The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

A new family moved into the neighborhood and, as is the custom, all the housewives gathered at their front windows and watched the unloading of the furniture. When all was completed, said wives rushed to the back fences and held a pow-wow on the new residents of their street. That night, when a certain husband came home from his office, friend wife began giving him the news of the day which, as you would guess, centered around the new neighbors. "Why, John," she said, "they have no car, no piano, no television; in fact, they're not much of anything they do have." John, who happened to know the head of the new household, continued with his meal but finally said: "Yes, I'm sure you are right, my dear, but do you know that they have one of the largest bank accounts in the community?" And John kept on eating.

Happiness is a peculiar sensation acquired when one is too busy to be miserable.

The ardent baseball fan had attended all three games in the Yankee stadium as the Braves and Yankees battled for the championship. Not being able to make the trip to Milwaukee for the continuation of the series, he decided to take in the race at a Long Island track. Being a $2 better, he decided to take a chance on a 50-1 long-shot. Then he rushed to the fence to watch the race. As the favorite and his horse neared the wire in a photo finish, the baseball man was heard shouting above the din: "Slide, you bum! Slide!"

If we could ever reach the point when the dollar earned today will be spent tomorrow—instead of yesterday—the whole country would be in a sound financial condition.

A reckless driver is one who passes you on the highway—in spite of all your car can do.

Tad Smith, the genial athletic director of the University of Mississippi, reports that the people of the Magnolia state have completed their plans as to manner in which they will whip the segregation problem if it becomes an issue in that commonwealth. He said that immediately the state will secede from the Union and, without guns or ammunition, declare war on the United States. The U. S. naturally will invade their country and give them a sound licking. Immediately thereafter, so Smith states, the people will sit back on their haunches, do nothing and apply for foreign aid.

As you read the addresses of the various Congressional and gubernatorial candidates now battling down the wire to the November election, you realize full well what is meant when the United States is called a "Land of Promise."

Definition: Foreign Country—Where the people tell Americans to go home and leave them a loan.

Jimmy Wyatt, the bright Memphis four-year-old was on a visit with his mother to the home of a friend. He wandered into the bedroom of the young lady of the family and gave the room the once over. Turning to the young lady, he asked: "You married?" "Not yet," was the reply. "If you are not married, what are you doing with two pillows on your bed?"

By the time a man can pay a fancy figure for his wife's clothes—she usually doesn't have one.

Use Of TVA Electricity Shows Amazing Growth

Nearly All Residential Customers Use Heaters, Stoves, Refrigerators

TVA said today that 97 per cent of the 1,334,756 residences supplied with TVA power have electric refrigerators, 70 per cent have electric ranges, 50 per cent have electric water heaters, and 15 per cent heat their homes with electricity.

The growth in use of electricity for these four major purposes during the past 10 years have been great, TVA said.

In 1948 electric refrigerators were in 69 per cent of the homes provided with electric service, ranges were in 37 per cent, water heaters in 19 per cent, and only about one per cent of the homes used electricity for heating purposes.

Electric appliance use in farm homes has kept pace with that in urban dwellings. Of the 400,000 out of a hundred farm homes having electric service, 95 have electric refrigerators, 70 have electric ranges, 40 have electric water heaters, 30 have electric food freezers, and almost 50 have water pumps.

All TVA lakes are among the nation's waterways which will be affected by the new boating safety law, the Federal Boating Act of 1958 which Congress approved late in its last session.

The new law sets the pattern for a state-operated system of numbering all inboard and outboard power pleasure craft of more than 10 horsepower. It provides for a uniform system of accident investigation and reporting and places the federal government on record as favoring uniform boating regulations throughout the country.

Many state legislatures meet in 1959 and are expected to adopt uniform boating regulations. The Council of State Governments and the Outboard Boating Club of America are now completing work on a model state boating law which will be recommended to all legislatures to implement provisions of the federal act. If a state does not adopt a federally approved system of numbering boats by April 1, 1960, the Coast Guard will oversee the program and register the power boats in that state operating on navigable waters.

One provision of the federal act is that "no person shall operate any motorboat in a reckless or negligent manner so as to endanger the life, limb, or property of any person."

Ray Reed Takes Over Nashville Beauty School

Ray Reed, owner and director of Ray's University of Beauty and Ray's House of Beauty, both of Florence, today announced the purchase of the Nashville School of Beauty Culture, 206½ Fifth Ave., Nashville.

The 25-year-old Nashville school is the largest in the Tennessee capital city and is recognized throughout the South for the splendid graduates it has produced. Considered one of the most substantial schools in the area, when the owner decided to retire she surveyed the entire field of beauty school operators from which to select a successor, being jealous of the reputation the school had achieved. Ray Reed was her selection to own the school and carry on its traditions.

Mr. Reed, in discussing the latest addition to his operations, said that new and modern equipment would be added immediately and, although the principles of the Nashville school would be rigidly maintained, much of the same system now proving so successful in Florence would be adapted to the operation there. Mr. Reed will keep close supervision of the Nashville school but will continue to give his main attention to the local operations.

Alabama To Get Funds To Build Needed Projects

Waterways And Military Installations To Provide Many Jobs During Year

Alabama's waterway and military installations fared well under appropriations bills enacted into law during the Second Session of the 85th Congress, according to Senator John Sparkman, who points out that for the fiscal year 1959 Civil Works appropriations for the Army Corps of Engineers will mean 018.3 million for construction work on three of Alabama's major waterways. This construction money will be used as follows: (1) navigational construction on the Alabama River, $600,000; (2) navigational construction on Jackson Lock and Dam on the Warrior-Tombigbee waterway, $6,000,000; and (3) multiple purpose construction including power on the Fort Gaines Lock and Dam on the Chattahoochee River, $11,700,000.

Another appropriations law which means a great deal to Alabama's waterways is the TVA appropriations law which contains $16,850,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority. Most of this money will be used toward completing the new Wilson Dam Lock and Canal and reworking the old lock in the Tri-Cities area. It is estimated that about $12 million of this appropriation will be used at Wilson Dam.

Alabama's military installations received substantial appropriations. Over $17 million was approved for construction at Army and Air Force bases during fiscal year 1959. Redstone Arsenal will get $9,533,000; Fort McClellan, $3,331,000 for a new hospital and $457,000 for other construction; Fort Rucker, $2,400,000; Brookley Air Force Base at Mobile $975,000 for construction, and Craig Air Base at Selma, $400,000.

Air National Guard and Reserve Units will profit also with $150,000 going for construction of Air National Guard facilities at Birmingham Municipal Airport and $97,000 for the construction of Air Force Reserve unit facilities at Bates Field in Mobile.

An appropriation of $160,000 was approved for the construction of a new armory for the Alabama National Guard Medical Unit at Birmingham.

This military construction, like the waterways construction, will provide substantial employment for Alabama's labor force.

Hill Accuses Ike Of 'Foot-Dragging'

Says Missile, A-Sub Development Endangers Security Of Nation

The Eisenhower Administration is jeopardizing the nation's security by holding back missile and atomic submarine development for reasons of false economy, Senator Lister Hill said here tonight.

"America faces a lag of five years or more in its missile development, when Russia will move ahead of the United States," Senator Hill declared. "Instead of foot-dragging by the Eisenhower administration, we should put every resource behind the development of missiles, space flight, and the vast new potential of atomic-powered submarines."

The Alabama Senator made the comment at the Alabama State Fair during a program honoring Major General John B. Medaris, Director of U. S. Army missile development at the Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Alabama.

"We have every reason to be proud that Explorers I and II are Alabama products, produced at Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville. But it saddens our hearts to recall that the Explorers could have been launched many months ahead of Russia's Sputnik if there had been the will and the leadership for America to be first in space. Now I hear that Defense Secretary McElroy has indicated he will impound some of the funds provided by Congress for the full development of Polaris-equipped atomic submarines."

"This nation wastes economy. We do not want wasteful and reckless spending of the taxpayers' money. But the nation's security must not be jeopardized by dangerous policies which substitute slogans and false economy for defense. The Eisenhower Administration's slogan of 'more bang for a buck' has failed to provide flexible, conventional defense able to move swiftly and meet small, brush-fire conflicts without the danger of touching off all-out nuclear war."

An untiring devotion to worthwhile community projects has earned for Mrs. John R. Waddell, Sr., of Rogersville, the Florence Business & Professional Women's Club's accolade of "Woman of the Year."

Although she has reared seven children of her own (five girls and two boys) and at least once cared for a three-day old infant for four months while its mother was in a hospital, Mrs. Waddell has somehow budgeted her time to take a leading part in church, school and civic affairs and serve on the Lauderdale County Board of Education.

Her 23 years as a trustee of the Rogersville schools exceed but by three years her tenure as president of that community's Parent Teacher Association. She resigned these positions upon election to public office, in which she was given another term this spring.

A supporter of child welfare and Red Cross work, Mrs. Waddell's activities extend to her church, where she is president of the Missionary Society of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of Rogersville, chairman of the board of finance, teacher of a Sunday School class and counselor for the senior high students of the church.

This amazingly energetic woman is a past president of the American Legion Auxiliary and chairman of its Americanism committee, as well as a member of the Worthy Matrons of the Eastern Star. She is also a member of the Garden Club of Rogersville.

Orphaned at an early age, Mrs. Waddell received her education at Sacred Heart Academy in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, studying secretarial science. However, she entered the Vanderbilt Hospital school of nursing where she trained under Miss Martha Nichols of Florence. It was here that she met Dr. Waddell, then a young interne, to whom she was shortly married. They located in Rogersville where both may look back upon lives of inspiration and usefulness to their community.

Number Schools Closed In Three Southern States

Plans were underway this week to provide classroom space for some of the 17,000 students idled by the closing of schools in Virginia and Arkansas and the high school at Clinton, Tenn., that was destroyed by three dynamite blasts early Sunday. Fourteen schools are closed in three states as legal sparring continued between segregationists and pro-integration forces.

Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, probably the most controversial figure in the integration crisis, indicated that he believed that private all-white schools would be in operation by mid-October. He made a statement to this effect after an appellate court judge extended until Oct. 15 a ban on the use of the four Little Rock schools for private school purposes.

President J. T. Raney of the Little Rock Private School Corp., said his group planned operating as soon as possible in private buildings without waiting for the Oct. 15 federal court decision. The corporation is depending on public donations to finance the private schools.

Dynamiters Hunted

At Clinton, Tenn., where a high school was blasted by dynamite early Sunday, state and federal officials continued their search for clues that might lead to the identity of the dynamiters whom they described as "experts." There was on one in the building at the time of the explosion that virtually destroyed the $350,000 school building.

The Clinton school was integrated two years ago by federal court order and had considerable disturbances but quieted down later on. Of the more than 850 students eleven are Negroes.

The chairman of a citizens committee in Warren County, Va., said emergency classes had begun on Wednesday, however schools in both Charlottesville and Norfolk remained closed.

Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan has refused to dismiss a suit seeking the admission of Negro students to two white high and three elementary schools in Alexandria, Va. The date for arguing this case was set for Oct. 30.

Trio Is Honored By Electromet

Davol, Comb, Buck Are Recognized For Work In Early Days Of Plant

Charles E. Green, Superintendent of Electro Metallurgical Company's Sheffield Plant, was host to a group of local business men at the Town Club in Florence on Saturday evening. The occasion was in honor of three men who played an important part in the construction and early operation of Electro Metallurgical's Sheffield Plant, Messrs. O. H. Davol, W. E. Comb and B. R. Buck.

Dave Davol, Manager of Engineering and Construction of Electromet came to the Muscle Shoals area in 1939 as engineer in charge of the construction of the electric furnace plant on Wilson Lake. Wally Comb, Vice President of Electromet, was the first Superintendent of the Alabama Works. He came to Sheffield in 1940 as Central Foreman and succeeded Mr. Comb as Superintendent in 1944. He left Sheffield for an assignment in the Ashtabula, Ohio Works in 1948 and was later transferred to the New York office.

Accompanying Messrs. Davol, Comb and Buck to Sheffield for the annual budget review were Messrs. J. M. Bandel, Vice President, W. S. Sherk, Technical Director of Operation, Oscar Graveley, L. E. Primeau and E. R. Watts.

After several weeks spent in Canada, Mrs. Robert Cutting will return to her home in New Orleans via Florence, arriving tomorrow to be the guest of her cousin, Emerson Lucas, and Mrs. Lucas, during the approaching week-end.

A Pointless and Stupid Act

The dynamiting of the school building at Clinton, Tennessee, where eleven Negro children are attending school with some 850 white students was a pointless and stupid act that cannot possibly accomplish anything good but will actually mitigate against the cause of pro-segregation forces seeking a legal way to prevent inter-racial mixing in the public schools.

It is true that Tennessee as a state is not fighting integration of public schools as is Virginia but the Clinton incident will bring upon the whole cause the stigma of violence that certainly well-intentioned and sincere segregationists are not seeking and can ill afford to have happen.

It is hoped that the proper authorities aided by the FBI can apprehend the perpetrators of this crime and bring them to justice. However the Clinton incident unfortunately is not likely to be the end of violence resulting from the Supreme Court's edict in forcing race-mixing in the public schools and while the bombing of the school is to be greatly deplored it should serve to warn the high tribunal that it has acted in haste and without the sober reflection incumbent upon men in a position of public trust.

The immortal words of the 10th amendment to the Constitution should serve to warn all men of the sanctity attached to that great document and without which doctrine freedom and democracy as we know it would be destroyed: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

We cannot break from these fundamentals and keep our liberty.

A New Look In France

A new type of national paternalism seems to be in the making with the inauguration of a new constitution by Premier de Gaulle, one that may provide a new basis for peace in one of the world's most explosive danger spots, North Africa.

Under the new system, the power of parliament is substantially reduced and executive leaders are placed largely in control of government operation and policy making. In an extreme emergency the president could take over the government under supervision of a nine-man constitutional council and while this is a radical move it may be the solution to France's problem of an unstable government perpetually plagued by the intrigue of a dozen political parties. Admittedly it has been all but a mortal blow to the Communist party in France.

With this division of power among the parties it has been impossible in the past to keep a premier and his cabinet in office making for weakness and confusion and many times leaving the country without a government. This is what brought Charles de Gaulle back to France.

De Gaulle immediately struck a popular note when he disclaimed any idea or desire of becoming a dictator and when he proved lenient with the dissenting element in North Africa he showed a touch of genius seldom displayed in times of extreme tension.

Under the new constitutional provisions French territories overseas would become members of the "French Community." This is a new type of confederation and would allow a country to remain under a sort of protectorate or dominion status or move toward outright independence. To the people under the notoriously bad French system of colonialism this is indeed a radical change, and needless to say, a welcome one.

Just how well these changes will work remain to be seen. Changes were necessary and it appears the new constitution of France is pointing in the right direction.

If it works it will be a great forward step in the achievement of world peace. France is one of the world's major powers and a strong France can be a potent factor in welding a tighter and more secure Western Alliance.

Most Fires Are Preventable

This is Fire Prevention Week, a week designed to call the public's attention to the hazards of fire and ways to prevent the terrible toll of lives and property throughout the nation each year.

Most fires are the result of carelessness on the part of human beings; comparatively few are set by lightning or so-called natural causes. And so the vast majority of fires are preventable and it is up to us to see to it that they are prevented.

This time of year leaves and brush are unusually dry and fires should be lighted only when such leaves or brush are raked into a pile away from buildings and other things that might ignite. Also one should make sure that fires are not lighted on a windy day as sparks may travel a considerable distance and endanger barns and other outbuildings as well as dwellings.

Fire prevention is largely a matter of common sense such as keeping matches out of reach of children, checking the electrical wiring and connections, the cleaning of flues and heaters before lighting fires and the removal of inflammable materials from danger spots such as cellars and attics.

In the homes and barns of rural homes that are out of reach of city fire departments it is well to have a few fire extinguishers within easy reach or at least buckets of sand placed in handy spots. It is well to remember that fires start small and when small they may be comparatively easy to control.

The exercise of common sense may prevent a disastrous fire.

WHOLE COTTONSEED MAY BE FED TO CATTLE

Cottonseed meal may not be too plentiful this fall and winter. If this be true and farmers have whole cottonseed available, they may replace cottonseed meal with whole cottonseed in the ration for cattle.

It will require 1.8 pounds of whole cottonseed to supply the protein in 1 pound of cottonseed meal.

However, this quantity of seed will supply the food value present in 1 pound of cottonseed meal and 1 pound of corn, cob, and shuck meal.

Cattlemen with whole cottonseed and no meal may be able to utilize their cottonseed in this way.

Alabama is served by 10 class I and 12 class II railroads with a total rail mileage of 5,316.

In The Week's News

Time bombs placed in the Clinton (Tenn.) High School wrecked the $300,000 building early Sunday morning. W. D. Human, principal, announced resumption of classes Tuesday for the 850 white and 11 Negro students at nearby Oak Ridge. Agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Identification and the FBI are investigating the blast. There were no injuries from the blast that wrecked 16 of the school's 20 classrooms and destroyed the heating plant.

The 59th triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church opened Sunday in Miami Beach, Fla., meeting in the South for the first time and on a non-segregated basis. There were several Negro delegates among the church's 16,000 representatives who moved into Miami Beach's large Exhibition Hall Sunday night.

The Supreme Court began its fall session Monday faced with a number of important decisions in the field of race relations and business regulation. Twelve appeals involving racial issues face the court which only a week ago declared against special schemes designed to circumvent integration of the nation's public schools.

A British Comet IV jet airliner left Idlewild Airport, New York, Saturday on the first commercial jet flight from the United States. It carried 28 passengers, a crew of eight and eight extra crew members. Non-stop trips across the Atlantic are estimated at some six-and-a-half hours for the jets as against 11½ hours for conventional planes.

President Eisenhower's doctors told him Saturday that he is in excellent health. As the President left Walter Reed Hospital he went immediately to the links for a round of golf in beautiful fall weather.

The first U. S. soldiers to leave Lebanon by ship boarded a transport Saturday in Beirut where government opponents were still manning anti-tank barricades. The 1,000 soldiers were expected to sail to Bremerhaven, Germany. This leaves 5,000 American troops in the area.

We are continually grateful for our newspapers, not only in Alabama but throughout our great United States. You stand in our first-line of defense for the basic freedoms and through your honest and accurate reporting of current events, we can all be made aware of our responsibility as citizens.

As Baptists, we stand beside you in the belief that all have the right to express themselves openly and freely on issues of the day. Our main concern of course is with the relation of the individual to God, and the advancement of Christianity in our state and our world.

We feel that the newspapers in Alabama have been most helpful in reporting religious events, both on the local and state level. For the generous cooperation, we give you our thanks and pledge our assistance in getting the facts to you at the right time and in the proper form. If at any time we may be of service to you, please do not hesitate to call on us.

We wish for continued success in the years ahead. You have a tremendous responsibility and we appreciate your efforts each day.

Sincerely yours,
David K. Morris

LET THE HERALD PRINT IT

State Boasts 1,600 Miles In Its Waterway System

Take a look at Alabama's system of waterways—more than 1,600 miles of navigable waterways in this most favored of the states.

That's a lot of miles of water, and the federal government has declared these rivers navigable. Then look at the improved part of this great system—just over 700 miles thus far.

This improved portion of the system includes the Alabama part of the Tennessee River, the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway from Mobile to above Birmingham on the Locust Fork and into Walker County. It includes a short stretch of the Chattahoochee River below Columbia in Houston County. It includes the section of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway across Mobile Bay and the southern tip of Baldwin County.

And that is not all. There are 67 counties in Alabama, almost all of them directly river-connected. The improved waterways system now reaches in to some 21 of these counties.

Along the northern border, the Tennessee, with its 13 million tons of cargo annually, serves Jackson, Marshall, Madison, Morgan, Limestone, Lawrence, Lauderdale and Colbert, providing them with a water route to the midwest and the Great Lakes and to New Orleans and the Gulf via the Ohio and Mississippi. This, incidentally, is a long route, going north to Paducah to get south to the Gulf, and Alabama proposes a remedy for it. It is a shorter, more direct route, but it is not a waterway, however, the Tennessee River is carrying millions of tons by this roundabout route, and saving shippers and consumers money in the process.

Running southward through the western part of the state, the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway is serving the industrial area of Jefferson and Walker Counties and Tuscaloosa and Demopolis, providing a waterway that carries some five million tons each year over its waters.

And on Houston County's eastern border, some 25 or thirty miles of the Chattahoochee has a nine-foot channel, connecting with the lower reaches of that river and the Apalachicola to reach Apalachicola Bay on the Gulf.

There is also that stretch of the Intracoastal Canal which runs across Alabama's toe to link the Warrior-Tombigbee with all the inland waterways which come in to the Gulf of Mexico. This is no small waterways mileage, actually, but it is several hundreds of miles short of what Alabama needs and ought to have. It omits all the rich agricultural and industrial basin of the Alabama and Coosa Rivers, extending diagonally across the state from Mobile into northwestern Georgia, to connect Rome and all the cities in between with the port of the Gulf.

It omits the Tombigbee above Demopolis and the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway to cut water distances from Alabama's Tennessee River ports to the Gulf by 650 miles.

It omits the Conecuh, the Pea and Choctawhatchee Rivers, as well as that part of the Chattahoochee above Columbia. When these rivers are improved, advocates of their improvement contend, Alabama will have a fully integrated system of waterways, and low-cost barge transportation will be luring new industries to all the shores of all these rivers.

Congress moves slowly, especially in the matter of making appropriations that would enable the Corps of Engineers to turn a useless river into a modern barge canal. But it does move, and as the new Congress meets in 1959, there are high hopes that work on some of these other waterways may soon begin.

The value of pulpwood produced in Alabama totaled $45,880,000 in 1957, according to the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, Atlanta.

This value was based on a 12-state pulpwood production survey by the U. S. Forest Service Experiment Stations.

REYNOLDS METALS GIVES 2 PER CENT STOCK DIVIDEND
Reynolds Metals Company has declared a 2 per cent stock dividend on its common stock, payable October 31 to stockholders of record October 7.

The company said it does not plan to issue fractional shares for the stock dividend, but stockholders can buy fractional shares to round out a full share or sell fractional shares for cash.

This is the first time since 1954, and the ninth in the company's history, that a dividend has been made payable in stock.

BIG CHECK—A big lift was given to Alabama's sagging educational trust fund when Southern Bell Telephone Company presented a check for $1,355,537 to the State Revenue Dept. for payment of license tax. Harry B. Lackey, telephone company assistant vice president, right, presents the check to Revenue Commissioner Joe Grant.

Nina Faye Gresham Weds In Oakland Church Setting

A double ring ceremony in Oakland Church of Christ united in marriage Nina Faye Gresham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis L. Gresham of Florence, and Frederick Robert Siegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Siegel of Patterson, New Jersey, on Saturday evening, October fourth.

James Beck, Sheffield minister, was assisted by Ellis Cook, also of Sheffield in reading the seven o'clock nuptial service and music was by Miss Dorothea Jones and the Mars Hill Bible School Choir.

The tableau formed against a candlelight altar where great basket arrangements of white chrysanthemums were accented by a background of greenery.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her brother, Lloyd Gresham. Her gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal satin was designed with shirred bodice and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. A Queen Anne collar and lace appliques in the bouffant skirt, extending into a chapel train, were etched in pearls and sequins. Her veil of illusion fell from a jewel-embroidered cap of matching lace and her flowers were a cascade of white roses.

As honor attendant to her cousin, Mrs. Ray McIntyre wore a patio-length dress of Romance Blue chiffon fashioned with shirred bodice, scooped neckline and floating back-panel. Her headpiece was a short veil held by a crown of small blue blossoms. Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Wanda McKelvey, Miss Peggy Brown, Miss Joyce Wallace, all of Huntsville, and Miss Barbara Smith of Florence, whose attire was identical to that worn by Mrs. McIntyre. Their flowers were cascade arrangements of white chrysanthemums.

Flower girls, Cathy Fuller and Carolyn Wright, cousins of the bride, wearing white taffeta and matching hats and carrying white baskets, scattered rose petals along the bridal path.

Best man for the bridegroom was Bruce Kuelm of Wayne, New Jersey. Usher-groomsman were Richard Wilson, James Brewer, Joe Huie, all of Huntsville, and Bobby Jones of Florence, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gresham honored their daughter and son-in-law with a reception in the church parlors. A cluster of wedding bells decorated the tiered cake which centered the bride's table and white tapers burned in silver candelabra to light the setting.

Assisting were Mrs. Martha Smith, Mrs. R. D. Jones, Mrs. Paul Riley, Mrs. Jack Fuller, Mrs. J. C. Hamm, Mrs. Berlin Rhodes, Misses Jackie and Elinda Wright and Mrs. P. P. Wright.

After a trip along the East coast Mr. and Mrs. Siegel will be at home in Dover, New Jersey.

Local Couple Wed In Cullman

Patricia Ann Riedel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Augustus Riedel of Tusculum, became the bride of Harry Linden Hunt, son of Mrs. Joseph Meredith Laubach and of Lawrence B. Hunt of Florence, in a half past four o'clock exchange of vows in Sacred Heart Church of Cullman on Friday, October third.

The Reverend Father Brian Eggen officiated. The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and satin designed with fitted bodice and long sleeves pointed over the hands. The Sabrina neckline was finished with scallops and the very full floor-length skirt swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion cascaded from a tiara of sequins and pearls and her bouquet was of phlox and orchids.

Mrs. Bobby Johnson of Tusculum attended the bride, wearing a sheath of pink lace over taffeta with cummerbund and bandeau of deep rose. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink carnations. Virginia Kaye and Martha Jo Laubach, sisters of the bridegroom, served as flower girls, wearing blue organza over taffeta complemented by deeper blue sashes and head bands, each carrying a basket of pink carnations.

Best man for the bridegroom was his cousin, Gene Hollis of Savannah, Tennessee. Ushers were Dwight Tucker of Cullman and Glenn Rhodes of Norfolk, Virginia. After a wedding trip to the Smokies Mr. and Mrs. Hunt will be at home at 314 Calhoun Drive, Florence.

Carol Jean Haygood, Bruce Grasham Say Vows

Announcement has been made by Mrs. J. B. Haygood, Florence, of the marriage on September twenty-first of her daughter, Carol Jean, to Bruce Grasham, son of Mrs. Henry Willis of Tusculum and the late Arthur Grasham.

Vows were heard at four o'clock in the afternoon in Poplar Street Church of Christ, Curtis Platt, minister of the church, officiating. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother on East Tombigbee Street.

After a wedding trip the bride and groom are now at home at Patuxent River, Maryland, where he is stationed with the United States Navy.

Miss Susan Owings, Mr. Rather Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Crapster Owings of York, Pennsylvania, formerly of Howard County, Maryland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Susan Dorsey Owings, to Charles Pratt Rather, Jr., of Birmingham and Pensacola, Florida.

Miss Owings is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Denton Miller and the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker Owings, all of Maryland. She was graduated from Georgetown Visitation Convent in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Rather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pratt Rather of Birmingham, is the grandson of Mr. John D. Rather, Jr., and the late Mrs. D. Rather of Tusculum. His maternal grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Burroughs Brown, were residents of Florence.

The bridegroom-to-be was graduated from McCallie Preparatory School in Chattanooga, Tenn. He studied at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va., and was graduated from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He has served four years with the United States Air Force.

The date of the wedding will be announced. (From The Birmingham Post-Herald.)

Pre-Nuptials For Bride Of Saturday

During the days preceding her Saturday wedding to Frederick Robert Siegel of Patterson, N. J., Nina Gresham was an oft-feted bride at out-of-town and near-home affairs.

Miss Jackie Wright was a Florence hostess, entertaining in honor of the bride-elect with a personal shower, and Mrs. A. C. Danley and Mrs. C. E. Gresham were hostesses at the home of the former, their courtesy a miscellaneous shower.

An event of Saturday evening, September twenty-seventh, was a tea-shower hostessed by Mrs. Howard Haddock at her home on Waterloo Road when Fall flowers graced the party rooms, bronze and yellow mums centering the refreshment table which was spread with white lace over linen.

Kitchen gadgets were presented to the honoree by the twenty guests invited for the occasion.

Garden Clubs Have Meetings

One of the most interesting clubs in the district is the Link Garden Club. Composed of girls of High School age, it is under the direction of Florence Garden Club and its sponsor is Mrs. Neil McWright.

Patty Sue Beavert, president for the new season, presided at the home of Mrs. J. G. Getsinger when members gathered on Tuesday evening, September thirtieth. Other officers giving reports at the meeting are Betty Patterson, vice-president; Peggy Broadfoot, secretary; and Mary Emma Turner, treasurer.

During the business period it was decided to make paper hats for the Veteran's Hospital Halloween Party in Tusculum, and a wild flower hunt in near-by woodlands was planned to take place on last Saturday.

Club members will make flower arrangements for the library during November and they will enter the Federation's Christmas Flower Show on Dec. 5-6.

The club will meet on the fourth Monday in each month at the Recreation Center. The committee assisting Mrs. McWright includes Mrs. Getsinger, Mrs. Gayle Patterson, Mrs. Anthony Smith and Mrs. Earl Stamps.

Mrs. Ray Walker was hostess at her home on Seminary Street when Florence Garden Club members gathered on Wednesday, October first, to hear Forrest Ward speak on "Correct Planting" and to receive helpful guidance on groupings around doorways. During the meeting each member present sketched her lot with "roughed in" planting and, during the year, she will be guided by Mr. Ward in making improvements.

The Christmas Bazaar and Flower Show of the Federation were also discussed during the afternoon. Mrs. Walker was assisted by her co-hostesses, Mrs. G. B. Ashcraft and Mrs. Duncan Gray, in serving the twenty-three members present and three visitors, Mrs. A. J. Rickles of Nashville, Mrs. H. T. Ferguson and Mrs. I. S. Davidson.

For the Maple Heights Garden Club meeting last Thursday morning Mrs. Graham Edwards was hostess at her home on North Cherry and Mrs. Bill Peeler was cohostess.

A program of design and arrangement of flowers was given by Mrs. Alvin Goodwin and Mrs. William Futrell.

Hats fashioned of blossoms from the gardens of the models were donned for the coffee hour, with most compliments going to Mrs. George Ezell for her chapeau of prince feathers.

Mrs. Lewis Thompson was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Weaver Fuqua and Mrs. Julius Gilbert were guests.

Currents Events Hears Mrs. Shotts

Delightful entertainment was provided members of Currents Events Club when they met on Thursday, October second, at the home of Mrs. B. V. Bender on Walnut Street.

Also in charge of the afternoon's program, Mrs. Bender introduced Mrs. T. B. Shotts who presented a timely review of George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Pygmalion," from which was taken background material for the recently current New York stage musical, "My Fair Lady," now showing to enthusiastic audiences in near-by Birmingham.

Present with club members was one guest, Mrs. Otis L. Peacock, and assisting the hostess during the refreshment hour were Mrs. Julian Nance, Mrs. Ben M. Ingram, and her sisters, Mrs. G. G. Glover and Miss Virta Jones.

Hypatian Club Hears Mrs. Frost

When Hypatian Club members gathered for the first meeting of the current season in the home of Mrs. Morton Southall, Tusculum Street, last Thursday afternoon, guests augmenting the club membership were Miss Ethel Pearson and the hostess' mother, Mrs. Philip King.

Mrs. William Frost gave the program, using "Modern Poetry" as her subject, and drawing interesting comparisons as she read from T. S. Eliot, Jarrell, George Dillion and others.

Mrs. Maddening King assisted the hostess at teatime.

Music Study Club Begin Season

Florence Music Study Club will have its first meeting of the season at Trinity Parish House on Saturday, October 11. The hour is 3 p. m. Members are urged to take notice.

Garden Clubs To Cooperate With Local Libraries

Flower Arrangements Will Be New Project For Florence Groups

Mrs. Earl R. Stamps, president of the Muscle Shoals Federation of Garden Clubs, reports that the presidents of the local clubs are enthusiastic over the opportunity to serve the public libraries of Florence and Sheffield by placing flower arrangements as a project of the Civic Committee. Even though some of the clubs had already full schedule.

For some years the garden clubs in Sheffield have been placing flower arrangements in the Sheffield Public Library. Only recently the clubs of Florence decided to take the Florence-Lauderdale Public Library as a civic project. The library staff and the library board appreciate this type of cooperation and know many people will enjoy seeing the lovely arrangements as they visit their public library to borrow books.

The University Heights Garden Club with Mrs. R. D. Young as president is the first club scheduled for arrangements in the Florence Library. They have taken the month of October. Mrs. U. L. Tease is the chairman of the Civic Committee of the club. Mrs. Tease and her committee along with other members of the club are busy looking after this new civic project.

Each month a different club will have charge of the arrangements. The schedule of the coming months for the Florence-Lauderdale Library is as follows: October, 1958—University Heights Garden Club, Mrs. R. D. Young, president; November, 1958—Florence Garden Club, Mrs. Charles Van Bibber, president; December, 1958—Neighborhood Garden Club, Mrs. Russ Steiner, president; January, 1959—Redbud Garden Club, Mrs. Wally Lewis, president; February, 1959—Belter Garden Club, Mrs. Ray Kephart, president; March, 1959—Reeder Grove Garden Club, Mrs. Grady Ward, president; April, 1959—Norwood Park Garden Club, Mrs. Albert Darby, president; May, 1959—Edgemont Garden Club, Mrs. W. H. Hickman, president; June, 1959—Homewood Garden Club, Mrs. Ernest McClure, president; July, 1959—Lakeside Garden Club, Mrs. James Burgess, president; August, 1959—Glen Iris Garden Club, Mrs. David McKnight, president.

MORE THAN 500 ON UNIVERSITY'S FACULTY

The University of Alabama is entering the new academic year with a teaching staff of approximately the same number as that of the past year when 555 persons made up the staff. Some 23 of the year's major teaching staff are new appointees. They have come to the University from posts in other states and from several foreign universities.

GOOD PUBLIC RELATIONS

An outstanding Southern industrialist said that a business which fails to take into account the necessities of good public relations is "flirting with trouble."

Textile manufacturer J. Craig Smith, president of Avondale Mills, Sylacauga, in an address before the Fourth Annual Dixie Public Relations Conference held at the University of Georgia told his listeners: "good public relations is just as vital a part of management's responsibilities as is good administration of other segments of a business."

In 1956 Alabama reported the production of 2,982,000 barrels of oil.

The Journalist's Creed

I believe in the profession of journalism.

I believe that the public journal is a public trust; that all connected with it are, to the full measure of their responsibility, trustees for the public; that acceptance of lesser service than the public service is betrayal of this trust.

I believe that clear thinking and clear statement, accuracy and fairness, are fundamental to good journalism.

I believe that a journalist should write only what he holds in his heart to be true.

I believe that suppression of the news, for any consideration other than the welfare of society, is indefensible.

I believe that no one should write as a journalist what he would not say as a gentleman; that bribery by one's own pocketbook is as much to be avoided as bribery by the pocketbook of another; that individual responsibility may not be escaped by pleading another's instructions or another's dividends.

I believe that advertising, news and editorial columns should alike serve the best interests of readers; that a single standard of helpful truth and cleanliness should prevail for all; that the supreme test of good journalism is the measure of its public service.

I believe that the journalism which succeeds best—and best deserves success—fears God and honors man; is stoutly independent, unmoved by pride of opinion or greed of power, constructive, tolerant but never careless, self-controlled, patient, always respectful of its readers but always unafraid; is quickly indignant at injustice; is unswayed by the appeal of privilege or the clamor of the mob; seeks to give every man a chance, and, as far as law and honest wage and recognition of human brotherhood can make it so, an equal chance; is profoundly patriotic while sincerely promoting international good will and cementing world-comradeship; is a journalism of humanity, of and for today's world.

Let's Talk It Over

By SARA SAZE

Dear Mrs. Saze,

About two months ago my boy friend got an offer of a job in a town not very far away and it was a better job than the one he had here and so he took it. He was real sorry to leave because we were practically engaged. He said he would probably not be able to do his work well because he would probably be very lonely when he couldn't see me real often.

So I felt real sorry for him. I told him to go on and be a success in the world and that I would be proud of him. I told him that he was so near that he could ride in on the bus every week-end and that I would save dates for him on Saturday nights.

Well, as I've said, it's been two months now and I haven't had so much as a Post Card to this day. So I've been real worried.

I've been wondering if he's sick. It looks like I can't get him off my mind and I thought I might go up there. I could stay at the YWCA which is a nice place, if there is one there.

Please tell me what you think I should do. It looks like I am real unhappy.

Lonely.

Dear Lonely,

I'm unhappy, too. Unhappy for you.

You see, I can't conscientiously give you one single word of the advice I know you want.

In the first place, what do you mean when you say "practically engaged?" To my way of thinking, an engagement either exists or doesn't exist.

And then again, that word PROBABLY. Seems to me there should have been no doubts in his mind.

I think you gave good advice when you told this young man to go on. My advice to you now is LET HIM GO. Put your mind on other things. And the sooner you completely forget him, the better for all concerned.

Dear Sara Saze,

I started buying a set of crystal advertised as an "open stock" pattern. When I was two glasses short of the twenty-four pieces I wanted I was told that the pattern had been discontinued. How can this be?

Dear Eve,

The term "open stock" means that any number of pieces within the pattern can be purchased—from one or two up to a complete service. It does not mean the pattern will be manufactured indefinitely.

Homecoming is really getting close. The Homecoming committee has been meeting and its sub-committees working for some time now—since the end of the spring semester, in fact.

We hope to have the biggest Homecoming ever this year. The dance, according to Herschel Moore, committee chairman, is going to be something really special. Tommy Knowles, who played here for the Co-ed Ball, has been engaged for the four hour (8:00-12:00) dance. Decorations will create the atmosphere of a New York or Paris cabaret. Cigarette girls, bar keepers (selling cokes, etc.), and hat check girls will add to the "night club" feeling.

The pep rally committee, under the direction of head cheerleader, Bill Nelms, is planning a rally, bonfire, and possibly a snake dance down Court Street on Friday, the 24th.

If I were a systematic person, I'd have this all in the order of occurrence, but it's common knowledge that I'm more than a little scatterbrained so I'll just have to get things in as they come to mind.

The parade should really be worth seeing this year. The Homecoming Committee has been and still is encouraging all organizations to enter a float or a car or to join with another group in building a float. This year we hope to have a lot of the little "bug" cars entered.

The ball game is the central event, naturally, and the opponent is Troy State College. For the past seven encounters FSC has been victorious. Whether it will be for the past eight after Homecoming, remains to be seen.

Last week's game was really much more to my liking than the previous one. A 19-0 score sounds pretty good, don't you think? And the Lions played good ball, or at least it looked good to me, ignorant as I am of football techniques.

'Tad' Smith Guest Quarterback Club

C. M. (Tad) Smith, athletic director of the University of Mississippi was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Tri-Cities Quarterback Club at the Tennessee Valley Country Club Tuesday night. Mr. Smith was presented by Charles Finney, who had charge of the program and presided over the session.

The speaker, always an interesting guest of the club having appeared before the membership several times, followed his usual line of barbs and witticisms in needling the War Eagles of Auburn and Red Elephants of Alabama. One of the most sought after speakers before a football gathering, Tad (for Tadpole) delighted the large group present.

Reviewing the accomplishments of Ole Miss and predicting a continuation of the same top-flight football for the current season, the speaker gave a run-down on the members of the team and then answered a number of questions that sought his opinion on various phases of the current schedule of the Southeastern Conference and the 12 members of the league.

Book Memorials Make Lasting Gift

Many Volumes Presented
To Tri-Cities Libraries
By Friends, Relatives

Each year many lovely books are placed in the libraries in the Muscle Shoals area in memory of friends and relatives. Florence-Lauderdale Public Library, Sheffield Public Library and Leighton Public Library participate in this project and have books for the readers in Colbert and Lauderdale Counties which otherwise would not be available.

The gift of a book to your public library on a subject close to the heart of someone you love provides a most appropriate and useful community memorial that will live on and on. What a wonderful memorial a book in the public library makes! It keeps the memory of fine people alive in the community. It can tie in with the person's special interests and hobbies. It helps others who are interested in similar fields.

Such a memorial can be established for as little as the cost of a single book or as much as $5,000 (enough to establish a permanent fund sufficient to buy 50 books a year on any subject).

A memorial bookplate is placed in the front of each book. It can be inscribed any way the donor desires. A card is sent to the family notifying them of the gift of the book to the library in memory of the relative.

If you wish to place a book memorial in your library either write, telephone or visit the library and make your request. This contact may be made at the Leighton Public Library, the Sheffield Public Library—telephone EV 3-6857, or the Florence-Lauderdale Public Library—telephone AT 2-6563.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

High on a Hilltop

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Philippians	1	5-6
Monday	Philippians	2	1-5
Tuesday	1 John	1	5-7
Wednesday	Ephesians	5	25-28
Thursday	Ephesians	5	29-33
Friday	1 Corinthians	7	10-17
Saturday	Romans	12	4-6

It was autumn, and as we looked out at the beauty of the valley Bruce asked me to marry him. Though I loved him, I was afraid to say yes.

I've always been a church-going person. Bruce wasn't. I knew that before I could marry him I would have to show him how much the Church meant to me. I asked him if he would start attending Sunday service with me.

He did; and in the beginning I knew that he was coming only to please me. Then, as time went on, I could see that the Church was beginning to have a new meaning for him. And finally the day came when he turned to me and said, "I had no idea what I had been missing."

That was the turning point. Bruce and I have been married five years, now—and you'll still find both of us in church each Sunday.

16 Million Acres In '59 Allotment For Cotton Crop

Upland Producers To Vote On December 15 On Control Program

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today proclaimed a national marketing quota of 12,167,000 bales (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight) and a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres for the 1959 crop of upland cotton.

The national acreage allotment for 1959 has been set at the level required under Section 342 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and the national marketing quota has been set at the number of bales required to provide an acreage allotment of this size.

The secretary also announced that referendum on upland cotton marketing quotas will be held Dec. 15. At least two-thirds of the upland cotton farmers voting in the referendum must approve marketing quotas if they are to be effective.

A national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for upland cotton must be proclaimed for the following year if the secretary finds that the total supply of upland cotton for the current marketing year exceeds the normal supply.

According to the latest available statistics, the total supply of upland cotton for the 1958-59 marketing year is estimated at 20,369,000 bales (running bales of the equivalent). This is 4,379,000 bales above the "normal supply" of 15,990,000 bales. The "normal supply," as defined in the legislation, is the current marketing year's estimated domestic consumption of 7,800,000 bales and exports of 4,500,000 bales, plus a 30-percent reserve of 3,690,000 bales. (A running bale is a bale as it comes from the gin and usually averages heavier than 500 pounds gross weight.)

The total supply figure of 20,369,000 bales includes an Aug. 1, 1958 carry-over of 8,405,000 bales, a 1958 crop (September estimate) of 11,904,000 bales, and estimated imports of 60,000 bales.

The national marketing quota is defined as the amount of cotton needed from the 1959 crop to make available a "normal supply" of cotton in 1959-60.

The amount of the 1959 quota has been determined under Section 342 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended by the Agricultural Act of 1958, which, in effect, provides that the 1959 quota shall be the larger of:

1. The number of bales of cotton needed, together with the estimated carryover and imports, to make available a normal supply of cotton; or

2. The number of bales of cotton required to provide a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres.

Lauderdale 4-H Club Member Wins Trip To National Congress In Chicago

Ten years of raising crops and livestock have earned Frank Muse of Florence, Rt. 1 a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress. This young Lauderdale County farmer won state honors for his well-rounded agricultural program, according to Hanchey E. Logue, state 4-H Club leader. Frank, 16, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Muse.

Gardening and forestry started Frank off in his 4-H career. He was six at the time and in the third. Frank accepted some pine seedlings that were being offered to 4-H Club members. Since then he and his brother have planted 22,500 seedlings—pine and black locust.

Beautification of his own home started Frank on several more 4-H projects. He began his own nursery to supply needed shrubs. An orchard grew from one grape vine. Now three acres in size, the orchard includes plums, apples, peaches, pears, quinces, and grapes. Frank also produces strawberries.

Beef cattle and poultry are on the list of Frank's projects. He plans to buy two more cows in December and is now in the midst of building a new chicken house.

Much of Frank's egg production has gone for family consumption, as has his garden. He says sale of Irish and sweet potatoes has paid the cost of garden planting—some $207 in the past 10 years. Estimated value of the garden during that period is $8,500.

Dry weather ruined much of Frank's garden the past few years, so this year he added irrigation to his agricultural program. He cleared and fenced a small garden close enough to water to be irrigated.

Tractor maintenance was a necessity in farming. Frank discovered this year. He and his father traded for a newer model tractor. Overhauling it was the first order of business, and Frank, armed with the 4-H books on tractor care from his assistant county agent, undertook the job. His records after the overhaul show the tractor uses half the gasoline and oil it required before.

Working with farm machinery has made Frank safety conscious. He has maintained a safety 4-H project for the last three years.

Frank recently won a $300 International Minerals and Chemical Corporation scholarship in competition with students over the U. S. He is a past president of his 4-H Club and of the county council.

International Harvester sponsors national awards in the boys' 4-H agricultural program.
