

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

Now that the site of our new court house has been settled and before too many months have passed we shall see a handsome structure rise in the block just south of the present county "capitol," the question comes to our mind: "What will happen to the present court house site?" We understand that the land and building will be offered for sale and right now we'd like to make a suggestion. We urge that the City of Florence purchase this valuable piece of property, dismantle the building and transform the site into an attractive park that will become one of the show-places of the community. Mobile is proud of its Bienville Park; Nashville its Court Square, each an attractive much loved park in the center of the business district - and Florence deserves a beauty spot in the heart of its business district. The cost? Well, that's another story.

Nothing is more irritating than an inattentive listener—even if what you have to say lacks interest.

The ground-breaking ceremonies at the new Armour plant site near Cherokee Tuesday noon was one of the most enjoyable occasions of its kind it has been our pleasure to attend. Governor John Patterson did himself proud in his address, which was one of the best he had delivered since becoming Alabama's chief executive, and, too, his tribute to George Wallace reflected credit to himself and gave deserved recognition to the man who, through the authorship of the Wallace Act, made the big plant possible. The big brass of Armour, Pullman, Kellogg, the State of Alabama, local municipalities and the counties of Colbert and Lauderdale joined in giving this $25,000,000 venture a splendid send off.

Armour was most generous with their souvenirs. The box of Verta-green fertilizer is badly needed at our house and we are happy to report that the souvenir stainless steel garden trowel just fits the good wife's hand as if it was made especially for her. We presented it to her with the promise that only she shall have the pleasure of using it.

Wong Way is a street in the Chinatown district of Riverside, Calif. It seems to us that some nations are travelling the wong way, too.

The police were called to a tavern where it was reported that a riot was in progress. Upon their arrival, they found several men who apparently had taken part in a dilly of a scuffle, to say the least. Only one person stood nearby who seemed to have had no part in the fight. When approached by the officer in charge of the detail, he admitted that he had been a witness to the entire affair. When asked to give the details, he explained: "It was like this: Bill here called Jim a liar. Jim picked up a cue stick and broke it over Bill's head. When Jim's buddy, John, saw what had happened, he picked up a chair and broke it over Sam's head who had just joined in to help his pal, Bill out. This, of course, led to a little excitement—and then the fight began."

As we read plans that are being prepared to be placed before the Congress in regard to more and better housing, we think of the Old Woman who lived in a shoe. Now, for shoe (forgive us) she had housing but a lot of her descendants are just living on a shoe string.

Then there was the beatnik girl who was getting married. Instead of getting a shower, she's taking one.

If you should have occasion to call the Post Office Department to get a question answered and the person you contact says that he is James Farley, don't get excited - you are not back in the Roosevelt administration. The new James Farley is a former newspaperman who has been appointed Deputy Special Assistant to the Postmaster General on public information. The two Farleys are not related.

Next door to one of the better-known gambling casinos in Las Vegas is a tailor shop. In a prominent place in the front window is this sign: "While you are here, why not get your clothes cleaned, too?"

Patterson Praises Achievements

Ground Broken Tuesday For New Armour Plant

Official ground breaking ceremonies for the new multi-million dollar Armour nitrogen plant were held Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at the plant site near Cherokee.

Top officials of Armour and Company who took part in the informal program were E. W. Wilson, of Chicago, president of Armour and Company; Warren Smith of New York, president of M. W. Kellogg Co., engineering manager of the project; Champ Carry of Chicago, president of Pullman Incorporated, parent company of Kellogg; Governor John Patterson of Alabama; Raymond E. Pate, mayor of Cherokee and other state and local dignitaries, including Leland Jones, Montgomery, state industrial development director.

William Wood Prince of Chicago, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Armour and Company, broke the ground for the big nitrogen fertilizer manufacturing complex. W. E. Sheldone, of Atlanta, president of Armour Agricultural Chemical Company and vice-president of Armour and Company served as master of ceremonies.

Civic and business leaders, governmental officials, industrial development authorities, members of the press and broadcast media, and representatives of contracting firms taking part in the construction of the facility, attended the ground breaking and the barbecue luncheon which followed.

Governor Patterson commenting on the achievement said, "We owe a great deal to George Wallace who authored the great piece of legislation whereby this plant was financed." Wallace was in attendance. (Continued on Page 2)

Cotton Planting Well Underway

Thirty-Thousand Acres Scheduled To Be Planted In Lauderdale In 1961

Lauderdale county farmers have made considerable progress during the past week in planting their cotton crop for 1961, despite a hard crust left atop soil by windy weather early last week. The five-day dry period which followed was taken advantage of to launch planting and complete ground-breaking activity.

L. H. Rickard, Lauderdale County ASC office manager, said farmers are beginning to plant a little with work in the Bend of the River further advanced than elsewhere, however, John Henderson, assistant county agent, reported that people were putting the crop into the ground pretty rapidly. Large acreage in the Bend of the River area has been planted, but the small acreage is going slower because small farmers aren't in such a hurry.

All farmers have appeared anxious to get started since fertilization recommendations and other information has been handed out. Over 30,000 acres of cotton are scheduled to be planted in Lauderdale county this year.

Resolution Would Set Up Planning Board For County

Commission For Rural Area Supervision Goal Of Sponsoring Groups

County Attorney, Marvin A. Wilson, was instructed at Monday's meeting of the Court of Commissioners to draw up a resolution asking State Senator Robert H. Broadfoot and Charles Long to pass a local bill in the Legislature setting up the commission to supervise growth in rural areas. The resolution is to be presented at the next meeting of the court, May 10.

Ben Agee of Sheffield and president of the Muscle Shoals Board of Realtors, endorsed the proposed planning board and said realtors in both Lauderdale and Colbert Counties favor planning boards, stating he favored a combination city-county planning commission each in Colbert and Lauderdale. "Unsanitary buildings and business have sprung up along nice four-lane highways and bypasses and we want to keep the area beautiful," he added.

The commission said it was mainly interested in setting up subdivision regulations at present.

County officials stated Monday they have received complaints on poor roads in some rural areas, however, the State Highway Department will not pave a new road unless it meets certain construction standards and will not do road work in a development unless the lots have been sold to private property owners. County commissioners cannot aid property owners unless the unpaved strips meet state requirements; presently, there is no county body to set standards for developments and there is no zoning.

Florence's Planning Commission has the right to regulate development inside the city limits and out to the police jurisdiction; the city board approves every subdivision, plans for future roads, zones to prevent industrial areas from locating near residential areas and handles other planning functions.

Annual Business Opportunity Day Observed At FSC

Clarence N. Walker Of Coca Cola Company Is Keynote Speaker

A high-level business executive told Florence State College business students yesterday that good public relations should be thought of as business management at its best.

Clarence N. Walker, Executive Staff Representative of The Coca-Cola Company, Atlanta, was the keynote speaker at the Twelfth Annual Business Opportunity Day at the college. He spoke on "Public Relations in Business."

"Public Relations," he said, "involves every person connected with the organization, directly and indirectly. It is a way of life, a way of doing business, getting along with those in the organization and on the outside."

"Your business success will ultimately be measured by the quality of your products, the character of your service, and the extent to which you successfully hold old friends, make new friends and get along with people."

Later, in referring again to business success, he said, "Your success must be justified by proper performance and quality production. Progress thrives best in an atmosphere of respect and good will, both of which are products of quality, good service and understanding."

"Also," he added, "there is need for constant effort to improve. When you begin to feel satisfied with the success of your business, there is the danger signal. Then it is time for self-examination, time to take a new look at your management."

Other features of the full-day program, sponsored by the College Business Department, were a panel discussion, group meetings and presentation of awards to outstanding students in the fields of public accounting, general business administration, secretarial science, business education, typewriting and general accounting.

A luncheon and an end-of-the-day informal reception honoring the visitors were provided by the Business Department.

The watershed area takes in Cox Creek and part of St. Florian area, then goes just west of Jacksonburg where it hits the Chisholm Highway and follows directly into Collinwood, Tenn., then back one half mile west of Natchez Trace and follows the Trace down returning across the Savannah Highway three miles west of where the Trace enters the highway, then south of Savannah Highway and parallels it on the south side back to Florence.

Authority, a corporation organized in November 1959, its six directors being named by the Board of Commissioners of Lauderdale County. One of the purposes of the corporation is to provide buildings for use by the county in the performance of its governmental and public functions.

Recently the directors declared that it was the intention of the authority to find a site for a new courthouse and jail other than that occupied by the present courthouse and proceedings were instituted in the courts to quiet title to the property since no deed or other document of valid ownership could be found. This was done in order that the present site might be disposed of for commercial purposes by the authority which in a statement issued on Tuesday over the signature of its six directors, declared its intention of acquiring the block immediately south of the present courthouse.

A portion of the statement follows:

We have spent many hours in considering various locations for the new facility and, as has been previously reported, we definitely feel that the present courthouse site is not adequate. All our efforts have been bent toward doing what we think is best for all the citizens of Lauderdale County without preference for any individual or group.

As a result of our deliberations, we have concluded that the Lauderdale County Public Building Authority should acquire Lots Numbers 141, 142, 143, and 144 in the City of Florence, being that City Block bounded on the North by College Street, on the East by Court Street, on the South by Alabama Street, and on the West by Pine Street, for the location of the new courthouse and jail, and being the block immediately south of the present courthouse.

To that end we have contacted and are contacting the various owners of the seven parcels of land in the Block in an effort to purchase the property by negotiation with the owners. In the event that we are unable to acquire any of the property by negotiation with the owners, we will have condemnation proceedings instituted against the owners, except Pine Street Church of Christ as to which we feel that we should not institute condemnation proceedings. In the event that we cannot reach an agreement with the Church for the purchase of its property, it is our opinion that the remainder of the block will be adequate for the new site because of the fact that the Church property is only appraised at $287.50. Welcome Armour

The town of Cherokee in Colbert County is an old town whose citizens very likely never dreamed until recently that they would live in one of the key industrial areas of the Tennessee Valley . . . that a history-making transaction would transform their little community into a boom town.

Two weeks ago in Chicago, Cherokee's Mayor Raymond Pate was presented with a $25 million check from the sale of the largest industrial development bond issue on record.

Armour presently operates 39 plants in the United States. The Cherokee plant, for which ground was broken Tuesday of this week, will employ some 250 persons who will produce 360 tons of ammonia a day. It will include six buildings manufacturing besides ammonia, nitric acid, urea, nitrogen solutions, ammonium nitrate and ammonophosphates.

Under terms of the agreement Armour will rent the plant under a long term lease for $900,000 a year, the rent money being used by the city to pay the interest and retire the bonds, due serially each March 1st and September 1st until 1986.

The coming of the plant to Cherokee has already boosted the town's economy with plans in the mill to work with Armour to increase the local water supply since Armour will install its own water system.

A branch of the First National Bank of Tusculumbia has opened in the town and its business houses are beginning to feel the impact of the new economy which includes additional rail facilities, road building, the laying of a gas line to the new plant and the gearing up of local firms to meet a stimulated construction business.

Big things are in the making for Cherokee which will add substantially to the picture of better things to come for the Shoals area.

Welcome Armour to North Alabama.

Confusion In The World

To say that the world is in a state of confusion would be a classic understatement. It is not only confused but there is a rising belligerence in the attitude of nations that could well become uncontrollable just as a mob gets out of hand when rationalism gives way to mass violence.

It is a strange paradox that we seek to prevent the encroachment of communism in this hemisphere and at the same time justify our own bases within a stone's throw of Russia and Red China. There is little doubt that the Soviets intend using Castro's Cuba for a missile base against this country . . . and not only Cuba but in the other nations of Central and South America where they have a substantial foothold.

We must discard the issue of right or wrong when we deal with what is. What we must consider is the impact of our actions on the now vague probability of peace. We blame Russia for interfering in Cuba, and for making trouble in Laos, Algeria, the Congo and other critical spots in the world, but do we stop to consider the effects of our own foreign commitments? Can it be that we were so naive when we were ringing Russia in with a billion dollars worth of bases that we believed they would not be alarmed and retaliate in kind?

It all goes back to the basic fact that weapons are made to fight with and as long as we and Russia make them there is danger of war. No one professes to know the answer but this one thing is certain . . . without weapons there can be no war. Which means we cannot expect any sort of co-existence, much less peace, without disarmament and it must be total.

Many world leaders advocate a stronger UN with only the UN empowered to keep the peace. In other words only the UN composed of representatives of all powers, would possess weapons, and these non-nuclear. Those who envision and advocate such a UN do not hope for a cure-all but they believe as all sane-thinking people do, that it is the only way to insure a modicum of world harmony and security.

Naturally Russia and Red China could not remain outside such an organization because to be successful it would have to include all nations of any consequence.

The tragedy today is not so much the advance of another ideology though that is quite alarming to the so-called free world, but the fact that Communism is rooted in the rejection of God. It totally rejects the values of the Christian moral code. As Lenin proclaimed, "we repudiate all morality that is taken outside of human, class concepts."

The full implications of the Communist challenge are shocking in the extreme to our Judaic-Christian heritage and it makes it all the more difficult to establish any sort of world arrangement for peace or co-existence that can be relied upon. The Communists are past masters at the art of double-talk. Theirs is the terrifying doctrine that "the end justifies the means." They are not concerned with the legal or moral codes involved.

We might ask then how can Communism be so strong and have so many converts? J. Edgar Hoover commented recently on this when he said that "Communists appeal to man's idealism and ask the very best of his life. Marxism-Leninism is proclaimed the greatest cause in the history of mankind, worthy of man's highest devotion. The Communist appeal is always the noblest, the best, the most admirable in man. Lenin said, 'The great vision and courage of us Communists has never been matched by that of any past heroes in the annals of mankind. In this respect we have every reason to be proud' . . ."

We in America and in many free nations may have contented ourselves by catering to man's mediocrity, rather than attempting to bring out the noblest and deepest strands of character. Many who read this may disbelieve it but we should ask ourselves how far have we gone toward achieving the goals of a real Christian society? We must ask that and we must answer it before we can assume the role of leader among the free nations of the world.

Continuing the Governor called the 1959-60 period the "greatest period for growth and industry in the history of Alabama." He said the road to Cherokee would be four-laned "during this administration."

The town of Cherokee is financing the construction of the plant under terms of a $25 million industrial bond issue, said to be the largest of its kind in the nation, and when completed, will be leased to and operated by Armour Agricultural Chemical Company.

J. A. Loep, since, 1928 a Kellogg construction executive, is the resident manager for the project. During the past ten years, Mr. Loep has managed seven complex plant construction operations in the U.S. and Canada, representing a total capital investment of over $100 million.

The Kellogg organization will engineer, procure materials for, and construct the ammonium and urea plants and will also be responsible for construction of all off-site facilities.

The Chemical and Industrial Corp., Cincinnati, has the contract for construction of the nitric acid, nitrogen solutions and ammonium nitrate plants, with Chemical Construction Co., of New York in charge of handling the work for the ammonium phosphate plant.

In addition to the six plants in the Armour Cherokee project there will be a new substation built on the grounds by the TVA.

Armour officials said besides new projects in Alabama and Florida the company will continue extensive modernization program for existing fertilizer mixing plants. Thirty-four are in the United States and one in Puerto Rico.

RILEY LEON GRAHAM

"My activities in local civic and athletic affairs are merely a small contribution toward the debt I owe to the community and the people who have been so good to me and my family. The time spent in such activities is certainly a small outlay for the wonderful satisfaction I receive in return," Mr. Graham said in answer to a question we asked regarding his various activities since establishing his home in Florence.

"I have always thought that it was a privilege - and not a chore - to serve my community in any capacity of which I am capable and feel that all of us owe such a debt that should be paid regularly and at every opportunity," he added.

Riley Leon Graham was born July 9, 1920, in Franklin County, the son of John Noble and Myrtle Jones Graham. He attended elementary school at Belgreen and was graduated from Belgreen High School in 1940.

While in high school, Mr. Graham was president and salutatorian of his senior class. He was a member of FFA and in his senior year served as president of the Belgreen chapter and also the district chapter; during that same year, he won the chapter and district public speaking contest. Mr. Graham was a member of the basketball team for four years and was captain of the team in his senior year.

Following his graduation from high school, Mr. Graham enrolled in Berry College, Rome, Ga., which he attended for three years. He was elected president of his freshman class and also served in that capacity in his junior year. He was a member of the basketball team, track team, baseball team and won the backstroke swimming title at the college while on the swimming team. Mr. Graham was a member of the Loquacious Club, of the Rehearsal Club and was president of the Georgian Literary Society.

In 1943, at the close of his junior year, Mr. Graham was drafted into a service with the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps and assigned to Anti-aircraft. He received his basic training at Camp Wallace, Houston, Tex., and after his basic training, remained at Camp Wallace as a training instructor with the rank of corporal.

In 1944, Mr. Graham was transferred to Camp Bliss, El Paso, where he was placed in a cadre pool. He was later ordered to Shepherd Field, Wichita Falls, for cadet training, however, cadets were no longer needed and 36,000 cadets, one of which was Mr. Graham, were ordered into infantry training. At that time, he was transferred to Camp Howze, Gainesville, Tex., where he was in training until October, 1944, when he was ordered overseas with the 103rd (Cactus) Division.

His unit disembarked at Marseilles, France. After a short staging period, the unit was attached to the 7th Army then engaged in the Rhine Sector near Metz. During that campaign, he was hospitalized at Dijon, France for six weeks, after which he was returned to the States, landing at Charleston, S.C. Mr. Graham was at sea, enroute home, when the news was received of President Roosevelt's death. Upon his arrival at Charleston, Mr. Graham was transferred to Thomasville, Ga. General Hospital where he was hospitalized for several months. He was discharged in June, 1945, at Thomasville with the rank of sergeant.

Mr. Graham came to Florence, following his discharge, where his family had earlier established residence. Shortly after his return to Florence, on July 24, 1945, he was married to Mary Reynolds of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., whom he met while they were both students at Berry College. They have four sons: Bobby, 14, a freshman at Coffee High School; Don, 13, a seventh grader at Coffee Junior High School; Steve, 8, a second grader at Oakland School, and Danny, 3. Secretary Irish Credit Union Likes America

The story of a three-months tour of the United States last fall by a credit union representative from Europe has been told in an eloquent manner by Miss Nora Herlihy, secretary of the Irish League of Credit Unions, writing in her home country newspaper, Irish Independent, issue of January 13, 1961.

A lady with a fine sense of humor, Miss Herlihy, whose visit to America included Sheffield, sent a clipping of the article about her trip entitled "Lessons in Lending and Borrowing." She also went on record in a live radio broadcast from Florence in which she discussed among other things, the subject of football, which she said in Ireland "would not be called football at all."

On the margin of the clipping from the Irish newspaper which she sent to friends in the Listerhill Credit Union, Miss Herlihy scribbled "I'm home with a trunkful of lessons on money management (if I had any to manage) and vivid memories of 32 credit unions, whose affairs I tried to assimilate not to mention a dozen or more conferences, five board of directors meetings, a C.U. school for officers, lessons on insurance, on machines, on microfilms, on printing and duplicating, on the merits of this system of bookkeeping over that, on examinations, public relations, and chapter 13."

Miss Herlihy called attention to some of the interesting history of the credit union the first being organized in 1900 by an Ottawa Parliamentary reporter, M. Alphonse Desjardins. From his study of various credit organizations in Europe, he evolved the system that is still followed, with variations, by all credit unions over North America, where membership is now over thirteen million. In Canada, she said, one person in every seven belongs to a credit union.

In the United States credit unions operate under State or Federal charter. Each union elects its own board of directors, its own credit committee which investigates loan applications from members, the amount of money available for borrowing being limited to the amount of savings invested.

Following enthusiastic support from Boston financier Edward F. Fenech, credit unions in the country were recognized by law in 1924, among the first being associations formed within religious groups.

Miss Herlihy's three main study sources in Alabama were Maxwell Air University in Montgomery, Brookley Air Base in Mobile, Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, all of which have active credit unions. She also visited Decatur as well as the Tri-Cities, picking up Indian relics, enjoying a Thanksgiving dinner with the traditional turkey, and meeting people from her own country.

WHAT'S SO SPECIAL ABOUT OUR ASSOCIATION?

Every now and then we are asked just how the operation of our Savings & Loan Association is different from the operation of other types of financial institutions. First of all, unlike most other financial institutions, the primary function of our association is to promote THRIFT and HOME OWNER-SHIP!

WE ARE SPECIALISTS IN THIS FIELD. WE DO NOT HAVE CHECKING ACCOUNTS. WE DO NOT MAKE BUSINESS OR INDUSTRIAL LOANS.

Your money in a savings account here is invested in the building of homes in this area, and in home improvements... THE VERY SAFEST TYPE OF SECURITY. In addition, your savings account is insured up to $10,000 by an agency of the U. S. Government.

All told, here is the utmost in SAFETY and SECURITY! Here is DEPENDABILITY... with good dividends in both good times or bad. And here is IMMEDIATE AVAILABILITY of your funds, should you need them for emergencies or to take advantage of a real opportunity.

And here are FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS who are genuinely interested in your problems and in the continued growth and prosperity of the community in which we live.

Whorton Opens New Drug Store

Whorton Drug Company announced this week the opening of its number two store at 201 North Seminary Street in downtown Florence. The number one store was established several years ago at the Seven Points Shopping Center by Stanley Whorton and has enjoyed a substantial business from a wide area.

The new store has a modern and up-to-date prescription department and an attractive fountain luncheonette where all kinds of sandwiches and luncheons are served and Swift's ice cream is featured. Store manager is John Bevis who has been connected with the drug business in Florence for more than 20 years.

A formal opening is planned for the near future.

THE SPILLWAY

WHO'S WHO IN MUSIC's on our list
For much-much readin' pleasure...
In glimpsing thru, we find we'd missed
An item we now treasure...

AN EAR TO THE GROUND... friend recently sent him a package of Oink-ment... just in case! AND STILL THE RAVE CONVERSATIONS GO ON about last week's concert... the National Ballet of Canada doing the full presentation of Coppelia... and on the other hand, laments from those who stayed at home in favor of the (television) Academy Awards... And there must've been much partyin' among the company members and our local gentry... If you want to hear more about the cute ballerinas, just ask some of those in-the-know... like Don Patterson or "Tinker" Cheney.

ALSO NOTED AT the concert last week was our newest "proud papa" Dave (Dr.Ph.D.) Bouldin... who probably went immediately out to the hospital to tell Cynthia that dancing lessons have been reserved for cute little Kate Clark... (And we'll take time-out now to send our glad-you're-here orchid to this prospective ballerina.)

MUCH PARTYIN' HERE AND THERE... for Elizabeth Norvell... and at each Elizabeth never fails to fascinate her friends with interesting news of her work and life in Saudi Arabia... Especially beautiful were the two parties given last week by (her sisters-in-law) June and Martha Neal at the "Tut" (Dr.) Norvell home in Hickory Hills... where blossoms OUTDOORS and IN made the many guests realize that at last spring-has-sprung.

WHILE WE'RE MENTIONING all the professional goings-on, we wouldn't let our pen drop without praising the super-production on three nights last week, by the Florence State Rehearsal Club, of "The Diary of Anne Frank"... expert direction... superb acting... a responsive and appreciative "full house"... and we want to put in a "catty" remark about the part played by Tom-Worthless-Nuisance McKnight... a role that was a real ME-OW... and we hope this rising star will have nine lives so he can be an actor in each one of them...

OUR MOST ADMIRING GLANCES are directed to "The Brains" of this year's Coffee High School graduating class... Jeb Stewart as Valedictorian and William Johnson as Salutatorian... and we know there couldn't be four prouder people than Biddy (Luna) and Charles Stewart or Elizabeth (Gainer) and Bill Johnson... over their smart and promising sons.

UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY, IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW...

The Student Art League at Florence State College will present its first Downtown-City Park Art Exhibit on May 6th, 7th, and 8th. Students from Florence State College and members of art organizations in the Tri-Cities will be asked to participate in this show.

The local point of the art show will be a sidewalk show along Court Street in downtown Florence on May 6th. The show will move to the City Park on the seventh. In case of inclement weather the show will be scheduled for the following weekend.

Earnings Reported By Southern Bell

Drop Is Attributed To Increased Operation Cost And Plant Expansion

Earnings of Southern Bell Telephone Company for its nine-state operations during the first quarter of 1961 remained the same as for the same period a year ago, according to preliminary reports released by the company today.

Per share earnings of the utility stock dropped from 48 cents in the final quarter of 1960 to 47 cents for the three months ending March 30, 1961. The earnings drop was attributed to increased costs in day-to-day operations and to expenditures related to the multi-million dollar program for plant expansion and modernization. During the five years ending with 1960, gross expenditures in Alabama for improving and expanding the company's facilities have totaled $156,477,000. During the same period, wage payments to employees increased annually from $26,541,000 in 1956 to $32,937,000 in 1960.

Expenditures for new plant during the first quarter of this year totaled $8,284,000, an increase of $669,000 more than for the comparable period in 1960. During the three months ending March 31, long distance calls handled by the company in Alabama totaled 6,351,856, an increase of 254,688 from the initial quarter of 1960.

Total Southern Bell telephones in service had increased from 744,847 at the end of 1960 to 751,670 at the end of March, 1961, a gain of 7,823 for the quarter. The increase for the comparable period in 1960 was 12,124.

Dress Revue Will Be Held May 2

"A needle, thread and a clever head" is the idea for Lauderdale County's Home Demonstration Dress Revue. Seamstresses will show how they put these three ingredients together to make the dresses they will be modeling. Mrs. L. Elston Tate, 1960 winner of this annual event, will narrate the revue and has served as general chairman. Working with her is Mrs. J. C. Murphy, Mrs. Ray Kennedy, Mrs. W. A. Parrish and Mrs. Louis Zierer. Other clubs have worked on such things as entertainment, staging, refreshments, programs and awards.

Women's suits and dresses as well as children's clothes will be modeled at this event scheduled for May 2, 7:30 p.m. at the Florence Recreation Center.

The public is invited and there is no admission charged.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC AT OAKLAND JR. HIGH

The Pre-School Clinic at Oakland Junior High School will be held on Tuesday, May 2.

All mothers are urged to bring their children at that time if their child will be six years of age on or before October 1, 1961.

Quick Tan Products O.K.

Q. Are "quick tan" preparations safe? How long does the tan last?

A. The active ingredient of most quick-tan products is dihydroxyacetone. Application of the chemical to the skin is apparently harmless although cosmetics containing the chemical make some people break out. This may be due to sensitivity to the chemical, perfume, or some other substance in the products. The tan lasts one or two weeks and doesn't seem to be removed by soap and water. However, if the skin is swabbed with alcohol, you'll "wonder where the yellow went." Unlike natural tanning, the quick tan is not protective against sunburn, something that users of such products should keep in mind when they expose themselves to the sun.

Fluorescent Lighting
Q. Is fluorescent lighting harmful to the eyes of workers or school children?

A. There is no evidence that fluorescent lighting is harmful.

Lip Color

Q. Is lip-paleness a reliable sign of anemia?

A. Lip color isn't a very good clue to anemia. A better way to judge anemia is by observing the color of the skin creases across the palm of the hand. In severe anemia the lines lose their normal bright pink color. The best and only sure way to diagnose anemia is by laboratory methods as employed by your doctor.

Teenage Graying

Q. Locks of gray hair are beginning to show up in our 13-year-old daughter. Her mother first noticed graying at about the age of 20. Can anything be done to arrest this condition?

A. No. The early appearance of gray hair is an inherited characteristic transmitted directly from one generation to another. Only affected members of the family group pass along the graying characteristic.

Civnette Club:

Tuesday evening in the lounge in the home economics department, with Mesdames Bayless Thornton and Luther Johnson as hostesses, the Civnette Auxiliary and their guests were delightedly entertained when Mrs. Grady Williams of Florence told of her trip to Europe last October. The slides showing interesting places in Florence, Rome, Milan and Venice and the pleasant manner in which she related the "dream come true" trip fascinated her listeners and no doubt caused a run on the encyclopedias to brush up on history that heretofore had been meaningless and altogether uninteresting.

Mrs. Bob McLemore of Florence was a guest.

Mrs. Reynolds Thornton presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Rudson Covington, and introduced Mrs. Williams. She also presented her with a gift.

The hostesses served a dessert course with coffee.

Garden Club:

Thursday evening found garden clubbers at the home of Mrs. Reynolds Thornton for a study, "Time To Think About Tulips," by Mrs. J. R. Waddell and we might add "to enjoy them, too" for in the yards of most of the members unusual varieties and colors are presenting their pretty selves for the admiration of all.

Mrs. Henry Hudson gave the devotional, Mrs. Thornton served a salad to her guests.

Personals:

Ishmael Perry is a patient at Athens-Limestone Hospital.

Thursday evening the Parent-Teacher Association will serve pancakes at the cafeteria from 5:30 until 7:00 p.m. Proceeds to be used to defray various expenses and your attendance is urged.

Consumer Puzzles Meat Industry

"Consumers' dislike for excess fat has been registered long and loud at the meat counter. And pork has probably taken the worst beating of all," says Ray Cavender, Auburn Extension Service meat marketing specialist. He adds that orders for pork often end with, "positively no fat, please."

To see if the request is justified, consumers over the country were asked recently to take part in a test. After sampling two pork chops—one highly marbled, the other nearly all lean meat—a large majority said the highly marbled one tasted better. The test emphasized the importance of some fat to good eating quality.

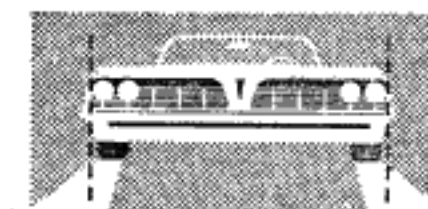

"This is confusing to the livestock industry. Consumers won't buy pork with fat, but they want a good-tasting product. So the industry is busy fashioning a product the consumer will like," says the specialist. "Consumers could help, too, with a little self-education on meat products. And they can get this information at the local Extension office."

Equipped with miraculous new machines that dry clean your clothes in just 50 minutes—and save you 75% or more!

One of the best-kept and most exciting secrets in modern homemaking has just been "let out" here—coin-operated dry cleaning! Norge scientists have been working on it for years—testing and perfecting. Now here it is in your own neighborhood, ready for you to try—and save money! Here are the questions women are asking about it:

Most beautiful—and most helpful coin-operated washing and dry cleaning center ever designed, new Norge Laundry and Cleaning Village lets you do a week's washing and cleaning in less time than it takes to shop for groceries! Miraculous new Norge dry cleaning machine is simple to use as an automatic washer!

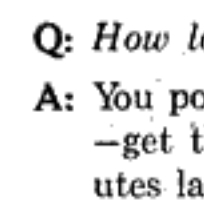

Q: Isn't dry cleaning complicated?

A: It used to be. But now the new Norge coin-operated dry cleaning machines make it simple as laundering.

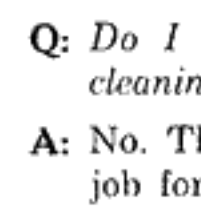

Q: What will the machine clean?

A: Almost anything a dry cleaner will. And the Norge Certified Dry Cleaning Consultant at Laundry Village will help you eliminate the few things that can't be cleaned.

Q: How long does cleaning take?

A: You pop things into the machine dirty—get them out dry and clean 50 minutes later.

Q: Do I have to handle things during cleaning?

A: No. The one machine does the whole job for you in one operation.

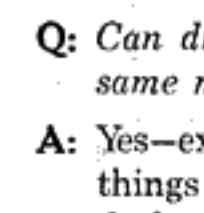

Q: Isn't it hard to press dry cleaned garments?

A: Not with Norge Wrinkle-free cleaning! Creases, pleats, ruffles, etc. stay sharp. And some wrinkles even come out!

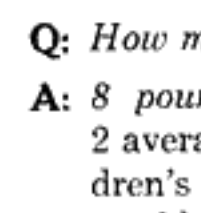

Q: When I try to take spots out at home, it leaves a ring. Won't that happen here?

A: No. Exclusive Norge-Clor cleaning fluid, leaves fabrics clean and free of rings.

Q: Can different colors be cleaned in the same machine?

A: Yes—except that fluffy, light colored things should be kept separate from dark ones. The consultant will help you with this.

Q: How much can I clean in a load?

A: 8 pounds. That's about as much as 2 average dresses, two suits, and 2 children's snowsuits. Think what that would cost ordinarily!
