that the Communist nations would not be able to make over the UN to suit their whims and that the West would emerge victorious in the present crisis.

Ike Turns Down Meeting

The President dealt Mr. Khrushchev a stinging rebuff Tuesday when he refused to meet with the Soviet leader. As he left the Waldorf-Astoria thousands of cheering New Yorkers poured from office buildings to give him one of the largest ovations for any president since FDR's 1944 victory tour of the garment district. The crowd was estimated at a million persons.

Africans Rally To President

Just prior to leaving the UN Mr. Eisenhower had witnessed another victory for the West as a majority of the African nations lined up behind the U.S. and in support of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

The Soviets earlier had proposed that Hammarskjold be replaced with a three-man, Soviet-style executive committee.

This Is The Twentieth Century

This is the Twentieth Century, not the Fifteenth or even the Eighteenth. We believe no man should be condemned because of his religious faith, or if not condemned, restricted in the exercise of his constitutional prerogatives.

Without harping on the merits or demerits of party platforms or party accomplishments it is not good that the real issues confronting the people should be obscured by those who would hold any man's religious beliefs up to public scorn. It is indicative of a great weakness in the national fabric of our character at a time of great national peril.

As a result Senator John Kennedy, Democratic candidate for president of the United States has been forced to defend his right to a religious faith which happens to be different from that of his critics. We believe he has answered his critics adequately and well and moreover in a manner that reflects not only high moral character but complete patriotism.

We believe it is well to quote at least part of Senator Kennedy's answer to the question of religion in a speech he delivered on September 12 to the Greater Houston Ministerial Association:

I am grateful for your generous invitation to state my views.

While the so-called religious issue is necessarily and properly the chief topic here tonight, I want to emphasize from the outset that we have far more critical issues to face in the 1960 election: the spread of Communist influence, until it now festers 90 miles off the coast of Florida—the humiliating treatment of our President and Vice President by those who no longer respect our power—the hungry children I saw in West Virginia, the old people who cannot pay their doctor bills, the families forced to give up their farms—an America with too many slums, with too few schools, and too late to the moon and outer space.

These are the real issues which should decide this campaign. And they are not religious issues—for war and hunger and ignorance and despair know no religious barriers.

But because I am a Catholic, and no Catholic has ever been elected President, the real issues in this campaign have been obscured—perhaps deliberately, in some quarters less responsible than this. So it is apparently necessary for me to state once again—not what kind of church I believe in, for that should be important only to me—but what kind of America I believe in. I believe in an America where the separation of church and state is absolute—where no Catholic prelate would tell the President (should he be Catholic) how to act, and no Protestant minister would tell his parishioners for whom to vote—where no church or church school is granted any public funds or political preference—and where no man is denied public office merely because his religion differs from the President who might appoint him or the people who might elect him. I believe in an America that is officially neither Catholic, Protestant nor Jewish—where no public official either requests or accepts instructions on public policy from the Pope, the National Council of Churches or any other ecclesiastical source—where no religious body seeks to impose its will directly or indirectly upon the general populace or the public acts of its officials—and where religious liberty is so indivisible that an act against one church is treated as an act against all.

Finally, I believe in an America where religious intolerance will some day end—where all men and all churches are treated as equal—where every man has the same right to attend or not attend the church of his choice—where there is no Catholic vote, no anti-Catholic vote, no bloc voting of any kind—and where Catholics, Protestants and Jews, at both the lay and pastoral level, will refrain from those attitudes of disdain and division which have so often marred their works in the past, and promote instead the American ideal of brotherhood.

That is the kind of America in which I believe. And it represents the kind of Presidency in which I believe—a great office that must neither be humbled by making it the instrument of any one religious group, nor tarnished by arbitrarily withholding its occupancy from the members of any one religious group. I believe in a President whose religious views are his own private affair, neither imposed by him upon the nation, nor imposed by the nation upon him as a condition to holding that office.

Shearen Elebash Delights Exchange

Shearen Elebash, of Montgomery, delighted the members of the Exchange Club and their guests at the annual ladies night meeting at the Florence Golf and Country Club Tuesday night with a series of songs, imitations and dissertations that kept the large gathering in the happiest frame of mind. Earle W. Darby, president, presided and the program was arranged by Paul Lewis, Frank Mosier and Harold May. The wives of the three committee members had charge of floral and table arrangements.

Mr. Elebash, formerly a member of the Yale University glee club; a former candidate for governor of Alabama and a well-known businessman of the capital city, gave a forty-five minute program that was declared to be the most entertaining and truly hilarious presentation ever to be offered by the local civic club.

In addition to the wives of the club members, the presidents of the various civic clubs of the city and their wives or escorts enjoyed the evening's entertainment. A number of guests of the individual members also were present.

Shock Wave May Have Downed U2

Francis Gary Powers, the U2 pilot serving a 10-year sentence in the Soviet Union on conviction of espionage, said in a letter published in the Communist party paper Pravda last Thursday he believes his plane was destroyed by the shock wave of an explosion in the rear. Powers denied he had ever told his father, Oliver W. Powers, of Pound, Va., that his high-flying jet was not downed by a Soviet rocket. Expressing hope that he will not have to serve the full 10 years, Powers reaffirmed his determination to return home when he is freed.

DR. O. L. BURTON

"We moved to Florence not knowing whether we would choose the city as a place to settle, but after having lived here for a short while, we were certain that this was the place in which we would continue to live for the rest of our lives," said Dr. O. L. Burton when asked his point of view of Florence as a relatively new resident of the city.

"I like Florence, Lauderdale County and the Muscle Shoals area as a whole. It was the growing industry of the area which first attracted me, but after having moved here, I found that it was the friendly people who were as anxious as we to become good neighbors. This is perhaps the main reason we decided that this was where we would 'drop anchor,'" he continued.

Otto Leo Burton was born February 16, 1901, in McHenry, Miss., the son of George Robert and Olive Virginia Kinser Burton. He attended elementary school and high school in Talledega, where the family moved when he was a small boy. After high school, he attended the University of Alabama, being graduated in 1927 with a B.S. degree.

Dr. Burton was graduated from Northwestern University of Medicine in 1929 with a B.M. degree and in 1930 received his M.D. degree. He received his Master of Public Health from John Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health in 1940 and his certificate in fundamentals of Safety Engineering from the George Washington University in 1942.

Dr. Burton is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity, Theta Kappa Psi, medical fraternity and a member of the Military Order of the Caribou. He was president of his freshman class at Northwestern University, where he served on the Student Government Association.

On August 4, 1928, Dr. Burton was married to the former Norma Ann Frideman, of Antigo, Wis. They have two children, Bob, a construction engineer of Birmingham and Ann, the wife of Lt. Col. Dale S. Perry. There are seven grandchildren.

In 1929, Dr. Burton entered the Navy and served a total of 32 years before he voluntarily retired on January 1, 1958, with the rank of Captain. From 1930 to 1931 Dr. Burton was municipal physician and assistant port health officer stationed in the Virgin Islands, after which he became Medical Officer in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, serving in that position until 1932. He was assistant district Medical Supervisor with the Civilian Conservation Corps, Fort Bragg, N.C., from 1933 to 1934, and during this time was inspector of sanitation and preventive medicine officer for 25 C.C.C. camps.

Dr. Burton, served as Assistant Officer in Preventive Medicine, Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Navy Department, for two years and in 1940 organized and administered the Industrial Health Program of the Navy. It was also during this period, that he was Associate Instructor in Preventive Medicine at the U. S. Naval Medical School.

From 1943 to 1944, Dr. Burton was Senior Medical Officer serving aboard the USS Iowa, in the Pacific. For the next four years, beginning in June 1945, he served with the chief preventive medicine division of the Navy, which was followed by his appointment as executive medical officer at the U. S. Naval Hospital in Beaufort, S. C., and in 1956 received the appointment of Commanding near future. There was a baptismal service Sunday afternoon at which time, Rev. T. A. Duke baptized Jackie Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Camp have moved into their new brick home in Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Royce Camp and son have moved into the home vacated by the Herbert Camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie B. Thorne and Miss Sue McConnell have returned to their homes after vacationing a week in Florida.

Relatives arriving Wednesday for the funeral of A. W. Darby were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bonds of Houston, Mississippi, Mrs. M. B. Guin, Paul Guin and Mrs. L. E. Clearmon all of Vernon, Alabama and Henry Masterson of Jacksonville, Florida. Mrs. Hal Kernachan is spending this week in Guntersville as a guest of her sister-in-law.

Miss Jones, Lt. PainterWed In Double-Ring Ceremony

First Presbyterian Church, Florence, was the setting for the one o'clock ceremony of Sunday, September twenty-fifth, when Miss Louisa Sewell Jones, daughter of Mrs. Sewell Jones of 1058 Dixie Avenue and Roy Whitfield Jones of Houston, Texas, became the bride of William Lee Painter, Jr., lieutenant, United States Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Painter of Richmond, Virginia.

The Reverend J. V. Cosby Summerell, minister of the church, read the service in the presence of family members and close family friends. Alan Flowers, organist, presented nuptial selections.

Altar vases of white gladioli were arranged in triplicate to fashion the background against which the wedding tableau formed.

For the occasion, the bride chose a patio-length gown of white Italian brocade taffeta distinguished by a rounded neckline, shirred cap sleeves and a balloon skirt which flared from the waist. Her circular veil was caught with florets to a small, matching headpiece and her bouquet was fashioned of lilies of the valley. For "something borrowed," she wore a single strand of her mother's pearls and her "something old" was a hand-brodered petticoat flounce reminiscent of her grandmother's girlhood. She was given in marriage by Judge Robert McLellan Hill, longtime family friend.

Miss Adele Jackson, serving as honor attendant, wore a frock and headpiece of pink taffeta, fashioned similarly to the bride's. She carried a matching nosegay of cymbidium orchids.

Mr. Painter was her son's best man and William Richards Henderson and Captain Thomas Ashcraft, both of Florence, were usher-groomsmen.

For the wedding and, later, the wedding luncheon to which she was hostess at The Town Club, Mrs. Jones was gowned in copper-toned chiffon and Mrs. Painter, mother of the bridegroom, wore a jacket dress of blue brocade. Small, veiled hats, matching accessories and orchid corsages completed their attire. Mrs. John H. Sewell, the bride's grandmother, was in taupe crepe and she, too, wore matching accessories and, at her shoulder, an orchid.

Now honeymooning in the Smokies and the Shenandoah Valley, Lt. and Mrs. Painter's trip will eventuate in Fayetteville, North Carolina, where he will be stationed at nearby Ft. Bragg.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Everett Searcy, Miss Regina Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Dixon and children, Mary Sale and Joe, all of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. John Clement of Tuscaloosa; Mrs. William Reid Smith-Vaniz, Dr. and Mrs. McDonald Kelso Horne, Jr., Don and Robert Horne, all of Memphis; and Mrs. McDonald Kelso Horne of Jackson, Mississippi.

Judith Ann Montgomery, James Haddock Say Vows

Only family members and close family friends were present in Cloverdale Methodist Church for the ceremony of Saturday afternoon, September twenty-fourth, when Miss Judith Ann Montgomery exchanged vows with James Haddock.

The Reverend E. L. Hunt, pastor of the church, read the two o'clock service and nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Fred Montgomery, sister-in-law of the bride and cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Alan Montgomery, also a sister-in-law of the bride.

Arrangements of white asters and gladioli against a background of greenery decorated the candle-lit altar, with English ivy entwining the chancel rail.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Niles Ernest Montgomery of Cloverdale, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her balconnet gown was of lace over a white tulle bodice and a long, draped skirt.

Miss Betty Myhand, the bride's only attendant, wore a pink lace-over-satin frock with a small pink feathered headpiece, and her bouquet was a cascade of pink asters.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Haddock of Central Heights, chose his father as his best man and his brother and his bride's brother Richard Haddock and Alan Montgomery, as ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery honored their daughter and their son-in-law immediately after the ceremony with a reception in the family home. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Glenn Austin, Mrs. James Montgomery, Miss Eva Ann Montgomery and Mrs. Alan Montgomery.

For travel, the bride wore an Autumn suit of olive green, small matching hat of velvet and ribbon, and black accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

Following their honeymoon on Lookout Mountain, Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Haddock will be at home in Central Heights.

Sunday Vows Conclude Jones-Painter Prenuptials

Included among the courtesies which filled the calendar for Louisa Jones and Lt. William Lee Painter following his arrival from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, on last Thursday evening were informal invitations for an afternoon swim at the lake and dinner, later, with family friends, as well as the more formal affairs which took place in club settings.

Mrs. Walter Matthews used all white blossoms on the serving table and as centerpieces at smaller tables around which she seated her guests when she entertained with a one o'clock luncheon at the Country Club on Saturday. Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and mixed garden bouquets fashioned the flowering background throughout the lounge and sunroom.

Present were members of the wedding party, out-of-town wedding guests and family members.

Mrs. Matthews was assisted by Mrs. Robert Hill and Mrs. Harry Herndon.

Following the rehearsal of plans, Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Painter of Richmond, Va., parents of the bridegroom, entertained at The Town Club on Saturday evening.

The affair, a seated dinner, took place in the club's Williamsburg Room where guests found their places around a U-shaped table. Tall white tapers burned in silver candelabra and bouquets of white carnations, pompons and tuberoses were garlanded with Southern smilax to mark the nuptial theme.

Prenuptial Fetes Honor Bride-Elect, Fiance

Nearlyweds Martha Williamson and Sonny Thompson have been caught in a gala party whirl since the announcement of their engagement a few weeks ago.

Beginning the prenuptial courtesies was Mrs. Marvin Pickens who entertained with a tea at her home on Howell Street, using early Fall flowers throughout the party rooms and echoing the same colors in the refreshment menu.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wallace of Decatur, Miss Williamson's former home, were dinner hosts to a group which included with the honorees a number of their friends from Florence, Decatur and Huntsville.

The setting was the hosts' new home and pastel-to-deep-pink gladioli arrangements complemented the furnishings and decor of the rooms.

Tri-Citians among the twenty-four guests were Dr. and Mrs. James F. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. John Archer, Mr. and Mrs. William Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hall, Miss Diana Gambill and Robert Terry.

No wedding is complete without its quota of bridal showers and members of bride-elect Martha's Sunday school class at Highland Baptist and her office co-workers have been hostesses to two such affairs. Prettily packaged miscellaneous gifts were presented at a party in the home of Mrs. Mack Taylor and a lingerie shower was tendered in the home of Mrs. Thomas Crittenden.

A candelabrum arranged with encircling blossoms centered each small table when Mr. and Mrs. John Archer and Dr. and Mrs. James Thompson welcomed their dinner guests on Saturday evening, the 17th, in compliment to the bride- and bridegroom-to-be. The Poplar Street home of Mrs. O. N. Miller, grandmother of Mrs. Archer, was the setting and seated with the honorees and the hosts were Bonnie Carr and Don Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. John Bush and Mr. and Mrs. William Crabbe.

Miss Diana Gambill and Robert Terry were co-hosts at the Gambill home on Wilson Lake Shores on Saturday evening when they entertained informally for the bridal couple and included among their guests Mr. and Mrs. William Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. John Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Terry, Dr. and Mrs. James Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gillam, Mr. and Mrs. Moultrie Flounden of Montgomery and Charles Pritchard, here for a brief week end from Memphis, Mr.

and Mrs. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williamson of Decatur.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thompson of 1014 North Wood Avenue, will entertain following the rehearsal of plans on Saturday evening and the wedding will be an event of Sunday in Highland Baptist Church.

Literary Clubs Resume Regular Meeting Schedules

Beginning their club year with a sans-program gathering has become established custom with HY-PATIAN CLUB members and on Saturday, September 24, their first Autumn (1960) meeting took place in the form of a brunch at The Town Club.

This year's officers including Mrs. Morton Southall, president, Mrs. A. Robert Tomlinson, vice-president, and Mrs. Wesley Patton, secretary, were joined as hostesses by Miss Gladys Shepard, Mrs. James McIntosh and Mrs. Julian Nance.

Garden bouquets centered the table where eighteen of the club's twenty-two members were seated.

The Lee Cathey home on Lauderdale Beach was the setting for the PIERIAN CLUB'S annual bring-a-dish luncheon which Mrs. Ralph Dasher and Mrs. Pearson Shanks, hostesses, planned for Tuesday, September 20.

New officers are Mrs. Robert Lehr, president; Mrs. John Wilks, vice-president; Mrs. Shrader Casey, secretary; Mrs. J. A. Wilbanks, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Nash, reporter. Tables on the porch, with a view of the lake, and bowls filled with late Summer roses were among the delightful details. Members exchanged vacation-time experiences during the luncheon hour.

Gathering in the home of Mrs. D. J. Edwards for each Autumn's first meeting of FIRENZE CLUB members is an eagerly looked-forward-to event as the club season approaches.

On Thursday, September twenty-second, Mrs. Edwards' guests included a former member, Mrs. John Kernachan, whose home is now in Guntersville, and Mrs. James Atchison, who was welcomed into club membership.

Interesting entertainment was presented by Mrs. Walter Brown who reviewed Nirad Chaudhuri's "A Passage to India." A native, the young author compares his homeland to England with particular regard to the difference in climates and the resultant effect on native peoples. Mrs. Brown, widely traveled in foreign lands, interspersed the review with her own impressions.

New officers are Mrs. Bryon Bower, president; Mrs. A. J. Darby, vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Powell, secretary.

In Birmingham Saturday for the Auburn-Tennessee football game were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hardie, their son, Sammie, and Lester Norvell, Jr.

THE SPILLWAY

Of the many who write, there're just a few
Who CAN — compared with Those who DO!

MADAME SPILLWAY ADMITS to belonging in the "do" category, but she can tell you about one who "can" . . . just look in the October issue of Good Housekeeping, and there you'll see a poem entitled "Symphonette on a Lonely Beach" by our own Morton Prouty.

Read it, and we know you'll join us in being proud of another Florentine — become — famous . . . understand that we'll have a collection of poems published, next fall, and we want to reserve our copy now.

ANOTHER LOCAL CITIZEN gone professional . . . Have you seen Marie Basil on television? . . . not giving lessons on the culinary arts, as you might expect, but in the role of a dancer PAR EXCELLENCE . . . presented by her instructors, showing some of her dance routines, and receiving loving cups and awards, she shows promise of bigger things to come, and we'll be watching with interest.

MORE ATTRACTIONS OUT HICKORY HILLS WAY . . . three interesting family groups have recently moved out to add to the already attractive neighborhood. First there was the Jim Massey family, which includes three handsome boys . . . then the Doug Lamberts with three more good-looking sons (and we know they will easily "fill" the spacious home left by Bill and Mary Louise Flanagan) . . . and now Louise and daughter Angelo Delony have moved out . . . just know they are already dreaming about showing their charming new home to Toby when he returns from England next year.

ODE TO A GRECIAN URN . . . broken in this case . . . When Lois Morris had a Welcome Home party for Cara Slaton, each place card included a piece of the broken Greek vase, and each name was therein designated by a Greek letter. That should have been a subtle enough hint, so that Cara would go right into every detail of the trip she and Dr. Bill have just enjoyed to (you guessed it) Greece . . . and wasn't Lois the clever hostess?

SPEAKING OF GREECE, we hear that much informal entertaining is taking place for delightful Jane Moody, who is here from Athens, Greece to visit mother-in-law Pearl Powers Moody (and we're so disappointed that Jim couldn't make it this time). Everyone is charmed by Jane and so very interested in the things she has to tell about her life in Athens and her work with the U.N. there, which, among other things, has given her the opportunity to have an interview with Nasser. Hope Jane will stay a while so that more of us can have the opportunity to enjoy her.

"BONVOYAGE" to Ellen and Uhlund Redd, as they're now on their way to meet son Uhlund (known as "Mr. U.") who has finished his service with his "Uncle Sam." Hear that they plan a nice leisurely trip through New England before they head home. They couldn't have chosen a prettier season for traveling.

VIRGINIA CARR HAS been making the proverbial dust fly these past few days and her friends are having a hard time making her slow down long enough for some last minute chats . . . understand that after their marriage on Saturday she and Gene (Mr. and Mrs. Olsen, that is) plan an extensive trip—first far to the south, then north, east and west—before settling in Adrian, Michigan sometime in November. ANOTHER BUSY "member of the party" is Lillie Holmes, whose three grandsons will become her three sons (counting Bill, who is a student at Columbia Military Academy) during the next several weeks.

OUT OF THIS WORLD are the words being used to describe the setting, the hors d'oeuvres tables, the food in general, and the PARTY in particular, given last Saturday night by delightful hosts Ezra and Edith Culver . . . at the HOLIDAY INN . . . along with the local contingent, many members of the bigger Holiday Inn family were there to enjoy the festivities, a nice preliminary to the Grand Opening on Sunday which was attended and enjoyed by such a large number.

THE FAIR IS GONE, but THE DUCKS LINGER ON . . . seems a goodly percentage of the youngsters hereabout now own ducks (which they "won" at last week's fair), and we've heard many parental complaints over some of the more practical angles of raising our feathered friends . . . but who knows, MAY be that Florence will soon have a thriving new industry, led by its youngest citizens! Anybody want-a-buy-a-duck?

Until more news comes through the Spillway . . . GOODBYE FOR NOW.

Mr. Mrs. Fortney Hosts To Out-Of-Town Group

During the meeting here last week of the National Industrial Service and Sales Association, Mr. and Mrs. J. Garnet Fortney were hosts to organization members who attended and their wives.

About sixty guests from scattered sections of the mid-South were present on Thursday evening for card games in the lounge of the motel where they were entertained and on Friday, while husbands toured places of special interest, luncheon and cards were on the agenda for the ladies. A profusion of garden flowers decorated the lounge on Friday evening for the concluding feature, a buffet dinner with orchestral music presented by a local group.

Alabama's 1959 cotton crop of 726,500 bales—from 835,000 acres—grossed producers $130 million.

Florence Hostesses Welcome Mrs. Moody

Occasioned by the arrival last week from Athens, Greece, of Mrs. James Moody who is a guest of her mother- and aunt-in-law, Mrs. Pearl Powers Moody, Mrs. Milo Long and Mrs. Carl Rossmassler, a flurry of informal courtesies are dotting the social calendar.

Mrs. W. F. McFarland and Mrs. Richard Smith invited a small group to luncheon at The Town Club on Friday, including with the guest of honor and her three hostesses Mrs. Frank Irvine and Mrs. Allen O. Tomlinson, the latter here from her home in Whittier, Calif. for a visit with her son, A. Robert Tomlinson, and Mrs. Tomlinson.

Mrs. Carl O. Walker and Miss Josephine Penney were luncheon hostesses on Saturday, inviting the same family group to their home on West Tusculosa St., with Mrs. D. J. Edwards and Mrs. T. M. Rogers as additional guests.

Delightfully informal was Mrs. Frank Irvine's courtesy of yesterday (Wednesday) morning when about twenty guests were welcomed by the hostess at "Oakridge," her home on Jackson Road. Morning dainties were served from a prettily appointed table with garden flowers fashioning the centerpiece, and bowls of the same colorful blossoms—lending additional charm throughout the party area.

Mrs. Moody's Florence visit is one of three pleasant reasons for her current sojourn in the States. She visited her mother, Mrs. Clara Johnson in Lynn, Ind., before coming here on Oct. 3, she will go to Philadelphia, Penn., where the Moody's second son, Michael, is a student at University of Pennsylvania. After this third visit, she will return to other family members in Greece and to her interesting and absorbing work with the Inter-governmental Committee for European Migration.

Reeder Grove Garden Club Holds Meeting

The Reeder Grove Garden Club met Tuesday night, September 27, at the home of Mrs. Gordon Smith, 1066 Stewart Avenue, Florence, with Mrs. Fred McCallum, co-hostess.

Mrs. M. L. Hauerwas, president, presided during the business meeting, during which time, plans for the new club year were discussed. The theme for the year is "Gardening is Design."

Other officers of the club are as follows: vice-president, Mrs. Karl W. Potts; recording secretary, Mrs. Grady Ward; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Fred Thomas; parliamentarian, Mrs. Morton Prouty; historian, Mrs. Harvey Blalock and treasurer, Mrs. Henry Romine.

The program, "Flower Show Design," was presented by Mrs. H. J. Ferman and Mrs. Dan Glenn, after which there was a workshop on flower arrangement.

A social hour followed the program.

In Birmingham Saturday for the Auburn-Tennessee football game, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Mefford, Jr., of 420 Cypress Mill Road were joined by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Creed Mefford of Port St. Joe, Fla.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Penland and family at their home on Olive Street is Mrs. Penland's mother, Mrs. William Lyman of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Foster Barnwell spent the past weekend in Cullman as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Morrow.

Also in Birmingham during the weekend for a visit with friends and to attend the game were Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Hyde.

Mr. and Mrs. James Massey and Dr. and Mrs. Fred McCallum spent the weekend in Birmingham and attended Saturday's football game.

Mrs. T. M. Rogers, Sr., is leaving today for a few days' stay in Hammond, Indiana, where she will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mias, friends made on a South American tour several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Darby attended the National Convention of Exchange Clubs which took place in Birmingham recently. Mr. Darby is president of the Florence group.

Dr. A. A. Jackson has returned from Ogden, Utah, where he was called by the death of his sister.

'61 CHEVY TRUCKS

WITH WORK-PROVED
INDEPENDENT FRONT SUSPENSION!

Torsion spring heavyweight

Chevy's '61 fleet swings in with a ready-made reputation as the trucks that are worth more because they work more . . . the latest editions of the haulers that scrapped the I-beam axle and proved the important advantages of independent front suspension!

You'll find new models for '61—long-wheelbase 4-wheel drive units—and thoughtful refinements throughout the line. But the big news for '61 is nailed-down proof (based on owner reports) that Chevy's torsion-spring design is the best thing that's happened to trucks in decades!

With Chevy's independent front suspension and Sturdi-Bilt design, you cruise over trails where other trucks creep. You feel the difference in less wheel fligt and vibration. You can see why drivers are happier, why loads are better protected and why the truck itself will stand up to thousands of miles of more work. That goes for any size Chevy, too—pickups, tilt cabs, tandems, all of them.

Check the latest specs with your Chevrolet dealer: capacity, power teams, options. Then, by all means, drive a '61. Once around the block and you'll never be satisfied with a front axle truck again!

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!

News Of WATERLOO

By Mrs. S. E. Cherry

Church: Worship services will be held Sunday at the Baptist Church and the Church of Christ.

Bro. J. E. Stewart will preach at the Waterloo Methodist Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and at the Wright Methodist Church Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

Mid-week prayer services were held Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hagood, with Mrs. Hagood leading the services.

Bro. and Mrs. L. O. Jagers attended a church meeting at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Sheffield Monday night.

Interested parties are reminded of the day of work to be held at the Methodist Church and parsonage Saturday of this week, the weather permitting.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Franklin from Birmingham were week end guests in the home of J. A. Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. George High and children from Florence were visitors in the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Scott during the week end.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. White were Mr. and Mrs. Herschel White from Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burns and little daughters, Kay and Mae, from Florence spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mason Isley.

Dan White from Waynesboro, Tennessee visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lacher Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Culver spent a few days in Waterloo recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jagers and children from Birmingham were overnight guests in the home of Bro. and Mrs. L. O. Jagers Friday night.

Mrs. C. J. Vaughn, Mrs. Jackie Vaughn and baby, and Jeanette Vaughn visited Mrs. S. E. Cherry Sunday afternoon.

William T. White is reported to be improving at ECM hospital.

Mrs. Matilda McCluskey remains a patient at ECM hospital, having undergone surgery last week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Eppes made a trip to Auburn last week end.

School: Heartiest congratulations go to the Waterloo Chapters of FFA and FFA and their club advisors, Mrs. Elaine Halcombe and William B. Hagood for their prize winning exhibits at the North Alabama State Fair in Florence last week. Each chapter captured first prize in its exhibit.

The Waterloo Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first meeting of this school year on Monday night, October 3, in the school auditorium.

Farm drownings have increased with the increase in farm ponds, so it is wise to teach children water safety early.

Open House Set At Lund-Keeton

Elsewhere in this issue is an advertisement by Lund and Keeton Implement Company on South Seminary Street announcing the showing Saturday of the new John Deere tractor line. All farmers and users of tractors are invited to open house at Lund and Keeton at that time.

"The New Generation of Power" is the watchword of the new John Deere line which features a new concept in power—engine, transmission, and hydraulic—more usable power for every job. There are 12 basic models in the new line of John Deere tractors, 4 and 6 cylinder gasoline, Diesel LP-Gas engines.

Farmers use 10 per cent of the nation's chemicals.

Homecoming At Lexington High On Friday Night

Lexington High School will hold its first homecoming Friday night. Kickoff time for the football game, with West Limestone, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

During halftime, the Homecoming Queen, Brenda Ray, will be crowned, with entertainment to follow, presented by the Lionettes of Florence State College and West Limestone's marching band.

A tea, to be held from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m., will precede the game in the school Home Economics Department and will be for all Alumni and their husbands or wives.

Bridal Shower:

Mrs. Crutcher Hardy (Sandra Vickers), wearing pale blue taffeta, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Monday evening at 7:30 in Fellowship Hall at the Methodist Church by the Young Adult Sunday school class whose teacher is Sandra's mother, Mrs. Thurston Vickers.

Mrs. Frances Daley of Athens kept the guest register. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Vickers who introduced these out-of-town guests: Mrs. Leroy Hardy, who is the honoree's mother-in-law, Mrs. Warren Jenkins, Mrs. Mildred Holmes, Mrs. Otis Sledge and Mrs. Connie Adams of Athens.

Mrs. Jennie Graham and Miss Janie Baggett presided at the refreshment table, whose focal point was a crystal punch bowl holding golden punch and encircled with yellow blossoms and deep greenery.

Mrs. Hollis Bedingfield presented the gifts.

The couple is at home in Athens.

The first P.T.A. meeting of the year was presided over by Hubert Green who introduced Bro. Tom Estes, new minister of the Church of Christ, who used Joshua 3:4 as a text.

Taking part in a most informative panel discussion on the school lunch program were Mrs. Mabel Anderson of Florence, Supervisor of all county lunch rooms, who pointed out that the number 1 reason for the establishment of the hot lunch program was the health of the child. Some 321,000 children had a hot lunch each day in Alabama schools in 1959.

Mrs. Mary Favors, head of the Rogersville lunch room, presented two typical menus served recently showing cost of each and amount of money received for same and explained detailed planning in order to make expenses and income balance. Mrs. Betty Albers, Home Economics teacher, then took two typical menus and, after presenting the basic food requirements of each individual, showed how the hot lunch served at school met one third of the daily requirements.

Mrs. Annabelle Parker's fifth grade won attendance prize. Mrs. Kerner Weathers was elected secretary-treasurer to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Freda Wiley who has moved.

Personals:

John Patterson, the son of Mrs. Jessie Patterson, of Sheffield, and Mrs. Patterson of New Orleans were the guests over the week end of Mrs. Ada Bedingfield and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Littrell and two daughters of Florence were guests on Sunday in the J. T. Sharp home.

Visiting in this part of the country for the first time are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mc Masters and two of their children from Hundred, W. Va. They are guests of the Paul Mc Masters family.

Mrs. James Williams is a patient in Eliza Coffee Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clemmons and son of Hartselle were guests on Sunday in the E. T. Barnes home.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Credit System Used

U. S. farmers borrowed a lot of money last year.

The Farm Credit Administration reports that farmers and their purchasing and marketing cooperatives borrowed nearly $4 billion during the fiscal year which ended June 30. And their loans outstanding reached a new high of $4.8 billion, according to Auburn Extension Economist Foy Helms.

R. B. Tootell, governor of the FCA, says farmers borrowed $2.6 billion to pay operating expenses and to make purchases of equipment, machinery, and other capital items. And over 2,000 farmers' purchasing, marketing and business service cooperatives borrowed $672 million during the year from the 13 banks for cooperatives.

Helms adds that loanable funds for the Farm Credit System are obtained through the sale of bonds and debentures to the public.

W.H. "BILL" GAINES MASTER FARMER, COTTON GROWER, CATTLEMAN OF AUTAUGAVILLE, ALA.

FEDERAL LAND BANK LOAN USED TO BUY FARM

Mr. Gaines made his first loan from the Federal Land Bank in 1944 to buy 450 acres of land. He added to his holdings with a second loan in early 1960. In deciding to use the Federal Land Bank loan, Mr. Gaines said:

"The interest rate is important but I was thinking of more than the cost... I wanted a lender who followed sound lending practices; one who knew the farmers' angle and had the reputation of staying with farmers in bad years."

THANK YOU, MR. GAINES. We appreciate your favorable expression and similar expressions from many other farmers we have served.
