

STARTS PRODUCTION—The Weyerhaeuser Company's new Florence plant is now producing shipping containers of Kraft liner board. The area's newest industry is of the most modern design and provides approximately 61,000 square feet of working floor space. When expanded as planned at a later date the plant will employ some 100 persons and floor space will be increased to 148,000 feet. Containers made in the new plant are manufactured to customer specifications.

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

• We were discussing with another fat man, Hal Boyles' syndicated column of the past Sunday in which he said: "It takes real courage today to be a fat man." We thought this was a pretty good summing up of the fat man's case when on all sides he sees obesity condemned by doctors, lawyers, merchants and chiefs who warn of dire results from the protruding paunch. And yet, we found, as we went over the list of our mutual friends, that those with the most ailments, those resembling old fashioned bean poles and those struggling to meet fashion's dictates were the most unhappy people we knew. We decided that if our friends would quit patting us (and other fat men) on the tummy and remarking: "You're adding a bit here, aren't you?" or "You'd better get rid of this pumpkin or you'll be sorry" we'd continue to remain the happiest of people.

• There's a little line on the ocean where, by crossing, you lose a day. There's one on the highway where you can do even better.

• Following one of many heated arguments he had had with his lawyer, the client arose, shook his finger in his attorney's face, and shouted: "You're a cheat—you're a thief—you're a blackguard; You've fooled me all these months just to get rich off my case." Arising from behind his desk, the attorney with a pained expression on his face, said sadly: "How could you say such things. You truly show no gratitude—and right after I named my new yacht after you."

• Sign in a window of a furniture store in a nearby town: "Sale. Started May, 1946 - Still On."

• Last week end a young lady attending a nearby college brought her beautiful blonde and shapely roommate home with her to meet her family. Starting with her parents, she next came to her grandfather, remarking, "and he's in his nineties." The old gentleman, with a gleam in his eye as he gave the visitor the once-over, cleared his throat and in a not too shaky voice said: "My early nineties, that is."

• There are three things a man believes he can do superbly well: Sing tenor, coach a football team and show a police officer why it was necessary that he ran a red light.

• After all were in bed the other night, out of the darkness the husband said: "Dear, we have a most wonderful son, so considerate and thoughtful." "Oh?" questioned the wife. "Why, yes," the husband added. "Why just tonight he stopped watching television long enough to help me with his homework."

• When a man finally realizes that he understands women, he's too old to care.

• Speaking of homework, the other night a youngster was studying his arithmetic and was pondering the question: "If a carper was paid $2.50 a day, how much did he earn in four and a half days?" Being stuck with the answer, he asked his dad for help and read the question to him. "No wonder you can't answer that. It's in the wrong text book. Instead of being in your arithmetic book it ought to be in your ancient history book," his dad explained.

Expansion At Later Date Planned

Production Started By Weyerhaeuser Company

Ivan D. Wood, regional vice president of Weyerhaeuser Company, announced last week that production of shipping containers at the company's new Florence Plant had begun. Several managerial appointments were also announced by Wood.

C. W. Cochran, formerly sales manager at Weyerhaeuser in Charlotte, N. C., has been transferred to Florence in a similar capacity. Cochran began with the Old Dominion Box Company in 1943 and remained when the firm was acquired by Weyerhaeuser in 1959.

Bill G. Tarleton, formerly superintendent at the Charlotte branch has been named plant manager at Florence.

W. G. Karran, is resident manager, having arrived in Florence earlier to supervise construction of the plant. He is a former resident of Tusculum and a veteran of 25 years experience in the forest products industry. He was general manager of Container Corporation of America's Chattanooga plant.

Construction of the Florence plant began last April under supervision of Weyerhaeuser engineers from St. Louis. It is the first plant built by the company with all new machinery, Karran explained, who added that Weyerhaeuser materials were used throughout the modern new Florence plant including laminated girders and tongue, groove decking of paneling, etc. Materials not supplied by Weyerhaeuser plants were purchased from local firms.

The new plant makes shipping containers to customer specifications delivering a ready-to-use product complete with printing in one to four colors printed on the most modern color printer-slots. These machines feed automatically and take Kraft-board sheets up to almost ten feet in width.

The company facilities occupy some 61,000 square feet but plans are to expand later to 148,000. Karran stated. The containers are products of Kraft liner-board made from Weyerhaeuser produced pulp at Plymouth, N. C. The company has timber holding in North Carolina, Mississippi and Alabama, the Florence site having been chosen because of its proximity to raw materials and its geographical location with relation to market potential.

Office manager is C. R. Heptinstall, formerly of Chattanooga and Miss Nancy Ronfield is secretary.

Tax Payments By TVA Distributed Over Valley Area

Since 1937 tax payments by TVA and the retail distributors of TVA electricity to state and local governments have increased at a faster pace, percentage-wise, than similar payments by private power companies throughout the Nation.

In the TVA area state and local governments received 460 percent more tax revenue from the publicly and cooperatively owned electric systems in fiscal 1961, which ended June 30, than they did when the area was served primarily by private systems in 1937. Total state and local taxes paid by the Nation's private power companies increased 378 percent from 1937 through calendar year 1960.

TVA paid $6,478,000 in lieu of taxes to seven state governments and 137 counties during the fiscal year, and $10,876,000 was paid by municipal and cooperative distributors of TVA electricity to state and local jurisdictions, making a total of $17,354,000.

More than four-fifths of TVA's direct payments went to the state governments. One of these, North Carolina, redistributes all of its TVA money to local units affected by TVA operations. Three others, Kentucky, Mississippi, and Tennessee, under different state laws, share their TVA payments in part with local governments. The other Valley states—Alabama, Virginia, and Georgia—retain all of their TVA money in state general funds.

Municipal electric distribution systems share the general tax immunity which own them. However, such systems, under the TVA wholesale power contracts, set aside from their power revenues amounts designated as tax equivalents, which may be either paid over to the owner's city's general fund or distributed in part among other units of government concerned, usually counties, in accordance with applicable state law or established local policy.

Yellow Jackets Ready For Turkey Day Game

The Coffee Yellow Jackets, with the impressive record of seven victories, one tie, and one loss in nine encounters, will be gunning for victory number eight this afternoon at two o'clock in the Turkey Day classic with the Sheffield Bulldogs. The game which has been a tradition since 1919, will be played at the Sheffield stadium.

The Sheffield Bulldogs are pointing for a major upset that would polish off a highly successful year of rebuilding, marking the return of Walton Wright who wasn't around for the 19-6 Coffee victory last year.

Today will be the third meeting between Wright and Coffee's Joe Grant, who is looking for a fourth straight success over the "Dogs" since becoming the Yellow Jackets' head mentor.

Lauderdale's Income Exceeds $9,000,000 For 1961 County Agent Tells Farm-City Group

For a Bountiful Harvest, We Thank Thee

Special Thanksgiving Statement

Patterson Cites State's Progress During 1961

Basket Program Dates Announced

Lieutenant Gordon Swyers, commanding officer of the local Salvation Army, has announced the application dates for the Salvation Army Christmas Basket program. Applicants may apply at the Salvation Army office 301 South Royal Avenue in Florence between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 12:00 noon November 27 through November 30.

All applications must be made in person, appearing at the Army's local office for detailed information and references of need. All applicants are investigated to determine the extent of their need. No application will be accepted by phone or through the mail.

Last year, over 200 baskets were given to needy families in the two counties with 549 toys being distributed to children. The distribution of the Christmas baskets and other Christmas cheer programs is done through the contributions given at the "Red Kettles" placed by the Salvation Army throughout the city area.

The traditional "Red Kettle" will be placed in front of Rogers Department Store and Poe's Men's Store, and Butlers.

"Alabamians have a lot to be thankful for," Gov. John Patterson said this week in a special Thanksgiving Day statement.

Said the governor:

"Our state has been blessed with a good year. The farms have brought forth a fine harvest. Trade and commerce has increased. The business economy has picked up, and the mills and factories have been busy all year. Our people have worked hard, and they have been rewarded.

"Since last Thanksgiving, Alabama has enjoyed a year of solid achievement.

"We have many more new industries, inland docks and airports. A long-range program of medical care for the aged has been instituted. Old people are paid almost $10 a month more in old age pensions. The unemployed draw larger payments and receive them longer. Sportsmen have more public places to hunt and fish and launch their boats. We have enjoyed good labor-management relations throughout the year.

"Our citizens have had good government on all levels. The State legislature has tightened the laws on competitive bidding, setting up the legal framework to save many millions in tax dollars. Motorists are riding on more and better highways in all parts of the state. Residents of many cities and towns have new curbs and gutters. Our children are attending better schools—some of the most modern, in fact, in the nation.

"Alabamians have made a great deal of progress in the last year and we have a lot to be thankful for. Our sights are high, and we have a long way to go. Alabama has a great destiny and one which we are bound to attain with our wealth of resources, a lot of hard work and the dedication, drive and God-given faith of our people."

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE OPEN MONDAYS 5 TO 8 P.M.

The Social Security District Office, 208 Annapolis Avenue, Sheffield, will be open from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. every Monday for the next three weeks for the convenience of people over 65 who work during the day. Due to changes in the law many may lose some of the payments due them if they do not make application before the end of January 1962. Mrs. Mary King Temple, manager, stated.

Gary Kornman, a student at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, is spending the Thanksgiving recess with his parents, Mr. and Melvin Kornman, Florence.

Annual Farm-City Week, sponsored locally by civic clubs and organizations, was observed on Tuesday night with a banquet given at Skyark Theater Restaurant at which farm leaders and officials of the county were guests of the city groups.

Some two hundred persons heard Bo Russell, former Auburn football star, who as guest speaker, was introduced by L. T. Wagon, Lauderdale County agent.

Wagon told the audience that Lauderdale county's gross farm income for 1961 exceeded the nine million dollar mark, being some $3 million greater than in 1950 and nearly a million dollars higher than 1960. He explained that the purpose of Farm-City Week was to bring farm and city people together and that the growth of farm income locally and throughout the state was due to an intensive push to raise farm income begun several years ago by Dr. E. T. York, then director of Auburn Extension Service. Dr. York contended that Alabama's income could be increased to a billion dollars, Wagon told his audience.

Russell, who was an All-American in 1938 and played pro football with the Washington Redskins, is a Birmingham insurance executive who referees football games as a hobby.

Well-informed on the aspects of practical farming, Russell said that out of the more than 180,000,000 people in America less than 6,000,000 live on the farms. However, he pointed out that in Alabama 30 per cent live in rural areas and 70 per cent of the population are occupied in some type of farm, enterprise.

He told of the interdependence of farm and city people pointing out that farmers use 7,000,000 tons of steel annually, more than 15 billion kilowatt hours of electricity in a year and 320 million pounds of rubber, or enough for six million cars.

He emphasized that it takes teamwork on the farm just as it does in football to make it go. He said "we must recognize and give credit to our people on the farms."

Russell related a number of amusing experiences both as a player and as an official. He said he enjoyed his hobby as an official, saying, "While it's a hobby, the hours are short and the pay is good."

Entertainment was provided by Larry Sheperd, Tusculum vocalist, accompanied by Charles Devaney on the piano, and by talented Miss Jeanette Simmons who gave a reading and vocal numbers, including "Ole MacDonald Had A Farm."

Germans Tried For Rogersville Soldier's Death

Four Germans went on trial before a German court Monday on charges of murdering Pvt. David G. Lewis, 20, of Rogersville at Darmstadt, Germany, last February.

Those charged with murdering the soldier are Mrs. Anneliese Laufenburg, 34, her daughter Brigitte, 16, Wilhelm Limbarth, 33, and Juergen Pfau, 21, a former German soldier.

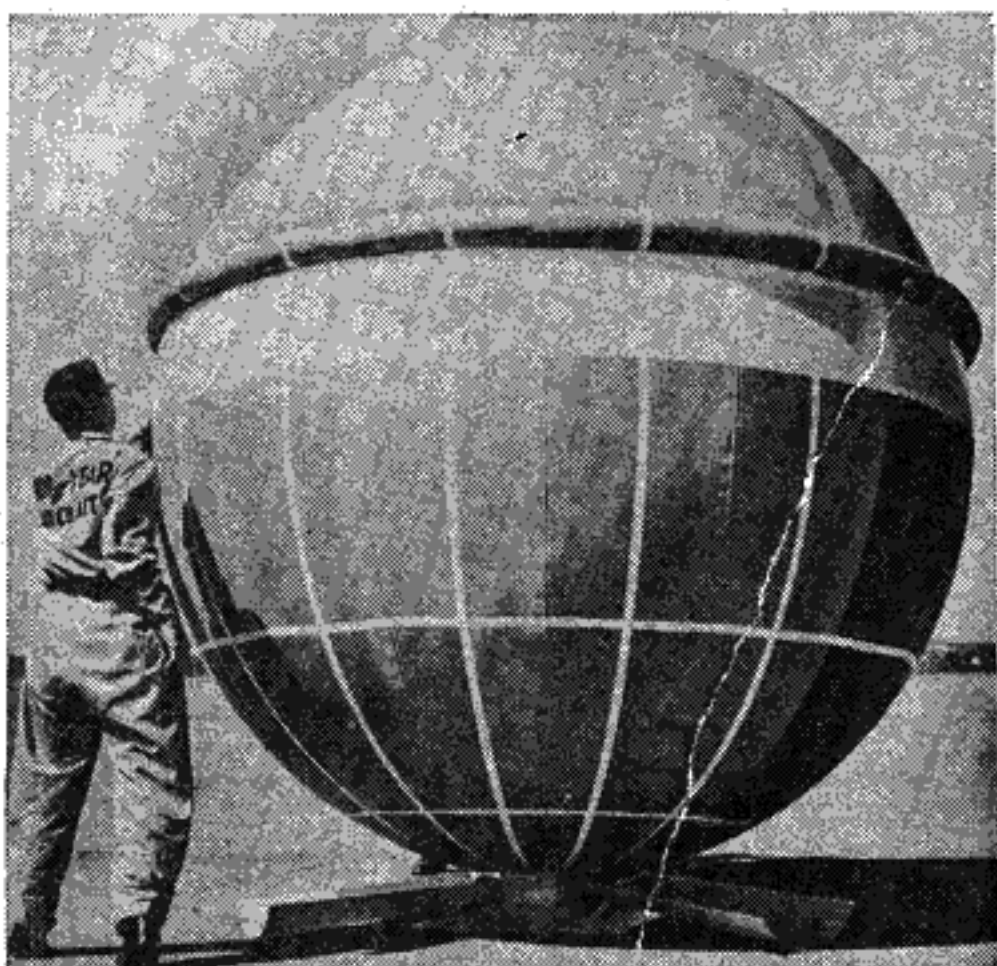

Pvt. Jesse de Arnold, 23, of Ponchatoula, La., was convicted by a military court last July of being an accomplice in the slaying. He was sentenced to life imprisonment and was dishonorably discharged from the Army.

The prosecution charges Lewis was lured into the apartment of Mrs. Laufenburg, drugged with liquor and sleeping pills, and strangled. Police allege he was murdered so the five could get a car to go to France.

Pfau tried to join the Foreign Legion but failing this returned to his unit where he was arrested. The other four fled to France in Lewis' car and were arrested there. The two women and Limbarth were caught on the French Riviera and De Armond turned himself in to the U. S. consul in Marseille.

A Day of Sharing

It's sometimes hard to write about a subject like Thanksgiving and not sound stilted because after all people are cognizant of most of the reasons we should be thankful and even children in grade schools know the story of the Pilgrims and the first Thanksgiving.

However a lot of us see the bread and the meat on the table and all the tempting trimmings but we don't see the wheat fields or experience the toil that produces the wonderful abundance we enjoy. We must therefore be thankful for all of the great components of Thanksgiving before we can be truly thankful because this great day is emblematic of a way of life that people of other nations do not enjoy.

The American Way of Life is the result of teamwork . . . teamwork between the farmer and the factory, between the worker and management, between the teachers and her pupils, the preacher and his congregation and on down the line. The miracle of working together is what makes America great.

So, let us most of all be thankful that we live in a country that gives us the opportunity to do an honest day's work, to rear our families in freedom and security, and the privilege of sharing our plenty with those less fortunate.

It is then that Thanksgiving is seen in its true light . . . a day of sharing.

Vote For Amendment One

A description of utter delapidation of Kilby Prison, which would, among other things, be remedied by the voters' approval of Amendment No. 1, was graphically described in the Montgomery Advertiser of November 16 in an article by Bob Ingram.

To put the matter bluntly Mr. Ingram's tour revealed conditions that cannot longer wait to be changed. Improvement will not do, only a complete program as provided in Amendment One will suffice.

Mr. Ingram comments: "The conclusions I reached from the tour are subject to interpretations and debate. It will depend largely on how the individual feels a prison should be operated."

"If punishment of the law violator includes not only the denial of his freedom but also the requirement that he live and work in the most undesirable conditions where any form of rehabilitation is well nigh impossible, then Kilby Prison adequately serves the purpose."

"If, on the other hand, the view is held that imprisonment itself is the punishment and beyond that every effort should be made to rehabilitate the inmates, then Kilby Prison falls far short of the mark."

Amendment One, like other Amendments to be subject to the electorate on December 5, should certainly have a "yes" vote by every tax payer in the state.

It will not only replace outmoded and delapidated buildings that are costing the taxpayers tens of thousands of dollars annually for repairs but will do its greatest good by making it possible to separate young offenders from the hardened criminals and give them a chance to become useful citizens.

Gone But Not Forgotten

Looking back on Speaker Sam Rayburn's long career there are many attributes that speak for his greatness but surely none were more apparent than his complete personal integrity.

His simple tastes forbade the many honors that could have been his, but nothing could hide the keen intellect that helped to steer the course of his party through many momentous times, both good and bad. He was a party man, first, last and always, but he had the complete respect of his Republican colleagues and in time of national crisis, he rallied his party to the support of a Republican administration.

"Mr. Sam," as he was affectionately known, contributed much more to his country's well-being than can be set down in words. Speaker of the House longer than any man, he directed his untiring energies always toward the future. He was an invaluable aid to the late FDR in the New Deal. He believed in and helped sponsor rural electrification and public power, helping to formulate many policies that produced much of the national progress of the past 25 years.

As so aptly stated in an editorial in the Nashville Tennessean on last Friday, "Mr. Sam dedicated his best efforts to the cause of humanity. His vocation was his avocation, his leisure his job, his love his people, and his politics theirs."

Mr. Sam's career ended in his hometown just as it had begun there so many years before. It was what he wanted, to be among his friends as he fought a losing battle with the malady that physicians said weeks before could not be cured.

Death came quietly last Thursday to the man who represented, not only his party and his constituency, but all of America.

An Important Amendment

The presidents of four state colleges at Florence, Jacksonville, Livingston and Troy, urge the voters to approve Amendment No. 6 on December 5 since the amendment is designed to correct a technicality in the law which denies to these four state colleges a privilege which both Auburn and the University of Alabama already have. This is the privilege of pledging the rentals and other revenues derived from the operation of existing buildings on a college campus as security for loans which will be used in constructing additional such facilities to care for growing enrollment.

They call attention to the fact that no tax money whatever will be involved in this constitutional change and that it will make it easier for the state colleges to secure adequate loans at more reasonable rates of interest to provide additional dormitory facilities as needed on a self-financing basis.

We certainly urge the voters to vote "yes" on this amendment which we believe is a constructive step forward in the betterment of our invaluable state colleges.

HILL URGES PASSAGE AMENDMENT NO. 1

Editor: I urgently request my friends in Lauderdale County to vote for and get others to vote for Amendment No. 1 on December 5th.

Those who have served on our grand juries and trial juries especially know that the purpose and aim in imprisoning teen-agers, youths (and adults too) should be to correct them, to better equip them for life and gainful employment, to make self supporting good citizens, to make them better future parents so that their children in turn will have a decent chance to grow up as good citizens.

Alabama's prison system is not now equipped to do this. Old Kilby Prison is outmoded, pitifully over-crowded and very expensive in upkeep. Its 2240 acres of land are valuable, now being fast surrounded in the city of Montgomery by residential and business construction. When sold it will bring 3½ to 5 million dollars and most probably more with which money the bonds authorized by Amendment No. 1 can be partially or wholly paid off.

No new taxes are necessary for this long-range building program. No money for education will be affected. Prison labor will be used for most of the construction. Different type institutions will be built for the different type prisoners. Segregation of young people from the hardened offenders will be possible.

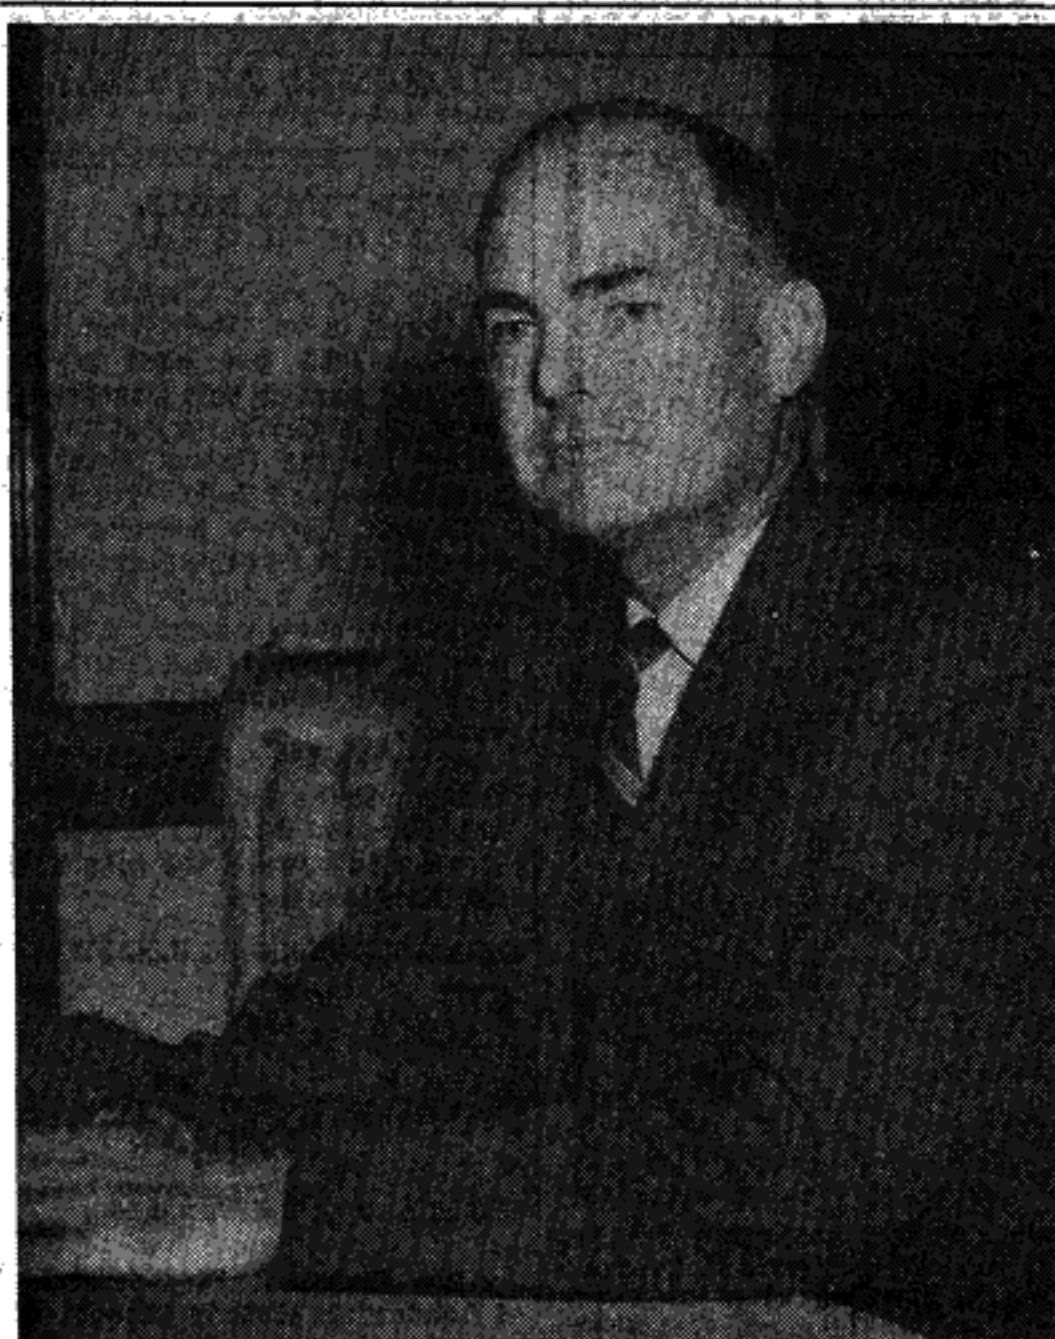

Means for education, religious and vocational training, trade schooling, etc. will be provided for more than 1000 young people who are now and will be there. Youths can be sent to conservation areas there to do clean, constructive work in state parks, repairing cabins, building roads, etc. A good receiving and classification unit will be built.

Alabama like the other states must of necessity sooner or later expand its prison facilities. This is inevitable because of the upward trend of delinquency and crime. Let's do it in an enlightened manner through this sound, long range program. It is the humane and Christian thing to do.

ERVIN BRUNO BRUNINGA

"I wouldn't swap my job for any other in the world. It is a challenge every day in the week; it is rewarding, and—it is rough as a corn cob," is the way Mr. Bruninga summed up his job as FBI agent in the Muscle Shoals area.

"The FBI agent's job is very demanding and the discipline is extremely rigid, as it must be. No work could be more interesting. I may be investigating a bank robbery one hour, interviewing a child kidnapper the next and making a routine check of the character of someone seeking federal employment a short time later. It's all in the day's work, but there's never a dull moment. All in all the work of the FBI agent is the most interesting, often most exciting and always in the public's interest. What more could a man ask from a means of a livelihood?"

Ervin Bruno Bruninga was born in Macomb, Ill., February 18, 1918, the son of Miner H. and Clara Lindenbaum Bruninga. He attended a one-room elementary school at Prairie Hill. After the completion of his elementary schooling, he entered Macomb High School and was graduated in 1934.

Mr. Bruninga was unable to take part in any extra curricular activities at Macomb High because he helped his father on their dairy and corn farm. Milking cows and plowing, planting and gathering corn were his chores during those years.

Following his graduation from high school, he attended Western Illinois State Teachers College at Macomb for two years. He served as president of his freshman class.

Mr. Bruninga's fondest wish was to attend the University of Illinois at Champaign, but, for financial reasons, he was unable to do so. However, when a manufacturer of clay products offered a scholarship to the University to one student in each county who would study ceramics, Mr. Bruninga jumped at the chance and applied for the scholarship. Being successful, in the fall of 1936 he transferred from the college at Macomb to the University. He was graduated in 1939 with a B.S. degree in ceramics.

Following his graduation from the University, Mr. Bruninga was employed with the Owens Illinois Glass Company at Streator, Ill. He remained in that capacity a year and a half, continually hoping to better himself.

Mr. Bruninga's older brother, Harold J. Bruninga, who was an agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, told him of the Bureau's search for prospective agents who had a degree in one of the sciences. After investigating Mr. Bruninga's background, the Bureau accepted him as an agent and on January 11, 1941, he quit his job with the glass company and entered the Bureau's training school. For eight weeks, he attended schools at Washington, D. C. and Quantico, Virginia.

Following the completion of his training, Mr. Bruninga was assigned by the Bureau to the Boston, Mass., area. Shortly thereafter, he was transferred to the Washington Field Office which covered investigation activities in the District of Columbia. He remained there during World War II.

One of the interesting cases Mr. Bruninga took part in during the war years was that involving eight Nazi saboteurs. The Germans landed from a submarine on the East Coast shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor and were found as far west as Chicago. The Bureau then was busy with the arrests of potential saboteurs and enemy aliens, closing the case which is now history.

Mr. Bruninga met Maybelle C. Cornelius, a native of Iowa who was a stenographer for the Bureau in Washington. On June 9, 1943, they were married. They have one daughter, Carolyn, 15, a sophomore at Coffee High School and two sons, Robert, 13, an eighth grader at Florence Junior High and John, 9, a fourth grader at

Miss Imogene Irons Bride Of Odus Wilburn Wallace, Jr.

Marked by an evening ceremony in the Methodist Church of Waterloo was the marriage on Friday, November seventeenth, of Imogene Irons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Irons of Gunwaleford Road, and Odus Wilburn Wallace, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Odus Wilburn Wallace of Central Heights.

The Reverend E. B. Stewart, minister of the church, read the half past seven o'clock vows before an altar background of greenery, with arrangements of white gladioli and white stock completing the setting. Miss Mary Katherine Skipworth presented a prelude of nuptial music.

The bride, wearing a waltz-length gown of white lace and tulle distinguished by a basque bodice with rousing neckline, cap sleeves and a full-gathered skirt with wide waistline bow of satin, was given in marriage by her cousin, Charles Skipworth. Her chapel-length veil cascaded from a jeweled crown and she carried a white Bible and a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Janie Lucille Heupel, wearing antique gold brocade with matching hat and carrying white carnations, was the bride's only attendant; for best man, the bridegroom was served by his cousin, Clarence Palmer.

Both Mrs. Irons and Mrs. Wallace were gowned in blue and white carnations in corsage enhanced their attire.

Leaving later in the evening for their honeymoon, the bride wore a smart Dior blue suit and contrasting accessories with a cluster of bouquet blossoms at her shoulder.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will be at home at 622 East Tuscaloosa Street, Florence.

Miss Goodwin, Mr. Crunk Say Vows In Church Setting

Candlelight and decorated with blossoms, Killen Church of Christ was the scene on Friday, November seventeenth, of the early evening marriage of Charlotte Ann Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Arnold Goodwin of Killen, and Gary Daniel Crunk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patton Crunk of Florence.

Choral selections by Mr. and Mrs. Barry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Harriman and O'Neal Smelser preceded the half past six o'clock ceremony in which Charles Kretzer, minister of the church, was the officiating clergyman.

Mr. Goodwin escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage. Her gown of bridal lace, designed and created by her mother, was fashioned along simple lines with rousing neckline and long, tapering sleeves in the fitted bodice; the bouffant skirt extending to floor-length. A bandeau of pearls and sequins secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion and she carried gardenias intermixed with feathered pink carnations.

Miss Ann Cosby was the bride's honor attendant and bridesmaids included Mrs. Glen Holden, Mrs. Billy Ray Hill, Mrs. Jimmy D. Williams, all of Rogersville; Miss Harriet Shelton of Lawrenceburg; Miss Linda McCrary of Anderson; and Miss Mary Parker of Killen. Shelaene Goodwin, sister of the bride, and Rebecca Hale, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls; Jenny Crunk, sister of the bridegroom, and Judy Oldham, candlelighters. They all wore frocks of satin (Miss Cosby's in red and the bridesmaids', pink) featuring necklines rounded in front and forming a deep V at the back of their close-fitting, sleeveless bodices. The skirts, full and bell-shaped. Matching hairbows with tiny veils were their headresses; a single long-stemmed red rose, the bouquet carried by each.

Donald Crunk was his brother's best man and usher-groomsman were Gene Downs and Marlan Miller of Rogersville; Glenn and Gerald Holden of Florence; David Thacker and Bill Johnson of Anderson.

Mrs. Goodwin, mother of the bride, was in blue with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias; the bridegroom's mother chose a beige ensemble and she, too, wore gardenias.

Immediately after the ceremony, wedding guests were entertained at a reception in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Goodwin of Killen. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Milton Mitchell, Mrs. James H. Parker, Mrs. Floyd Wright and Mrs. William Hale.

When Mr. Crunk and his bride left for their wedding trip, she was wearing a suit of blue wool and, at her shoulders, gardenias from her bouquet.

Upon their return they will be at home in Killen.

Miss Peters, Mr. Kluesner Wed In St. Michael's Church

White chrysanthemums arranged against an ivy-etched background marked the altar of St. Michael's Catholic Church of St. Florian for the nuptial mass on Saturday, November eighteenth, of Rosalie Josephine Peters, daughter of Mrs. Martin Peters, of St. Florian and the late Mr. Peters, and Herbert Bernard Kluesner, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Kluesner of St. Joseph, Tennessee.

Given in marriage by her brother, George Peters, the bride wore a gown of white lace over satin designed with molded bodice and full, floor-length skirt which swept into a chapel train. Lace scallops re-embroidered with sequins delineated the Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapered to points over the hands, fastened there by tiny self-covered buttons. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was caught to a pearl-studded tiara and with her white prayer book she carried a single white orchid showered with tuberoses and white satin streamers.

Mrs. James Lewis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; Miss Mary Lamprecht, bridesmaid. Their identical dresses featured moss green velvet bodices and embroidered tulle skirts; their hats were of matching velvet and their bouquets of white carnations were tied with ribbon streamers of the selfsame shade.

John Thomas Lewis was best man for the bridegroom, while Carl and Bernard Peters served as ushers.

A reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Louis Zierer, immediately followed the ceremony and, later, members of the immediate families were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Clifford Mabry, Mrs. Wilfred Eckl and Mrs. Thomas Eckl.

Mr. Kluesner and his bride have returned from their wedding trip and are at home at 219 West Alabama Street, Florence.

Mr. Mrs. Voss Feted Golden Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mitchell in Windsor Heights was a popular rendezvous on Sunday afternoon, November twelfth, when more than one hundred friends and relatives called to honor Mrs. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney Voss, on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell in entertaining were the honor guests' other daughter, Mrs. Robert Rudisill, and Mr. Rudisill, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Voss. Also present with them were four of their six grandchildren (Bobby, the oldest, now in Hanau, Germany, with his wife, JoAnn, communicated with his grandparents during the day) and two of their four great grands.

Gift flowers abounded throughout the party rooms where the bride and groom of 1911 reminisced with longtime friends. Mrs. Voss wore navy pure silk with touches of matching lace and a corsage of golden yellow rosebuds.

Arriving from out-of-town for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis West of Franklin, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Voss, Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Voss, Mr. and Mrs. James Voss, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Voss, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Voss, all of Columbia; Robert Rudisill and Gene Rudisill of Chattanooga; Mrs. Bert Sink and T. C. Coley of Decatur.

The Town and Country Room at Holiday Inn was the setting and brightly colored travel posters about the walls were in keeping with the travelogue of Europe accompanied by slides and presented by John W. Acton. Also in keeping was the table decoration of autumn pumpkins with modes of travel represented by the miniature cars, buses and planes which moved in circles around the centerpiece.

Small travel bags marked places for the near-hundred who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson, Prospect St., and their daughter, Mrs. John Clib Barton, Jr., who arrived last week from Searcy, Ark., for a brief visit, were among the football fans in Birmingham on Saturday, meeting there Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Lampkin Rogers, and Mr. Rogers of Greenville.

From numerous sources and personal contacts, Miss Mary Rogers has gathered during vacation trips a wealth of material from which she presented the program on "Arts and Crafts in the Southern Highlands," tracing the Southern Highlands Handicraft Guild from its origin in 1930 and displaying craft items from her collection of choice pieces. Of special interest were the silk screen prints on handwoven linen, the 121st psalm garlanded with laurel fashioning an admired wall piece.

Refreshments in the Thanksgiving motif were a feature of the tea hour.

THE SPILLWAY

Thanksgiving's day
That is dear to the heart...
The "turkey 'n trimmings"
An integral part!

And for a STATISTICAL THOUGHT, we were just wondering how much poundage will have been added to our population, come next Monday morning. (Not intending to dampen anyone's holiday mood!)

LOVELY PARTYING—Corinne Rogers had one of the mostest for Mama-Corinne last week—mostest AND without a "hitch," but it was almost not so... The honoree was bringing the centerpiece to be used on the party-table—and exquisite one she'd brought from her European tour. Except that in the rush of leaving her home in Aberdeen, she forgot the piece. Undaunted, as she always is, Corinne drove back to Aberdeen, picked it up, and quickly returned to Florence in time to greet the guests. And it was well worth the trouble, since the several dozen party-ers were enchanted by the centerpiece... MORE PARTYING and an evening that was clever and different was enjoyed at the home of John (the doc) and Alina Rice—a real beatnik party where the Rices' latest prized possession was unveiled. A picture that they had acquired on a recent visit to the Plum Nelly Art Show...

Just in case you are perplexed, as we were, we'll explain—the Plum Nelly Art Show is held at a place on the map that is Plum out of Tennessee, and Nelly out of Georgia. (!)

HAPPY AND PROUD was the face of Olivia Rouhlac last week, as she was accompanying son (Dr.) George Erwin around the town—here for too short a visit from his home in St. Louis... And the same thing goes for "Parson" Hollingsworth, whose son Willis was here for a brief visit from the Big City.

DON'T GO NEAR THE DOOR

IT proved to be just that for Mary Belle and Harry Herndon on their just-completed European tour. Seems that at one point in Portugal Mary Belle was in a situation that threw her into a casual conversation with a young American girl. Before the conversation was over, it was discovered that the girl was an airlines stewardess who had been on duty on the same plane as Charles Poellnitz WHEN he had his famous close brush with Destiny over the Birmingham airport several years ago. (see the SPILLWAY of said WHEN) The part that puzzles us: HOW did Mary Belle manage to get those facts together?

TEEN OF THE WEEK is uncontestedly Dianne Brown, a senior at Florence State and daughter of the (Rev.) Walt Browns... She is attending the meeting in Delhi, India of the World Council of Churches as the ONLY young person from this country representing her denomination. As if this were not enough to prove what an exceptional young lady Dianne is, she is not only attending the conference, but is combining a world-wide tour with her appointed role as delegate to the meetings. She left this country a month early and visited one side of the world, and after the conference she will complete the circuit. We understand that she has appeared in several dramatic presentations at the college and is quite talented in that line too. A person we expect to be hearing more of!

YOU SHOULD SEE the out-of-this-world diamond-and-diamonds ring with which Martha McBurney was "rung" this past Monday—it being her and George's wedding anniversary. Seems that George had Martha try it for size when they visited a very-very antique jewelry shop in New Orleans recently... and the dreams that Martha must have had of owning it became a reality for her when the anniversary came along. Just proves that sometimes dreams DO come true!

McCorkle's Opens 24th Anniversary Celebration

Ray McCorkle announces today the opening of the Twenty-Fourth Anniversary Sale marking nearly a quarter of a century of business operations in Florence.

Starting out twenty-four years ago as a dealer in new and used pianos, Mr. McCorkle has grown until today he claims that his two stores, his large store on North Court Street and a smaller establishment in East Florence, are recognized as among the largest furniture operations in the state that is strictly home-owned.

Mr. McCorkle said that in this sale, which opens Friday morning, he plans to sell the greater part of his $300,000 stock to meet the space needs that new purchases require and to do this unusually attractive prices are being placed on every item in stock.

We don't make a lot of wild claims but we guarantee every car we sell.

Coffee 20 Butler 6
The Coffee Yellow Jackets defeated the Butler Rebels Friday night before some 3,500 chilled fans in Huntsville, by the score of 20-6.

The victory ended a five game winning string for Coach Marvin Clem's Tennessee Valley Conference entry and upped Coffee's overall record to 7-1-1 going into the season's finale with Sheffield this afternoon at two o'clock at the Bulldogs' stadium.

Butler struck early and moved out front 6-0, but the determined Jackets turned around and drove the football 72 yards in 16 plays to even things as the first quarter of play drew to a close. The scoring explosion continued in rapid fire order as Coffee hit the boards minutes later, going 52 yards in three moves, closing out things in bang-bang order as a blocked punt led to the third touchdown.

The Jackets' touchdowns were made by Jimmy Smith, Stanley Smith and George Gresham with Stanley carrying the leather 22 times and netting 132 yards.

Coach Grant termed the victory as another "full" team effort.

FSC 17 — UTMB 14

The Florence State Lions closed their season Saturday afternoon when they defeated the UTMB Vols 17-14 at Martin, Tenn.

Thanks to Bob Jackson's field goals, the triumph polished off another highly successful 7-3 campaign. The victors piled up a 17-0 third quarter margin, but then had to hang on for dear life and the Vols came roaring back.

In the first quarter of play, wingback Joe Morrow went 38 yards on a wingback reverse and Tailback Mickey Bell piled the final 23 for the touchdown, with Jackson splitting the uprights. The second score came in the final minute of the first half, as Quarterback Bill Wise intercepted a pass and rambled 65 yards to paydirt, with Jackson's kick good again.

Jackson kicked again in the third quarter.

ROCK FROM WORK AT DAM TO BE USED IN PARK

A large amount of rock, which TVA will excavate next year in connection with construction work at Wheeler Dam, will be placed at the nearby Joe Wheeler State Park in a manner to construct a breakwater to provide a protected harbor for small boats and waterfront facilities. TVA said today that an agreement with the State of Alabama provides that the state will reimburse TVA for the cost of depositing the rock at the specific location desired.

Reynolds History Told By Holloway

Robert D. Holloway, Southeastern Public Relations Manager for Reynolds Metals Co., with offices in the South Court Bldg., Tuesday noon gave the Exchange Club an interesting run-down on the history of Reynolds Metals at Listerhill illustrating his talk with a film depicting the early planning and early beginning of the big local aluminum industry.

The film, which shows the elder Mr. Reynolds as he staked his all on the future of the aluminum industry, traced the growth of the local plant from the moment a shipment of aluminum making machinery was diverted from France to Listerhill through its various expansions until today it is recognized as the leader in its field.

Mr. Holloway filled in with statistics that proved most interesting and gave the club members a clearer insight to the value of the great plant to this area.

In pointing out that 23 per cent of the aluminum made went into the building trades with the second largest percentage going into transportation, mainly airplanes, Mr. Holloway said that nine of the 1962 model automobiles now use aluminum to a large extent in their manufacture. With a $25-30,000,000 annual payroll, Reynolds Metals is the largest benefactor of the Muscle Shoals area.

Veterans Should Report Financial Changes At Once

Veterans receiving pensions may save themselves inconvenience, embarrassment and money by notifying the Veterans Administration immediately when there is an increase in their annual income.

The amount of a veteran's pension is based on his income and the number in his family—his wife and children. If any of these factors change, his pension may change, Neil R. Smart, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Montgomery, pointed out.

If the veteran returns to work, or should his family status change, such as divorce or death of his wife, marriage or death of a child, the birth of a child, or the marriage of the veteran, the VA should be advised immediately.

Failure of a veteran to report income above the legal limits may result in VA overpayments to him. The veteran may be required to return some or all pension payments back to the first of the year, Smart emphasized.

Plan Christmas Mailing Early

Postmaster Don Holt has announced that it is time to start planning your Christmas card and gift mailings. Here are the things to watch to help in getting every Christmas card and package delivered before December 25.

Check your Christmas card and gift lists carefully. Be sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Avoid abbreviations of city and state names.

For your gift packages, secure heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord and adhesive tape. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift packages if you will add the appropriate First Class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself.

Stock up on postage stamps. By doing this soon, you'll save lots of time that might be spent standing in line later on. When you go to the Post Office, ask for a supply of labels which read, "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out of Town Delivery," so that before you mail your Christmas cards you can sort them into two groups, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

The Post Office will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels.

Muscle Shoals Gas Gets Thirty-Year MSC Franchise

The Muscle Shoals Natural Gas Corporation received a 30-year franchise Tuesday night to serve Muscle Shoals City which becomes effective in thirty days when they will be given the right to construct, lay and maintain gas lines for the entire city.

Mayor T. H. Pounders, Jr. said any future commission can revoke the franchise, provided proper notice is given and the firm is paid for its investment, however, if this happened, the city, the company and the probate judge would appoint appraisers to determine the amount the city would pay for the system.

Granting of the franchise ended the city's efforts to obtain a city-owned natural gas system.

Life With The Rimples

By Les Carroll

The food preservation specialist points out that studies have been made to discover why packaged, cooked, sliced ham and other luncheon meats frequently acquire a "butter milk odor" and a slightly "sour" flavor in home refrigerators.

A study of bacteria, known to attack and multiply on foods, showed that these bacteria thrive at cold temperatures above freezing, rather than at warm temperatures. This effects flavor and odor of foods but does not make the foods harmful to health. But at zero degrees such bacteria do not multiply and thus the flavor of these packaged prepared meats is not affected.

One broiler can produce manure worth two to three cents if it is handled properly.

Performance Of Mary Stuart Cast Delights Audience

The production of Mary Stuart which was presented Thursday night at Coffee High School Auditorium under the sponsorship of William Lile Harris, was brilliantly played and enthusiastically received by a responsive and often applauding audience.

The performances of Faye Emerson as Mary Stuart, Mary Queen of Scots, the Catholic cousin of Queen Elizabeth, and Eva LeGallienne's Queen Elizabeth, will long be remembered by everyone who witnessed the performance, as will that of Scott Forbes who portrayed Mortimer.

The supporting roles were likewise excellently portrayed, especially those of Dee Victor as Hannah, Frederic Worlock as Lord Burleigh, and Sydney Walker as the Earl of Leicester.

It was a superlative performance by well-cast stars of the first rank with an outstanding supporting cast. The fabulous wardrobes, excellent lighting and sound effects and authentic sets all combined to transport the audience into that era when intrigues were the order of the day and crowns changed heads overnight.

Many acclaimed the production the finest of its kind ever presented in the Tri-Cities area.

For best flavor, store packaged, cooked ham slices in the freezer rather than the refrigerator, Delle Downey of the Auburn University Extension Service, suggests to homemakers. This is true even if such meats are kept only a few days.

McCORKLE'S announce their 24th

Anniversary Sale

OPENS TOMORROW LASTS 30 DAYS
Over $300,000 In Fine Furniture Going At A Fraction Of It's Real Worth

Ray McCorkle
Sole Owner

Mr. McCorkle Says:

We want to take this opportunity to thank all our customers for their business during the twenty-four years of our operation. It was 24 years ago our firm was started by B. B. Brooks and Ray McCorkle and was then known as Brooks and McCorkle Piano Co., selling pianos only.

A short time later, the interest of Mr. Brooks was purchased and full lines of Maytag and Hotpoint appliances were added. We began to grow and now from a small beginning have become the largest home-owned furniture store in Alabama. This was made possible 10 years ago through the construction of our present building when furniture was added to our lines. By owning our building and warehouse, we are in position to offer more for your furniture dollar. Too, we are able to offer at all times the finest and largest selection of fine furniture in this area.

Two years ago, with the purchase of the Bendall Furniture Co. in East Florence, we added an additional outlet. Since then we have increased our floor space by three times and in December we will move this store into our new building, again increasing our floor space by five times. Here we handle lower priced new furniture, slightly damaged furniture and good used furniture at unheard of low prices.

We believe that the things that have contributed to our success are that we always treat our customers right, do not believe in high powered advertising, do not believe in overpricing merchandise to show a big discount and finance our own accounts at 6% interest. We buy in large quantities and take our cash discount, passing these savings on to you.

Mrs. Wilma (Buck)
Copeland
Sales Manager

Mrs. Copeland Says:

If you are interested in a better buy in furniture and appliances, it will be worth your while to shop us at McCorkle's. We have the largest selection, the best quality for the price . . . and if you need help with your decorating scheme, I will be glad to call at your home and help you—of course, at no charge.

Frank Walters
Manager

Mr. Walters Says:

Several years ago I was in the appliance business, a competitor to Ray McCorkle. I wondered then why I lost so many sales to him. Now, I know why—his prices are so very low. I never dreamed you could buy furniture and appliances at the prices we now sell them for here. For quality furniture and appliances (at guaranteed prices and 6% carrying charge), I invite all my friends to come and see me at McCorkle's.

Mrs. Kathleen McCorkle
Romine
Manager, E. Florence

Mrs. Romine Says:

Our new building in East Florence is almost completed. When completed, we will have five times as much floor space as that with which we started. If you need good used furniture or new furniture at low prices, or maybe some slightly soiled or damaged new furniture, all at bargain prices, I invite you to come and see me at our East Florence store.

Richard (Sunshine)
Hawkins—Delivery

Sunshine Says:

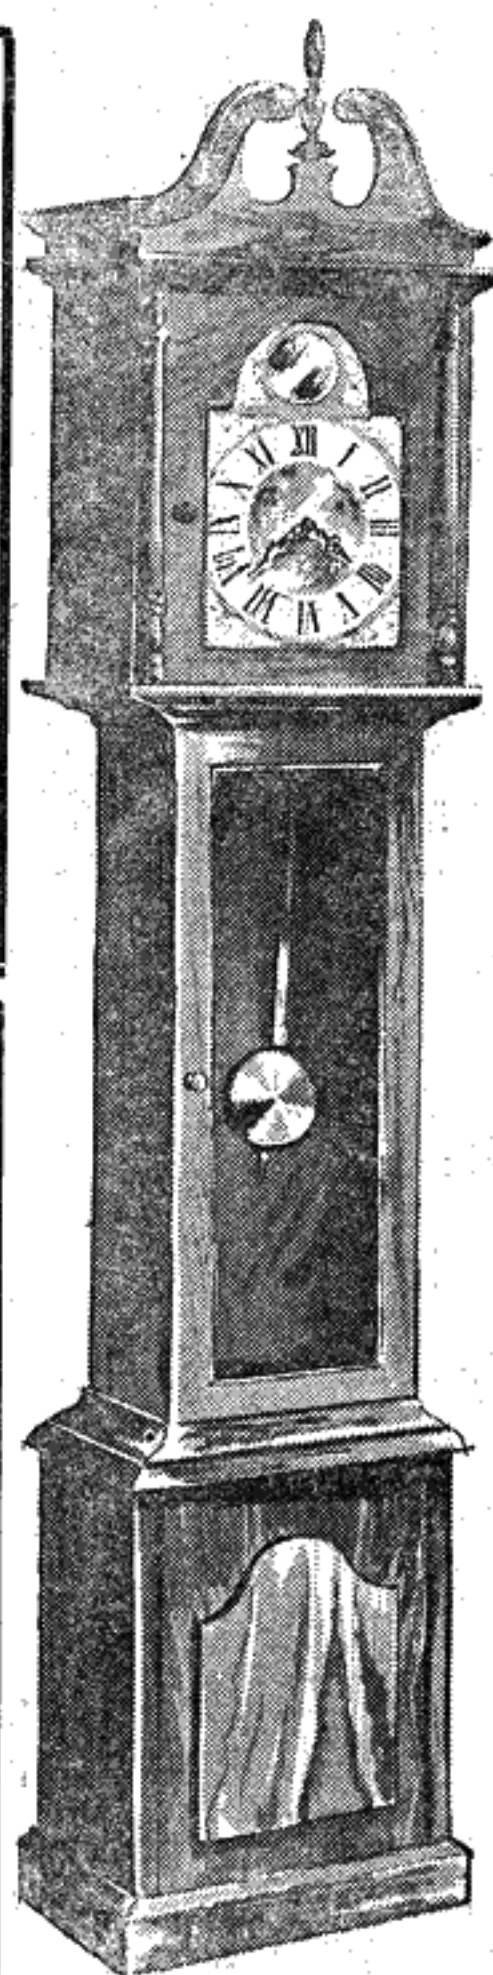

I'll declare — we shd do sell the furniture. But I believe our buyers are keeping ahead of our salesmen as I've never in my life seen so much furniture arriving.

Dan Gandy
Delivery

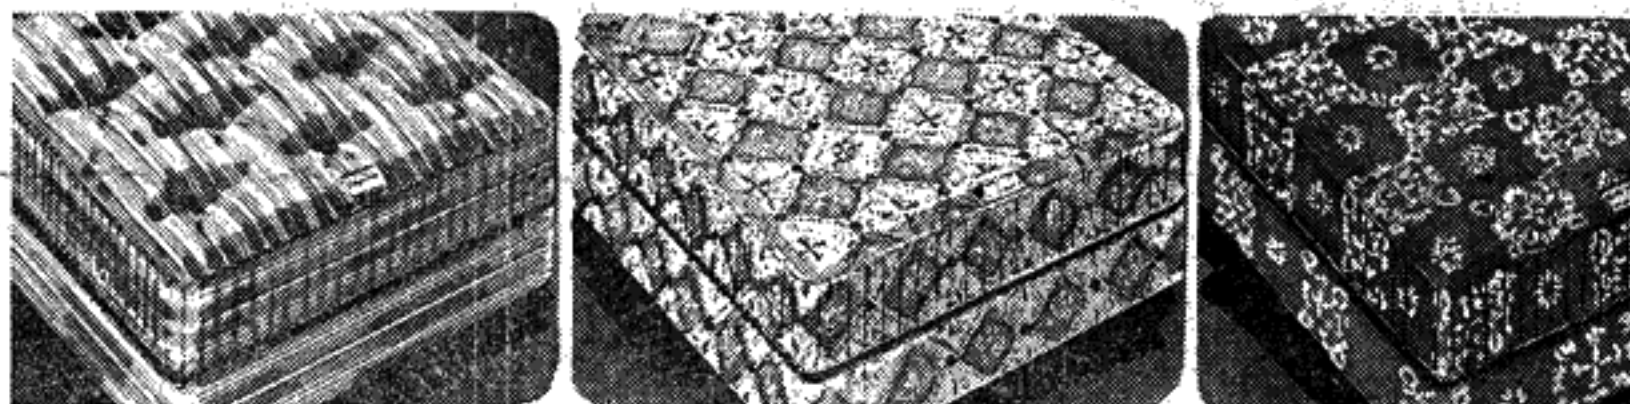

Mr. Gandy Says:

I have been working at McCorkle's for only the past two years. I had been a customer of McCorkle's previously and had bought most of my furniture here, but I never dreamed they sold so much furniture. Most of the time I don't have time to go to lunch. I feel that our low prices for quality furniture is the reason.

Farm Review and Forecast

Lowering Freight Rates On Grain Urged By Bureau

Lower freight rates on grain, which would save livestock and poultry farmers of this area many thousands of dollars annually, were urged by Alabama Farm Bureau members at their 1961 convention in Biloxi, Miss., according to Walker Brown, president of the Lauderdale County Farm Bureau.

The Southern Railway requested

Interstate Commerce Commission authority to place reduced rates into effect last August, but ICC suspended the rates pending hearing of protests by barge lines and other interests. A hearing is scheduled in Washington January 8.

Southern based its proposed rate reduction on cheaper costs as the result of modernized equipment permitting larger loads. The Farm Bureau delegates, representing more than 81,000 members in 67 county organizations, commended Southern for "its initiative in pioneering new and improved equipment for the efficient and economic transportation of grain."

The Farm Bureau's action—

which gave added strength to previous backing of the reduction by officials of the state organization—followed by a few days Southern's request for the ICC to lift the general interest of farmers and also in the public interest. This program, and its adoption by other railroads, should be encouraged."

Southern is proposing reductions in transportation costs up to 60 per cent below present charges. Farm Bureau members contend this would go a long way toward easing the cost-price squeeze in livestock and poultry production.

PVT. EDWARD R. VINSON ASSIGNED TO MISSILE UNIT

Army Pvt. Edward R. Vinson, son of Mrs. Pearl Vinson, Route 1, Waterloo, Ala., was assigned to the 562d Artillery, a Nike-Hercules missile unit in Bellevue, La., Nov. 6.

Vinson, a clerk typist in the artillery's Battery A, entered the Army in August 1961 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Farm Facts

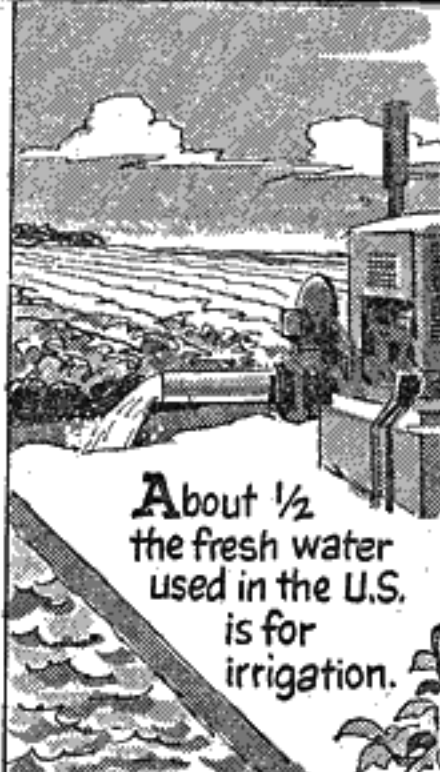

The greatest single use of fresh water in the United States is for irrigation—75 billion to 100 billion gallons a day, or about half of the fresh water we use annually.

Next largest consumer is industry and steam power plants. According to Karl O. Kohler, Jr., writing in the 1955 Yearbook of Agriculture, they require about 70 billion gallons of fresh water daily. It takes 18 gallons of water, for example, to refine a barrel of oil and about 300 to make a barrel of beer.

Kohler notes that application of irrigation water is relatively inefficient. Annual delivery to a farm may range from less than an acre-foot (325,850 gallons) up to more than 7 acre-feet (2,280,950 gallons) to an acre.

A cutting of alfalfa requires about 325,850 gallons of water an acre, and a crop of cotton, 800,000 gallons.

In 1959 more than 33 million acres were irrigated as compared with about 20.5 million acres in 1944. Most of the irrigated land is located in the 17 Western states, Louisiana, and Hawaii.

About 1/2 the fresh water used in the U.S. is for irrigation.

Increases in irrigated acreage in the Far West and rapid introduction of supplemental irrigation in the Midwest and in the Eastern and Southern states in recent years have contributed to a much heavier consumption of water.

Fish Packers Using Aluminum Cans

Experimental packing of limited quantities of tuna in aluminum cans is under way as part of a research program in which Van Camp Sea Food Company is co-operating with the American Can Company and Reynolds Metals Company.

The research project involves cans of the half-pound or regular size. The containers used in the testing program were manufactured at the Wilmington, Calif. plant of American Can. The aluminum for the cans was supplied from Reynolds plants at Sheffield.

Officials said that the pilot pack in aluminum cans is part of Van

Camp's continuing program of research and development in a variety of fields, involving laboratory studies and test marketing to determine consumer reactions. The firm's commercial volume of tuna in the half-pound or regular size continues to be packed in conventional tinplate cans.

The aluminum half-pound container in experimental use is a drawn seamless round can. Van Camp is the first seafood packer to test market tuna in aluminum cans. Officials said the market test will continue for several months.

About 128 million Americans now carry health insurance. Health insurance benefits paid in 1959 totaled $5,175 million—up 10.9 per cent over 1958.

Put one-half tablespoon of ammonia into the wash basin with warm water to clean combs. Let the combs soak in this solution for about half an hour, then remove, rinse and dry.

Home Milk Dispensers

The big news in the dairy industry is that before too long milk bottles or waxed paper cartons will no longer be a familiar sight in many family refrigerators. And, another new development is that sour cream won't be quite so sour.

Sam Jones, Auburn University Extension Service dairyman, explains that milk containers in the refrigerator are likely to be replaced in many homes by milk dispensers, a small version of the dispensers used in restaurants and school lunchrooms.

Another new processing method, continues the dairyman, removes the severe tart flavor from sour cream while maintaining the desirable taste and rich creamy texture of the original cream. It also increases the keeping quality, allowing families that use small amounts to store and use sour cream from a single package for periods up to four weeks without spoilage.

Dairies offering the milk dispensers, points out Jones, will deliver milk once or twice weekly depending on the needs of the consumer. The dispensers hold three gallons of milk at an ideal temperature for serving.

In a survey of customers using home milk dispensers, they listed

Fruits, Vegetables No Longer Luxury

Summer, winter, spring or fall—any season of the year can be the right season for fruits and vegetables.

It wasn't too long ago that our fruits and vegetables were available only on a seasonal basis, says John Bagby, Auburn University Extension Service commercial horticulturist. But, today you can get most fruits and vegetables almost year-round.

Modern methods of production, harvesting, processing, storage and transportation have changed the picture.

Not only the availability, but the quality, variety, and wholesomeness of our fruit and vegetable supply are unequalled in the world, he adds.

Today, American consumers can buy food with confidence, knowing that it is the safest, cleanest, and most wholesome in the world.

At the 1956 yield rate, 200,000,000 more acres for crops would be needed by 1975.

several desirable features of this method of milk storage. Among the principal advantages they gave were convenience, colder milk, increased refrigerator space, no bottles or cartons to bother with and, in some cases, lower cost.

Jones adds that people who still want to get their milk in cartons can look forward to a new plastic-coated carton that will be stronger than the waxed cartons. This carton will eliminate leaking and objectionable flakes of wax in the milk.

Turkey Hearings Stated
Public hearings on nationwide marketing orders for turkeys and turkey hatching eggs have been announced by Acting Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy.

It issued, says Jim Hubbard, Auburn University Extension Service poultry specialist, the marketing orders will be the first ever applied on a national basis for an agricultural commodity.

According to Murphy, overproduction and falling prices for the turkey industry have caused a critical economic situation for many producers. So a study was made of the turkey market and a plan developed for market stabilization.

Included in the proposed marketing orders for turkeys and turkey hatching eggs are provisions for market research and development, regulation of grade, size and quality at the handler level, prohibitions on unfair trade practices and supply management.

Get A Soil Test

Once again let us remind you to have the soil in your fields tested. This will be a dollar well spent because then you will know what kind of fertilizer to use and how much. Needless to say this could mean saving a lot of money and result in better production too.

If you need any help, instructions or materials to make the tests let this office know. We are here to help you at all times and there is no cost or obligation whatever.
