

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

• The chop-up of Jefferson county is a great mistake and we are certain it will come back to haunt those who fashioned the operation. The process, to us, makes little sense and serves only to muddle the water and bring criticism upon our state. And the way we see it, we have had just about all of that we can take. When we are asked: "Who's to blame for the Legislature's action?" Our reply: "Jefferson County's delegation." Had the delegation from our richest and most populous county given the support to the Hattom re-apportionment bill that it should have it is most likely that this vitally important measure would now be the law of our state and the chop-up would never have been proposed. For some unaccountable reason, there has been no enthusiasm for re-apportionment in Birmingham and Jefferson County. The pledge made early in this session of full support never developed. Now, Jefferson's delegation has the opportunity to review its mistakes and, at the same time, see where their staunchest support comes from — the counties of North Alabama which are badly in need of re-apportionment.

• Some persons think the two party system means one on Friday night and another on Saturday night.

• We applaud the turn to strict economy as shown by the House of Representatives recently when the appropriations committee considered the allowance for Chief Justice Warren's chauffeur for 1962. The figure of $6,702 as proposed was declared too high and after much discussion it was trimmed to a more economical figure of $6,700. The committee certainly had the interest of the taxpayers at heart when they made this drastic reduction.

• Who knows? Maybe a fish goes home and lies about the size of the bait he stole.

• The other day, in the town of Dagenham, England, a normally meek housewife with the familiar name of Smith broke up a strike against the American-owned Ford Motor Company plant. For one long week, Mrs. Evelyn Smith listened to the yak-yak of the strike leaders, meanwhile watching the work stoppage cut into the family savings. At week's end, she'd had it. So she mounted the platform at a mass rally, grabbed the mike and spoke for 10 seconds. "I'm an ordinary wife of a Ford worker," she said, "and I think I'm entitled to speak — WHY DON'T YOU ALL GO BACK TO WORK?" There were scattered boos and catcalls. But Mrs. Smith had scored. In a subsequent vote, the strikers elected to defy their leaders and returned to work. The power of the female!

• Looks like some wives have to take some things for granted.

• We have just learned that a few weeks ago an attractive applicant for a teaching position in the county schools called on Superintendent Allen Thornton to learn the possibility of securing a place in the system. She had all the educational requirements — plus a most attractive appearance. As the superintendent contemplated hiring her, he asked how long she intended to teach. Without hesitation, she answered: "From here to maternity." We understand she got the job.

• It's not what young girls know that bothers parents — it's how they found out.

• Some good news does come out of Washington. For an example a report has just been released by the District of Columbia schools that during the last school year only 236 girls were excused from the system for being pregnant. This was an improvement of three over the previous year when there were 239. These figures also include girls under 16. It was also reported that during the past three years a total of only 60,213 windows have been smashed in Washington schools. Wonder what Old George would say about the city that bears his name.

• Suggestion: If your wife wants to learn to drive, don't stand in her way.

• Rodney Perdue intersted the following classified ad in the Los Angeles Times recently: "Because today marks 15 years that she has been my bride and because she has given me four wonderful children and has been most helpful to keep my home a sanctuary in this confused and troubled world, I am happy to declare that I am responsible for all debts incurred by my wife, Elizabeth, Perdue."

REVERSAL—Lucky, a Lilliputian pup, suffered a setback as he hid from a big bully of a dog in New York. As he peeked around from a fire hydrant to see where his foe was, a tiny trickle of water splashed over his head.

County To Elect Representatives

Farm Programs To Be Decided In Near Future

Farmers who are participating in one or more of the national farm programs administered locally by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation farmer-committeemen were reminded today that community elections will soon be taking place.

Such participation is required in order to be eligible to cast a ballot for the men a farmer wants to represent him on the committee. Eligible voters must also (1) have an interest in a farm as owner, tenant, or sharecropper if they are of legal voting age, or (2) be in charge of the supervision and conduct of the farming operations on an entire farm if they are not of legal voting age.

Programs administered by the ASC county and community committees include acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the Sugar Act program, the National Wool program, the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Conservation Reserve program, farm storage facility loans, and others as assigned by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Elections in Lauderdale County will be held by mail again this year.

The elections will choose three community committeemen and two alternates.

The chairman and vice chairman of the elected ASC committee will also serve as delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention to be held soon thereafter, where the ASC county committee will be chosen.

Dates of the elections will be announced later.

Urged To Check On Assessments

Florence City Clerk, James E. Wilson, said Wednesday all Florence property owners who are not sure if they have paid all public improvement assessments should check with him.

At present, payments on assessments are lagging, and that property will be sold by the city to meet bond payments, unless the assessments are paid.

A sale of property on which assessments have not been paid will be held on September 7.

Jones Honored By Majority Leader In Lower House

One Of Four Nominated 'Representative Of Year' For Outstanding Work

Rep. Robert E. Jones (D. Ala.) has been nominated one of the "Representatives of the Year" by Rep. John W. McCormack (D. Mass.), Majority Leader of the House of Representatives, who was asked to name four outstanding representatives by members of the House Press Gallery.

The other three on the Leader's list were Reps. Albert Rains (D. Ala.), Emanuel Celler (D. N. Y.), and Carl Vinson (D. Ga.)

"I think of Bob Jones of Alabama," McCormack said without hesitation. "I know there are differing standards and viewpoints on what makes a good congressman, but these are mine:

"First, he should be a hard worker for his own district and the people who sent him to Congress. I know Bob Jones regularly has a 12-hour day and will go right to the White House to help one of his people. He isn't known as 'Mr. TVA' around here without good reasons.

"Secondly, a good legislator must study the most complex issues, take a stand and fight for his opinion. Jones is never absent from meetings of Public Works and has one of the highest attendance averages in the House itself. He's always well prepared and knows what he's talking about.

"Then a good legislator makes some imprint on every Congress in which he is a member. Bob Jones in this Congress is outstanding for what he has done on highway, water pollution and natural resources bills.

"He has an excellent background in legislation on farm and rural housing, public power, social security and veterans legislation. As chairman of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee, he is responsible for a lot of very fine federal buildings around the country.

Finally, Bob Jones builds a good case for Democratic Party principles.

In an informal poll, Jones was high on the list of congressmen, whom members of the Press Gallery selected as "genial, easy to meet and most co-operative with newspaper people."

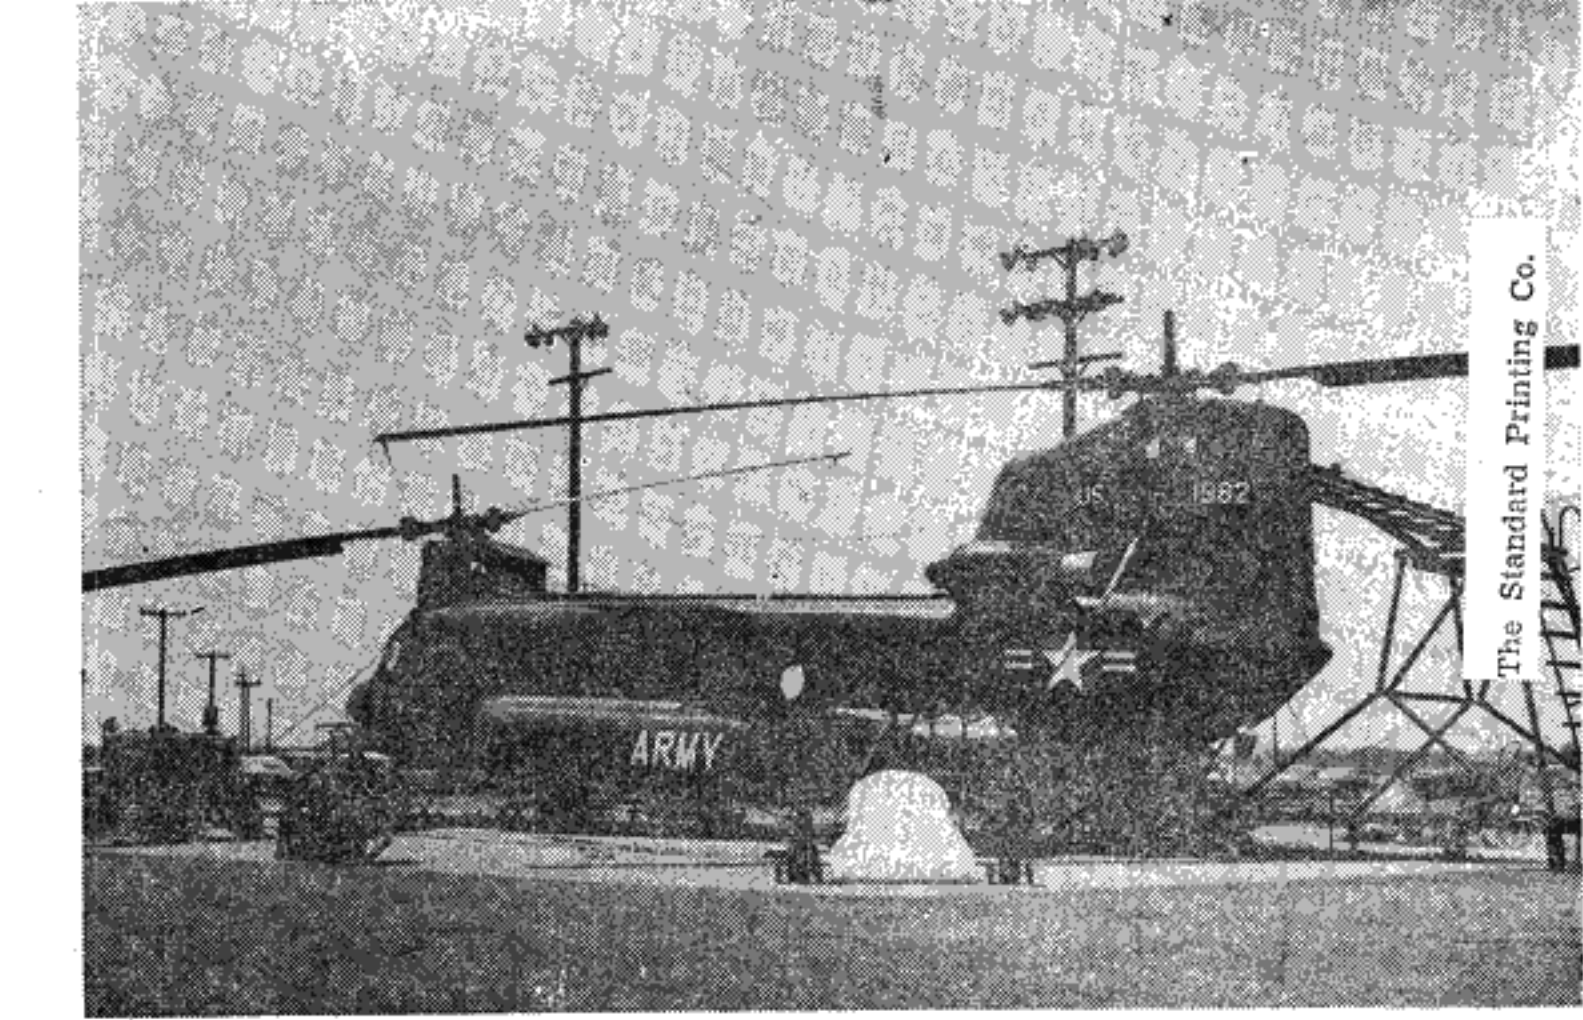

Property On New Courthouse Site To Be Appraised

E. E. Beck, Barksdale Jordan and A. H. Phillips were appointed by the Lauderdale County Probate Court this week to appraise the Kernachan property which is involved in the new courthouse site, and will present their appraisal to the Court by Saturday.

The county launched condemnation proceedings against the property, located at the corner of Court and College Street, in June.

Unless settlements can be reached with property owners, officials have said they will condemn five other parcels of property on the block immediately south of the present courthouse site, however, Pine Street Church of Christ which is located in that block will not be condemned.

If the property owner or county is dissatisfied by the appraisals, either can appeal to Circuit Court for a jury trial, after a hearing in Probate Court.

Florence Family Has Close Call As Boat Capsizes

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martindale and their son, Chuck, 9, all residents of 1226 Rickwood Road, Florence, probably saved their lives Monday night by not panicking, and remaining calm.

The family was fishing about 100 yards below Wilson Dam, near a warning sign and close to the Sheffield side when the boat swerved to one side and began dipping water, going under the surface in less than a minute.

Mrs. Martindale and her son, who had safety belts on, jumped clear and grabbed a life belt which she threw to her husband. They all three then drifted down the river which was too swift for any of them to yell for help.

After forty-five minutes of drifting, the three managed to reach a small cove and crawled onto the bank, after which Bob Slaton, operator of Muscle Shoals Marina, and Carl Bruce, State Conservation officer, came to their rescue.

Mrs. Martindale, who said she was thankful "we didn't panic," cautioned future fishermen and families, "Don't think that you can just throw life preservers into a boat and still have time to put them on—our boat went down in a matter of seconds."

She made it plain that if she and her son had not been wearing life belts, they probably would have been victims of the river.

Mrs. E. G. Smith is in Birmingham for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Jack Perry, and Mr. Perry.

TVA Agronomist Is Speaker

Meeting Held By Farm Test Group At Coliseum

At a meeting of the Lauderdale County Unit Test Farm Demonstration group on Tuesday night at the Florence-Lauderdale Coliseum, H. A. McClure was unanimously elected a director for a 3-4 year period, Emory Behel presiding.

Members of the test unit, their families and guests, enjoyed a hamburger plate and cold drinks preceding the program in which those present were privileged to hear Dr. Ralph Wehnt, TVA agronomist, who recently moved from Knoxville, Tenn., to Florence.

Following the recognition of members and the introduction of guests by Sam Eich, Jr., assistant county agent, L. T. Wagon, Lauderdale county agent presented Dr. Wehnt who chose as his subject, "You."

Eminently qualified both by education and experience Dr. Wehnt chose to speak of the human element and how progress in farming as well as all human endeavor depends on the individual's faith in himself and his ability and desire to create new things and new ideas.

"This is a new era with new ideas and new methods," Dr. Wehnt pointed out and "science is going to dominate our lives more every day." He emphasized that education and leadership are TOWERING PROBLEM—The owner of this 175-foot-high castle tower in Tonbridge, Kent, England, has a problem. He is having a hard time selling the property, and he can't see plowing $10,000 into the place to make it livable.

Thus far Governor John Patterson has not made a decision as to what he will do with the "chop-up-Jefferson" redistricting bill which was rammed through both houses of the Legislature despite measures to stop it.

Jefferson County's Sen. Larry Dumas who led a losing battle against the measure said that there was a chance the governor could veto it however it was pointed out that the Governor could amend the bill in any way he sees fit.

How It would Work
In its present form the bill would join the four sections of Jefferson County to the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Districts. Blount County would be moved from the Seventh to the Fifth District to allow Albert Rains Fifth District to become contiguous to Jefferson; Marengo County would be shifted from the First to the Sixth; Dallas moved from the Fourth to the Sixth and Chamber from the Fifth to the Third District.

If the Governor amends the bill it must then be accepted with his amendment or be repassed. The Legislature cannot alter the Governor's changes. If, however he signs it into law then it will be challenged in the courts, one suit has already been filed.

Opponents of "Chop Jefferson" contend that Jefferson County would lose its power since each of the four sections to be separated would then have considerably less voting strength than the registered vote in districts to which the sections would be added.

Reapportionment Suit
A suit was filed Saturday in U. S. District Court at Montgomery asking that all members of the Alabama Legislature be elected at-large until the Legislature reapportions itself.

Senator E. B. (Bert) Hattom had previously predicted that the issue would go to court. The suit was filed by 14 Birmingham residents, although the suit does not mention the redistricting vote that chopped Jefferson County into four sections. The suit points to unequal taxation and unequal revenue distribution as effects of the imbalance in the Legislature.

Local Vote On Bill
The vote on the "chop-up-Jefferson" bill by local representatives was divided, Lauderdale County Representative Robert C. Broadfoot and Colbert Representative Kenneth Bishop opposing the plan while Lauderdale Representative Charles Long and Franklin's Emmett Oden voted for it.

China And The Bomb

Predictions that Red China will become a nuclear power in the not too distant future were voiced by Alabama's Senator John Sparkman and Ambassador Arthur S. Dean, U. S. representative to the Geneva conference on the discontinuance of nuclear testing.

Senator Sparkman, whose long experience on the Military Affairs Committee qualifies him to speak authoritatively on such subjects, said, "I don't think there is any question but what Red China will in the not too far distant future become the fifth nuclear power."

Commenting on Red China's nuclear potential, Dean said, "We know they are working on it and since we know they are a very able and brilliant people we know that sooner or later they will be able to develop a bomb of their own, perhaps not precisely within the next year but certainly within the near future."

Sparkman points out that China has the brain power, the scientific know how and has been fast developing the industrial capacity to do this thing.

The Chinese for many thousands of years have been brilliant mathematicians. The general theory of how to make a nuclear bomb has been publicized in scientific journals so that it comes down to the question of whether you have the type of reactor that can make a nuclear bomb and also whether you have the tremendous know how to be able to carry it through to completion.

The fact that these two authorities, known for their calm thinking, readily admit that China can and will produce a nuclear bomb in the near future is not only food for thought but intensely alarming. One reason this fact is alarming is that the Chinese are making it to use. Where and when and how remains to be seen but they will use it once they have it. We know it and the Russians know it.

Whether Red China will remain an ally of the Soviet Union also remains to be seen. Once she has the bomb and can speak with that much authority there is no telling how far she may try to go.

Col. E. M. House, Woodrow Wilson's chief advisor, often spoke of the "yellow peril." He maintained one day the Chinese would try to overrun the world, warning that no nation has ever been so warlike nor held the value of human life so lightly.

This prediction of Colonel House is food for serious thought.

Attention Hunters

With hunting season nearly here, hunters should adhere to the Hunter's Code of Ethics as recently adopted by the National Rifle Association of America.

The Code states the following:

1. I will consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, seeking his permission, and so conducting myself that I may be welcome in the future.
2. I will obey the rules of safe gun handling and will courteously but firmly insist that others who hunt with me do the same.
3. I will obey all game laws and regulations, and will insist that my companions do likewise.
4. I will do my best to acquire those marksmanship and hunting skills which assure clean, sportsmanlike kills.
5. I will support conservation efforts which can assure good hunting for future generations of America.
6. I will pass along to younger hunters the attitudes and skills essential to a true outdoor sportsman.

Airplane Hijackers Beware!

We will certainly go along with the bill passed by the Senate providing life sentences for airplane hijackers and even death if the jury recommends it. We sincerely hope this measure is enacted into law because it should prove a definite deterrent to such crimes in the future.

Hijacking an airplane immediately places the lives of many innocent persons in grave danger and we believe, like J. Edgar Hoover, that stiff penalties do much to help stop crime of all kinds. In this case capital punishment fits the crime.

Watch Those TV Commercials

We note with amusement the Federal Trade Commission's recent action against celebrities claiming razor blades, shampoos, cigarettes, etcetera, as their favorite brands. Unless, says FTC, these brands are actually used by them, they must cease and desist such advertising.

It is fine to have the FTC guard the American pocketbook in such an efficient manner but we should like to suggest to the FTC that advertising on television costs a lot of money and the brands of merchandise advertised on this as well as other media are usually the best brands for the public to buy.

If, for instance Mickey Mantle demonstrates a certain razor blade and doesn't make any false claims for it who cares whether it is his favorite or not. We say clamp down on some of the exaggerations made for certain products on TV and make it against the law to mention the product or sing the theme song over a couple of times in each commercial. Who does the commercial is immaterial.

FOREIGN GROUP TO VISIT FLORENCE DOCKS

Personality Sketches

MRS. JOHN E. McDONALD

Affectionately known as "Mrs. Mac" to thousands of students who have passed under her influence at Coffee High School, Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald truly loves life and derives her greatest pleasure by helping the less fortunate and underprivileged youngsters that come to her notice. For the past 25 years, she has made it a practice on each Christmas Eve morning to go downtown and stop the first little colored boy that she meets, who is wearing badly worn shoes, and take him to a store and buy him a new pair of shoes. "This is my Christmas present to myself," she explains.

Children in need are very close to Mrs. McDonald's heart and at present she has "adopted" an entire brood of four little girls. She sees that they are properly fed and clothed, the latter with the assistance of friends, and each Saturday gives a bath to the little girls along with hair cuts every six weeks. "I'll soon qualify for a barber's permit," she said.

Elizabeth Wade Womack McDonald was born in Florence, March 23, 1905, the daughter of John Burgess and Alice Wade Womack. She attended the Model Training School at State Normal College and was graduated from Coffee High School in 1922.

While in high school, Mrs. McDonald was a member of the Stimulator and Coffee Pot staffs for four years and served as business manager of both in her senior year. She also was secretary of her senior class; president of the Wilsonian Literary Society; a member of the debating team, and played the leading role in the senior play. She also was a cheerleader and a member of the girls' basketball team.

Following her graduation from Coffee, Mrs. McDonald attended Florence State College for a year and a half. She was a member of the Dramatic Club; member and served as president of the International Relationship Club, and was president of her class during her last term there. She was also a member of the aesthetic dance group.

On December 26, 1924, Mrs. McDonald was married to John E. McDonald, of Elwood City, Pa. They have one son, John E. (Jack), Jr., a chemist at Reynolds Metals Company. There are two grandsons, Johnny III, 2½ years old; and Andrew DeVaney, 5 months.

In 1926, Mrs. McDonald returned to Florence State to resume her studies. In the spring of 1927, she was graduated and that fall began her teaching career.

She first taught at Stony Point where she remained until 1930. She was then transferred to Cloverdale and taught there one year. In the summer of 1931, Mrs. McDonald again returned to Florence State to work toward her B.S. degree. In the fall of that year, she began teaching at Weeden Heights where she remained until 1934, continuing her studies at the college during the summer sessions. She was graduated in the summer of 1934 with a B. S. degree.

Mrs. McDonald taught at Central High School until 1938, then going to Killen where she taught for one year. In the fall of 1940, Mrs. McDonald resigned from the county school system and accepted the position of history teacher at Coffee Junior High School.

In the summer of 1937, Mrs. McDonald attended the University of Alabama to work toward her Masters degree in history. During this and following summer sessions, while working toward her degree, she served as house mother of Sigma Delta Tau and Zeta Tau Alpha sororities and assisted at the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house. She received her Masters degree in 1942.

In 1946, Mrs. McDonald was transferred to Coffee High School as teacher of history and government and has remained there since. She served as sponsor of the Oratorical Club eleven years and, in 1951, the club won all state oratorical honors which included those offered in the American Legion, the Civitan Club, the Knights of Pythias and Birmingham News contests. She was sponsor of the Stimulator in 1951; the Coffee Pot from 1947 to 1951; and has been sponsor of the Student Council since 1951, the group that annually presents the coronation of "Mr. and Miss Coffee High", a highlight of the school year.

August 30 has been set for registration in Florence City Schools it was announced this week and an increase of some 300 is anticipated according to school authorities.

Commenting on the school situation, City School Superintendent Rufus G. Hibbett said that financing of the public school program is reaching its most critical stage. He recalled the Minimum Program law that was enacted in 1935 for the purpose of guaranteeing a full nine-month term, however it was designed to provide only a limited educational program. Beyond this the local school districts have had the opportunity to provide additional local revenue. Florence, he stated, has through the years provided additional revenue in order to have better schools.

Mr. Hibbett however emphasized the fact that the program could have been improved in some ways had more funds been available. He complimented the teachers and principals of the city school system for an excellent job.

Speaking of the present situation Mr. Hibbett explained that the schools may be forced to reduce their maintenance program and janitorial staff and the Board of Education may have to borrow money to complete the 1961-62 school year. Up to the present the board has not had to borrow funds for this purpose.

Operated Economically

He said Florence citizens have been very liberal in supplying money for schools and that the schools have been operated at a cost of $172 per pupil whereas the average for the state has been $194.41 per pupil. This figure, he pointed out represents true economy and indicates the citizens are getting high value received for their school dollars.

Richards School
Even with the new Henry Grady Richards School on Riverview Drive schools will be filled to capacity; it was stated. This newest addition to the city school system will be ready in September with children who lived in the Appleby area being assigned to this school.

Registration Day
On registration day, August 30, all pupils will proceed through a prepared schedule and then be excused for the day. Elementary pupils will register at 8:15 a.m. on that day except Weeden school which will begin registration at 8:05 a.m.

Appleby Junior High will register by separate grades; each grade will assemble in the auditorium. Ninth grade will meet at 8 a.m., the eighth grade at 10 a.m., and the 7th grade at 1:30 p.m.

Coffee High will also register by separate grades and take two days, August 30 and 31: The 12th grade Aug. 30 at 8:30 a.m., the 11th grade Aug. 30 at 1 p.m., the 10th grade Aug. 31 at 8:30 a.m., the 9th grade Aug. 31 at 1 p.m.

Board members are Clyde W. Anderson, chairman, O. H. Ramsey, vice-chairman, Julian Bailey, Jesse A. Keller, and Charles L. Peery.

Mars Hill School To Open Sept. 1

Mars Hill Bible School, a private state-accredited elementary and high school, will open its 15th session on Friday, September 1. Approximately 450 students have applied for admission for the fall term with the number expected to approach the 500 mark for the twelve grades.

The school is located north of the Florence city limit on a 33-acre campus which was once the site of the post-Civil War school, operated by the late T. B. Larimore, noted evangelist among churches of Christ.

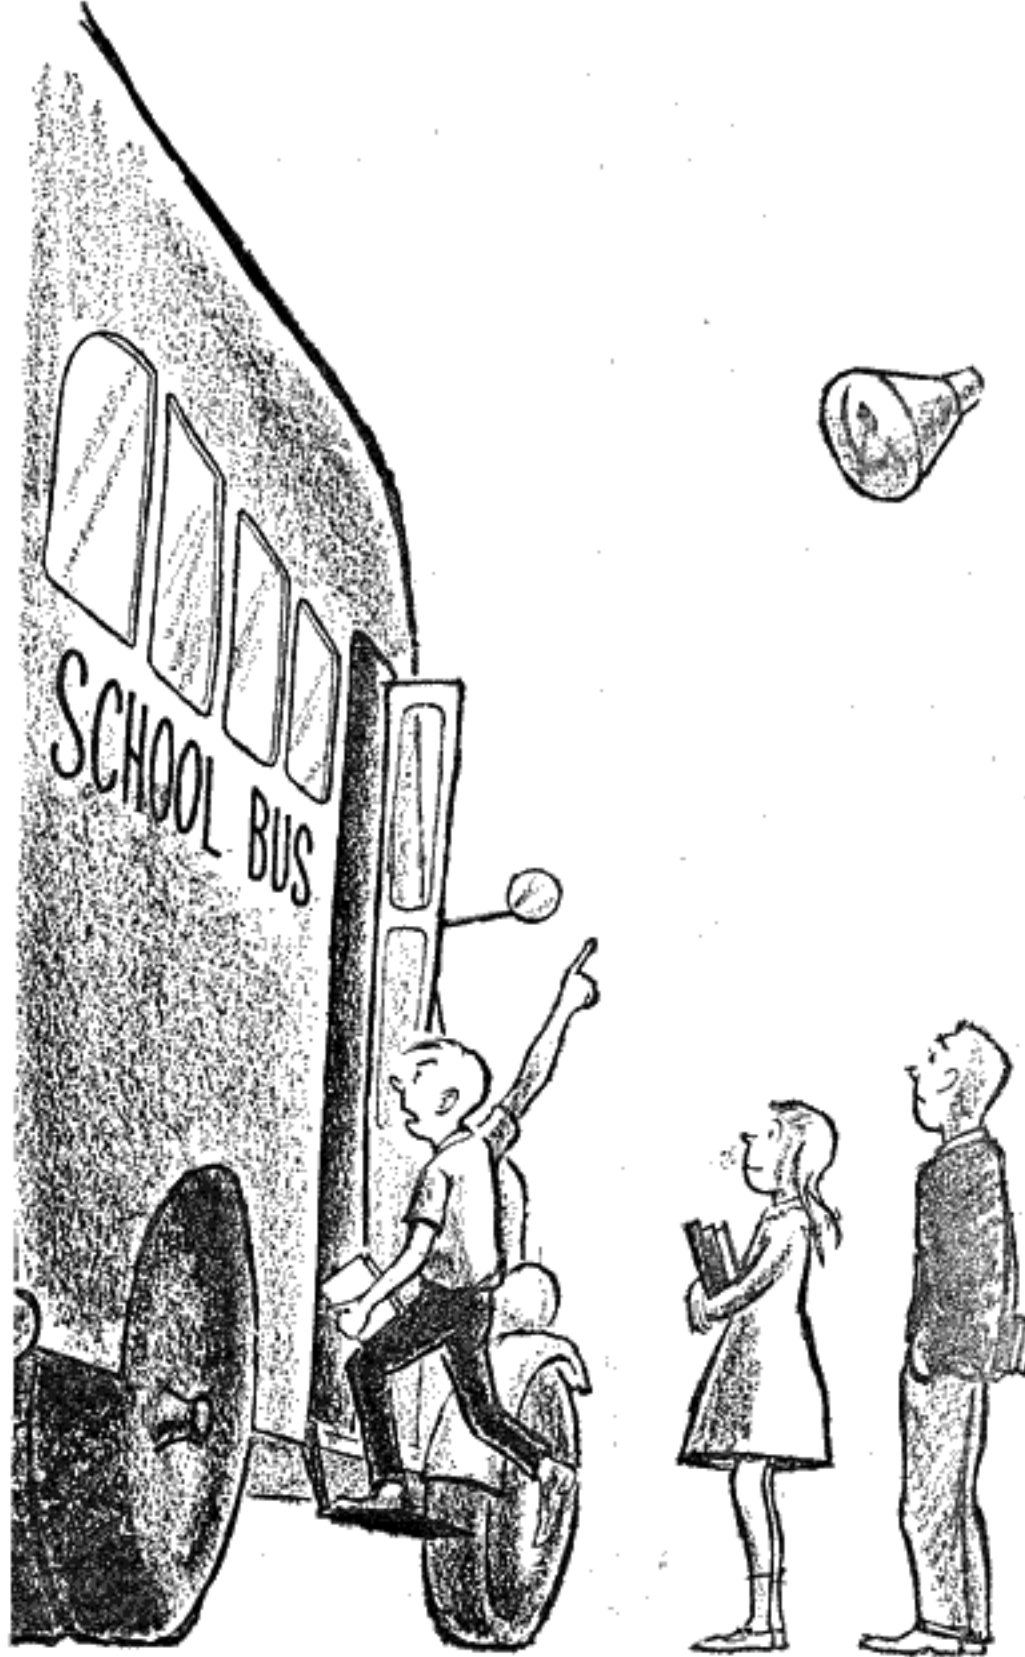

E. W. Stovall, minister of the Stony Point church, heads the school's parent-teacher association. The organization promotes a picnic on the Fourth of July and Labor Day for the financial benefit of the school. Such a picnic, with an accompanying program, is scheduled September 4.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morrow of Mars Hill Road; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James William Burgess of Shoals Creek.

For the occasion of her wedding, the bride was gowned in white organza over satin. Lace scallops at the squared neckline and brief sleeves were distinguished features of the molded bodice, and the skirt, with its side-fullness and back panel of jeweled lace medallions, flowed to form a chapel train. High Schools Are Given Permission Alter Schedules

Allen Thornton, Lauderdale County Superintendent of Education, after talking with Cliff Harper, executive secretary of the Alabama High School Athletic Association, announces the Association has given permission to Rogersville, Lexington, Central and Rogers to play scheduled games on or after September 7, even though the schools will not be in session.

The ruling means that Lexington and Rogers must re-arrange one game each which both schools had scheduled for September 1. The coaches will be working without the knowledge of what their salary for the year will be and what the school term will hold, however, the athletic programs are self-sustaining and pay their own way. Several additional changes have been made in the coaching line-up for the Lauderdale county schools. Harold (Tater) Graham, former Florence State College quarter-back, has been hired as basketball coach and assistant football coach at Rogers High School, replacing Ralph Burleson, who resigned to become recreation director of the Alabama Prison System. Eugene Prestage, assistant coach at Rogers for the past two years, has resigned. in other county schools, it will be Lexington, Raymond McMeans, head coach; Rogersville, Max Burleson, head football coach; Bill Jones, head basketball coach; John Roberson, assistant coach; Central, James Guyton, head football coach; Bill Terry, head basketball coach; Waterloo, Tom Glasgow, head basketball coach. From New York, Paris, Rome.

It's the only way to travel,
For those who can't leave home!

WHILE WE CAN'T think of MANY who haven't been on the road in the air - or on the sea this summer, maybe there're SOME stay-at-homes who see what we mean!

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to a deserving young friend, Alan Flowers, upon completion of the required course of study at the University for his Master's degree in music... climaxed by a recital last week in Tuscaloosa which Florence friends lucky enough to be there (Mollie Nance, Ellen Redd, Eloise Tomlinson among them) reported as being "wonderful and beautiful." We're so glad to know that Alan and his talent will be here this next school year, in charge of the Coffee High School choral work.

TO FAR CORNERS - all by plane - for Grace Gray, who evidently does not let a few hundred miles bother her when she wants a look-see at her "chillun". She's now in California, or rather "based" there, with son Duncan, Jr. ... and we understand that they've had many delightful trips over the West. And before Grace comes back Alabama-way, it's "by" Washington, D. C. and North Carolina to visit daughters Virginia (Killen) and Ellen (Snyder).

MORE OF "our own" back home for visits... Summer wouldn't be complete without having Nancy (Lucas) and Lee Kirk (WITH Carter and Lucinda) here for too-few-days-this-year with Emerson and Marguerite Lucas at their place on the lake. Nancy reported that bathing suits had to be on top of their packed bags when they left New Jersey for Florence so that the children could jump into the lake before all the bags were unpacked upon arrival here - which is just what they did... It had been TOO LONG since Corrine (Stuts) Morton's last visit when she came recently with her family for a few days on East Mobile Street... and there was much "catching up" with old friends, and especially nice were the get-togethers where young Ray and Connie met the children of Corrine's friends.

ANOTHER ONE we "claim," since her family lived here, is Gwen Porter, of Gadsden... whose picture you must've seen in papers from over the state. This talented and beautiful singer has just been chosen as one of the top six in the Miss Alabama contest... which makes us proud along with her aunts, Ruth Scarborough and Ruth Porter.

AN OLDTIME NEWSPAPER friend of ours was a recent visitor to our county... Marvin McMeans, once connected with this newspaper and the one at Rogersville but now of New York City, was thrilled with our growth... FAMOUS FOR ITS BEAUTY - and we'll bet to be discussed 'n complimented for a long time to come, was the afternoon tea-party given last week to honor Clara Peritt - by Laura and Noel Peritt, and Laura Reeder. Flower arrangements that were real conversation pieces ("Were the pink tuberoses natural or dyed?") and the lovely Reeder home ("Just perfect

Progress Made At Turtle Point

The Olympic size swimming pool at the new Turtle Point Yacht and Country Club on Wilson Lake is now in use.

The first floor with dressing rooms and showers is available to swimmers who enjoy the big 75x42 foot pool with its 13-foot deep diving well and separate 20x30 foot wading pool with its own separate purification system.

Rapidly being completed is one of the most modern marinas to be found anywhere which will afford boat storage and all marine facilities such as dry storage for boats under twenty feet in length and a multislip pier for handling up to 20 crafts of various sizes. This will be lighted and contain service facilities for boat owners.

Second to none will be the fine golf course which will have sprinkler-watered greens and fairways and will be contoured and prepared to handle as much as 1.17 inches of rain without a puddle. The course was laid out by Robert Trent Jones, internationally known golf course architect. Greens at Turtle Point run considerably larger than at other clubs in the area, it was stated.

Labor Day has been set as the date for opening of the first nine holes and as membership increases the remaining nine holes, which are already laid out, will be completed. Supervision of the work is under Forest W. (King) Cole of Muskegon, Mich., who has had extensive experience with the type of course being installed at Turtle Point.

Club management and food preparation will be under the management of John D. Kollarick, a native of New York City, who is widely experienced in this field. He was formerly assistant manager of the Cleveland Yacht Club and has a wide knowledge of both Continental and American food preferences.

Well Limed Soil Better Than Acid For Most Crops

By JOHN HENDERSON
Assistant County Agent

Most legumes, vegetables, and field crops grow much better on well limed soil than on an acid soil. In many cases, liming the soil means the difference between success and failure. Under most conditions it makes it possible to grow a good crop instead of a poor one.

When we talk of lime we usually refer to pH, now let's consider just what pH means. The "pH value" is the yardstick used by all soil scientists so that a common degree of measurement is present at all times. It is the simple numerical number denoting the degree of acidity or alkalinity present in the various soils.

It is customary to refer to acid soils as "sour" soils, and to alkaline soils as "sweet." The neutral point on the pH yardstick is "pH 7.0." Soils with a pH reading of less than 7 are called acid soils, and those soils with a pH reading greater than 7 are known as alkaline soils. In Alabama it is best to strive toward a pH reading of 6.5.

Benefits Well Known

The benefits of adding liming materials to our agricultural soils has been known for centuries. The present generation of farmers has probably been lulled into false sense of security regarding the real needs of adding lime to the soil. Modern sales talk of "non-acid-forming fertilizer" or "non-acid-forming fertilizer" has led many farmers to believe there is no need for lime.

A sound liming program based on a soil test is necessary, and is the only way to insure good crop yields. Liming materials are the only materials that effectively change the soil pH to the range necessary for maximum crop returns.

A soil test reveals not only how much lime is required, but also how much phosphate and potash are needed.

Liming Is Profitable

It has been conservatively estimated that lime returns about $6.00 for every dollar invested in it. Yet, farmers are forgetting about lime.

By proper liming, erosion by wind and water is slowed considerably. How? Liming the soil supplies badly needed plant nutrients. It also makes those that are dormant in the soil become available more readily, thus supporting plant growth to a greater extent.

As productivity of the soil is built up, the land has more protection. Heavier crop growth breaks up raindrops before they hit the soil, thus reducing the splashing and splashing of soil particles. More organic matter, from crop residues and roots, is left in the soil. This helps to bind soil particles together so that less soil is carried away by run-off water or blown away by the wind.

Functions Of Liming

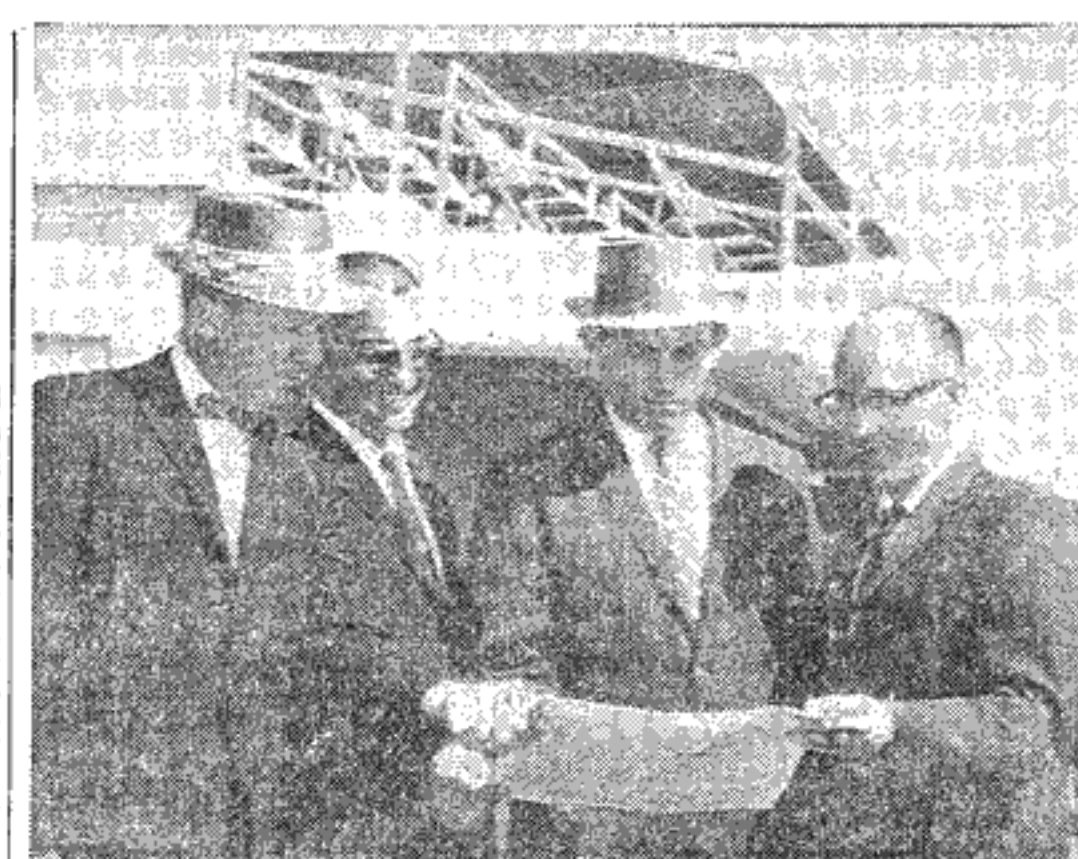

Some of the functions of lime are:

1. It neutralizes soil acidity and furnishes needed plant nutrients. All plants require calcium and magnesium for proper growth. Calcium is found in the cell wall structure of every cell in the living plant. Magnesium is also a plant food essential to proper growth. These two elements are found in liming materials. In neutralizing soil acidity, the calcium replaces elements which create the "Sour soil."

2. It increases bacterial activity. Many organisms in our soils, which are necessary to promote favorable plant growth, are dependent upon an alkaline soil and an abundant supply of calcium. (The nitrogen-fixing bacteria is a good example of this type of organism.)

3. It replaces toxicity. Lime reduces the solubility, availability, and toxicity of certain elements in the soil, such as aluminum, manganese and iron, which could reduce plant growth under acid conditions.

4. It influences nutrient avail-

ATTEND CONVENTION—Local delegates to the six-day United Whippers District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Oklahoma City are shown at the Oklahoma State Fairgrounds, where sessions are being held this week. Attendance is expected to reach a peak of 10,000. Already more than 8,500 from 40 states and six foreign countries have arrived. Shown above, from left to right, are: Doyle F. Board Schedules Bid Openings

Construction Of School Projects Well Underway

The schools in Lauderdale County will open Monday, September 25, however, if state appropriations are made so that the County Board of Education can know what salaries can be assured for the 1961-62 school term, they may be opened earlier.

Due to proration causing a debt of $171,350 in the Lauderdale County School budget at the beginning of the 1960-61 school term and the outlook for the 1961-62 school funds being short because of the 9.4% proration, declared by Governor Patterson in the amount of approximately another $25,000, no maintenance work has been carried on during the summer. The present debt is approximately $238,000.

No buildings have been painted inside or out and no roofs repaired, although many buildings are much in need of repairs.

Money Contributed

The Three Cross Roads Community has contributed money to help install indoor restrooms in the school.

Cloverdale and Wilson Junior High Schools have contributed $1,000 each to help buy new equipment for their new science rooms.

Six Projects Let

The Alabama State Building Authority allotted approximately $730,000 to the County Board of Education to build new buildings from the $100 million bond issue. Underwood Elementary School is being improved with gas heat, four new classrooms and an all-purpose room, which are expected to be completed by September 15. The additions will cost approximately $92,000.

Additions at Cloverdale Junior High School include four classrooms, a library, rest rooms, a boiler room, a lunchroom and kitchen, all of which are expected to be ready by October 1. The addition will cost approximately $110,000.

Central High School is to have five new classrooms, a boiler room and rest rooms. Expected to be completed by October 1, the addition is costing approximately $110,000. Calcium acts as a regulator and an acid in bringing about the desirable range of availability of many plant foods to plants. A few elements which lime aids in regulating are zinc, iron, copper and others.

There are many other known functions of lime, but the above should be enough to point out that lime is an essential element in present day agriculture. So, have your soil tested to determine the proper pH on your particular farm, for your crops. Soil cartons and instructions can be obtained at the County Agent's Office in Florence.

Witnesses From U. S. And Canada Hold Convention

Local delegates attending the United Whippers District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Oklahoma City, Okla. have described it as the "high point of the year" for members of the group. The six-day gathering began last Tuesday at the Oklahoma

State Fairgrounds Grandstand and 4-H Building and will conclude Sunday, August 13.

According to Peter Avallone of 132 Dogwood Drive, Florence, spokesman for the city delegation in attendance, the convention is tenth in a series of 13 United Whippers assemblies being held by Jehovah's Witnesses this summer throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.

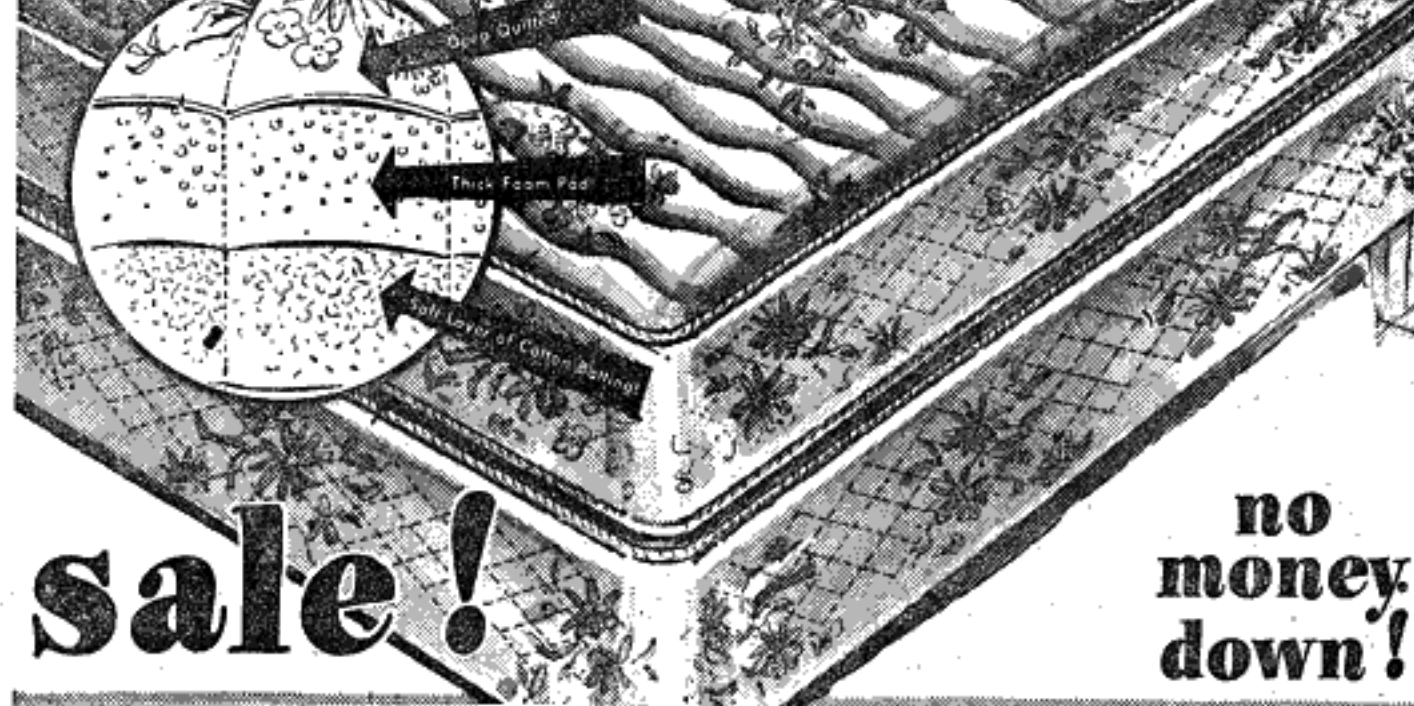

"All of us from Florence are enjoying this convention immensely," he said.

ly and we've already learned many things that will help us add to our efficiency in the preaching work when we return home," Avallone said.

Annual production of canned foods has grown from 40 million cases a half century ago to 700 million cases today. Records of a quarter century ago show 52 different canned food items in production; today the list is over 1,000.

First of the buildings in Florence State College's $3,000,000 expansion program to be finished is the women's dormitory which occupies a space on the west side of the campus and accommodates 60 women and the head resident. This attractive addition to the fast growing school plant was occupied for the first time during the summer term just ended.

Veterans' Column State Dept. of Veterans' Affairs

The Veterans Administration cannot authorize any kind of medical or hospital treatment by private physicians in private hospitals for conditions which are not service connected, no matter what the circumstances may be.

It seems that a Korea veteran had taken suddenly ill on his job and was rushed to the hospital in his home town. He was given a thorough examination by his physician and it was discovered that he had an acute appendicitis and

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hunt and children visited Mrs. Ada Haney Saturday night.

Miss Mazie Balch visited Mr. and Mrs. Lendon Balch at Memphis, Tenn. recently.

David Thigpen spent the past two weeks in maneuvers training with the National Guard Army Reserves.

Lowell Haney of Beaufort, S. C. spent the week end at his home here.

Mrs. Lena Mason remains ill at her home. Some of the visitors of Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Anna Howard last week were, Mrs. Stella Bozeman, Mrs. Ada Haney, Mrs. Orene Ritter, Mrs. Willie Howard, Mrs. Edward Campbell.

his physician told him he would have to undergo an operation immediately. The veteran told his doctor that he was entitled to an operation in the nearest VA hospital and asked if he could be transferred there for the operation.

The physician replied, "No."

You're going to have to be under the knife within 30 minutes, however, I'll call our County Service Officer and have him call the Veterans Administration and get them to approve your bill here."

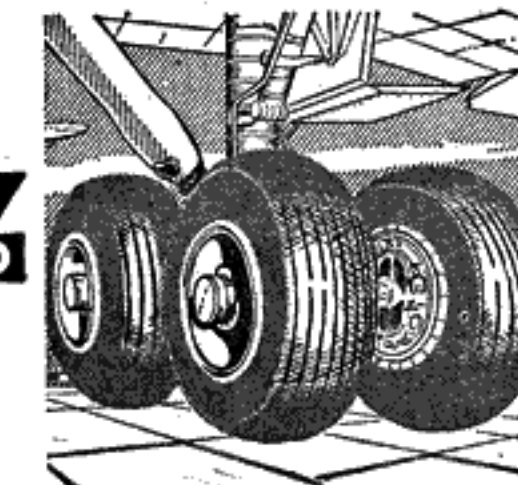

The doctor was quite surprised when the Service Officer told him there would be no way to get the VA to pay the bill. He figured that this was an extreme emergency and that the veteran would probably die if he wasted the time getting to a VA hospital. He also reasoned that if the operation could be delayed a few hours, the VA would authorize transportation by ambulance, would perform the operation and furnish all necessary care until the veteran was well enough to be dismissed, all of which would cost a great deal of money. "Why not," he said, "allow at least a part of this money to us to render treatment?"

Well, what the good doctor said was all true but the plain fact is that under the law, the Veterans Administration cannot authorize any kind of medical or hospital treatment by private physicians in private hospitals for conditions which are not service connected, no matter what the circumstances may be since that is the law.

America's growing use of fuel for recreation is one of the reasons the nation's need for energy will double by 1980

Each year, thousands of new pleasure craft join the fleet of private boats that cruise the nation's lakes and waterways, as more and more Americans put power to work during their leisure hours. On land and in the air, too, more power is being used for recreational activities. This is just part of the reason why America's energy needs will double by 1980.

Where will it come from? Much will come from present energy sources, some from new ones. Whatever the source, a large share of energy in its most efficient and usable forms will be transported via pipelines. Texas Eastern's Little Big Inch pipeline system, largest of its kind, delivers liquid petroleum products from Gulf Coast refineries to Midwest markets... Our natural gas pipelines, which stretch from the Mexican border to the Atlantic Seaboard, have capacity to fuel thousands of factories and heat millions of homes. Looking to the future, Texas Eastern is growing and diversifying today to meet tomorrow's energy needs.

School Budgets Under Study By Ways And Means

With both houses of the Alabama Legislature in recess until Friday, the House Ways and Means Committee returned to the capitol Tuesday to work on the huge education bill. An effort will be made to get it ready for a second reading Friday and possible passage by next Tuesday as legislators await the final round of the congressional redistricting fight.

Hearings Start

The Senate Finance Committee was also busy with public hearings that began on Wednesday prior to making its own recommendations for school appropriations. This committee will concentrate its attention on the minimum program fund, the allocation of state money to the cities and counties for the support of grade schools and high schools.

Budget Increase Asked

It is expected that State Supt. of Education W. A. LeCroy, will make the same request of the Senate committee that he made of the House Ways and Means Committee last week when he asked for a $53 million budget increase for next year.

It is expected that College presidents will submit their budgets today and trade schools will outline their requests by Wednesday of next week.

Redistricting Up

In other action Jefferson County's Sen. Larry Dumas sought support for a new compromise on the "carve Jefferson" bill as that measure moved into the House. He urged consideration of a modified state-at-large election to eliminate one of Alabama's nine congressmen among the four surrounding districts as the Senate-passed bill would accomplish.

Specifically the Dumas proposal would nominate a candidate in each of the nine districts of the state, then select the top eight in a state-wide race to decide who would be eliminated. The state will lose one representative because of the 1960 census.

ABC Transfers Beverage Tax To Education Fund

Edward J. Azar, Administrator of the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, announced today the transfer of $78,619.00 to the State Department of Revenue representing the amount earned by the ABC Board for the month of July 1961 from the three per cent sales tax on alcoholic beverages appropriated and earmarked by the Legislature for payment to the State Department of Education.

In making the announcement, Azar said that $882,210.92 had been paid over to the State Department of Revenue for Education since the beginning of this fiscal year, October 1, 1960, through July 1961.

The Administrator pointed out the fact that the three per cent sales tax levy on ABC Board sales had been in effect for a period of 21 months and a total of $1,953,070.35 had been collected and remitted to the State Department of Revenue for education.

Not just any cow for Grandpa's Family!

They liked Jersey Milk best!

Grandpa was very particular about the milk his family drank. That's why he kept a Jersey as the family cow for their own milk supply. He judged milk by richness and flavor. And "Old Bess" gave such wonderful milk, she was Grandpa's pride and joy.

Today science tells us that there's even more to farm-fresh Jersey milk than richness and good flavor. Tests have shown that Jersey milk provides more food value than other milks... supplies extra nutrition, extra energy... and is a rich source of vitamins.

Today your family can again enjoy that wonderful "down on the farm" flavor in extra good All-Jersey Milk... produced by 100% Jersey herds and processed in a modern dairy plant. For health, for enjoyment, for value... serve All-Jersey, the extra good milk with the "old time" flavor the farm folks liked so well.

Rebel Underdogs Win Grid Contest, Lose Cage Game

The 14th Alabama High School All-Star football game was won by the prideful Rebel gridders who seized upon two first half opportunities to ram home and make a stand for a 13-0 conquest of the North.

Jimmy Sidle, quarterback, of Birmingham's Banks, was director in the attack and marshaled his forces goalward 26 and 56 yards in the first and second periods and then kept the North at bay the rest of the way with a fabulous kicking display which saw him average 55.2 yards on five booming punts.

Gaylor McCullough, Center from Enterprise, emerged as the outstanding lineman. He lead his Rebel team in tackles and set up one fourth-period scoring threat by partially blocking a punt.

Approximately 13,000 spectators watched the contest at Denny Stadium Thursday night.

In the All-Star basketball game, the North defeated the South, 47-41, with Rebel mentor Joe Morris of Urah ranked among the strongest-minded individuals in the place.

Tuscaloosa's Harry Hammonds, the game's most valuable player, lead a superior rebounding North game (32 to 20) with 10 grabs and stuffed in 15 points, ten from the field and five more from the charity line. More than 5,000 jammed into the hot and humid Foster Auditorium to view the event.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

Those stirring words of the Twenty-Third Psalm:
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures... He leadeth me beside the still waters... He restoreth my soul!

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hauling Can Save Cattleman Money

A lot of time and money invested by the livestock producer can go down the drain unless he takes precautions when hauling his animals to market, warns Otis Russell, Auburn Extension Service Livestock specialist.

"An improperly loaded truck results in crowding, excessive shrink, increased bruising and market price penalties," Russell says.

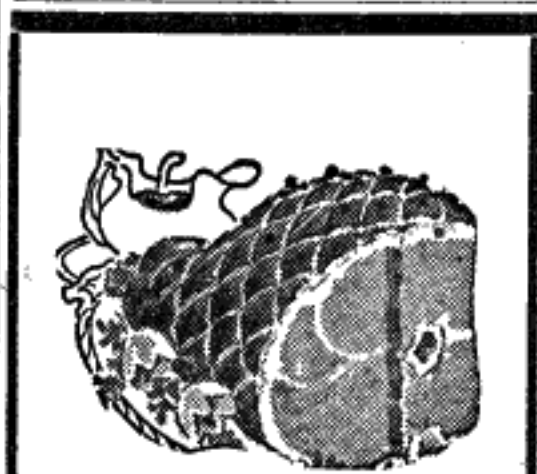

He adds that mixed shipments of hogs and cattle, or heavy sows, stags or boars with lighter hogs are one major source of crippled or dead hogs. Such a practice also creates more bruise hazards, he says.

The specialist also points out that livestock should never be hurried while loading because it increases nervousness and causes bruising.

Farm Facts

You have an uninvited guest at your dinner table every day. He is a hearty eater. He adds 25% to your food bill.

Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, estimates that out of every $5 you spend at the grocery store, hidden taxes take at least $1. In other words, you get $4 worth of groceries but pay $5 for them.

This extra dollar goes for a bewildering variety of taxes which necessarily are included in the end price you pay for your various grocery items.

They have been paid out as costs by people who cooperate in bringing food from farm to table—retailers, wholesalers, food manufacturers, truckers, railroaders, farmers, and all who furnish the industry with supplies and equipment.

Hidden taxes on food are only a part of the total tax bill—and all of these taxes are in addition to taxes you pay directly like the federal income tax. You pay hidden taxes on virtually everything else you buy, too.

Traditionally, food topped all items of family expenses. Now, the tax bill is at least 50% greater than the food bill, and the difference is still widening.

Taxes take $1 out of every $5 you spend at the grocery store.

In 1960, the nation's taxes amounted to $112 billion, compared to a food bill of $75.5 billion. In 1939, the food bill was $15.7 billion and taxes totaled $12.4 billion.

Southern Railway Confident That Rate Will Stand

D. W. Brosnan, executive vice president, Southern Railway System, Washington, D. C., commented as follows today on the suspension by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday of reduced railroad freight rates on grain scheduled to be put into effect August 10 by Southern Railway:

"The suspension was more or less to be expected since this is the time for the registering of protests rather than for affirmative action. It is evident that the proponents for the maintenance of higher rates at the public expense were quite vociferous. In due season, the ICC will undoubtedly schedule the matter for hearing at which time the issues can and will be gone into thoroughly. We have every confidence that in the end the finding will be that the public is entitled to these reduced rates rather than that a few selfish interests can continue to profit at the public expense."

More than 85 per cent of the food produced today undergoes some processing prior to its consumption.

Here is a modern, practical, essential and economical personal accident policy prepared to give the best possible protection at the lowest possible cost that will fit the pocketbook of every family.

Be Careful While Pressure Canning

Don't get careless while canning with the pressure canner, advises Isabelle Downey, Auburn Extension Service specialist in food preservation.

"Practice these safety rules when you can," she says. Have at least three inches of water in the canner, and place the canning jars on the rack so there is enough space for water and steam to circulate around them.

Next, secure the pressure lid, and allow the steam to escape for about 10 minutes before closing the petcock. Allow the gauge to go up to 10 pounds for all vegetables except tomatoes, making sure the gauge stays at that pressure. When the time is up, slide the canner off the unit, and let the pressure go down to zero. Let the canner sit for about five minutes; then open the petcock slowly.

Remove the jars, and place them away from windows and doors to cool, recommends Miss Downey.

Dust Bath For Hens Effective

"A new technique recently approved by the U. S. Department of Agriculture enables chickens to give themselves a bath, and they love it," says Allen Brown, Auburn Extension Service poultry marketing specialist.

Instead of water, the bath consists of an insecticide dust—malathion—which helps rid the egg-producing birds of lice and other tiny parasites. This new procedure relieves the farmer of spraying his entire flock or treating each bird individually with an insecticide solution, Brown states.

Aside from saving time, he adds, the new insecticide technique will also help Alabama farmers save money since these tiny lice and mites account for an estimated $2 million annual loss to poultry raisers.

Research in this field has been conducted in California, where experimenters worked with commercial poultry ranchers who kept their flocks in large wire cages. The target of the year-long experiment was the northern fowl mite. Only about pinhead size, the parasitic mites nevertheless have greedy appetites and draw out large amounts of blood each day.

The researchers constructed a series of boxes 18 by 12 by 3 inches and filled them with one pound of a four per cent malathion dust, explains the specialist. Then they placed the boxes in chicken houses at the rate of one box per 30 chickens. The boxes were left in the cages for several weeks and the birds were allowed to wallow in them.

Results showed that the hens were free from mites for six weeks after the removal of the boxes.

Social Security Ruling Changed

Many Alabama farmers have a real interest in the changes Congress made recently in the Social Security law, points out Foy Helms, Auburn University Extension Service economist.

Most of the changes went into effect August 1.

Of the six major changes, one of the most important is the change which allows men the choice of getting retirement benefits at age 62—just as women have been able to do for several years—rather than waiting until they are 65, he says.

However, if men do retire at 62, explains Helms, monthly payments will be 20 per cent less, and work requirements under Social Security will be the same as at 65. Helms says that in deciding whether he wants to take benefits before age 65, a man should weigh a number of factors, including his health, whether he is working, the amount of his income and his family situation.

Selective Service Sets Induction For Alabama

State Selective Service Director Walter M. Thompson, Jr., said today that a total of 630 men would be called to the Montgomery Induction Station during September to fill Alabama's Selective Service quota.

The national quota is 25,000 men, all to be funneled into army service. This is the greatest call since the Korean situation. Included in the Alabama call are non-fathers 22 years of age and over, volunteers, delinquents, and postponed registrants.

Thompson also reiterated his warning that young men just reaching 18 years of age are required to register within five days after their birthday. Failure to register at the proper time could result in prosecution or earlier induction," he said. The state director also pointed out that if the registrant will bring with him a birth certificate it will expedite his registration.

He explained that individual county draft calls are based on those available registrants already examined and acceptable. Lauderdale county's quota is 10 men.
