The Passing Parade
1884 - 1959

By HAROLD S. MAY

Some effective system of enforcing all rules and regulations governing boating and skiing on Lake Wilson and other nearby waters must be put into operation immediately or else a death will mar the pleasures that are at our very door. Youngsters, hardly out of the diaper age, are being allowed to handle boats on the lakes—often unattended—while the hot rods of the boat brigade are out doing fancy Dan stunts that are jeopardizing life and limb. We know how hard it is for a parent to deny a youngster the thrill of handling a high-powered boat, but it is also hard to deny a youngster the use of a high-powered rifle—both potential killers. We have contended that there is the need for a corps of traffic cops on the lakes, especially on Saturdays and Sundays (maybe Wednesday afternoon, too) to control the wild demonstrations of the speed demons and the reckless sweeps of the "Cypress Gardens" skiers. Boating and all water sports are most enjoyable for all of us but there is a pressing need to make these pleasures what they are intended to be. Let's get things under control before it is too late.

If living costs go any higher all we can do is to stay at home and watch the rest of the world go by.

The agreement reached by the aluminum producers and the aluminum unions to delay further negotiations on a new contract until 30 days after the settlement of the steel strike is certainly a most commendable and far-sighted means of amicably settling their differences. The news was most welcome to all residents of the Muscle Shoals area and complimentary remarks on this wise decision have been showered upon all parties concerned.

The story is told of the oldtimer down at Kilby prison who was assigned a new cell mate. After the usual greetings had been dispensed with, the old inmate asked: "How long you in for?" The newcomer to the fraternity replied: "Twenty-five years." "Then you take the bed nearest the door," the old boy said. "You will be out first."

When a man and woman marry, they become one, so it is written. Of course, they must decide which one—and that is often where the fight begins.

One of the State Highway patrolmen charged with giving driving tests tells us that not so long ago he was examining a woman motorist for her driver's license. At one point in the road test, he asked: "And what is the white line in the center of the road for?" Her reply: "Bicycles."

A very delightful elderly lady was trying on a new fall hat in one of our local stores early this week. Several of the new styles were placed on her head by the very able saleslady. One very attractive hat seemed to do just wonderful things for her appearance and the saleslady gushed: "Oh, that one makes you look 10 years younger." The prospective purchaser gazed at her reflection first from one side and then the other, then took the hat off, remarking, "Good gracious, no—just think, every time I'd take that hat off I'd age 10 years."

Compromise School Tax Plan Passed By Senate

Governor Calls Bill 'Watered Down' Version Of Nichols-Meade Measure

The Alabama Senate Tuesday passed a revamped compromise tax plan for education designed to raise some $20.6 million for education. The bill would leave the present 3 per cent sales tax rate in effect and put a 1.5 per cent sales tax on cars and trucks and a 1 per cent tax on industrial machinery. The vote was 34-0. It goes to the House for a vote on Friday.

Governor Patterson called the compromise bill a "watered down" version of the Nichols-Meade bill. The Ways and Means Committee set a meeting Wednesday to set about the task of raising the difference between the revenue the bill would produce and the rest of the proposed $42 million.

The administration—supported version would have taxed industrial machinery and new and used car sales at 2½ per cent flat tax rate as proposed by Gov. John Patterson argued it would hamper the operations of car dealers and drive industry away from Alabama.

Patterson said Tuesday night that the substitute bill would produce approximately $17.4 million in additional revenue for education with $3,000,000 represented in the normal increase in taxes. He added that while it would reduce the tax on business and industry by some $12 million it would increase the burden on the average citizen by $12 million or more.

He said it fell far short of meeting the immediate pressing needs of our schools and colleges.

He commended the Senate leaders who participated in the people's fight "for better schools." "They made an outstanding fight for education and will long be remembered by the school children of this state," Patterson said.

Southern Plans Air Service Here In Near Future

Flights To Mobile, New Orleans, Points West, Would Be Provided

Air service to Jackson, Miss., New Orleans and cities in Texas and the Far West will be available to persons in this area with the beginning of Southern Airways Service between Nashville and Jackson.

Fred Shine, president of traffic for Southern Airways said Friday that the Nashville to Jackson route was just in the general discussion state. However, it would provide two flights at least in each direction daily for Muscle Shoals residents.

The north-bound route from Jackson to Nashville would include stops at Knoxville, Oak Ridge, the Tri-Cities of Tennessee and others. Going south, the route would include stops at Columbus, Miss., thence either to Jackson or Meridian, to Laurel and beyond Laurel in one direction to Mobile and Pascagoula, with another choice to Hattiesburg, Gulfport and New Orleans.

Shine said when the final order was official, "probably in five or six months." Southern would send some six to 10 men here to service their routes through Muscle Shoals. "Muscle Shoals will be very important to us because it will be a cross-over transfer point on our route as well as a connecting point with Eastern.

Southern recently celebrated its tenth anniversary of airline service to the South, and during this period has carried over a million and a quarter passengers with a perfect safety record.

Southern's headquarters are located at Atlanta Airport, Atlanta, Ga.

Late News

Democrats captured two seats in Congress and Republicans nabbed one in Hawaii's first state election Tuesday. Republican William F. Guinn won a close contest for the 50th state's governorship. Two of the three-member congressional delegation are of Asian ancestry, one a Democrat of Japanese descent and the other a Republican of Chinese parentage.

The House completed action Wednesday on a $3,186,500,000 foreign aid bill already tentatively approved with deep cuts under President Eisenhower's budget figures. The formal vote sends the bill to the Senate, which may restore some of the nearly $1½ billion dollars the House trimmed from Eisenhower's recommendations. Traditionally, the Senate has dealt more generously with foreign aid than the House. But there have been indications that the Senate may pull the purse strings tighter this year than in the past.

The Senate, brimming with potential candidates, has moved to erase a threatened radio and television news blackout of next year's presidential campaign. By voice vote Tuesday, senators passed a bill that would exempt most news shows from the law's requirement that they make equal time available to all candidates for public office.

Italy's ruling Christian Democrat party suffered a sharp setback Tuesday night as the Sicilian Regional Assembly re-elected Communist backed Silvio Milazzo president of the island government.

Nixon took on a series of hecklers Wednesday and demanded to know why Russia sees fit to maintain troops in Poland, Hungary and East Germany. The clashes took place in Siberia. Several thousand silently waiting Russians greeted him in Novosibirsk, a city in the eastern Ural Mountains. Nixon's eagerly awaited tour of the Siberian branch of the USSR Academy of Sciences at Novosibirsk turned out to be a bust. He was only allowed to see one building.

'No Strike' In Aluminum Plants Brings Cheer To Shoals Area

Construction On Florence Motel Expected Shortly

Deed To Property To Be Given Purchaser Sat.; No Change In Plans

"Preliminary work followed by accelerated construction will begin immediately on the new motel planned for the site of the old Burrell-Slater High school on South Court Street, as soon as we receive the deed to the property," E. L. Culver, chairman of the board of National Pool Equipment Co., said today. "It is my opinion," Mr. Culver continued, "there is no better site for a modern motel in the entire state of Alabama than this site and with title to the property we will push construction, according to our announced plans. No other project we may be interested in conflicts with our plans for the Florence motel."

Rufus G. Hibbett, city superintendent of education, stated today that the deed to the property had been completed and had been forwarded to Madding King, chairman of the board for his signature and was expected to be back for presentation to Mr. Culver Saturday, August 1, the date set for completion of the transaction.

Mr. Culver was most enthusiastic regarding the type of motel to be built on this attractive site and stated that it will be something for every citizen of Florence to point to with pride. His announced plans call for 100 units with large banquet halls and the largest swimming pool ever constructed. The only delays, Mr. Culver pointed out, might be caused by the steel strike but he felt that a good start could be made before the steel would be needed.

Youth Injured In Accident On Lake

Johnny Doolittle Suffers Severe Leg Lacerations When Struck By Boat

Johnny Doolittle, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Doolittle, 2244 Randolph Street, Florence suffered a badly mangled right leg late Saturday afternoon when he was hit by a motorboat in Shoals Creek, while water-skiing with friends.

Immediately after the accident young Doolittle, a student at Auburn, received emergency treatment by Dr. J. G. Hufstelder and was then rushed by ambulance to Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital where he was immediately placed in surgery, where it was found that the youth suffered multiple leg lacerations some bone-deep and a chipped bone.

Hospital attendants stated late Wednesday that he was resting comfortably.

VICTORY AT LAST—After four years of legislative battles to permit the Tennessee Valley Authority to issue its own self-financing bonds, Congressman Robert E. Jones and Clifford Davis (D-Tenn.), saw their bill passed by the House of Representatives. Known as the Davis-Jones Bill, the legislation allows the TVA to finance $750 million worth of expansion. Highly controversial, the bill attracted international attention.

Plea Made To President To Sign TVA Measure

Eisenhower Veto Threatened Because Of Insufficient Control Of Budget

Members of the TVA board of directors were scheduled to make a personal plea to President Eisenhower Wednesday to sign the TVA self-financing bill.

The White House confirmed that the three board members—Chairman Herbert D. Vogel, Arnold R. Jones and Brooks Hays—had an appointment to see the President at 9:15 a.m.

Neither the White House nor TVA officials would discuss the purpose of the visit. However, it was learned from a reliable source that the board was to urge the President not to carry out a threat to veto the long-delayed self-financing measure.

The meeting was the first between Eisenhower and the TVA board since the president took office in 1953. Eisenhower appointed all three members of the present board.

The board was expected to give its assurances to Eisenhower that the bill, as passed by congress last Thursday, contains adequate executive and congressional safeguards in the sale of an authorized $750 million in revenue bonds to finance new TVA expansion.

Eisenhower has objected to the bill because it does not give the Budget Bureau control over the expenditure over bond proceeds. Republican congressional leaders, after their weekly legislative conference with the President Tuesday, gave strong indications that Eisenhower is set to veto the measure because the budgetary provision was omitted.

"The President will not knowingly approve any proposal that liquidates the authority and the functions of the executive office," Senate Minority Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) said.

Some Republicans predicted Eisenhower will veto the bill, then urge congress to pass another measure containing the Budget Bureau amendment. Democratic congressional leaders made it clear, however, they will not agree to further compromises on the self-financing legislation if Eisenhower vetoes the bill.

New Cases Polio In Lauderdale

Seven cases of polio reported during the week ending July 24 brought this year's total to 53. The State Health Department said that seven cases had occurred during the same period last year.

Of the 1959 cases, 51 are paralytic polio and two are non-paralytic polio. Nine victims had Salk vaccine. Eight of these had no injection. The case who had three injections of vaccine has facial paralysis. This condition, however, is clearing rapidly.

In Lauderdale, two were reported this week, one an 18-month-old girl on Monday and one an 8-month-old girl on Tuesday.

Contract Time Is Extended By Big Companies

An aluminum strike that was considered virtually certain has been averted for the time being. The Steelworkers Union and Reynolds, along with two other Big Three companies, Aluminum Co. of America and Kaiser, agreed late Tuesday to extend current contracts 30 days beyond the steel settlement date, or until next Nov. 1, whichever is earlier.

The economy of the Shoals area was assured of continuing at a high level by virtue of the decision.

The agreement would be retroactive to August 1. It covers about 30,000 of the Big Three's 58,000 workers. The Aluminum Workers International Union, which covers a number of the remaining workers, reached a similar agreement with ALCOA Tuesday.

About 3,000 workers would have been idled at the Listerhill plant. A prolonged strike would have cut deeply into the economy of the Shoals district with the absence of the hefty Reynolds payroll. Aluminum wages ranges between $2.78 and $2.81 an hour. The union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual increase—the same as that sought by the Steelworkers Union. Steelworkers average $3.10 an hour.

The steel strike is now 15-days-old with no sign of settlement in sight.

Following the steel walkout, most observers figured that an aluminum strike was more or less cut and dried. Preparations had been underway here, and elsewhere in the industry, to close down for some time.

Extension of the present contract brought words of optimism from local business and civic leaders Wednesday along with assurance of a good economy in the Shoals region for the time being.

Safety On The Water

Almost as dangerous and obnoxious as the "road hog" on the highway is the "water hog" who drives his pleasure boat at a high rate of speed through other boats and bathers...

There are few things more exhilarating than skimming over the water in a speedy craft and doubtless some get so carried away with the thrill of it they fail to realize that they may actually be endangering the lives and property of others...

There is no more reason to show off on the water than on the highway since it is dangerous in either case and cognizance of Coast Guard regulations should be taken at all times.

Following is a bulletin issued from the St. Louis public information office of the Second Coast Guard District:

Reckless or negligent operation of a motorboat is punishable by fines at high as $2,000.00 or imprisonment for as long as one year, or by both fine and imprisonment, Captain F. P. Vetricck, Commander, 2nd Coast Guard District pointed out.

Reckless or negligent operation of vessels is not limited to operation at excessive speeds, but may include: overloading of boats, operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, drugs, etc., certain water-skiing practices, buzzing other boats and bathers, riding the gunwales, proceeding into waters considered dangerous after a warning by the Coast Guard...

Reckless or negligent motorboat operation is a misdemeanor punishable in a federal court. Whenever it is determined that the evidence is sufficient to support a charge, the Coast Guard presents the information to the Department of Justice for appropriate action.

Any private citizen who witnesses a violation may also make a direct complaint to the nearest United States Commissioner or United States Attorney. It is extremely important however, that the complaint be substantiated by sufficient evidence and witnesses. The person making the complaint must make a sworn statement giving the name and/or number of the boat, the time and place of the incident, the circumstances involved, and a list of witnesses...

Great White Fleet

In 1907 President Theodore Roosevelt sent 16 American battleships on a cruise around the world. The "Great White Fleet" (American warships were then painted white in peacetime) carried its intended message: that the United States was emerging from an era of preoccupation with recovering from its own great civil conflict and with developing a continent under a network of railroads...

Today an idea initiated by a young Navy commander, Frank Manson, and now sponsored by Senators Humphrey and Aiken and Representatives Bates and Edmondson—a bipartisan group—is being framed into a resolution asking President Eisenhower to recommission from ships now in mothballs a modern "Great White Fleet."

There are, of course, practical problems to be solved. Except for emergency rescues, care of the injured, food and shelter, the needs arising from disasters vary greatly. And the fleet could be a long way off from the place it would be needed. But these difficulties are not wholly insuperable.

As a dramatic, impressive, traveling advertisement of Americans' dominant desire to be helpful, not warlike, the idea has enormous possibilities. It certainly should be seriously explored and considered.—(Christian Science Monitor)

Water Safety Is Being Sponsored By Red Cross

This week is being celebrated as "Learn Water Safety Week" in the Muscle Shoals area. The week will be climaxed, Saturday, August 1, by a water safety demonstration.

This week was designated by the mayors of Muscle Shoals, Tusculumbia, Sheffield and Florence in a proclamation issued last week.

"Learn Water Safety Week" is being sponsored by the Water Safety Committee of the Lauderdale and Colbert County chapters of the American Red Cross.

The need for such a week arose because of the increased popularity of water sports in this area. With the increased activity in water sports and the increased use of the lakes and rivers in this area it has become apparent that more and more sound water safety practices should be taught to all of the citizens and visitors in the area, according to the proclamation.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By BOB JONES

Eighth District REPRESENTATIVE

For us in the Tennessee Valley, who are the immediate beneficiaries of the TVA, a census of its many favorable aspects is not needed.

However, in recent months I discovered still one more remarkable facility the installation has. The TVA is a unifying power in our many communities in the Tennessee Valley and has proved itself to be a rallying point for our citizens, especially when the TVA is attacked, as it is constantly of course, but with peaks and valleys in the outcrys by its enemies.

For four years, Congressman Davis, D. Memphis, and I have waged a battle in the Congress to pass legislation permitting the TVA to issue its own self-financing bonds to provide for expansion of its facilities. In the past six months, not only the Davis-Jones Bill, but the TVA itself and the whole concept of public power has been under slashing attacks by much of the press, extravagant advertising by the utilities in national magazines, by platform speakers and in Congress itself.

It would be impossible for me to pay individual thanks to the multitude of persons, organizations and groups who have helped enormously by their written and telephone encouragement to carry on a very arduous task. I am taking this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to our local newspaper Citizens for TVA, civic leaders, local Chambers of Commerce, industries, clubs, schools, church groups, labor organizations, veterans' groups, TVEPA, and hundreds of our people who gave me such splendid support.

The U. S. Senate passed the Davis-Jones Bill and the House placed its second endorsement on this bill yesterday. Repeatedly I was made to feel that I was not alone in pressing for this very much needed legislation, but had the privilege of leading an army of my fellow citizens in what has proved to be, so far, a victorious struggle.

I am grateful for the aid I received from so many. If it should be necessary to repeat what Mr. Davis and I did, I am very willing to do it all over again. My determination to keep TVA healthy and efficient is strengthened by the knowledge that I have had and may get again; widespread community support.

Sheffield Ford Plant Payroll Up

Increase Is Over Twice That For Same Period Of Last Year

Ford Motor Company's Tri-Cities payroll for the first half of 1959 was two-and-a-half times greater than in the first six months of last year, it is announced by Harry G. McMurry, manager of the company's Sheffield Aluminum Castings Plant.

Earning for the first six months of this year were $2,172,867, compared to $825,098 paid to employees of the Sheffield plant during the first half of 1958, Mr. McMurry said.

During the same period the Sheffield Ford hourly employees received higher average gross earnings than the company's record-high average rate for the entire nation.

The average gross hourly earnings for the first half of 1959 was $2.95 at the Sheffield plant, compared to $2.84—an all-time high in Ford's 56-year history—for the company's hourly employees throughout the United States.

The Sheffield plant, Ford Motor Company's southernmost manufacturing operation, produces aluminum pistons, transmission castings, and other component parts for Ford, Mercury, Edsel, Lincoln and Continental cars.

Goodwill Peace Movement Being Pushed In Area

Jesse Gillispie, editor, and B. K. Pinkston, advertising manager of the Mid-South Informer, a Negro publication of Memphis, have been in the area for the past two weeks in the interest of the Goodwill Peace movement sponsored by their publication.

The purpose of their visit to the Muscle Shoals district, following a successful campaign in Mississippi, is to secure the cooperation of the people of Alabama in the publication of a pictorial magazine that is to show the advancement of the colored people of the South, especially in education, as pictures of the hundreds of new school buildings, equal to those of their white neighbors, that have been built in recent years are shown.

Such a publication has been distributed through the efforts of Mississippi citizens in an attempt to counteract the publicity of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. More than 90,000 of these magazines have been sent to leaders in the East, North and West as well as in Mississippi.

Their campaign for funds has been approved by local and district official governing bodies.

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Underwood were guests in the Gene Howard home Sunday.

Legislature Will Have Joint Session

Oklahoma Governor To Address Group Friday To Honor 16-State Board

Members of the Alabama House of Representatives and Senate will meet in joint session Friday, July 31, to hear an address by Oklahoma's youthful Governor J. Howard Edmondson.

The 33-year old Oklahoma chief executive was invited by the Alabama legislature to speak in honor of the tenth anniversary of the Southern Regional Education Board. He will review the history and accomplishments of the Board since it was created a decade ago to work with Alabama and the other states of the region in improving the quality of their college and university programs through interstate cooperation.

Governor Edmondson, who became a member of the SREB when he took office this year, will also show a film about the history and activities of the Board over the past year. Narrated by U. S. Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, the film tells the story of a Florida student in veterinary medicine who receives his education through the SREB's student contract program.

Alabama and Governor Edmondson's own state of Oklahoma were among the original 14 states who signed the Southern Regional Education Compact which created the agency in 1949.

SREB is supported through legislative funds appropriated by the 16 member states. The Board consists of the governors of the 16 Southern states and four persons appointed by each governor. The majority of the Board members are governors, legislators and educators. The Board's staff is located in Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Robert C. Anderson is SREB director.

At Florence State College, where the bride-elect was graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree, she was a member of the American Chemical Society, a Lionette, a member of the band and secretary of the Canterbury Club. She is now chief technician in the laboratory at DuPont Explosive Plant in Birmingham.

After serving a period of two years with the Armed Forces, the bridegroom-elect is continuing his courses at Florence State College where he will receive his BS degree next June.

Trinity Episcopal Church of Florence will be the scene of the September fifth nuptial event.

Nancy Douglass Is Bride Donald Ezell Trowbridge

A twilight ceremony in Florence's First Methodist Church marked the exchange of vows between Nancy Ann Douglass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alvin Douglass, Jr., of 306 West Alabama Street, and Donald Ezell Trowbridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Steven Trowbridge, on Friday, July twenty-fourth.

Illuminated by tiers of wedding tapers, the choir and chancel rails of the altar were entwined with Southern smilax as a background for great central and side arrangements of white gladioli and specimen chrysanthemums.

Dr. Lambuth R. Archibald read the half past six o'clock vows following nuptial selections presented by Mrs. Benjamin Ingram, organist, and William Horton, vocalist.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white silk bombazine and hand-clipped Rosepoint lace was distinguished by a molded bodice with Sabrina neckline re-embroidered with seed pearls and long sleeves that tapered to points over the hands. The voluminous floor-length skirt, worn over period hoops, was fashioned of lace tiers beneath a short overskirt of silk with handmade roses of self-material decorating the hemline. The back fullness swept into a chapel train. A gold medallion set with pearls, gift of the bridegroom and an heirloom in his family, was her only ornament. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and fleurs d'amar centered with a single white orchid.

Miss Carolyn Daniel was the bride's honor attendant. Her sleeveless dress was a sheath of pale green peau de soie with matching cummerbund and organza peplum. Bridesmaids included Miss Douglass, Miss Lucretia Landrum, Miss Wynell Atchley, Miss Fay Parrish, Miss Carolyn Allen and Miss Pat Thompson whose frocks of pale pink were identical in design to Miss Daniel's. Their headdresses were pearl-encrusted crowns of rose petals worn with tiny veils, and their bouquets of asters were in shades of pink.

Joseph Massenburg was best man for Mr. Trowbridge and ushers included Thomas Trowbridge, brother of the bridegroom, Samuel Broadfoot, cousin of the bride, Robert Terry, Edward Cutshall, Winfrey Sanderson and Harold Dorris.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were reception hosts at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodloe Pride in Cliff Haven. All-white bouquets of asters, stock and gladioli enhanced the reception rooms and the bride's table, covered with an imported cloth of white cutwork, was appointed in silver and centered with an arrangement of white daisies flanked by candelabra of white tapers. A nosegay of white blossoms encircled in trills of white net decorated the tired wedding cake.

Assisting were Mrs. Goodloe Pride, Mrs. Thomas Reeder, Mrs. Robert H. Broadfoot, Mrs. Walter Ross, Mrs. Frank Crow, Mrs. Thomas Bennett, Mrs. Donald White, Mrs. J. E. McDonald, Mrs. A. W. Hammonds, Mrs. Sam McGee and Miss Jane Harris.

Before leaving for a honeymoon on the coast of Florida, the bride changed to a sheath of champagne-colored linen with matching packet and a small hat fashioned of flowers. The orchid from her bouquet was her corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge will be at home at 305 North Cedar Street, Florence.

Following the rehearsal of plans on Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. James D. White entertained members of the wedding party, family members and close family friends at Florence Country Club.

White flowers arranged with greenery decorated the club rooms and fashioned the centerpiece on the silver-appointed refreshment table.

Assisting the hosts were Mrs. John Thomas Reeder, Mrs. William Horton and Miss Carolyn Allen.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waltz-length gown of white lace over tulle styled along princess lines and distinguished by a portrait neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A lace bandeau re-embroidered with seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil of French illusion and her bouquet of cymbaridium orchids was tied with a ribbon of heirloom lace.

Miss Margaret Frost of Florence and New York was her sister's only attendant. Her dress of Nile green silk organza over tulle featured a pleated bodice, rounded neckline, brief sleeves and a wide, satin cummerbund which complemented the flaring, tea-length skirt. A wisp of a veil attached to a flat satin bow was her headdress and her flowers were a cascade of yellow roses.

The Marchese Alessandro Cordeiro di Montezemolo of New York City and Rome, Italy, was best man for the bridegroom.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were reception hosts at Portofino's in The Village.

Later, when Mr. and Mrs. Cavallari emplaned for a honeymoon visit with his parents and a month of travel along the Riviera, she was dressed in a sheath of dark grey silk moire. The matching Jacket was detailed with a wide, white linen collar and she wore black accessories.

Upon their return, they will be at home at 141 East 55th Street, New York City.

Let's Talk It Over
By SARA GAZE

Dear Sara,
Our marriage of seven months ago was my first, my wife's second. I had known and admired her as the wife of my friend for years before he passed away and, soon afterward, I realized that my interest in her was deeper than I'd ever dreamed. But she was a widow several months before I thought of marriage for us, and several more months before I mentioned it to her. And that, Sara, is the gospel truth.

We waited the year out before we were married and we are enjoying wonderful companionship in spite of what I term "our shamming she-male population." Every time my wife leaves the house one of the town's busy-bodies slams her down with an un-called-for slur, such as this most recent: "How long were you and ... in love before you were free to marry him?"

Well, I'll leave out a lot of detail and just say that many absolutely untrue tales have been spread, and that they're making a wreck out of a here-to-fore well woman.

My wife is beginning to avoid being with people whenever possible and we're in desperate need of advice.

Please help us. Worn and Weary. Dear Worn and Weary, And whatever have you been doing while the hens peek and cackle? Twiddling your thumbs?

You probably know that, when your wife avoids these busybodies, she's playing into their hands. They're sure to assume that their accusations hurt because they're TRUE—son get her out, no matter what.

And then bestir yourself. Deny these accusations to the persons who've made them, and let it be known that you resent any and all interference.

Your wife needs you, and the whole community will admire you the more when you've rallied to her defense.

A newly developed vaccine, soon to go into production, is formulated to protect against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. The four-in-one shot presumably will some day largely replace the standard, three-shot vaccine now in use.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

Our children love Sundays. First, of course, there is church. Afterwards, in good weather, we often have a "backyard picnic."

For me, this outing comes after a morning when I have completed one of the most important tasks of my week — preaching a sermon to my congregation. Yes, I'm a minister. If that surprises you, it shouldn't.

We ministers are people too — just as close as anyone else to pleasure, temptation, anxiety, and all the other things that go to make up life. But God has entrusted us with the task of conveying His message to you. It is a tremendous task. Yet always I feel blessed that it is mine.

When you see me standing alone in my pulpit on Sundays, do not feel that I am a figure apart from you. Rather, I want to share not only your hours of church attendance but also your moments both of triumph and of trial. I stand ever ready to serve you, to lend you my assistance, my understanding and, should you seek it, my counsel. It is only in this way that I can hope to be worthy of my vocation. Remember, won't you — and call upon me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Insect Control
All of our common insect pests usually cause trouble during August. This is the most important time to fight cotton insects. Cattle grubs need to be controlled. Many other important pests are sure to occur, and for this reason, insect control should make up a large part of your work this month.

Good Pastures Is A Vital Necessity

Small dairy farmers can profitably adopt a recommended pasture fertilization program, according to F. K. Agee, County Agent, Limestone County.

Located in the heart of the Tennessee Valley area of north Alabama, Mr. Agee is helping farmers to help themselves. He believes dairying has a good future for his area, but the main limiting factor is an adequate forage program and this can be developed through a soil testing program and planting recommended crops on time.

Mr. Agee cites as an example the farm of Leo Magnusson which experienced a 158 per cent increase in milk production by eight cows during October-December of 1958 as compared to the same period of 1957. He was able to attain this increase by following a soil test in the establishment of fall and winter pasture. A five-acre pasture was seeded to rye grass and crimson clover on July 20, 1958. He used two tons of lime, 400 pounds of 4-12-12, and 33 pounds of nitrogen per acre. The production of milk for the three-month period increased from 3,109 pounds in 1957 to 8,011 pounds in 1958.

Mr. Magnusson's milk check for this three-month period was increased by $164. In addition he had more grazing from the five acres during the spring.

"This farm is only one example that proves soil testing is a paying proposition when coupled with other good management practices," said Mr. Agee.

Spider Mites Are Infesting Cotton

Pests Found On The Underside Of Leaves; Affects The Foliage

There are some fields of cotton in this area which are infested with spider mites. This pest can do much damage to cotton if not controlled especially since cotton is being attacked this early.

Spider mites are found on the underside of cotton leaves and are very small. Close examination will need to be made in order to observe this pest before it becomes widespread. The damage done by spider mites causes the leaves to turn red and in severe cases the leaves shed, then resulting in complete loss of the cotton plant.

The damage done by these mites is sometimes confused with rust which is caused by a potash deficiency. If in doubt remove a leaf and turn it up side down in the hot sun and observe closely you will see the spider mites beginning to move.

There are control measures which can be employed, but the materials recommended to control spider mites cannot be expected to control boll weevil and boll worms. Some boll weevil and boll worm insecticides can be mixed with the materials to be used to control spider mites.

For the control of red spider 2% Trithion or 4% Ethion dust may be used at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre. Trithion or Ethion or Demeton or Delnav sprays may also be used. Trithion spray should be applied at the rate of from 3/4 to 1 pound technical material per acre. Demeton should be applied at the rate of 2/10 to 3/10 lb. technical per acre, and Delnav at the rate of 1/2 to 1 pound technical per acre.

These materials are absorbed by the plant and one application is usually sufficient to control this pest.

Poison Ivy Found In All Areas of U.S.

A three-leaved weed called toxicodendron by botanists, poison ivy by those Americans not allergic to it, and a variety of unprintable names by those who are, probably causes more vacation-time misery than most other allergic ills combined.

Poison ivy is found in every section of the United States. It grows in the form of clinging vines, trailing shrubs and upright shrubs, and can usually be found just where you've set down the picnic basket; in the woods to the left of the fairway if you hook, or to the right if you slice; and on the bank of the stream where you've just caught a three pound trout.

The leaves of toxicodendron vary in length from one to four inches. They are green and glossy in summertime, red or russet in spring and fall. The fruit is white and waxy looking and resembles mistletoe.

Although ivy poisoning has long been a basis for humor, it is not really a laughing matter. Approximately 50 per cent of white adult males are allergic to one or more of the members of the poison ivy family... ivy, poison oak, or poison sumac. Each year more than 350,000 cases of skin poisoning are reported, ranging from mild itching to severe inflammation and large blisters.

Although most cases of ivy poisoning are due to direct contact with the plant, some are caused by handling clothing, garden implements, and even pets which have touched poison ivy. Some individuals are so sensitive to its allergy-causing oils that exposure to a brush fire containing stalks or leaves of the plant will cause

Keep Hogs Cool For Good Gains

Have you ever realized the predicament of hogs in hot weather? Just imagine being as fat as a hog with a normal body temperature of about 102½ degrees. And in addition, nature keeps hogs from perspiring. No wonder they're unhappy if they are not protected from the sun; and API Extension Livestockman G. B. Phillips says that unhappy hogs won't make you a profit.

According to Phillips, a 200-pound porker does his fastest and cheapest gaining when the temperature is around 60 degrees. When the thermometer rises to 90, the average pig will need about three times the amount of feed to put on the same gains. Other tests show, reports the specialist, that unprotected hogs ready for market may lose up to two pounds a day when the sun is beating down at 90 degrees.

Although science has not yet found a practical air conditioning system for pigs, Phillips says that clean water is one of the best cooling agents. Good shade is another air conditioning system, and water and shade together make it almost ideal.

"If natural shade is not available, anybody can build a straw shelter for their animals," comments the livestockman. Research has proved that a frame four feet high, stretched with chicken wire from edge to edge and stacked one foot deep with straw on the wire, will provide better shade than any other tested material. And this test included aluminum, galvanized iron roofing, and plywood.

Phillips also recommends fountains, clean sandy streams, and portable wallows. The main thing, he says, is to get the hogs out of that heat.

Between 1607, when America's first permanent settlement was established at Jamestown, and 1775, when the American Revolution started, there were more than 650 laws passed by the Colonies and their political subdivisions providing for military conscription in one form or another.

On Friday July 24th at eight p.m. Miss Shirley Ruth Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shelton of Prospect, Tenn., became the bride of Donald Reed Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith of Anderson. The double ring ceremony was performed by Mr. Arthur E. Bayles, J.P. in the beautifully decorated spacious living room of the Bayles home. The couple looked lovely in their very appropriate wedding attire. They left immediately after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip to parts unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cook, Mrs. Nellie Faye Fields, Mrs. Wynette Butler, Mrs. Myrtle McGraw, Mrs. Montana Cockrell and Milton Burks all of Anderson attended the funeral of Mrs. David Cockrell Thursday afternoon. One hundred fifty three attended Sunday School at the Baptist Church Sunday which was quite a drop in attendance from one hundred eighty four on the previous Sunday. There was an error in last week's paper of the Sunday School attendance, which should have been one hundred eighty four instead of one hundred four. Rev. T. A. Duke filled his pulpit at both services Sunday. Among those visiting in Church were Jack Goodman of Auburn, Mansel Eastep of Pulaski, and Mrs. Opal Bullard of Cleveland, Ohio. The

Whitehead Church Dedication
On July 19, the Rev. L. E. Kelley of Highland Baptist Church, Florence brought the dedication message for the Whitehead Baptist Church. Rev. J. O. Underwood is the pastor.

Of historical interest: The first services toward organizing a church, which included Sunday School and preaching, were held January 2, 1856. The first service held in the present building, August 18, 1857. On April 17, 1858, with Elton Gray as its pastor, the mission was organized into a church with a charter membership of less than fifty. When the Grays resigned to enter the Seminary the Rev. Underwood was called as pastor. In the past year under his leadership the church has grown to a membership of 86.

The present building, which includes educational wings and rest rooms, is brick veneered.

In the Dedication Service the depositing of the mementos was done by Roy Herston, Clerk-Treasurer. Deacons placing the stone were Everett Tate, Roy Herston, and Preston White, music director.

Miss Barbara Springer is church pianist, Allen Favors, chairman of Board of Deacons and Sunday School Superintendent, Everett Tate, Training Union Director and Mrs. Underwood, WMU President.

revival services will begin at the Baptist Church Sunday with Rev. Hicks of Magee, Miss., doing the preaching and J. B. Webb of Central Baptist Church of Florence directing the music. The morning services will begin at 10:30 and the evening services at 7:30. The public is cordially invited to attend all these services. One hundred attended training union Sunday night. A goal of two hundred has been set for Sunday School next Sunday. If you do not attend church elsewhere won't you help us reach that goal with your presence in Sunday School next Sunday.

Last week the following from Anderson Baptist Church assisted in the Vacation Bible School in the Springfield Mission: Rev. T. A. Duke, Miss Cleo Given, Miss Doris McGraw, Miss Pam Goodman, Miss Sue White, and Miss Jane Raney.

The revival which was held at the Anderson Methodist Church came to a successful close Friday night. The services were most ably conducted each evening by the Rev. George Eady, pastor of the Rogersville Methodist Church. The church and its pastor, Rev. W. L. McDonald would like to take this means of expressing their appreciation to the churches of this and adjoining communities for the wonderful spirit of cooperation shown by the good attendance at each service. We would especially like to thank the choir of the Rogersville Methodist Church for the beautiful singing on Wednesday evening. There were two additions to the church on Wednesday evening, namely, Harold Sinyard and Leo Williams which the church was most happy to receive.

Regular fourth Sunday morning services were held by the pastor, Rev. W. L. McDonald. He chose for his sermon topic, "Heroes and Cowards." There were two more additions to the church at the morning service, that of Mr. and Mrs. James Bassham. The church was most happy to receive them also. The regular fourth Sunday night singing was well attended by singers and listeners.

Russell Gerhart Added To Athens Music Faculty

Educational opportunities in the field of music will be broadened considerably at Athens College with the beginning of the Fall quarter, according to an announcement made today by President Virgil Mc Cain.

Russell Gerhart, a widely-known conductor of symphony music, has been added to the Athens College music staff and an instructor in stringed instruments.

Mr. Gerhart is the new conductor and musical director of the Huntsville Civic Orchestra. He is the group's first resident conductor.

The American-born and American-trained Gerhart founded and conducted the Altoona (Pa.) Civic Symphony for 22 years, resigning to conduct the St. Louis Philharmonic for six seasons. As a result of his keen concern with the string problem, he founded the St. Louis String Ensemble, a group of 35 highly specialized string players, Dr. McCain said.

The late John Erskine, noted music critic and educator who praised the conductor-teacher on several occasions, said in his book "My Life Is Music," that "Gerhart is one of the several musicians in our country who has had astonishing imagination about society and about the audience and the place of the artist in our world."
