

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

Now that it is official and the word has gotten around all over the state that Senator Bert Hallom is in the race for the office of Lieutenant Governor of Alabama, we have been interested in the comments of editors over the state. Without exception it is conceded that he is the No. 1 man in the race and the man to beat for the state's No. 2 spot. Referred to as "Mr. Reapportionment" by every editor and commentator, his various accomplishments in the Legislature receive mention and commendation as his qualifications are listed. It is good to know that the state press thinks as much of the Senator as do we in Lauderdale.

A friend of ours showed up Tuesday morning with a dilly of a black eye. We asked the reason. His reply: "I got in the way of a guided muscle."

Have you noticed that never in the cold war has Khrushchev claimed that the Soviets were superior to the United States in agriculture. We doff our fedora to the America farmer whose efforts and accomplishments remain unchallenged throughout the world.

You're really getting along in years when the gleam in your eyes is the sun hitting your bifocals.

The wife had a real time getting friend husband to attend the opera. They arrived on time, settled into their comfortable seats about midway in the great opera house, whereupon the old boy took on a defiant air just during the presentation to be entertaining. Just before the first act was concluded, the wife, thoroughly thrilled at the great performance, whispered to her husband: "Isn't it wonderful? Isn't it just too beautiful for words?" "Yeah," replied the reluctant one. "When you lean your head on the back of your seat and close your eyes, you can just imagine you are at home listening to the radio."

At 20 we don't care what our neighbors think of us; at 30 we begin to worry about what they think of us; at 50 we find that they never gave us a thought in the first place.

The first-grader had truly gotten a crush on the pretty little miss who sat beside him in class. As weeks passed, the infatuation grew until one day the little gentleman suggested that when they grew up he would ask her to marry him. "I'm sorry," the little lady said, "but it is impossible. You see, in my family we marry only relatives. For example, my mother married my father; my grandmother married my grandfather and even my aunt married my uncle. I'm terribly sorry."

The door of opportunity is not opened with an electric eye—and that's a fact.

A new family moved into a small Arkansas town. They rented a home on the outskirts of the community and soon after getting settled, the man of the house built a tool shed, loaded it with tools of all kinds and then put a heavy lock on the door. A neighbor, viewing the doings, said to his new friend: "There was no use putting that big lock on the door as nobody in Arkansas ever stole anything to work with."

It was Christmas Eve that this guy headed for town to complete the purchase of a tailor-made suit. Enroute he met a couple of sailor friends at home on leave. Several hours later he finally staggered home with a sailor-made toot. (How corny can one get!)

They were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary and a big party was in progress much against the old codger's wishes. The guests were congratulating the couple but little, if any, of it seemed to register on the old fellow. Finally, after taking about all of the kind words he could, he remarked to one of the prim old ladies: "Yup, I got married 50 years ago but if they'd had electric blankets and sliced bread then I'd still be single."

When you make a right turn from a left hand lane the chances are you are just absent-minded—and not really what the driver behind calls you.

The bridegroom first began to suspect that his mother-in-law had a low opinion of him when they opened their Christmas presents Monday morning and found that the said lady had given him wife a set of monogrammed towels marked "Hers" and "His".

Tax To Become Effective Jan. 1

Half-Cent Levy For City Hit By Retail Merchants

A resolution asking that the board of directors of the Florence Chamber of Commerce urge the Florence City Commission to delay the enforcement of an extra half-cent gross receipts levy scheduled to become effective January 1, was passed unanimously Tuesday by the Florence Retail Merchants Association. However, action on the matter was not expected before the regular meeting of the Chamber board this afternoon.

The association met with the Florence City Commission in the city auditorium at 10 a.m. Tuesday to protest the action taken by the city on Wednesday last week when the commission decided to levy the additional half cent tax, expected to yield some $196,000 annually.

Previously considered had been a one cent tax on soft drinks but this was discarded following a vigorous protest on the part of local bottlers and the matter was submitted to the voters in a straw ballot in the Dec. 5 election in which five choices for taxation were listed.

Since the decision of the voters did not obligate the commissioners, they decided on the gross receipts levy of one-half cent to be added to the already existing 4 per cent sales tax, making the announcement Friday that the new tax would become effective on January 1.

Martin Defends Action
Mayor Martin defended the city's action, explaining that the city's revenues fell some $50,000 or more short of the projected budget for 1962, listing the Cox's Creek sewer line as one place where some $100,000 must be spent during the year and which was not included in the budget.

Another item listed by the Mayor was the payment of $50,000 on a 1957 bond issue that had not been included in the budget.

Protest Lodged
The resolution to call the Tuesday meeting of the Florence Retail Merchants was passed by the directors of the Florence Chamber of Commerce on last Thursday after a member had appeared before the directors and made a formal protest. The Chamber voted to withhold its stand on the new one-half of one per cent gross receipts tax until such meeting could be held.

Might Hurt Trade
The general consensus expressed at the Tuesday meeting attended by about twenty-five merchants, was the tax would be detrimental to the business activities of the city. Ellis Wilson, vice president of the Chamber, called attention to the fact that Florence is the center of a large trade area.

"We feel that this tax would be detrimental to the retail sales business of the area," Wilson said, pointing out that a substantial part of Florence business comes from adjacent Mississippi and Tennessee areas and that much of this might be lost with the addition of the tax.

TVA Issues Formal Report

Failure of Lock At Wheeler Dam Said Caused By Seam of Clay

SIoux CITY SIOUX—These Sioux warriors, whooping it up in Chicago, illustrate a war dance they have been doing for years. Folks now call it by a new name, the twist.

A detailed engineering report, explaining the cause of the failure of Wheeler Dam lock on June 2, issued today by the Tennessee Valley Authority, identifies a thin seam of clay 1/16 to 3/8 inches thick, as the cause of the failure when the north wall suddenly shifted northward and broke apart.

G. P. Palo, TVA's Chief Engineer and three independent consultants, Dr. Frank A. Nickell, San Mateo, Calif., Lee G. Warren, Asheville, N. C., and Dr. John B. Wilbur, Hancock, N. H. issued the report after a thorough investigation.

The presence of the critical, soft seam in the bedrock escaped detection both in the explorations in connection with the construction of the original lock by the Corps of Engineers and in the explorations carried on by TVA in connection with the construction of a new, larger lock, paralleling the original one.

Following is a part of the statement released by the TVA Board of Directors:

"From the evidence amassed by the consultants and TVA engineers and geologists it is clear that the cause of the lock wall's collapse was an extremely thin seam of clay located within a shale band in the bedrock, the existence of which was neither detected nor suspected prior to the failure.

"The TVA Board is satisfied that the explorations of foundation conditions for both the old lock and the new lock corresponded to the best known engineering practices and were conducted with normal prudence. The undetected fine seam of clay was geologically unique in the Tennessee Valley.

"Recreating the conditions which existed prior to slippage of the lock wall is difficult, if not impossible. As the consultants report, the bedrock had been adequate to support the original lock for many years. No evidence of any fault or weakness had been detected during that period. Nevertheless, detailed examination of the bedrock was carried on preliminary to construction of the new lock. Only after the failure occurred, and following additional lengthy and intensive explorations, conducted with the positive knowledge that something was amiss, was the clay seam found.

"The Board wishes to express its appreciation to the consultants for their diligent and objective exploration and appraisal of the Wheeler lock failure.

TVA's full report contains not only the reports of the consultants and the Chief Engineer but seven appendices and numerous exhibits.

Because of its length and the cost of printing, the full report has been duplicated in a limited number of copies. These copies are available for examination at the TVA Information Office, in Washington at TVA offices in the Woodward Building, and at the TVA Technical Libraries in Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tennessee, and Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

Budget For Florence Set At $1,409,383 For '61-62

A city budget of $1,409,383.93 for fiscal 1961-62 was adopted by the Florence City Commission Tuesday. The fiscal year extends from Oct. 1, 1961 to Sept. 30, 1962.

Anticipated receipts will be $1,410,687.83, very slightly in excess of the above-anticipated revenue figure.

Expenditures

Administrative activities and overhead comprise the largest expenditure, this being listed at $266,100. Next in order of expenditure is the police department with $239,000 set aside for operation and equipment.

Other departments are: Fire, $170,961.50; Garbage, $124,300; street department, $206,500; garage, $60,000; carpenter shop, $7,000; appropriations (health department, parks and recreation, welfare, civil defense, etc.), $127,791.67; current amortization (capital outlay, outfall sewer, municipal building notes and interest, etc.), $207,730.78.

Current budget figures are a quarter of a million dollars higher than the previous fiscal year, it was shown.

Expected Revenues

Expected revenues from various sources were listed as follows: real estate and personal property taxes, $118,000; gasoline $176,200; garbage collection fees, $104,000; tax equivalents (electricity department, water, housing authority), $218,437.83; privilege licenses, $213,000; auto licenses, $37,000; police court, fines, etc., $72,500; parking meter collections, $63,000; gross receipts tax, $170,000; other sources, $238,550 (miscellaneous taxes, fees, profits and excise from state of Alabama.)

Some $100,000 of the increase over the previous fiscal year was attributed to increases in the spending and collecting in all departments, an increase of some $145,000 being anticipated through the additional gross receipts levy of one-half of one per cent effective on January 1, 1962.

Another major expenditure will be $103,000 from the general fund for construction of the Cox's Creek outfall sewer line.

Other business announced by the city was a vote by the commission to grant a ten-year tax exemption to the Weyerhaeuser Company for plant and equipment in line with the city's procedure to attract new industries to the area.

Col. Arthur Cheyne was also hired by the city to act as full-time civil defense representative.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McCroskey, Jr., of Washington are dividing their holiday visit between their parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCroskey in Florence and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ginn in Birmingham.

Let It Apply To All

Lately several high ranking military men have been censured, one for voicing an opinion considered critical of the government, another for speaking out against the Communists, others for various other infractions of a so-called rule against high ranking military men who dare to make remarks not in conformity with the accepted status quo of military protocol. To put it in every day English . . . daring to criticize anyone in high places who they think might be jeopardizing the safety and security of their country.

But when a military bigwig says something in praise of the "powers that be" that appears to be all hunky-dory, as in the case of Air Force Chief of Staff General Curtis LeMay, who recently had an article published in U. S. News and World Report, "Why U. S. Will Win If War Does Come."

Now General LeMay is a highly competent military man with a world of experience and we hope he is right . . . but if we are going to hear only the bright side of the picture then we, the American people, are being sold a bill of goods that is not traditionally American.

There are two sides to every question and the people are entitled to hear the bad along with the good. If military men are not to be allowed to voice an opinion because it might get under some politician's skin, then let the censorship be clamped down on all military opinions, both good and bad.

Why Do We Help The Reds?

Many things have happened that are strange indeed to the average American's way of thinking, not the least of these being the billions we have allowed to trickle out into Communist nations in the form of foreign aid and so-called economic rehabilitation programs. Tito's Yugoslavia has been one of the larger beneficiaries. Each time this flow of U. S. dollars has been checked to any extent Tito has yelled at the top of his Communist lungs, calling us the most choice names in his Yugoslav dictionary and some names doubtless not in it. This happened recently and "aid to Yugoslavia" was immediately restored.

Funny? Yes, but what about the Communist propaganda that is being employed to tear down this country from within. Many Americans choose to turn their backs to this fact and even deny that it exists but this does not alter the fact that it represents a very grave and constant danger to the nation's security.

While we are fighting Communist propaganda abroad, we are actually aiding and abetting its spread in the United States, according to an editorial in a recent edition of the Saturday Evening Post. Thousands of people of foreign extraction living in the United States as good and trustworthy citizens, are being subjected to a flood of Communist mail, that is, propaganda from behind the "iron curtain." At first these people, many of them refugees from Communist threats or worse, were protected by executive order that all such mail be returned to the sender.

Now this mail is being delivered because there is no existing order against its delivery. Irving Fishman, deputy collector of customs in New York told the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security that "the effect of the Soviet material can best be evaluated by the reaction of the people of foreign origin who have been in almost daily communication with us from all over the country, asking us to withhold delivery of this material and explaining that it is dangerous to circulate it among the people of the United States, especially those who have their heritage in the foreign countries."

The editorial also points out that there is a persistent campaign by letter, directed to exiles in this country. A Ukrainian or Hungarian for instance, who receives a letter by registered mail from his homeland realizes that, despite the fact he has moved or changed his first name, the authorities in the Communist country have a line on him. The exiles are constantly harassed by "government-inspired letters" from relatives back home and are not infrequently accosted by agents of the Soviet Government operating boldly and with apparent immunity in this country.

While our only method of attacking, or shall we say making a counterattack on Communist propaganda, is through such media as "Radio Free Europe," or by leaflets occasionally dropped from planes, it seems we could at least tighten the restrictions on the tons and tons of Communist propaganda cluttering up the mails in our own country.

If we are doing this in the hope of creating good will let us forget such an illusion. There just isn't any.

Ray Elected Head Council For '62

William R. Ray, Jr., Federal Probations Service, was elected president of the Florence Coordinating Council for the year 1962 at its December meeting at the Hotel Reeder.

Mrs. T. E. Clark, Florence State College, was elected vice-president and Tommy Pirkle, Lauderdale County Juvenile Court Officer, was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Ray spoke for the new officers in taking a position of support for the purposes and objectives of the council, which he quoted in part from the constitution and by-laws:

"To serve as a clearing house for exchange of information among member agencies regarding plans, programs, and activities in various fields of community service.

"To identify and consider unmet community needs and unsolved community problems and to encourage appropriate agencies and organizations to undertake to meet such unmet needs and unsolved problems, and

"To assist member agencies in coordinating their programs to avoid overlapping and duplication of services and to assure well balanced and complete coverage of community service needs."

Half-Cent Levy

Mayor Martin again defended the city's position with respect to the levy by calling attention to the value of the city government and services to the people and to the increased need for financing these services rendered by the city.

Commissioner Alvah E. Hall pointed to the need for new equipment in his department of streets and sanitation and to the new projected out-fall sewer line from Cox's Creek.

D. H. Lester, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at that time called attention to the fact that the reason for the meeting was to determine how the new tax would affect business and report the findings to the Chamber of Commerce for further consideration.

Tax Returns Will Be Electronically Processed In 1962

Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin today issued the following statement:

In reply to numerous inquiries, I would like to alert the small percentage of taxpayers who have not fully complied with Internal Revenue laws to the capabilities of automatic processing of tax returns which begins January 1.

Some who previously failed to file returns or report all their taxable income are apparently concerned that filing of complete and accurate returns will automatically bring past failures to light.

I urge every person not to let this deter him from filing his current return on time and reporting the full amount of his income and tax liability. The coming ADP makes this year just about the best time for a delinquent taxpayer to put his house in order.

I would like to urge everyone whose past tax failures were not willful to file a correct return for each prior year and satisfy his tax liabilities. Civil penalties for delinquency or negligence are added only if the facts warrant. However, interest payment of 6% must be made under the law.

As to those few who may have committed tax frauds, the law provides that a penalty of 50% may apply, and criminal proceeding may be instituted. Obviously, it would be a dereliction of our duty not to investigate these cases.

I wish to state again that taxpayers, in overwhelming majority, report true incomes and pay proper taxes. I believe that ADP will give them added assurance that they are carrying only their fair share of the tax burden.

Personality Sketches

HENRY HAROLD (Hal) SELF

"The greatest success, as well as satisfaction, that a football coach receives from his efforts is not found in the record of victories scored by his team but in the victories his boys win over themselves and the records of attainment in the future years that they make," Coach Hal Self said when asked to review his splendid record of 79 games won and 41 lost during his 12 years at Florence State.

"Most boys, when they come to college, are looking for firm guidance. They need the strict regulations that must be given on the practice field. Softness has no place in football nor with the boy who wants to make the grade in this game nor the game of life. His coach must be tough but fair and although many complain of the hard, rough jobs handed them, they would have it no other way. "He nearly killed me today," is the finest affectionate complaint that a good football prospect can give his coach," Mr. Self added.

Henry Harold Self was born in Anderson, Lauderdale County, February 22, 1922, the son of Mrs. Lottie Belle Tetter Self and the late John G. Self. When an infant, his family moved to Hartsville where they made their home until he was five years old, the family then moving to Decatur. He attended elementary school at Decatur and was a member of the Boy Scouts two years. He was graduated from Decatur High School in 1940.

While in high school, Mr. Self lettered in football and basketball three years and served as president of the "D" Club. In his senior year, he was voted the Most Valuable Player on the Decatur team and received honorable mention for the Alabama All State AAA High School team.

During his senior year, Mr. Self was a member of one of the all-district teams composed of players south of the Tennessee River which competed with a like team composed of players north of the river. Several members of Tri-Cities teams were members of these two teams.

Following his graduation from Decatur High School, Mr. Self entered the University of Alabama on a football scholarship. He attended the University one year when he dropped out of school and accepted a position at Courtland Air Base. He remained in that employment for eighteen months and in June 1944, reentered the University.

Mr. Self lettered in football at the University three years and acted as captain of the team in several games. He served as Vice-President of the "A" Club two years. Mr. Self gained his knowledge of the single wing, which he now uses with the Florence State Lions, from the best of teachers, Frank Thomas, who was head football coach at the University at the time. Mr. Self was a quarterback and blocking back and for his outstanding athletic abilities was awarded the coveted Jacobs Trophy emblematic of the best blocker in the Southeastern Conference.

He was a member of the Alabama team which defeated Southern California in the Rose Bowl in 1946. He played in the Sugar Bowl in 1945 against Duke University.

Coach Self was a member of Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity and of Phi Delta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa honor fraternities.

He was graduated from the University in 1946 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Physical Education. After receiving his degree, he continued his studies at the University working toward his Masters Degree, remaining there two additional quarters.

In 1947, after leaving the University, Coach Self became head football, basketball and baseball coach at Athens High School remaining two seasons, doing an outstanding job, and having two highly successful seasons.

On December 22, 1948, Mr. Self was married to Shirley Hyde Williams of Decatur. They have one son, Hank, 11, a sixth grader at Kilby Elementary School; and a daughter, Sue, 8, a third grader at Kilby.

In April, 1949, Coach Self accepted the position of head football coach and physical education instructor at Florence State College and shortly thereafter, moved to Florence. Mr. Self has the distinction of being the only head football coach of the Lions since the resumption of intercollegiate football at the college after a lapse of some twenty-one years.

Under his guidance, the Lions have become a power among small colleges and have won 79 games, lost 41 and tied two during the past twelve years. Since the organization of the Alabama Collegiate Conference two years ago, the Lions have captured the State championship both years.

Coach Self is a member of the Alabama Education Association, an associate member of the High School Athletic Coaches Association and a member of the Alabama Physical Education Association.

He is a member of the advisory committee of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association and serves on the selection committee of the rating group of that association. Mr. Self also serves on the rating committee of United Press International, which annually selects the Little All-American.

Mr. Self is an active member of Highland Baptist Church.

During his spare time, which usually comes after the football season, Coach Self enjoys golfing, fishing, a game of bridge or watching television.

THE SPILLWAY

Bid the Christmas tree adieu,
And pack the trimmings away.
Bad luck is sure to come to you
If they're out on New Year's Day.

THIS CHRISTMAS SEASON should be labeled the year of pretty entrances... Maybe we haven't seen as many elaborate roof and yard units, but many pretty and varied entrance scenes have delighted us all... The Byron Bowers have outlined their white-shuttered door in green pine, and added in the center a large gold spray with multicolored fruit giving a beautiful effect... Myrtle Sandlin had a jolly old Saint Nick to greet her guests... The Alex Wades have silver bells, while the Bob Tomlinsons are ringing golden bells... The lovely new home of the Otto Speakes is adorned by gold fruit in a green wreath... The Delbert Springers, for the first Christmas in their attractive home have gold stars in the windows... and the James Zicklers have a white bell on the door accompanied by large red and white striped candy cones... WHILE ENJOYING all the pretty adornments, it occurred to us that these and many other front-door decorations must've discussed among themselves (as the magic hour came) the new trend toward storm doors to protect some of them from the elements and cold. Seemed that the pretty poinsettia wreath on the Lannes Foy home on Seminary street looked so cozy and comfortable as it looked out through the clear panes of the storm door into a VERY chilly atmosphere.

ON THE AVENUE—a happy looking family group cruising along in a California-licensed car we spotted as Rufus Jr. and Betty (Harrison) Hibbett, and their small fry. Didn't know they were crossing the country to spend Christmas with us, but we're sure that their many relatives here have been especially pleased to have them, since "it's been too long!"

THE CUTEST CHRISTMAS TALE that we've heard has just reached our ears. Seems that Jean Rogers was stopping for a stop light when a voice from an out-of-state car in the next lane asked, "Can you tell us the best store in this town for some quick Christmas shopping?" Such a leading question!... To which Jean quickly (and enthusiastically, we'll bet) replied, "Yes indeed—Rogers Department store and the direction there is... etc., etc." We'd say that Tom has Jean well trained!

A STUDY IN COLOR interested us the other day as we were entering a down town parking lot... Out came a deep colored turquoise station wagon being driven by Caudia Clark, whose decided brunette coloring blended with the car beautifully... Then on the back seat perched up VERY high in the car window was a coal black Scottish terrier. Made an attractive scene.

WANTED: more info on what must be the newest organization in our midst. We hear that a Tri-Cities Ski Club has been formed in connection with a similar group in Gatlinburg, that Charles Moore is the organizer, and that several winter trips have been formed already. Sounds interesting.

A REAL FAMILY AFFAIR was the Open House held by the Dick Parkers, daughter Curtis who is here from Sweetbriar for the vacation season, and son Richard... at their home on Palisades Drive. First the junior high crowd was greeted by Richard, then the high school and college crowds were there at Curtis's invitation... and finishing up the celebration, a small crowd of Dick and Irene's friends dropped by. Seems a nice way to party!

FOR YEARS, ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS of the Christmas Season is the open house of the Dosters... Mary and Roy... and what a wonderful occasion it is when annually their friends gather to enjoy their unmatched hospitality in their beautiful home so attractively decorated for the festive occasion... and the warm greeting of the genial hosts give their guests a very special holiday glow...

Maybe they're just LOOKING—Maybe they've BOUGHT—but we HEARD that Norma Jean (Spalding) and Tonnie Pyron have acquired the Robert Hyde home (AND swimming pool) in the Riverview area, which was built for and IS a home for children... THE SAME (house-looking) thoughts, we HEAR are occupying the Elbridge Teels, which surprises us since we can't see why anyone could leave their beautifully decorated home on Courtney... heard the theory advanced that maybe they just like the challenge of beautifying houses. We can easily add: "The talent is there!" Until more news comes through the Spillway, it's goodbye for now!

Football Banquet:

Maroon and white were used in the decorations in the lunch room when the football team and the cheerleaders had their annual banquet on Thursday evening.

Luther Johnson was toastmaster for the occasion and introduced the guest speaker, Coach A. C. Curry, of Sheffield.

James Earl Greene was selected as best lineman of the year. The award of most valuable player went to Roger Hamner.

Captain Hamner presented Coach Burleson with a gift from the team with co-captain Bubba Haraway making the presentation to Coach Bill Jones. Gail Eastep, head cheerleader, presented the gift to Mrs. Jones who is the sponsor for the cheerleaders.

To conclude the evening a film of the Central-Rogersville game was shown.

Superintendent and Mrs. Allen Thornton of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hannah and Mrs. Max Burleson were among the guests.

Church: A traditional Christmas dinner which included turkey and all the trimmings was the bill-of-fare at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening when they had their annual church family dinner. Shut-ins were remembered too.

At the Cumberland Church Wednesday evening was the time of the annual church Christmas tree and gift exchange.

The Methodists spent the evening preparing boxes for shut-ins and for the holiday season the Rogersville Ministerial Association sponsored the preparation of huge boxes of food, toys and clothing for numerous families.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

He could see time passing...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	25	1-13
Monday	Proverbs	6	6-15
Tuesday	Psalm	105	11-18
Wednesday	Luke	12	15-21
Thursday	James	4	13-17
Friday	Isaiah	1	1-4
Saturday	Hebrews	6	1-12

The folks who lived in the day of the hourglass had a psychological advantage. They could see time passing.

And as each fine grain slipped through the neck of the glass, a man's conscience would whisper within him: less time left!

When we look at a clock its hands seem motionless. Is that why millions put off the important decisions that ought to be made right now?

Whatever its cause, procrastination is a disease. It kills the senses into indolence. It wastes our energy on trivial pursuits, while important tasks remain undone. Especially it attacks the soul, tempting man to believe that there will be plenty of time later to tend to his spiritual needs.

But the cure is simple . . . and immediate. Just set the alarm clock and begin the New Year with worship in your Church. You'll soon be facing every important task with eagerness and courage and faith!
